RUSSIANS CAPTURE CITY OF ODESSA

1,500 Planes Hit Coast In Daylight

French Airports Rail Lines Heavily Bombed

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 10.—(AP).—American air task forces totalling 1,000 to 1,500 bombers and fighters struck at the Germans' anti-invasion air installations of Belgium and France to-day after heavy R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. Sunday night raids on rail targets at Lille and in the southern outskirts of Paris.

Drawing the enemy's coastal fighter defences into action for the first time in weeks, the American heavy bombers bombed military objectives in the Pas-De-Calais area, the aircraft repair depot at Evere and Vilvorde and the airfield at Melsbroek near Brussels, Belgium, the aircraft factory at Bourges, 115 miles south of Paris, and the airfield at Orleans, 60 miles south of Paris.

7 Planes Lost.

Three heavy bombers and four fighters were lost in the multiple assault, and seven of the enemy's planes were shot down in combat, a communique announced, in addition to about 40 which air base reports said were destroyed on the ground.

It was the third successive day of large-scale air operations against occupied Europe. Continental radios went off the air during the morning and at 11 a.m. the Berlin radio reported Allied planes over western Germany.

Fighter pilots reported that they shot down 20 Nazi planes in air combat and also destroyed some on the ground on airdromes in Germany.

A U.S. communique said the bomber factories had been assembling Focke-Wulf components and constituted "a vital production complex for single-engined fighters." The Marienburg plant, it added, had been rebuilt since it was hammered by the 8th Air Force last October.

The fighters did not escort the bombers over the Marienburg and the Gdynia area targets.

Seven German planes were damaged by two pilots of the R.C.A.F. City of Edmonton Mosquito Intruder Squadron in a sweep over Northern France yesterday. The pilots were FO. Bert Ford of Lacombe, Alta., and FO. T. N. Miller of Edmonton. Their sweep took in airfields at Toul, 20 miles west of Nancy, and St. Dizier, about 40 miles west of Toul.

National Income Up 3.2 Per Cent In Year War Production Costs 500 Millions More

OTTAWA, April 10.— (C—).— The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported to-day that by the monthly tentative computation Canada's national income averaged 3.2 per cent greater in January and February than in the same period of 1943. The standing for the two months was about $1,432,000,000 compared with $1,387,000,000 in the same period of 1943.

The Bureau said the present high levels of capital formation may be appraised by the expansion in the number of workers and payrolls in plants producing durable goods. The index of employment in this sector as measured by the monthly sample, rose by 56.4 per cent, and that of payrolls by 100.1 per cent from June 11, 1941, to Feb. 1, 1944.

Expenditures for war production in the fiscal year just ended was $3,435,000,000, an increase of more than $500,000,000 over the preceding year. The Bureau said an increase of three per cent in war production is forecast for the new fiscal year.

Canada Needs 98,000 Men For Armed Forces By Mar. 31

By DARCY O'DONNELL—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP).—Canada's armed forces require 98,000 men between now and next March 31, and the National Selective Service officials are preparing to see that the requirements are filled either through enlistments or by compulsory calls-ups, it was indicated today.

Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, told The Canadian Press that enough men would be called to provide the army with 60,000 men, and that as a result of the call-ups it was hoped Navy and Air Force requirements would be met.

"The call-up serves a double purpose," said Mr. MacNamara. "When a man knows he is going to be called he usually tries to enlist in the Navy or the Air Force. If he isn't taken by them he is available in the Army, if fit to meet medical requirements."

Navy Needs 12,000.

The Navy requires 12,000 men before March 31 next and the Air Force 26,000. These requirements will have to be filled by men who volunteer for service anywhere. The existing practice is to have call-up troops serve with the Army only in Canada and adjacent territories.

The Army needs 48,000 men for overseas service and 12,000 for home service. The overseas requirements will have to be filled by enlistments or by men who volunteered before or after being called up.

However, Defence Minister Ralston told the Commons this session that if a situation arose where the army needed more men overseas than enlistments provided, the use of call-up troops might be reconsidered. On the statute books of Parliament was a law that would permit the sending of mobilized troops anywhere.

90,000 Come of Age.

Mr. MacNamara said that to meet requirements the forces could draw on the pool of men on deferments in war industries and on the 90,000 or more youths who will reach their 18½ birthday this year. Single men between the ages of 18½ and 38 and married men up to 30 years are subject to call.

No figures are available to show how many men now are on deferment, but a recent return tabled in the Commons showed that at last Dec. 31, about 238,277 requests for deferments had been receieved. The figure included requests for extensios of deferments.

Another tabled return said that from midway through 1940 to last Jan. 31, 979,569 men had been called for preliminary medical examinations. Of the number 71,545 enlisted immediately, 433,453 were ordered to report for training, 220,765 reported and 117,752 requested deferments.

That more men on deferment would be called was first hinted in the Commons two weeks ago when Labor Minister Mitchell said that "greater and greater" call-ups could be expected as the war in Europe progressed.

New Zealanders Inflict Losses

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, April 10 —(AP)—New Zealand troops have inflicted casualties on the Germans in sudden attacks against two strong points at Sant'angelo, three miles south of Cassino, headquarters announced today, while Allied troops in ruined Cassino itself were subjected to renewed violent mortaring and shelling.

The shelling of Cassino followed days of comparative quiet in the devastated town. The increase in German activity also included dropping of propaganda leaflets three miles north of the town and heavy shelling in the upper Rapido valley northeast of Sant'elia, which is four miles northeast of Cassino.

The Germans, meanwhile, seemed to be on the move in the lower Garigliano sector of the main front. A great deal of transport movement was observed and in the Austente valley 21 tanks or self-propelled guns were seen about 2½ miles northeast of Minturno. Five of them were believed knocked out by artillery fire and the Nazis subsequently put out smoke pots to conceal their movements.

The Germans, who can control the volume of the Garigliano river's flow by manipulating the dam flood gates on the Liri river, have permitted the Garigliano to drop five feet.

On the beachhead south of Rome, German artillery fire slackened somewhat, but their patrols were exceedingly active and were driven off all around the beachhead perimeter. Another "Goliath" remote-control tank was knocked out on the right flank north of Sessano.

WASHINGTON—Increased U.S. pressure on Sweden, Spain, Eire and Turkey to stop bolstering the Axis war machine was foreseen today in the wake of State Secretary Cordell Hull's speech.

LONDON—Thousands of South Yorkshire miners returned to work today, practically ending a strike of about 10 days by nearly 100,000 men that cost an estimated 1,000,000 tons of coal.

Germans Evacuate Seaport Under Cover Of Darkness Clearing Road To Rumania

5,000 Huns Die In 2 Days' Fighting Berlin Claims Crimea Force Now Under Attack From Huge Red Force

LONDON, April 10 — (AP). — Marshal Joseph Stalin announced in an order of the day the capture of Odessa, Russia's greatest Black Sea port. Capture of the once-gay port, ruined in a two-months' siege by the Germans and by 905 days of rigid occupation, was announced after the German High Command had acknowledged its evacuation in one of Adolf Hitler's most humiliating defeats.

Stalin said the capture of the city, to which many had expected the Germans would cling stubbornly as a thorn in the side of the Red Army's Balkan advance, had cleared away a major obstacle to "the central regions of Rumania."

Putting the best possible light on a defeat which seemed to signal the German abandonment of the last mile of southern Russian territory and the opening of a crucial new Nazi stand in the Galati gap of Rumania between the Danube and Carpathians, the Germans said they stole away at night after blowing up all military installations and removing all ships and vehicle transport—a statement which seemed to indicate they had fled by sea in part.

Outflanked By Tanks.

Stalin said the city had been taken by outflanking manoeuvres by tanks, infantry and cavalry and frontal assault which caved in German defences and had threatened to cut off the Nazi garrison.

Berlin told of a broad new Russian offensive in the Crimea which apparently was aimed at cleaning the enemy out of its one remaining important Black Sea outpost. The Germans said the Russians were smashing at their lines at Sivash and Perekop on the northern side of the isthmus. Russian war bulletins were silent on any new operations in this sector.

Cut off from all but sea communications, in the same way that the Odessa force was almost isolated, it seemed that the Germans and Rumanians in the Crimea might be forced to yield the last of the strong Black Sea outposts guarding the Rumanian sea flank.

The evacuation of Odessa—carried out, the Germans said, after long-planned destruction of military installations—was a sensational step in the Germans' last mile march out of southern Russia.

Odessa, only a little more than 20 miles inside the 1939 Russian border, was captured by the Germans 2½ years ago after a two-months defence by Russian soldiers. The pre-war population of Odessa was 600,000.

The swift Russian advance struck down southwest of the city almost slicing it off, and the Germans—by their own account—had no stomach for such a seige as the Russians endured.

Moscow declared one Red Army column had smashed to a railway station three miles north of Odessa yesterday and that another, sweeping 11 miles southwest of port, had seized Mariental, only five miles from the Odessa-Ovidiopol Railway, the only retreat road for the thousands of Nazis and Rumanians defending the city.

Nearing Ferry

The Russians were only eight miles for Ovidiopol itself, a bottleneck ferry terminus on this railway, and their guns commanded both the rail stretch and vulnerable ferry point.

The German broadcast claimed Germans trapped north of Razdelnaya, Russian-held rail town 45 miles northwest of Odessa, had pushed their way out.

Five or six German Divisions were trapped in this sector, Moscow had announced, with 5,000 of them killed in two days.

Odessa was one of the greatest prizes of Hitler's first year of invasion, and was bitterly defended by the Russians. The Germans claimed its fall Oct. 16, 1941, and Moscow announced its lost Oct. 18, saying the Rumanian forces alone

Giraud Refuses To Give Up Post

ALGIERS, April 10—(AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle was confronted with a direct challenge to his authority as president of the French committee of National Liberation today as Gen. Henri Giraud stood firm on his refusal to accept dismissal as Commander-in-Chief of the French armed Forces.

Gen. Giraud's stand apparently left the next move up to Gen. de Gaulle. Some of Gen. Giraud's followers said that several members of the Liberation Committee had threatened to resign in an expression of sympathy with him.

The Giraudists declared that among these committee members were Navy Commissioner Louis Jacquinot and Air Commissioner Fernand Grenier who, they said, had not signed the decree which yesterday abolished Gen. Giraud's post as Commander and at the same time named him "Inspector-General" of the Armed Forces. A committee spokesman, however, said all the committeemen had signed.

"I am not resigning," Gen. Giraud said. "I accept neither the principle of suppression of the post of Commander-in-Chief of the French Armed Forces in the middle of war, nor the honorary post which you have designed for me."

De Gaulle's action, in effect, was regarded as a reassertion of his determination to force the Allies to deal with the national committee as the sole provisional government for liberated France. The step gave him complete military and civil control of the committee, which recently named him Chief of the Armies.

Barracuda Planes, Cream Of Allied Craft Used To Cripple Tirpitz In Norwegian Lair

AT A BRITISH AIRPORT, April 10—(CP)—Grp. Capt. Frederick Kirk, a First Great War pilot and 43-year-old fleet air arm "veteran," was "manager, critic, father, mother and nurse" during the teething stages of the Barracuda, the Royal Navy's newest and most unorthodox bomber which crippled the German battleship Tirpitz.

The new dive-bomber which was used to cripple the Tirpitz, is equipped with so many fancy gadgets the pilots call it "the flying Christmas tree."

The Barracuda is not only the most unorthodox plane ever to take off from the flight deck of a carrier, but it is also most versatile. It can operate day or night, can carry torpedoes, bombs or mines, and is a first class reconnaissance machine and it can be shore-based. Its speed and other operational details are secret.

Grp. Capt. Kirk has been with the fleet air arm since its inception. He has flown from most of the carriers from the Pegasus to the Ark Royal, and was the first man to fly from one carrier and land on another.

U-Boat Fire Cripples Plane Pilot Splits Sub In Dive

OTTAWA, April 10—(CP).—A suicidal dive on a German U.-boat and other graphic glimpses of the air and land offensive over Europe, the Mediterranean and the Arctic were given last night on a troop train that discharged more than 100 repatriated airmen and soldiers here.

It was Flt.-Lt. P. V. Lyon of Winnipeg who told the story of the heroic coastal command crew and its suicidal dive on the U-boat that had crippled it with anti-aircraft fire. He said that FO. George Goodwin of Chase, B.C., was co-pilot of the big R.A.F. Liberator.

Lyon was on the same sweep as that in which the incident occurred. Arriving back at his base he found that the Liberator was reported missing.

A destroyer, Lyon said, picked up seven men from a life raft and found they were the only German survivors of the U-boat. The Germans said they had hit the Liberator as it was wheeling over them preparing for a death-dealing dive.

Plane On Fire.

Lyon said the U-boat gunnery officer, one of the survivors, stated the big aircraft was badly crippled and started to flame. But the crew veered it deliberately at the conning tower and screamed down, withholding their load of death until they were only a few feet over the undersea raider.

They let go and the U-boat broke in half, spilling the gun crew overboard, and the giant cascade of the explosion settled over the remains of the Liberator.

Lyon said the Germans told how when the sea settled back the seven U-boat gunners saw the Liberator's self-inflating and self-launching life raft bobbing on the surface. They swam to it and held on until the British destroyer picked them off.

The Germans said the aircraft crew had failed to survive the death dive on the U-boat.

Johnny Kerr, Guelph, Ont., paid tribute to Wing Cmdr. Ross Tilley, Toronto plastic surgeon, who restored his face after his bomber had cracked up and burned in Britain.

Falls 19,000 Feet In Plane's Tail

NAPLES, Italy, April 10 (AP)—A 27-year-old Kentucky farm youth told an amazing story today of falling 19,000 feet in the dismembered tail of a Flying Fortress which landed in a tree top — and thinking he was dead.

Surgeons said Sgt. James A. Raley is little the worse for his experience, except for a cut on the chin. This is the story of the airman, as told from a hospital bed.

"It happened on my 13th mission. The navigator had just called out the altitude—19,500 feet. He was going into a fog bank. Then it came.

"There was a hell of a jolt. The plane seemed to stop. It shook all over with a terrific tearing sound and I found myself on my face. The ammunition case and a lot of broken parts were pinning me down. I thought it was all over because there was no chance to get out.

"Looking back I saw a B-17 going down with the wings in flame. It occurred to me that we had collided with it. All I was able to do was blink my eyes, but I realized we were going down at a terrific rate of speed and that in a few minutes I would be dead.

"I thought the whole ship was intact by the way it was twisting around and the time it was taking us to get down. I was praying too.

"The impact when we struck the ground was cushioned, and there was a slushing sound. I knew we had hit a tree. I got the idea I was a dead man. I didn't lose consciousness, but my eyes were closed for a few seconds."

Raley said it took considerable effort to free himself from several hundred rounds of ammunition which were resting on his neck.

"It was not until I had done this that I opened the bulkhead to climb out. I got the shock of my life. The tail section was the only part of the plane there. A part of the vertical fin was left and the right stabilizer was broken in half. The only part of the plane left besides that was behind the tail wheel—all told, about 12 feet."

Gangway For Dobbin

LONDON, Ont., April 10—(CP). — When a horse runs over a car, instead of the reverse, it's really unusual, but that's what occurred here yesterday. Roy Robinson was leading his mare along Dundas Street when the animal suddenly bolted, jumped onto the roof of a parked car, smashed the windshield, the hood, and stove in the roof, causing about $200 damage. The horse was uninjured.

New Device?

LONDON, April 10—(CP). — Gilbert Tomes, former BBC engineer, has devised an apparatus which makes it easy to pick the queen bee out of a swarm of 50,000 bees. The device picks up a ray sent out by a speck of radio-active material daubed on the queen bee's back. The engineer didn't say whether he had invented a device to hold the queen bee while the speck is being daubed on.

Japs Trying To Surround Imphal Units

British Hang On At Kohima Repel All Attacks

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, April 10 — (AP).— The Japanese besiegers of the plain of Imphal have sent small parties west of Bishenpur, 18½ miles southwest of Imphal on the Tiddim Road, where they have been in contact with Allied forces and suffered casualties, the southeast Asia command announced today.

This was the first time that Japanese had been reported west of the Tiddim-Imphal Road. (It indicated a Japanese effort to sweep around the Imphal defences from the southwest.)

British forces stoutly defending Kohima, northern Imphal plain strong point, have wiped out Japanese groups which penetrated the town's tight ring of defences, killing at least 50 and taking others prisoners, the communique said.

Losses Heavy.

Undeterred by losses, the Nipponese invaders continued their pressure in the whole Kohima area. Along the road from Tiddim to the south of Imphal the Japanese increased their pressure and were in contact with Allied defenders.

Fighting also was reported in the foothills north of the plain where further losses were inflicted on the enemy.

Kohima is a key defence point 35 miles southeast of the Bengal-Assam railroad which supplies American and Chinese forces fighting in North Burma. It is 30 miles inside India and 60 miles north of Imphal, the Allies' major base in northeast India. Fifteen miles of the Kohima-Imphal road has been blocked by Japanese infiltration parties.

Fighting also broke out on the Arakan front to the south, where the Japanese made local unsuccessful counter-attacks on both sides of the Mayu range which cost them considerable casualties. The communique said West African troops inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy in a clash east of Kaladan village.

Forces of the Chinese 22nd Division pressing down the Mogaung Valley maintained their contact with the Japanese, while in the other drive on Myitkyina, principal

Burma Women Fight For Japs

NEW YORK, April 10 (AP)—The Japanese drive into India is a simultaneous military and psychological approach the more dangerous because it carries with it an All-Woman Regiment, designed to win over or neutralize Indian troops serving under Britain, Sirdar J. J. Singh, president of the India League of America and former member of the All-India Congress Committee, said this here yesterday.

Along with the Japanese forces, Singh explains, there are several divisions of the so-called Indian National Army under the leadership of Subhas Chandra Bose, the rebel who was once India's third political leader, ranked only by Mahatma Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru. Bose now is being "used" by the Japs.

Two Axis Ships Sunk Off Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon, April 10.—(CP).—Intercepted and attacked by British warships and naval aircraft, two large enemy supply ships have been scuttled by their crews in the Indian ocean.

The supply ships "probably were carrying very valuable cargoes consisting of oil or raw materials," said an official communique, the first to be issued from the headquarters of the commander-in-chief of the British Eastern Fleet.

Survivors were rescued from one of the vessels, but the suspected presence of submarines in the area prevented rescue operations in the case of the second.

The communique did not specify the nationality of the supply ships, which it described as "blockade runners." It said neither damage nor casualties were suffered by British ships or planes.

Firing Squads Busy

Australia Startles U.S.A.

Reduction In Armed Forces A Surprise

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP).—Australia's decision to cut down the size of its army in the midst of war was labelled "shocking," "startling" and "almost unbelievable" yesterday by senators on the military committee.

What occasioned their comment was a statement in Canberra Saturday by Army Minister Francis E. Forde that Australia's manpower situation requires an army reduction of 90,000 in the next 12 months, including 20,000 men for industry.

"That's a startling statement," said Senator Edwin Johnson (Dem., Colo.), "in view of the all-out effort we are making to send our army all over the world to save Australia and the other countries from the common enemy."

Senator Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.), remarked that "after all, all the United Nations are in this war together and we are going up or down together." He added:

"It's pretty surprising and shocking, at a time America is straining every resource as the result of the armed services' demands, to have one of the other United Nations announce openly that it is cutting the size of its armed forces."

Fear Revolution In Post-war France

Bitter Quarrel Between Giraud And De Gaulle Foretaste Of Things To Come

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Cordell Hull, United States State Secretary, in his statement on foreign policy yesterday said "it is hard to imagine a stable Europe if there is instability in its component parts, of which France is one of the most important."

Coincidentally in Algiers, there was intensification of the bitter quarrel for power between those two great Frenchmen, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, president of the French Committee of National Liberation, and Gen. Henri Giraud, commander in chief of the French Army. Gen. de Gaulle ousted his colleague from the army command, an action which Gen. Giraud has refused to recognise. If Gen. de Gaulle makes it stick, it will give him both civil and military control.

An Associated Press dispatch from Algiers says that Gen. de Gaulle's action was in effect a reassertion of his determination to force the Allies to deal with the committee as the sole provisional government for liberated France.

Now this imbroglio in Algiers is symptomatic of, though not necessarily related to, sharp divisions among the people of occupied France—a fact which is largely concealed from us by the Hitlerian cloak or military repression. Here we have the making of a major post-war problem for the Allies, and it may be one of the most dangerous they will have to handle.

Rebirth of Nation

The Third French Republic is dead, and we are on the verge of the rebirth of a great nation. That will not be accomplished without heavy travail.

France in pre-war days was divided into many political parties, ranging from the Communists on the extreme left to the Conservative on the extreme right. They will figure in the creation of the new government. However, there's a far wider and more threatening cleft among the people. That is between the loyalists and those who have supported the pro-Nazi Vichy regime.

The hatred between these two groups is so great that it will be a wonder if it doesn't result in bloodshed when the Axis control is broken. The loyalist underground organization already has logged the names of a host of pro-Vichy Frenchmen who must stand trial for their lives on charges of treason. But it's a question whether in the heat of passion there will be any trials.

Rebuff to de Gaulle

Thus we see the force of the reasoning in Secretary Hull's firm declaration that in order to drive the enemy from French territory "the supreme military comander (Gen. Eisenhower) must have unfettered authority." To this Mr. Hull adds what likely will be a bitter pill for Gen. de Gaulle personally to swallow—that the French Committee of National Liberation "is, of course, not the government of France and we cannot recognise it as such." This is a direct answer to the general's efforts to obtain recognition of the committee as a provisional government.

Doctors Use New Technique

Inlay Metal Plates In Human Skulls

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP).—United States army neuro-surgeons at Walter Reed Hospital have taken a tip from the glazier and developed a new technique for fixing skull fractures caused by battle wounds or violent accidents.

They are replacing extensive areas of shattered skull bone with tantalum metal plates that are "inlaid" on chiselled-out edges of uninjured bone and fastened with tiny triangular metal wedges—just as a new pane of glass is inserted in a window frame.

The technique was demonstrated to military surgeons generally for the first time recently during a three-hour operation performed on a soldier whose skull was shattered in combat on New Georgia island last summer.

The older technique was to lay the plate on top of the unbroken bone and sew it into the skull remnants with metal thread.

In the new method the plate rests on ledges chiselled out of solid bone, so that the top of the metal is flush with the skull.

At the end of three hours, Private Edward J. Dombeck, 25, of Rockville, Conn., was wheeled out of the surgery amphitheatre, bearing a 6 by 3-inch plate in his skull—the 25th soldier to have undergone the "inlay" or "window frame" operation. He has a good chance of getting back to full duty as many others so treated have.

U.S. Prepared To Maintain World Peace

By C. B. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10 (CP) — State Secretary Cordell Hull struck what he obviously hoped would be a deathblow to any lingering Isolationist sentiment when he declared last night in a broadcast exposition of United States foreign policy that this country was permanently embarked upon international co-operation.

Without such cooperation there could be no hope of averting another world war, the veteran statesman warned.

"Once before in our lifetime we fell into disunity and became ineffective in world affairs by reason of it," he said, obviously referring to Isolationism after the first Great War.

"Should this happen again it will be a tragedy to you and to your children, and to the world for generations.

"We cannot move in and out of international co-operation; in and out of participation in the responsibilities of the family of nations.

"The American people are determined to press forward with our Allies to the defeat of our enemies and the destruction of the Nazi and Fascist systems which thrust us into the war.

"And they are also determined to go on, after the victory, with our Allies and all other nations which desire peace and freedom, to establish and maintain in full strength the institutions without which peace and freedom cannot be an enduring reality."

He said the "hour of decision" was approaching, adding that the United States and her Allies, powerful and prepared, "await these developments with absolute confidence."

Mr. Hull disclosed that the administration was moving toward closer co-operation with congress on the vital question of international organization for the maintenance of peace. Failure of President Wilson to do this in 1919 and 1920 has been blamed for the collapse of Wilson's broad program for collective security after the first Great War.

Mr. Hull said the senate foreign relations committee had been asked to nominate a bi-partisan, representative committee to advise the administration and said similar discussions would take place with the House of Representatives.

The principal immediate war-time problems he discussed were:—

France—Mr. Hull said the United States would not recognize the French Committee of National Liberation as the Government of France because it "is, of course, not the government of France." On the other hand he fully expects that the Committee will govern liberated areas of France under the supervision of the Allied Invasion Chief, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Italy—The United States is hopeful that there may be early reorganization of the Italian government to include representatives of the so-called six anti-fascist political parties because the present conferences of those parties in Italy hold a "promise of success."

Neutrals—Because United Nations strength now assures Germany's defeat, Mr. Hull said, neutrals can no longer argue that they must compromise with Germany in order to save themselves.

War Progress—Mr. Hull declared that "the Allied strength has now grown to the point where we are on the verge of great events." Obviously having in mind the invasion of Western Europe he said he could not discuss what these events were.

American Fliers Raid Shipping

CHUNGKING, April 10.—(AP).— Medium bombers of the U.S. 14th Air Force in a Saturday night raid on Yulakan on Southern Hainan Island damaged a 1,000-ton freighter, left several smaller vessels burning and destroyed two Japanese interceptors, Headquarters announced to-day.

Heavy bombers hit rail yards at Hanoi, French Indo-China, and mediums attacked rail yards at Weichowtao in Tonking Gulf by night. Japanese installations at Wanglig on the Yunnan-Burma border also were bombed and strafed.

Further reports on a previous South Sea bomber sweep disclosed a 1,000-ton freighter was bombed and probably sunk and two large vessels probably were sunk off the southern tip of Tainan Island.

had lost 290,000 men killed, wounded and captured in two months of battle there. It was a city of 600,000 population.

Farther northwest, Moscow reported another 2,400 Germans slaughtered in the diminishing Skala pocket, and front dispatches said the Russians were pushing beyond the pre-1939 Czechoslovak border near the entrance to the Tatar Pass, key to the Hungarian plain.

In the fifth erupting action, Berlin declared the Red Army had renewed attacks at the northern bridgeheads into the Crimean Peninsula where 100,000 Nazi and Rumanian troops still hold out.

The pounding offensive into Rumania quickened Sunday as the Russians announced a bag of more than 200 points between the Prut and Siret rivers, most of them near Iasi, former German Army headquarters, which was half-encircled.

This surge sliced the rail route from Iasi 43 miles west to Rascani, a junction on the main line south to Bucharest, and only 160 miles northeast of the Ploesti oil fields. Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops captured Cucutehi, three miles west of Iasi on the line to Pascani, and Podu Iloaei, 14 miles west of Iasi. Another spearhead won Cotmari, 14 miles northeast of Pascani. Only one rail line south from Iasi was left to the Nazis.

The Soviet midnight bulletin declared the Germans machine-gunned one Rumanian battalion—perhaps 800 men—that began retreating, killing all but 43, who surrendered to the Russians.

Close Schools To Aid Harvest

TORONTO, April 10. — (CP).— Authority to secondary school boards to close schools or grades under their control in September to permit pupils to help in harvesting operations is contained in a memorandum made public to-day by the Ontario Department of Education.

The memorandum, dated April 4 and issued to secondary school boards and principals, said the boards which close schools or grades for a period not exceeding four weeks after the statutory re-opening date of Sept. 5 must notify the Minister of Education of their action.

Pupils who attend schools which are not closed and are engaged in essential farm work are asked to remain at their jobs in September. Principals and teachers are asked to make special provisions on their return so they may overtake the work they have missed. Names of these pupils are to be reported so they may be referred to the special revising board for special consideration in case they fail in their 1945 examinations.

Japanese base in North Burma, Allied troops still were fighting the Japanese near the Tiang River on the Sumprabum-Myitkyina Road.

Throughout the entire Burma area Allied aviation continued to attack Japanese positions and communications.

Plain Is Objective.

(The Japanese have claimed capture of Kohima.)

The Japanese were bringing steady pressure to win the Imphal plain, rich in food, because the Monsoon next month halts most military activities, but Allied troops were said to have a firm hold at the moment at the edge of he plain.

The enemy has come within 10 miles of Imphal from the northeast, on the road from Ukhrul.

(A B.B.C. broadcast heard by C.B.S. said Allied forces had evacuated Tamu, about 50 miles south of Imphal. Another B.B.C. broadcast, also recorded by C.B.S., said British forces had made another air-borne landing behind Japanese lines due east of Imphal, between the Irrawaddy and Chindwin rivers, to support a column already in that area.)

Military men emphasized the importance of holding the Imphal Plain, loss of which would give the Japanese a base for blows north and west into other valleys and plains of India, and of retaining the roads suitable for motorized strikes.

The Allies have an advantage of greater air power and mobility, and have ample forces in the general area to meet the enemy columns if they can be located, these officers added. But in the thick jungle country the raiding Japanese patrols are extremely hard to find and stop.

Mr. Hull, however, while saying that the form and personnel of the new government "must be left to the free and untrammeled choice of the French people," does accord the liberation committee high recognition.

"The president and I," he states, "are clear, therefore, as to the need, from the outset, of French civil administration — and democratic French administration — in France. We are disposed to see the French Committee of National Liberation exercise leadership to establish law and order under the supervision of the Allied commander-in-chief."

In short, with poor France so shattered and disorganized, the only safe and sane course is to have Allied military control there in the early days of liberation.

"What is the significance of this woman's regiment in psychological warfare?" Singh asks, and then answers himself.

"It appeals to the chivalry and sentiment of the Indian troops under the British, who would find it very hard to shoot women of their own race." (Actually, the regiment is composed partly of Burmese women.)

Shipping Losses Gain In March

LONDON, April 10 (CP)—Merchant shipping losses in March were "a little higher" than in February, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt reported jointly Sunday, but in general the war against the undersea raiders continued successful.

"The rate of sinking of U-boats was fully maintained," said a joint statement.

The German submersible concentrated in vain against northern supply lines to Russia, the British and American leaders said, but activities spread from the Barents, Sea, on the approach to Murmansk, to the Indian Ocean on the south.

March was an active month in the war against the U-boats, which operated in widely dispersed areas from the Barents Sea to the Indian Ocean.

The enemy has persevered vainly in strenuous endeavors to disrupt our flow of supplies to Russia by the northern route.

Our merchant shipping losses were mainly incurred in far distant seas. Though a little higher than in February, they were still low and the rate of sinking U-boats was fully maintained.

The Allied merchant fleet continues to improve both in quantity and quality, but the strength of the U-boat force remains considerable and calls for powerful efforts by surface and air forces.

Garbage Collectors Careful Of Salvage

Prospect of some conflict of collection of salvage and garbage along streets in the western area of the city this morning was avoided, according to Garf Torrance, who is superintendent of the incinerating department.

"One of our men, I know, picked up a big bundle of paper out in the west end, but further along it occurred to him that there was probably a salvage collection, too, and he tossed the bundle back on to a boulevard where it would be picked up," Mr. Torrance said. "We thought there might be some interference of the one collection with the other, but I think everything went along alright."

Coal Strikers Vote To End Walkout

LONDON, April 10 (CP)—Britain's labor picture, dimmed by walkouts that at one time involved more than 100,000 men, brightened tonight as the Yorkshire coal strike appeared all but over and a back-to-work decision also was taken by 20,000 Belfast shipyard workers.

The Yorkshire stoppage, which two weeks ago affected 90,000 miners, gradually had petered out and Doncaster and Hemsworth district miners voted Sunday to return to the pits.

The back-to-work move is scheduled to be led by 30,000 miners at Doncaster, where the men voted to reverse their decision of three days ago to maintain the walkout. The Hemsworth miners, in addition to agreeing to end their strike, passed a vote of confidence on J. A. Hall, president of the Yorkshire Mine Workers' Association.

This vote was regarded as significant since one of the post-strike issues is expected to be the bid of union leaders to regain lost control. During the strikes they constantly asked the men to return to their jobs pending settlement.

Belfast shipyard workers voted three to one Saturday in favor of ending their walkout, originating in a protest against imprisonment of five aircraft shop stewards sentenced last Monday to three months in jail for participation in an outlaw strike.

On motion it was decided to change the hour of meeting to 2:30 p.m. The election of officers for 1944-45 are as follows:

Mrs. Graham and her group served afternoon tea.

Weather Spoils Finery

COBOURG, April 10—(ENS)—Dame fashion and the weather man were at variance on Easter Sunday, to the disappointment of many a feminine soul togged out in Easter finery. Chill damp weather prevailed on Sunday morning with a touch of fog and although there was many an Easter hat, the average member of the fair sex had her winter coat on. The day brightened a bit in the afternoon but just about four o'clock the rain started to come down and caught many who had ventured out in fair weather earlier in the afternoon.

"CHEETAH," SEA-GOING MONKEY —"Cheetah," sea-going monkey of the Canadian destroyer "Restigouche," was het-up with the set-up when his ship called at the Azores recently and picked up some bananas. Able Seaman Rae Robinson, R.C.N.V.R., of New Westminster, B.C., found "Cheetah" almost as greedy for the fruit as he was for purser's rum, which he consumes with great gusto every day at "Up Spirits."

Warkworth Man Freed On Theft Charge

COBOURG, April 10—(ENS)—Wesley Rogers of Warkworth was found not guilty in police court last week on charges of theft of a gas ration book on November 19 and also of a motor vehicle permit owned by Mrs. Lily Rogers on the same date. Harry Deyman acted for the Crown and A. R. Wilmott was defence counsel. Magistrate R. B. Baxter, commented, in finding him not guilty, that the missing gas ration book might have been taken from the mail box.

W. G. McFarland, Oil Controller's office, Toronto, testified that Mrs. Lillian Rogers had been sent her A book and special category book, the latter being mailed in November last year. Wesley Rogers, no relation, received his books in June of 1943. Late in 1943, a letter from Mrs. Lillian Rogers was received in which she complained that she had not received her book.

William Dingman, mail courier, stated that Wesley Rogers was on his mail route, R.R. No. 1, Warkworth, and that Mrs. Lillian Rogers lived on the same route, although at the time he delivered her ration book he was under the impression that she resided at the farm of Wesley Rogers. Later he learned that she was Mrs. Lorne Rogers and lived further down the route. Between November 20 and 25 he delivered a ration book to Wesley Rogers' box, made out to Mrs. Lillian Rogers.

Threw It Away

Harvey Murray of Hamilton, formerly employed by Wesley Rogers, testified that he spent a few days at Wesley Rogers' home last November and one night he heard Mrs. Wesley Rogers tell her husband that Mrs. Lillian Rogers' gas ration book had come in their box and asked him to put it back in the box and send it on to its correct destination.

"Wes said to give it to him as he needed the gas worse than she did. He tore out the coupons and threw the rest of the book in the stove. I didn't notice a motor vehicle permit," testified Murray.

Questioned by defence counsel, the witness said that he had been working for John Rogers, the father of the accused, and that father and son were not on good terms. Before going to Hamilton to work he had gone over to John Rogers for a brief period of time. Witness said that he told John about the gas ration book incident and that John had told Lorne Rogers.

Witness said that after he had gone to Hamilton, the provincial police came for him as a witness for the Crown and had locked him up on arrival at Cobourg.

"I'd have come anyway. The reason I had to go to Hamilton was on account of the Selective Service, and I got work in an essential industry there," declared Murray.

Mrs. Lillian Rogers, although subpoened, did not appear at court.

Denies Seeing Book

Wesley Rogers told the court that Harvey Murray had worked most of the time for John Rogers. Last November he had come to Wesley Rogers' house and asked for a place to stay for a few days.

"He had left my employ in the middle of the night one time and I was not very anxious to have him back. I told him that if he was stuck for a place to sleep he could stay a few days with me, he testified.

Wesley Rogers denied any knowledge of the missing coupon book. There had been considerable trouble over the mail, he said, some of his letters going in John Rogers' box and vice versa. Witness told of receiving an anonymous letter late in December, advising him to return the gas ration coupons to Lorne Rogers, or else risk legal proceedings. He turned over the letter to the police.

3 Churches Unite During Holy Week

MILLBROOK, April 10 (ENS)—The community Holy Week services were held on Wednesday, Thursday and Good Friday evenings in St. Thomas' Anglican, Grace Presbyterian, and St. Andrew's United churches, respectively with an encouraging attendance, and addresses on the general theme: "The Revelation of the Cross."

The opening evening the subject was: "The Sinfulness of Sin", Rev. Walter Gibson giving the talk, and making clear how personal sin is responsible for creating a gap between man and His Creator. Following this, Rev. A. L. Sisco carried on the story on Thursday night with "The Marvellous Love of God", the heighth, depth and breadth and length of which is beyond measure, infinite in purity and patience, and expressed in His gift of Christ Jesus to the world. Completing the cycle, Rev. A. E. Chevis, on Friday evening, had as his theme; "The Atoning Sacrifice of Christ", bridging the gap between God and man, making those who put their faith in Him as Savior at one with the Father.

Each Minister presided in his own church, and took the prayers, the offering each evening going to the Bible Society after small local expenses in connection with the services had been met. A mixed quartette, Mrs. H. W. Johnson, Mrs. P. Stinson, J. Ingham and W. H. Coombe, on Good Friday night sang "Lead Me Gently Home, Father". Miss E. L. Hetherington presiding at the organ. In St. Thomas church the organist was Miss M. L. Collins, and in Grace Presbyterian, Mrs. Harold Hubbeard.

Back to Mother . . . Heartbroken

HER BLISSFUL MARRIAGE WRECKED! But she didn't know she was to blame for her husband's gradual coolness . . . that her own "one neglect" (carelessness about feminine hygiene) was the cause. The Peterborough Curfew

The curfew regulation which is now being enforced in Peterborough seems to work very well; already there is a marked diminution in the number of loitering children to be seen on the streets late at night. The police are enforcing the regulation with tact and discretion, and we hope that they will continue to do so. The spirit of the curfew is not punitive; nobody wants to frighten children or make them dread the approach of the police; and no child who has a legitimate excuse for being out after nine o'clock has anything to fear. In offences against the curfew it is the parent who is charged, and if the parent is prepared to give a sufficient reason why the child is abroad after nine, he will be in no difficulty. The purpose of the curfew is to clear the streets of children who are neglected by their parents, or of older children, and particularly older girls, who are roaming the streets in a speculative manner, ready to get into mischief when the opportunity presents itself.

The Examiner objects vigorously to restrictive and punitive laws, but it does not think that the curfew belongs in that category; its spirit is protective. There are people who cannot, or will not, control their children and the city has to shoulder some of their duties. There are parents who send their children to play in the streets because they do not want them at home, or because there is nothing resembling a home for the children to return to at night; such parents must be made to realize their duty toward their children if that is at all possible.

Treated with discretion, the curfew is an excellent thing, and it has done much already to remedy a situation which was getting out of hand.

Gen. Montgomery's Self-Esteem

General Montgomery is one of those who agrees with Milton that

Ofttimes nothing profits more
Than self-esteem, grounded on just and right
Well manag'd.

He knows that he is a great commander; he does not hesitate to say so; when occasion presents itself he is quite willing to explain the reasons for his superiority.

His self-esteem does not make him universally popular. There are great numbers of people who think it the extreme of bad taste for a man to hint that he recognizes his own unusual abilities. The majority of men and women, being wholly unremarkable themselves, can only forgive great qualities in another if he assumes a grovelling modesty. "Oh, I'm a very ordinary chap, really; no better than yourself"; that is what they want him to say, and woe betide him if he fails to say it!

Montgomery will not grovel; he will not insist that he is a very ordinary general, and that any of his colleagues could do what he did if they had been in his place in the African campaign. And consequently a host of ill-natured stories have grown up around Montgomery's self-esteem, which less successful people exchange among themselves in the amiable hope of chipping away the General's pedestal. As a usual thing these stories are not very funny; consider this one, for instance, which appeared recently in a Canadian paper:

> General Montgomery and General Sir Alan Brooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, were having an audience with the King — so the story goes.
> The business finished, Montgomery swept away dramatically.
>
> Brooke said: "I guess I won't be seeing much more of you Your Majesty. You know Montgomery is trying to get my job".
> "Oh, said the King. "That's a relief. I thought he was trying to get mine".

Montgomery refuses to pretend that he is not an extraordinary man, and consequently he is disliked and jeered at by thousands who are under no necessity of making such a pretence. But he is admired and followed by his men for the very reason that he is not ordinary, and succeeds where ordinary commanders fail.

Modesty, after all, is a mere frill which most great men assume for the sake of politeness, and in order not to embarrass nonentities. But a man of great abilities must be recognized, whether he be modest or not.

Mr. Bevin On Harmonious Homes

Mr. Ernest Bevin, once a docker and now Britain's Minister of Labour, has some interesting ideas about the post-war home. Harmony, he insists, must be valued in the home above "profit, place or pelf", and by harmony he means an artistic agreement of interior decoration, furnishing fabrics and household textiles. Now Mr. Bevin cannot be brushed aside as an aesthete; he is a man of action and a practical politician; therefore great numbers of people will have to reckon with his views.

Doubtless he is right. Tastefully furnished homes are easier to live in than those which are clumsy in arrangement, ugly in furnishing, and repulsive in colour-scheme. But the tasteful home must be the result of the labour, thought and choice of the people who live in it; good taste cannot be imposed on anybody.

There are great numbers of people who are insensitive to their surroundings. Ugliness does not affect them at all. They would be just as happy, or unhappy, in a house which was a horror of bad taste as they would be in the most harmonious dwelling which Mr. Bevin could provide. We do not see precisely how he is going to deal with the problem which they present.

Good taste in home furnishing is essentially a personal matter. If the people who live in a house take pains to decorate it tastefully and harmoniously it will be, to that extent, a reflection of their corporate personality. But if the people who live in a house have no taste, it will be quite useless to impose somebody else's taste upon them. Mr. Bevin's scheme for bringing happiness to the British home is a good one, but we think he will run into some snags if he ever attempts to put it into action. Thousands of British householders prefer their chromolithographs of Queen Victoria, done in blood red, oyster blue and saffron yellow, to his delicately tinted walls.

The Repudiation Of Willkie

After his decisive defeat in the Wisconsin primary there was little that Wendell Willkie could do except withdraw from the contest for the Republican nomination as presidential candidate. His action must have caused much disappointment in the United States; certainly it will do so among the United Nations. For the Republican party has shown itself to be the political engine of the American First movement, and of isolationists of all sorts; the worst thing that was said about Willkie was that he was an 'internationalist'—that is to say, that he thought that the U.S. should accept a share of responsibility in world affairs.

The Republican party has been a great party in the past and it will doubtless have great days in the future. But at present it is at a low ebb, controlled by small men with low ambitions. A Republican victory in the forthcoming presidential campaign would be a severe blow to full American participation in the war; it would certainly mean that the U.S. could not be counted on to help make and preserve the peace.

The isolationists defeated Willkie; does that mean that they support Governor Dewey? And if so does it mean that Governor Dewey accepts their support and therefore accepts a measure of control by them? It is hard to imagine that the American people, who are in the war heart and soul, would be prepared to accept the leadership of a party which was bent on taking the narrowest possible view of world affairs. And, by its repudiation of Willkie and what he stands for, that is the line which the Republican party appears to have taken.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A headline reads: "Hitler May Drop Goering". As a blockbuster?

Doctors say that we are more energetic than usual just before a cold comes on. Hurrying to catch it?

A man who has been clerk for 22 years at the information bureau of the Grand Central terminal in New York estimates that he has answered 7,000,000 in his day. What a father he would make!

The C.C.F. is reported to have "a little black book" containing the names of those who are opposed to the party. This is obviously an unfounded rumour. If it were true it would have to be a very big black book.

"Teachers Win Out", says a headline. Now why "win out"? Why not just "win"? Like "join up", this stupid expression, originally used by those who knew no better and had no respect for language, is now beginning to creep into print.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

THE first of April did not bring very Spring-like weather and the east winds which blow frequently do not promise early relief from wintery weather. In spite of the light snowfall in many parts of the province the wheat and clover fields have kept well covered and should be little injured. Wheat near Toronto is very brown where the snow is off in spots, and as it had little growth last fall will have quite a struggle to come through. Driving in country I was surprised at the hold winter still has. Maple syrup has been made in spots but not in quantities. Shortage of feed is felt in many places. When a farmer has to buy as much feed as he had to this winter he is naturally apt to be skimpy. Some young cattle will go out this spring in quite thin condition which never pays. No young stock will grow or develop when stinted on feed. At the middle of March we had 70 million bushels of oats and barley on hand in Canada and with a Government bonus to reduce prices to reasonable figures growing livestock should be kept going until grass comes along.

I HEARD a farmer, who I know to be quite good at his job, asked what sort of scrapers he used on his disc. The party who queried him said he had trouble with those he used. The reply of the first man was that he used no scrapers because when the land was sticky enough to need scrapers on a disc the latter should not be used. I am sure this farming logic was sound. Wait until the ground is dry before you mix it up. Nothing is gained by going on wet ploughed fields too early. Your work will not be effective and you may bring about a condition which will take extra days work to remedy. My father had a remark which he often made when he saw a neighbour going on a wet field. "He'd be better in his bed," he would say, which was his idea of idleness.

◇ ◇ ◇

I HAVE heard a good deal of comment made of whether a first crop of new seeding should be cut for hay or pastured. First seeding hay is generally good hay as it will have lost none of its varieties of grass by having them crowded out by others which increase in the second year. Weeds may be gotten rid of by a first mowing. A farmer who can say he has never put a flowering weed in his barn has reason to boast. Early cutting of a first crop will greatly help. It is sometimes essential to pasture a newly seeded crop of grass, but if you do so, run the mower, raised somewhat, over it quite early. In Scotland it is a regular practice to cut the first crop for hay. In fact, the most of the hay in Scotland is cut from new seeding. In any event, cut the crop once or twice the first summer on new seeding and it will thicken and quite a few annual weeds will be killed.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is now a proposed marketing scheme for hogs by which all hog raisers in this province are to be compelled to pay 5c per hog into a fund to pay the expenses of the scheme, and also to be compelled to market their hogs through the scheme. What "Free Enterprise" is there about this? An idea, that prevails too much at present, is that it is a good plan to collect the "expenses" of people who promote schemes of this kind by means of taxation. If all the facts were only published about the funds collected by the grain pools of Western Canada, and a list of the salaries drawn by people who held positions in them, it would be a revelation to the farmer who just wants to be left alone to mind his own business, sell his produce, and conduct his affairs as he sees fit. The farmer who produce the "select" bacon hogs is the one who contributes most to success in marketing and maintenance of price. Promoters of plans and schemes for the improvement of farming conditions, which do not commend themselves enough to their exponents to induce them to pay the running expenses, should not be empowered to tax others to pay the cost of such schemes.

PLANS are being made by a good many farmers in this province to plant an increased acreage of potatoes. We have not been growing nearly as many potatoes in Ontario as we eat, for some years. We have ideal conditions for producing potatoes in many parts of the province and the market is quite good. Disease-free seed is the first essential to a good crop and liberal applications of fertilizer are necessary for a paying crop. Last year blight greatly injured the crop in many districts and growers should be ready with a bordeaux mixture to spray with at the first appearance of blight. Early potatoes are usually the most profitable and in districts which are suitable not only should the seed be planted in good time but it should be sprouted before planting. I noticed accounts of planting early potatoes in Scotland before the 4th of March, so it is no wonder that country is so large a producer of potatoes. Everybody here is familiar with the Colorado beetle and the best method of treating for it. Deep cultivation gives the tubers a chance to form and grow, and frequent row cultivation, with once or twice over with the hoe will keep weeds from sapping the moisture and plant food which the crop needs. A good supply of potash in the fertilizer is important to this sort of crop, and salt, when easily obtained, will have a good effect if applied with the fertilizer mixture. Barnyard manure is quite effective but should be supplemented with chemical fertilizer to get the supply of plant food necessary for a good crop of potatoes. I know of no better variety for an early crop than Irish Cobbler, even though the deep eyes are some objection and Khatadyn is one of the good main crop varieties. Ring Rot is a potato disease which is giving much trouble in Ontario. It is very virulent and spreads with great rapidity. It will take seventy-five per cent of a crop with the greatest ease. The Government is making an effort to have all affected potatoes destroyed and to prevent, wherever possible, the planting of all potatoes carrying this disease. Where Ring Rot is found it is important not only to destroy all potatoes with the disease but to carefully disinfect the premises where they have been stored. Two parties who refused to obey these orders have been prosecuted and fines imposed.—a quite proper procedure to wipe out this dangerous disease.

I SUPPOSE we have a number of readers who have lawns to take care of. My lawn was made from building sand which is a bad basis, but it has now reached a condition where earth worms can be found in profusion. This has taken a great many applications of manure, and I have not given that up yet, but put it on in the fall In the spring I never fail to scatter a little more seed to thicken it up, using blue grass, red top, meadow fescue and Dutch clover, and at the same time give it an application of chemical which will not burn, and some ground limestone. This week is my time for attending to that in 1944.

FOOT IN THE DOOR —By Rube Goldberg

Misinformed On Film Board

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

RODNEY ADAMSON, Progressive Conservative member for York West, has a suspicion that the National Film Board is putting out propaganda "for a type of socialist and foreign philosophy." He charged as much in the House of Commons on Thursday, and named two alleged films which illustrate his point.

But there is so much misinformation crowded into Mr. Adamson's brief speech on the issue he raised that one wonders where he got it. Asked for the names of the films which offended, he replied, Our Native Land and World in Action. Now there are no such films as those mentioned. Of the first, he said:

"It was released by a French motion picture company in New York and released in Canada by the Film Society. Paul Robeson took a prominent and leading part in the film."

He evidently means Native Land. This was made by a United States company called Frontier Films. It was not released in Canada by the National Film Society, but rented for one showing by a branch of the society. Paul Robeson plays no part in it except to speak the commentary. It is a study of anti-union practices by "big business" and of cases of violation of civil rights. There is no reference to Russia in it.

There is no such film as World in Action, which is the name of a series of films, just as Canada Carries On is the name of a series. What Mr. Adamson or his informant has in mind may be Our Northern Neighbor, a tribute to our Russian ally put out by the National Film Board. Whether it is Soviet propaganda or not depends on the point of view; and if it is, all films friendly to Russia must be described as propaganda. The regrettable aspect of this attack on the film board is that it is based on an obvious lack of knowledge and that it singles out one film among scores for the purpose of shooting a torpedo at the board.

The Old Tree

(BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR)

AT Ditchingham, England, the other day, a tree toppled over. It was an old tree — 400 years old. When it was a mere sapling, Henry VIII, great in statecraft as in stature, sat on England's throne. It was a lusty young tree when its human neighbours rejoiced in the defeat of the mighty Armada of Philip of Spain. It had known nearly sixty summers by the end of Elizabeth's golden reign. Shakespeare and Milton lived and died in its time.

Had it been able to speak above a leafy whisper, it could have told of the great Gunpowder Plot, the parliamentary union of England and Scotland, the Civil War, the execution of the first Charles, the straight-laced tenure of Cromwell and his roundheads, the restoration of that merrie monarch, Charles II. It saw the Four Georges come and go. It gave shade and shelter in the age of that other eminent Churchill, the first Duke of Marlborough.

While it added to its girth, Chatham, Pitt, Palmerston, Disraeli and Gladstone shaped the courses of country and empire. As men passed beneath its widening boughs, they spoke of Clive's doings in India, of the revolution in America, of momentous civil reforms, of Nelson and Wellington and the fate of Bonaparte. It stood through times of war and peace, of prosperity and poverty, saw Parliament evolve, watched through Victoria's long and glorious era. In wind and storm its firm roots held. It weathered, too, that mightier tempest of the First Great War and continued its sentinel watch well past the German blitz of this latest holocaust.

It seems a pity that the old tree could not have lasted until the coming day of victory . Then children of a new age of peace might have carved their initials in its bark. But, instead, the familiar landmark has gone to make firewood for the people of Ditchingham and to give warmth of body to those whose warmth of courage has already turned back a savage foe and which powers the blows that shall overthrow tyranny.

Humour Brims Over

There is a legend to the effect that Russians are a sober-minded people lacking in humour. How it came into currency is wholly incomprehensible to me. Perhaps not enough Russian humour has been translated; perhaps some of it has been indifferently translated. Humour has a way of eluding the translator, especially indigenous humour. Moreover, in order to appreciate the humour that does come through, we must learn to appreciate the circumstances in which it was created. We know that satire, to take a single aspect of humour, does come through—often superbly. An excellent example is Gogol's great comedy, The Inspector General; not only is it the supreme piece of humour in the Russian language, but it can hold up its head with the greatest examples of world humour....

It is odd to reflect, by the way, that while the Russian novel is, on the whole, a tragic art, Russian drama leans decidedly toward comedy and, until Chekhov, classical comedy at that.

Even the great tragic novelists, however, are not wholy free of the comic, as I have tried to show with generous extracts from the great novels. Humour has a way of creeping even into Dostoevsky ...

Let us be frank about it; humour brims over the works of a host of writers. Witness the crystalline humour of the fabulist Krylov, admirably conveyed in Sir Bernard Pare's translation; the nuanced humour of Goncharov in Oblomov; the quiet folk humour of Lyeskov in Cathedral Folk; the gentle laughter-through-tears humour of Chekhov in The Darling; the satirical and sometimes profound humour of Sologub in Little Tales, and of Zozulya in his Tale About Ak and Humanity; the exuberant quixotic humour of Ilf and Petrov in The Little Golden Calf; the Stephen Leacock kind of humour in Ardov's Drastic Action; the sheer farcical humour of Zostchenko's short pieces.

Not at all a bad variety, and not at all a poor exhibit of humour for a people credited by few with that touch of nature which makes the whole world kin. — From Introduction to "A Treasury of Russian Life and Humour," edited by John Cournos, (New York: Coward-McCann.)

'Lunatics Never Co-operate"

The story used to be told by a learned divine in Montreal: Accompanied by the superintendent, he as walking through the violent ward of an insane asylum. It struck him that two or three of the inmates could create havoc if they combined on a plan.

"We have no fear," said the doctor. "Lunatics never co-operate."

If memory serves, Lord Halifax, in his Toronto speech, suggested something in the way of co-operation for the future safety and welfare of British countries. And despite the fact that what he proposed included the power of veto by any member, his address was frowned upon in certain official and other quarters.

The difference between lunatics, who never co-operate, and Canadians who don't like English ideas, is that Canadians will, when almost too late, get together with other people to try to save themselves.

One reason—perhaps the only reason for the rise of aggressors, was the failure of the League of Nations. Canada's unwillingness to co-operate was a reason for the failure of the League of Nations.—The Printed Word.

Worth Remembering

American ships have no monopoly on toughness and American repairmen no monopoly on skill. We may be sure that the Japanese are as zealous in salvaging their own ships.... Here, perhaps, is an at least partial explanation of the curious fact that the number of Japanese cruisers officially listed in our navy communiques as destroyed or "probably sunk" is greater than any reasonable estimate of the total in the entire Japanese fleet. A modern fighting ship can absorb a lot of punishment and in a brief time come back for more.—Baltimore Sun.

A Bible Message

And straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate.... And the soldiers led him away into the hall, called Praetorium; and they call together the whole band.... And they bring him into the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, The place of a skull.... And it was the third hour, and they crucified him. (Mark 15: 1, 16, 22, 25.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And that day was the preparation, and the sabbath drew on. And the women also, which came with him from Galilee, followed after, and beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid. (Luke 23: 54, 55.)

Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them. And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre. And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments: and as they were afraid, and bowed down thier faces to the earth, afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, among the dead? He is not here, he is risen. (Luke 24; 1-6.)

Portrait of a Mayor

Nearly a million and a half dollars in cash was found in two of the five safety deposit boxes in which the late William Hale Thompson kept his valuables.

Thompson as mayor surrounded himself with grafters and boodlers. Nobody could ever deny that, particularly after some of his so-called real estate experts were forced to disgorge as a result of the suit brought against them by this newspaper.

We were never able to prove conclusively that Thompson personally profited from the gross dishonesty of his administration of the city's government, but we were morally sure that he did.

We still don't know exactly how he amassed his million and a half, and whatever else he may have acquired, but we are confident he didn't get all of this money honestly. Probably very little of it was without taint. He inherited a sizable fortune, but his inheritance was not to be compared in value with the hoard he left behind. He never operated a notably profitable business. When he was mayor he lived extravagantly, far beyond his income from public office. After his return to private life he lived in idleness. For many years he maintained a yacht and he used to entertain lavishly.

The Capone gang rose to power while he was mayor. He got along with Insull, too, and the presence in one of the safety boxes of a substantial chunk of Insull shares may have its memorial significance. His administrations were a long series of scandals having to do with the looting of city funds. Scores of contractors who dealt with the city had to come across. He always collected big campaign funds.

Evidently much of the dishonest money stuck to Thompson's fingers. The next time anybody says that this or that public official is surrounded with grafters, but is himself an honest man, the facts regarding Thompson's estate can be profitably recalled. Honest men do not surround themselves with crooks and thieves. Honest men in public office do not tolerate stealing by their underlings.—Chicago Daily Tribune.

Unconsidered Trifles

The boys thought it would be great sport if they could fool a well-known naturalist. They killed a centipede, then glued on to it a beetle's head, the wings of a butterfly, and the legs of a grasshopper. They packed it in a box and took it to the great man.

"We found it in the fields," the leader of the group explained. "What is it?"

"Ah!" said the naturalist. "Did it hum when you caught it?"

"Oh, yes," came the answer.

"Then," said the naturalist, "it is undoubtedly a humbug."

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

WIFE MUST ENTERTAIN HERSELF

If Husband Won't Take Her Out She Should Go To Movies, Luncheons, Lectures.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — For fourteen years I have been married to a man who has only one fault as far as I am concerned. He is good-tempered and easy to get along with, a good provider. He doesn't drink, gamble or run around with women. He never asks what I have done with the money he gives me, or refuses me anything. But he never takes me out anywhere. He won't even take a walk around the corner with me. Yet I am a good-looking well-dressed woman and liked by his family and friends.

He goes out three nights a week with his friends and stays in the other nights to rest and is usually in bed by nine o'clock. Of late I have insisted on his taking me out, but when I got dressed and was ready to go he was sound asleep. If I go anywhere, I have to go alone, which is mortifying to me when I see other women escorted by their husbands.

Am I being too optimistic in believing that I have all of his love and that I am necessary to his happiness and contented life? Am I being unfair in wanting a little fun and diversion myself? How can I get him to understand?

Can't Change Man's Ideas of Woman's Place

ANSWER—There is no surgery by which a new idea can be implanted in a closed mind. Once a man has sold himself the theory that a woman's place is in the home, and nowhere else, and that she shouldn't desire any more exciting amusement than spending her evenings watching the baby sleep, she wastes her breath in arguing with him about it.

The only thing she can do about it is to rearrange her daily schedule so that she will get her diversions in some way that won't call for an escort. There are the movies, which are an ever present help in times of boredom. There are hen luncheons, for there are plenty of other women also married to Tired Business Men who don't want to step out evenings, and there are innumerable clubs and lectures to go to that will not only give you something interesting to think about, but will enable you to show off your new clothes.

You don't need to be shut up in

Carving a Roast Bird

For a chicken, as with other roasts, good carving is vital to avoid waste!

The first essential for carving poultry is the same as any other meat—a sharp knife! If you have a special poultry knife (one with a thinner blade than the ordinary carver) so much the better. But any carving knife will serve if it is really sharp.

First insert the fork firmly with a prong on each side of the breast bone. Next, make a downward cut between the body and the thigh nearest you, twisting the knife to separate the leg from the body and expose the joint, which can then easily be severed.

Still keeping the fork in place, remove the wing. You are now ready to slice the breast and in a large bird, to cut slices from the thigh. For an ordinary family meal, you will now probably have enough meat carved to supply portions for everyone. The normal portion should include some light, some dark meat and dressing. The other side of the bird is treated in the same way as required. The wishbone may be included in first or second portions.

Martha Logan

A SIMPLE DRESSING FOR CHICKEN

4 cups freshly made breadcrumbs
6 tbsps. fine flavoured fat
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
1 to 4 tbsps. chopped onion
1 tsp. powdered thyme or marjoram (optional)
A little milk or stock
Salt and pepper to taste
1 egg (optional)

Mix the dry ingredients, moisten with milk or stock and egg if used.

Orioles Must Rebuild; 6 Players Left

By JACK CARPENTER
(Baltimore News-Post Sport Writer).

BALTIMORE, April 10.—(AP).—When Baltimore Orioles launch their International League campaign against Buffalo Bisons April 20, local fans indeed will need a score card to tell the players.

Only six members of last year's club are on hand. The holdovers are Pitcher Rollie Van Slate, Infielders Blas Monaco and Jack Moesch, Outfielder Felix Mackiewicz, and Catchers Serman Lollar and Milt Stockhausen.

Monaco, who played first base the greater part of last year, will return to his regular post at second and Mackiewcz probably will open in centre field. Lollar, who caught only 12 games last season, is the team's regular receiver at the moment.

The Orioles will field almost a brand new infield in Bob Latshaw, formerly of Toronto, Milwaukee and Louisville, at first; Monaco at second; Fred Pfeiffer, who hit .240 for Wilkesbarre of the Eastern League last year, at short; and either Stan Benjamin, back from Louisville, or Francis Skaff, from the Philadelpha Athletics, at third. Ab Tiedemann, a Baltimore boy, again will be available for utility duty.

Manager Tommy Thomas is well fixed for outfield talent with four experienced gardeners on his roster. They are Howie Moss, who hit .233 for Jersey City last year; Pat Riley, a .320 hitter for Hagerstown of the Interstate League last season; Johnny Coakley, just out of the navy, and Mackiewicz. The outfield list can be upped to five if Benjamin is included. He played the pastures for the Orioles in 1941.

At present, there are only five pitchers in camp, and two of them, Guy Coleman and Harry Sollenberger, are fresh from the sandlots. The others are Van Slate, who won 13 and lost 17 for the club last year; Sam Lowry, who had a six-and-six season with Wilmington of the Interstate League, and Frank Rochevot, from Jamestown of the Pony League.

Thomas had counted rather heavily on the return of Pitchers Elmer Burkhart and Burton Swift, but both are awaiting army calls. Sterling Ecker, another member of the staff last year, probably won't be available until May 1. He is a school teacher.

One-Track Mind

PHILADELPHIA, April 10 (AP).—A cow that fled from a slaughter-house might have escaped if she hadn't had a one-track mind. First she was reported on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Sixth Street; then on the same line at Second Street, so a pair of radio patrolmen who were chasing her sped a few blocks to the next intersection and captured the fugitive — still on the tracks.

Ace Adams Given Place As Regular Hurler

By TED MILLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP).—It looks like Ace Adams has seen the last of a bullpen.

The star of the 1943 Giant relief pitching staff, who appeared in a record number of 70 games last year, has been promised a starting role by Manager Mel Ott.

To this end the Giants purchased over the week-end veteran 40-year-old Lou Polli from their Jersey City International League farm. Polli is expected to replace Adams as the ace of the bullpen.

Adams was on the bench yesterday as the Giants plastered an 8-3 defeat on the Yankees at Atlantic City, N.J. Phil Weintraub, first sacker of the Giants, starred with a single, double and triple.

At Brooklyn over the week-end Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers broke his right thumb in two places. He was trying to spear a wild throw barehanded. Thus ended Branch Rickey's hopes that his manager would start the season at second base. The accident happened in an exhibition game against the Boston Red Sox. The Dodgers won out in the 12th inning when Clancy Smyers walked, moved up on an infield out and scored on Louis Olmo's single.

Other major league news:

Washington Senators—Great relief pitching by Dutch Leonard gave Senators 2-1 win over Phils. Leonard came on the scene in the ninth when the Phils loaded the sacks with none out.

St. Louis Cardinals—Pitcher Ted Wilks expected to report to club today. He was rejected for military service.

New York Yankees—George Weiss, vice-president, said there was nothing to reports that the Yankees are seeking Ray Hayworth, Johnny Cooney, Paul Waner or any other Brooklyn players.

Pittsburg Pirates—Rip Sewell had his slow ball working okay against Detroit. He limited Tigers to three hits in pitching four scoreless innings.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Stanley Cup race is to all intents and purposes over and form has triumphed. True the Montreal Canadiens still have to win another triumph to put the classic mug on the shelf but that shouldn't take any longer than the next game, played on Montreal ice. The only interest in the final round was in whether or not the Flying Frenchmen would take the decision in four straight games. Most of the experts thought not. They figured that the Black Hawks were tough enough on their own cushion to win at least one of the games in Chicagko but Canadiens like real champions have swept through both away-from-home fixtures winning the first 3 to 1 and the second, played last night in Chicago, 3 to 2 and now only need to win the next game before the Montreal fans to end the series. Chicago fought stubbornly last night to prolong the round. They were twice in front, scoring the only goal in the first period and after Canadiens had tied it at 1-1 in the second going out into the lead again with an early third stanza goal, only to have the league leaders tie it up in little more than a minute. Fifty-five seconds later Phil Watson again beat Karakas and that was the ball game.

The Eastern junior finals are not over yet. Montreal Royals in a thriller-diller game Saturday night beat the Oshawa Generals 5 to 4 in the third game of the series and now the teams have to battle again tonight in Montreal. Another win for the Royals would send the teams back to Toronto for the final encounter. Saturday night's game was an exciting battle all the way. Ezinicki gave the Generals a quick lead when he scored in 15 seconds but Flamandon evened it up inside of five minutes. There was no further scoring until the second period when goals by O'Connor and Kazarian gave Montreal what looked like a commanding lead. Generals were not through however and they surged back with three goals in a row in the third session to take the lead again. Rowe tied it up for Montreal a minute later and finally with less than two minutes to go Denis got a breakaway and beat Bennett for the goal that sent the series into an extra round.

It's A Great Asset

The value of the fine arena at St. Catharines has been demonstrated this past season by the success scored by St. Kitts' hockey teams. The St. Catharines Tee Pees have just won the Ontario intermediate title and the provincial bantam championhips has also been won by a St. Catharines team while in other divisions the Garden City representative made determined challenges. The municipally-operated arena has been a big factor in this fine showing. No wonder Clayton Browne observes in the St. Catharines Standard: "Garden City arena, the mecca of hockeyists of the city and immediate Niagara District, closes its doors for the season around 11 p.m. tonight. There is no need to emphasize the fact that it has been a most successful season (financially) for this city, under parks commission supervision and the Garden City also commands a fair share of puck laurels. Far from the intention to boast, one can justifiably point with much pride at the achievements of our minor teams, to whom the hockey populace confidently looks as future native-born senior calibre. Verily, the day is not far off, either. Lincoln bantams made Ontario history that will stand many winters, it is hoped. Very few places, indeed, are privileged to win four consecutive provincial titles. None have bettered a one-year merit mark so far, from any other point in O.M.H.A. terrain."

Ontario softball leagues and teams can take a lot of credit for what was accomplished last season and in earlier campaigns in behalf of the war effort. At the annual meeting at Guelph the other day Secretary Feaver of the O.A.S.A. presented the report of the special war service committee and it was a gratifying document showing that softball had raised large sums of money for war charities. Over $2,000 worth of softball equipment has been donated to army training centres' and $175 worth of rule books distributed both here and overseas. In addition the association shipped 6,000 cigarettes to the winning Canadian softball team overseas, as well as other shipments of smokes to service men. The bat and ball fund launched last season raised $478.01. Incidentally softball has contributed generously of its player strength to the armed services. The figures show that some 15,000 former O.A.S.A. players who at one time or another signed the certificates of the Ontario body have joined the navy, the army or the air force.

It's Mutiny; That's What It Is

That sizzling sound you hear is Capt. James T. Sutherland of Kingston, veteran hockey enthusiast, burning up as he reads the pamphlet issued by Emanuel L. Orlick, assistant physical director of McGill University, which says that in effect that any claim Kingston may make to being the logical site for Hockey's Hall of Fame is entirely coincidental. In fact Mr. Orlick who is a graduate of Western University intimates that the Limestone City has no right to claim to be chosen for hockey's shrine. Here's a bit of it to show why the usually genial Sutherland is hot under the collar: "On September 14, 1943, there appeared an announcement in the press that Kingston, Ontario, had been chosen as the site of the proposed Hockey Hall of Fame on historical and geographical claims. The historical claims are pure fiction—the geographical claims poor fact. The historical claims are based on the 'evidence' uncovered in a 'thorough investigation' conducted by an 'official committee' appointed by the C.A.H.A. to determine the Origin of Ice Hockey. This 'evidence' was published in an authoritive-looking document in April 1942. This document is a conglomeration of contraditions and unsubstantiated statements. It contains many dogmatic assertions and conclusions but little or nothing in the way of authentic first-source facts. It is not a report of an investigation on the origin of ice hockey, it is a poorly camouflaged presentation of the Kingston claims."

Canada's new physical fitness program may be compared to a bridge across the Atlantic, says Bill Walshe in the Kingston Whig-Standard. Both would be remarkable if practically possible. Major Ian Eisenhardt, national director of the physical fitness, will start the titanic task of making Canadians more sports-minded and healthier June 1, when he leaves his job as army sports director to inaugurate the Dominion scheme. His plan for supervised sport all across Canada has the support of a federal act and a quarter of a million of federal funds, which he hopes will be increased by provincial grants. The young, good-looking and likeable Hollander, who only shows traces of a European accent when excited, visited Kingston Tuesday for the army boxing show at Vimy Signals. This writer started with intentions of getting an interview but when officers interested in sports joined the conversation it developed into an open debate with Maj. Eisenhardt under a heavy barrage of questions. Maj. Eisenhardt explained that many changes would have to be made in Canada before his scheme for sports and recreation would operate correctly. He said the British North America Act was one of the obstancles in his national plan with no federal authority to force provinces to accept the system. He said Western provinces had promised to co-operate but no reply had been received from Ontario or Quebec.

Walter Pratt Awarded Hart Trophy

By HAROLD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, April 10 (CP) — Walter (Babe) Pratt, the big dark ice-general who helped Hap Day weld a bunch of youngsters into the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs, today was announced the Hart trophy winner as the man most valuable to his National Hockey League team this season.

The 28-year-old defenceman who spent quite a bit of his time during the season up roving among the forwards, just barely nosed out Boston's perennial Bill Cowley in the voting of selected sports writers from the six N.H.L. cities.

The Babe had 87 points of a possible 120 in the final tabulation announced by the N.H.L. today, while the great Boston centre who spent more than a month on the sidelines due to injuries this season had 84.

Bentley Third

The race was between those two. Far behind was Chicago's slim Doug Bentley with 56 points, three more than his battling team-mate Earl Seibert. Trailing them were the high-scoring Lorne Carr of the Leafs with 45 points, and Elmer Lach, centre dynamo of a Canadien power-line, with 42.

Behind the big six came Carl Liscombe of Detroit, Bill Durnan of Canadiens, Boston's Herbie Cain, Bryan Hextall of Rangers—Bryan deserves a special cheer for that, considering the woeful showing of Rangers—and Chicago's Clint Smith who has already won the Byng trophy for combining ability with sportsmanship.

In taking the trophy first awarded in 1923 by David A. Hart, Pratt joined a select group of hockey greats of the past two decades. Previous winners include Eddie Shore, four times, Howie Morenz, three times, Nels Stewart, twice, Roy Worters, Babe Seibert, Frank Neighbor and Aurel Joliat.

Cowley took the cup last year and in 1941. Tommy Anderson won it in 1942, Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit in 1940 and Toe Blake of Canadiens in 1939.

Winning of the award climaxed a great year for Pratt, who went to the Leafs late in 1942 from Rangers after breaking into pro ranks with Philadelphia Ramblers in 1936. Rejected by the Army, the native of Stony Mountain, Man., really did a job with the Leafs this season. He was an overwhelming choice for left defence on the All-Star team of The Canadian Press this year.

He scored 17 goals and set up the play for 40 others for an unusually-high point-mark for defencemen. Those points were highly important to the Leafs, but probably the Babe did more good back of the blue-line with his blocking and with his ability to stiffen jittery rookies.

This is the final result to be given on the schedule standings of the league as only the President's Cup games remain to be played. Games not played by B.E.S.L. No. 9 have been defaulted to opposing teams. One other game not played has been left open as the results cannot have any influence on the final standings. The standings show P.F.D. No. 8 as winners of the Hope Cup, All Saints, the new comers of the season winners of the Bleasdell Memorial shield and the Warden's carrying off the Elsie Bennett Trophy for highest score outside the cup winners.

The President's Cup games will be played this week or next on Wednesday evening. Teams are requested to get in touch with President Dave Leether as your scribe will be unable to attend.

Results: In their last four games Jesse James' Outlaws shared the points at the expense of the Legion teams who could do nothing against the Outlaws sharp shooting. Probably they will be able to get some practice in during the summer months.

No. 7 3-5 vs. No. 4, 19-14.
No. 7, 13-14 vs. No. 1, 9-13.
No. 7, 6-7 vs. No. 5, 20-15.
No. 7, 13-14 vs. No. 1, 9-13.
No. 7, 14-18 vs. No. 9, 4-9.

The Antiques died game but could do very little in their efforts to pick up some of the ground they lost.

In their last four games they were only able to salvage two points out of a possible 16. Other games besides one reported against No. 7.

No. 9, 11-10 vs. No. 4, 17-7.
No. 9, 12-8 vs. No. 1, 13-11.
No. 9, 11-5 vs. No. 8, 12-20.

The Mad Masons in their final plunge for the Hope Cup only found one snag, that being their meet with the Fighting Parsons, where they were only able to get one point. Other games were all in their favor, besides trimming the Antiques they washed out Brintons and The Old Sweats.

No. 8, 17-26 vs. No. 1, 5-7.
No. 8, 13-17 vs. No. 4, 3-10.
No. 8, 9-8 vs. No. 3, 13-8.

Other results are Wardens 14-15 against King Billies 14-12 to push the Orange Squeezers right out of the chance of getting into the trophy class. The Saints also slipped the chance of tying up first place when they let the Carpet Tacks stick them for a couple of points 12-9 and 5-17.

In conversation with the President your scribe will receive word regarding the date for the President's Cup play-off and will notify all skips by phone. We are doing our best to arrange the games this week.

Present holders of the various trophies are requested to turn same in to Elsie Bennett's Gift Shop or to the secretary at once.

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP)—That guy with the white coat and the loud voice won't be kidding this year when he hollers. "You can't tell the players without a score card." . . . In fact, the printer will have to work fast some days so that you can tell 'em with a score card . . . So, just to help baseball fans become better acquainted with the numerous newcomers, this dept. will introduce them briefly from day to day. Here goes:

Carl Lindquist, Braves pitcher—A 15-game winner for Hartford last season, started campaign by blanking Springfield on opening day; topped it off Sept. 4 by getting married the same day that he won game 15.

Buffalo Bisons Capture Calder Trophy

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 10 (AP)—Buffalo Bisons, successful defenders of the American Hockey League championship, today prepared to slice a $9,500 playoff melon in the wake of their dramatic 6-4 triumph over Cleveland.

A crowd of 10,245, largest of the local season, witnessed the final game in the Calder Cup series last night in Memorial Auditorium, and an estimated 2,500 were turned away.

Facing their first home defeat in 14 games as the third period got under way, the red-hot Bisons whipped five straight goals past Lloyd Storic, who replaced the injured Paul Gauthier in the Cleveland cage. Tom Burlington, Cleveland's one-eyed sharpshooter, had previously turned the hat trick with three successive scores after Morley Rimstad had opened with a Bison goal.

Roger Leger led the third-period assault with two goals. Gordon Davidson, acquired from the New York Rangers with Leger in a deal for Bob Dill, bagged another. Fred Thurier and Rimstad also scored before Earl Bartholome bagged a consolation goal for the Barons.

The Bisons dropped only one of nine playoff starts, having beaten Indianapolis four games out of five before sweeping the Cleveland series. A year ago they polished off Indianapolis in three straight games of a best-of-five final. Buffalo is the first repeating Calder Cup winner since the American League was organized in 1936.

Cleveland also won $9,500—$5,500 for eliminating Hershey in the divisional semi-final, and $4,000 for place money in the final. Buffalo won $4,000 by downing Indianapolis, and $5,500 in the last series. Hershey split $4,000; Indianpaolis $3,000.

Heavier Aces Defeat Sudbury Seniors

TORONTO, April 10—(CP)—Jubilant over their decisive 6-2 defeat of Sudbury Frood Open Pit there Saturday night, Quebec Aces prepared for the next game here tonight confident of sweeping the best-in-five Eastern Canada Senior Hockey finals in three straight games.

Playing Coach Billy Reay, predicting his team would take the lighter Sudbury team tonight, planned no changes in the line-up that marked up decisive 5-1 and 6-2 wins in the series so far. Coach Frank Graham of Sudbury also planned to use the same line-up, with his starry Centerman Jim Dewey still unavailable. Graham had hoped to ice Dewey Saturday night, but the mining engineer-hockey player was unable to get away from his work.

Aces crushed Sudbury by sheer weight and dazzling speed in the week-end game. They battered them off their feet in a rough-and-tumble first period that saw nine penalties handed out, then out-skated and out-checked them throughout the rest of the game.

Tough Defence

Sudbury was able to break through the Quebec defences only on scattered occasions and then were forced to shoot hurriedly. Their two goals came on breakaways when they had no one to beat but the Quebec goalie and out-guessed him cleanly. The Quebec scores came on fast, scrambling power plays that penned the mining town entry in their own end of the rink for large part of the game.

After the game Coach Reay termed Sudbury Defenceman Rollie McLenahan the "hardest man to get around we've met so far in the play-offs." He acknowledged the Northerners' gameness but predicted Aces would have no trouble in the third game.

Graham acknowledged his men had been beaten by a better team, but weren't giving up without a fight.

"Aces have 12 top-notch men out there that they can keep throwing at us all the time," he said, "while we have only nine or 10. They have a real classy team there, and while it's hard to be beaten you don't mind so much when its' a better team."

If Sudbury wins tonight, the teams will shift to Quebec for the fourth game and if a fifth is necessary it also will be played on the Aces' home ice.

Remember When—

Chicago Black Hawks, managed by Tommy Gorman, won the Stanley Cup 11 years ago tonight by defeating Detroit Red Wings 1-0 in the final game of the series at Chicago. It was the first time the Hawks had captured the title. The next year Gorman switched to Montreal Maroons and won the cup again.

OSHAWA GENERALS TAKE SECOND GAME IN SERIES—Oshawa Generals made a second straight win against Montreal Royals, at the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, the score 3-2 in the Eastern Canada best-of-five junior finals for the Memorial Cup. Action shows Bauer of Oshawa getting a goal in the second period of the game. Oshawa lost the third contest on Saturday night by a 5-4 score.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 10—(CP)—The perennial reign of Oshawa Generals in the Eastern junior hockey world has caused more than a little alarm in rival cities and there are indications opposing clubs may gang up on the Generals. Their seven straight Ontario championships and their record of making the eastern junior finals five of the last six years is no laughing matter for the other clubs.

Now there is talk in Ottawa of forming a strong four-team junior league in the Ottawa district and packing an all-star team to enter the play-offs in the spring. The stop Oshawa movement might also be expanded to take in Montreal, getting some more rink money interested in spirited player-selecting system.

If the plan materializes the East might see a very interesting hockey war, with heavily-greenbacked clubs competing on the open market for the pick of the junior hockeyists.

It might be a good idea to forget the amateur angle and form a Junior N.H.L. Then there could be war to the death and everybody would be happy.

A.B.C.'s For Referees:

Widespread discontent and mutterings over the way hockey referees have been pushed around in N.H.L. and amateur circles this year has prompted talk of referee schools in different parts of the country. Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamini suggests these schools could be formed in different centres and referees given strict instructions in the rules of the game and the latest interpretations. Then when they went on the ice with their diplomas, their word would be law.

They would have to be backed to the limit by the governing bodies of hockeydom to make the plan effective. That, it is felt, would cure the present haphazard system where an official can be shunted into the background when one aggrieved club puts up a loud enough squawk.

Incidentally:

Solon Low, newly-elected leader of the new National Social Credit party, is a past president of the Alberta Amateur Basketball Association. Interest in public affairs and in sport often go hand in hand, as in the case of Mr. Low and other prominent men... Maurice (Winnipeg Free Press) Smith says "Sugar" Jim Henry, former New York Ranger netminder, got his nickname because he had a craving for brown sugar when he was a schoolboy. His mother used to feed him bread and brown sugar when he came home from school. Smitty comments: "We thought he earned it because of his ability to turn in a sweet job in the nets."

Fight Livens Senior Game

PORT ARTHUR, April 10—(CP).—New Westminster Lodestars today were trying to devise playing strategy to stop Port Arthur Shipbuilders first stringers—Stan Robertson, Norm Larson, and Waikko Koivisto—the scoring power that has Lodestars a game down in the Western Canada Senior hockey finals.

The teams meet tonight in the fifth of the best-of-seven series for the right to meet either Quebec Aces or Frood Open Pit in the Allan Cup finals.

In the fourth encounter Saturday night Centreman Robertson scored twice and assisted in three for a 5-4 Port Arthur victory, while he and his wingers figured prominently in Shipbuilders' 6-1 win earlier. The first game was a 5-5 overtime tie and Lodestars took the third 2-1.

The rugged struggle wound up in a near free-for-all when Defenceman Frank Warshawski of New Westminster and Larson exchanged punches in the final five seconds. These two received majors, though several tiffs occurred earlier with Lodestars getting five of seven minor penalties.

Besides Robertson, Shipbuilders' goalgetters were Koivisto, Larson and Defenceman Joe Gollat. Buster Brayshaw, playing-coach Frank Dotten, Warshawski and Pete Leswick tallied for Lodestars, with Leswick also getting two assists.

Trail Juniors Reach Finals For Memorial

WINNIPEG, April 10 (CP)—British Columbia's only junior hockey team—Trail Smoke Eaters—were excited youngsters today as they left for Toronto for the Memorial Cup finals and and the Dominion championship best-of-five series against either Oshawa Generals or Montreal Royals.

Nosing out Port Arthur Flyers in three straight games to become the first B.C. juniors to win the Western title was "like a dream to all of us," said Manager Louis Demore.

Smokies use: their heads as much as their skates when they downed Flyers 3-2 in the third game before 4,500 fans Saturday night. They were slow but they were the best passers and operated with rhythm, in front of 16-year-old Bev Bentley, nephew of the Delisle, Sask., Bentleys.

Trail downed Port Arthur 4-3 in overtime and 4-3 in the first two games, after winning six of eight games against Regina Commandos in a virtual double best-of-five semi-finals series. They earlier whipped Edmonton Canadians two straight in their only other junior competition this season.

In Saturday's contest, Roy Kelly picked up a pass at the goal crease for the first goal, Clarence Marquess netted another and Dick Butler got the other on a play with Lorne Depaolis.

Port Arthur's greater speed took effect with five-man power-plays in the third period when Flyers got two goals back in the first nine minutes, scored by Louis Nistico and Steve Black.

Canadiens Take 3rd Straight Over Chicago

CHICAGO, April 10— (AP). — Montreal Canadiens defeated only six times in 58 games this season, to-day were on the verge of a clean sweep of four straight over Chicago Black Hawks and possession of hockey's greatest prizes, the Stanley Cup, which they won last in 1931 by defeating the Hawks.

Whipping across two goals less than a minute apart early in the final period last night, the Canadiens came from behind to win 3-2 at Chicago Stadium in the third game. They won the opener at Montreal, 5-1, and the second contets here, 3-1.

Last night's encounter, witnessed by 17,694, was Chicago's finale and the team move to Montreal to finish the best-of-seven series. If the heavily-favored Canadiens are upset by the Hawks in the fourth game Thursday, the teams will battle again Saturday. The sixth and seventh games, if necessary, will be played the following Tuesday and Thursday.

Centre Phil Watson slammed in the winning marker last night at 6.42 of the third chapter to break a 2-2 deadlock after Mike McMahon, rugged defence man, had tied the count with an unassisted goal at 5.47.

George Allen had put the Hawks in front, 1-0, early in the first period and the Chicagoans held the edge until Toe Blake of Montreal tallied at 2.02 of the second.

The Hawks grabbed the lead at 4.16 of the third on a long drive by 18-year-old Johnny Harms, rookie right wing.

Getting an assist on Blake's marker, Maurice Richard, sensational Canadiens right wing, established a new record of 15 points for Stanley Cup play—10 goals and five assists. The old mark of 14 was held by Syl Apps of Toronto and Don Grosso of Detroit.

Royals Upset Oshawa Juniors

MONTREAL, April 10—(CP)—The pressure will be on Montreal Royals tonight as they face Oshawa Generals for the fourth time in their Memorial Cup semi-final series and attempt to deadlock the count at 2-2 and force a deciding game in Toronto.

Royals pulled an upset Saturday night when they nosed out the powerful General 5-4 after Oshawa had taken two straight in Toronto, but there was considerable doubt around town today as whether the Royals had the class to win again.

The margin of victory Saturday night game in the dying minutes of the game when Jean Paul Denis drove one past Harvey Bennett for the winner that broke a 4-4 deadlock with less than two minutes to go. That capped a full night for Denis, who had assisted on three of the previous Royal goals.

Generals went ahead in the first 15 seconds of the game when Ezinicki picked up a pass and raced in to beat Yves Nadon with a low hard drive. Four minutes later Denis set up Gerry Plamondon for the equalizer while Harry Kazaarian was serving a penalty.

Royals hit their best form of the night in the second, driving in on the Oshawa goal repeatedly. O'Connor, and then Kazarian beat Bennett during the frame to put the Montreal juniors two up going into the final frame. Generals struck hard in the third and rapped home three in a row to go ahead 4-3. Dave Bauer got two of them in less than three minutes and Dawes bagged the third on a play with Love and Ezinicki.

Doug Harvey made the play that put Royals into the running again with a rink-length rush that ended with a pass to Ronnie Rowe who drove through a maze of sticks for the counter. That set the stage for Denis' winning goal three minutes later.

Four Years Ago Germans Invaded Norway

MONTREAL, April 10 (CP)—Four years ago Sunday the Germans invaded Norway, and the little Scandinavian country fought back in a battle that is still going on.

On the home front, the Norwegians are still fighting back, without formal weapons but with considerable success by the use of sabotage, espionage and passive resistance. The Norwegian information bureau here estimates that 99 per cent of the people or Norway are engaged in that fight, "and it has been a winning one."

Outside Norway, the Norwegians who were abroad at the time of the invasion, or who made their way out of their native country afterwards have been fighting with all the modern weapons of war. Their Air Force and Navy have long been in the thick of the fight. Their Army stands ready for action.

The Norwegian Merchant Marine, probably Norway's greatest single contribution to the Allied nations, is carrying troops and supplies to battlefronts all over the world, just as it has done since the outbreak of the war.

Directing the Norwegian war effort is the Royal Norwegian Government in London and King Haakon VII. "The King has become the rallying point for anti-Axis Norwegians," says the information bureau.

"Paradoxical though it may seem, the King has become the Norwegian people's living symbol of democracy. With him, not under him, they enjoyed the freedom they are fighting to win back."

Costs a Trillion

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP)—Cost of the Second Great War is nearing the trillion-dollar mark, measured solely in financial cost to belligerent governments, Dr. Mabel L. Walker, executive secretary of the Tax Institute, a research organization, said yesterday. She said the monetary cost of the war will be close to $900,000,000,000 at the end of 1944.

COULDN'T SLEEP COULDN'T WORK

What a relief to settle down to a real night's rest, and awake fully refreshed, ready for the day's duties. I was tortured by fretful nights—tossing, turning — never comfortable. Half awake days —over-tired, driving body and mind to work when they needed rest. "Try Dodd's Kidney Pills," said a friend — "it may be your kidneys". I'm glad I followed his advice as now I'm sleeping like a top—thanks to

Col. H. Stethem Dies Suddenly

KINGSTON, April 10—Col. Hubert Stethem, 55, members of Kingston City Council and former director of Internment Services for Canada, dropped dead in the Brock Street Fire Station early Saturday morning.

A member of the Fire and Light Committee, Cal. Stethem rushed up the stairs in the fire hall at 12.12 o'clock Saturday morning and dropped dead before he could speak to any member of the fire department.

Elected to council last December, he had taken an active part in the reorganization of the fire department which had been brought about by the retirement of Fire Chief James Armstrong and Firemen John Burns and Thomas Boucher.

Saturday morning he answered a fire call, only to find that the men from the Brock St. Station did not respond, evidently due to a break on the fire-alarm system. He rushed to the station to see what had happened.

Col. Stethem, born in Kingston, served in the first Great War in France, Belgium and Siberia, and was later appointed to the staff of the Royal Military College. He was appointed assistant director of Internment Services shortly after the start of this war, and was later promoted to director.

He is survived by his widow, the former Vera Carson; one son, Lt.-Col. Hubert Walter Stethem, Royal Engineers, in the Middle East; his stepmother, Mrs. Walter Stethem, Montreal; two sisters, and one brother, Major John Stethem, overseas. The burial will be in Cataraqui cemetery Monday afternoon.

LETTER FROM HOME...

"We've got the seed catalogues. We're planning a bigger vegetable garden this year."

(Tomorrow we go into the line . . . Now we'll get a chance at Jerry).

"Dad's putting in overtime at the plant. Sally and I are working hard for the Red Cross".

(I can see the little room now . . . Books, pipes, fishing tackle, those snaps of Mary at the lake).

"Mary's looking sweeter than ever. She carries your picture in her purse."

(I'd like to be holding Mary in my arms right now. We'd talk about what we're going to do after the war).

"There was a special service on Easter Sunday. We prayed for victory and your safe return."

(Easter's over now . . . It won't be any picnic tomorrow. We'll need all the shells and bombs we can pour on Jerry).

"We're all getting ready to buy more Victory Bonds."

(Wonder how much dough it takes to run this war . . . Plenty, I guess . . . That's what the Victory Bonds are for).

"We'll see you get what you need, son. It's little enough when we think of what you're doing for us."

(Good old mother and dad! They know how we depend on this stuff we're taking up the line . . . Well, we got a job to do tomorrow . . . Good night, mother! Good night, dad!)

Trappers are waiting impatiently for Spring to open up the lakes and streams and especially the marshes, and turn the muskrats loose to stray into traps and thereby yield their pelts to a market of attractive prices. Only a few hides have so far reached the local trade.

GRADUATES AS GUNNER

LITTLE ACTIVITY

The Fire Department has had little activity since last Thursday night, with only five chimney fires. There was a plugged chimney at the home of Mrs. H. Shannon, 272 Hunter street, and a chimney fire at All Saints' church; trouble with chimney and pipes at 339 St. Joseph street, home of A. Munro; overheated pipes at the home of J. M. DeLong, 219 Caddy street, brought out the department; and at 12.09 this morning a transformer caught fire on Sherbrooke street, between George and Aylmer. It was taken care of by the Utilities Commission, although the Fire Department received four calls.

Port Hope Guide publishes an obituary of William J. Oke who died on March 2, brother of the late Samuel Oke and Walter J. Oke of Peterborough, the latter now residing in Windsor. He was born near Welcome in 1868, and was engaged in the apple trade in Port Hope.

IN PRIVATE CHANNELS

Presumably district maple syrup is going to pass up local markets this season. Peterborough has yet to see its first can, and Belleville market was bare of the maple product Saturday. Farmers with maple bushes probably have all the customers they can supply without having to stand on the market ladling it out to an eager public.

HE GOT AWAY WITH IT.

Where ignorance is bliss. On Saturday afternoon a young soldier walking along Water street, stopped in front of the police station door, pulled a bottle of beer from his pocket, calmly drank the contents, put the empty bottle on the ledge of one of the police station windows and walked away. He apparently failed to notice that he was in front of the nerve centre of law enforcement in town or the jeep belonging to the military police parked in front of the station.

SNEAK THIEVES BUSY.

Over the week-end several houses on Bolivar street were entered by sneak-thieves but the total booty secured was not very large. Several packages of cigarettes were taken from the home of R. T. Parnell, 514 Bolivar street. The residence of Dr. G. R. Penhall, 560 Bolivar street, was broken into and there the thieves got around $2 in cash, a registration card and ration books that had been left in a purse. There was also a break-in at the residence of W. R. Padgett, 576 Bolivar street, but the booty was not extensive.

SAMPLE OF SALVAGE

Scarcity of paper in Great Britain is common knowledge in this country of vast production of wood pulp, but an example of salvaging the ultimate in utility was mentioned at Metropolitan Store today. A large envelope delivered from Liverpool seemed to have some other use, apparently as a bag that had contained four pounds of granulated sugar. The firm name is "Tate and Lyle." After doing that duty, the bag was fashioned into an envelope, bearing the stamped name "Sutherland International Dispatch Ltd., 10 Victoria street, Liverpool.

Council Expects To Discuss New City Hall

The council is meeting in committee of the whole tonight for general discussion which will probably be an opportunity to begin the consideration of preliminary details of the proposed city hall.

Although this project is definitely listed as an undertaking for after the war, the council realizes that essential questions of site and plans should be determined before peace comes again. Accumulation of post-war work is bound to engage architects to the fullest extent, whereas at the present time it is likely that their services are not in great demand.

City Treasurer Shaver has made an approximation of space that will be required by the civic departments, and his ideas have been incorporated in tentative plans which have been completed by Guy Quartermaine of City Engineer Parsons' office.

Incidental questions which the council has been deferring to just such an occasion as tonight's meeting are consideration of inclusion of police offices in the new city hall and provision of a public auditorium, its extent and so on.

Some other business may be slated for this committee meeting, but it is altogether likely that the present secondary stage of city hall planning will be first on the list.

Douro One Of Leaders In Farm Federation

Douro township increased with a meeting last week its Federation of Agriculture membership, and now regards itself as among the county leaders in its Federation support.

This meeting was called by Charles Brown, township director, and James Healey was appointed chairman. The main speaker was Ralph Staples of Toronto, secretary of the National Farm Radio Forum, reviewing the progress of the Federation and the extension of its interests and activities, including the interesting and educational farm radio forum enterprise.

One of the simple facts which Mr. Staples stressed was that the Federation of Agriculture has grown out of the needs of farmers, that it is designed solely for the promotion of their interests, and that the more generally it is sustained by farmers the greater force it will become and therefore the more successful.

The meeting produced some new memberships, but it was stated that two out of every three farmers in Douro are Federation members.

F.O. Tom Smart Thinks Halifaxes Best

Leaving R.A.F. calling cards at some of Germany's most important industrial centres, where their hosts welcomed them with flak and machine gun bursts from enemy fighters, has kept F. O. Thomas Smart on the busy list since he landed in England in November 1942. Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Smart, 126 Maude street, he has just returned from overseas, having completed his tour of operation.

F. O. Smart has been a navigator on a Halifax bomber, and in his opinion, they're the ships that will get you there and bring you back, even if it's only on one or two engines. He'll brook no opposition on this point because his plane, riddled with flak and working on two engines, brought the crew home uninjured from raids on Hanover and Nuremburg. Let other airmen sing the glories of the Lancaster, Mosquito, Spitfire or Hurricane, but he'll settle for a swell crate, the Halifax.

Looking back over the past few months, the veteran flier recalls that none of these Continental attacks was easy, some were worse than others, and the toughest was the raid they pulled on Hanover. The flak the Nazi put up was really something and their plane was heavily damaged. Through the efforts of the crew and the good qualities of the ship, F. O. Smart and his pals set down at a drome "somewhere in England", but were in too bad shape to make their own.

"Luck plays a large part in what kind of a trip you have," F. O. Smart declared. "One night you're Joe, and the next it's a piece of cake. But those ships we have, really are class, and there are times they seem to perform miracles."

Opposition Varies

Nuremburg, in southern Germany was something of a tough assignment for the bombers. It is a long way from base, but even on two engines once more reached home. No two centres give exactly the same reception and at Essen, the opposition was mostly flak, he said. The Germans were just beginning to introduce night fighters at that point.

Hamburg, now there's a spot. F.O. Smart and his crew were sent raiding there on four different occasions. At the end of each attack, the entire city was a huge mass of fiery pinnacles blotting out the landscape for miles. Half the time after the first planes dropped their "kisses of death," newly arrived ships could not make out landmarks at all. This flier was also part of the force of four engine bombers when they took their first punch at the capital of the Third Reich.

"Even in the midst of danger and destruction, we have our moments of humor. I think the funniest thing we experienced was on a trip we made to Modane in France. That was the place where on of the fliers closed both ends of a railway tunnel, remember?

Miscalculation

"We were supposed to go in at a certain level, but upon arrival, there seemed to be so little flak opposition. All they were throwing up against us appeared to be coming from a few guns mounted on railway cars. So we dropped down to 4,000 feet and the bombers began disgorging their loads. After each explosion, we could hear a brisk rattle against the bottom of the plane and it took us several moments to realize it was a kickback from our own bombs, not flak. We didn't try that stunt again," the flier recalled.

F.O. Smart was a member of a mixed crew and he thinks its a good idea. He said that they all got along well together and worked in perfect harmony. The only other Canadian in the group was a sergeant, acting as rear gunner. The mid upper gunner was an Australian, there was one Welshman and the remainder were English. The other mixed crews at his station pulled together well too.

On Their Own

Wearing the tiny gold wings, which symbolize completion of a tour of operations made over enemy territory, F.O. Smart indicated that the bombers were entirely on their own, once they took off from Great Britain. There are no fighters and they depend on the skilfullness of their evasive action and the cool aim of their gunners. The gunners in his crew more than held up their end of the job. As for nightfighters? Well they got you or they didn't. They like to let a searchlight cone a ship before the pounce in, he remarked. There was marked cooperation of this type in earlier raids on Berlin, he explained.

Before joining the R. C. A. F., F. O. Smart worked for some time at the Royal Bank in Peterborough and then moved to Toronto, where his wife is living at present. The airman is stationed in Ottawa and he expects to be posted at some instructional job for a few months, then he hopes—overseas once more.

Pickerel Season Opens 2 Days Early

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP).—D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries for Ontario, said today the pickerel and trout seasons in the province will open two days earlier this year because the normal opening dates fall on a Monday. The pickerel season, scheduled to open Monday, May 15, will open Saturday, May 13. The speckled trout, brown and Aurora trout season which ordinarily would open May 1 will open Saturday, April 29.

"That's the usual thing," said Mr. Taylor. "We advance the dates when the opening day falls on a Monday."

PASS THE FUDGE, PLEASE, SOLDIER — Even battle-hardened members of a U.S. army special weapons unit take time out for making fudge in Bougainville. The boys are Pfc. C. E. Setzer, Newton, N.C. The latter is melting butter for the fudge.

Worshippers Throng Churches For Special Easter Message

Large crowds of worshippers thronged the city's churches Sunday as special services celebrating the holy day of Easter were held. It was reported that in several instances augmented congregations filled to overflowing the accommodations available, and solemn observance marked, on the eve of still greater efforts than have yet been made, the fifth Easter Day of a Canada at war.

Echoes of the world-wide war were reflected in more than one of the addresses delivered to attentive audiences in the city's churches. At St. James' evening service, J. C. Oliver, Y.M.C.A. world service secretary, told of experiences in China as internee, and the vitality, despite persecution and unnumbered obstacles, of the Y.M.C.A. in occupied China.

Prof. John Dow of Emmanuel College, Toronto, was guest minister at Trinity church, where at the evening service, an Easter cantata, "The King of Glory," was sung by the choir. The "Glory of Easter" and "The Risen Life" were sermon topics at Murray Street Baptist church, of which Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe is the minister. At this church the ordinance of baptism was administered at both services, and special Easter music by the choir and Ladies' Quartette was presented.

Broadcast Too

Several of the Easter services were broadcast over CHEX including the morning meeting at St. Paul's Presbyterian church, during which a solo "The Resurrection" was sung by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, and the anthem "Why Seek Ye the Living" by E. J. Hopkins. Also broadcast was an address by Capt. Jean Cox of the Salvation Army of Toronto. Services from the Salvation Army Temple were to be followed tonight by a musical program by the Junior Band and Singing Company.

Hymns and devout selections appropriate to the uniqueness of this past Sunday in the Christian calendar year were highlighted at the services held in St. Andrew's United church. Mrs. R. Williamson rendered the Handel opus "I know That My Redeemer Liveth"; a violin solo, Schubert's "Ave Maria" was performed by Miss Mary Wharry; and a duet was contributed by the Misses Whalon and McNeely. Other soloists at St. Andrew's included Miss Jean Jackson, Miss G. Langton and Mr. E. Humpage.

Holy Communion was celebrated in the Anglican churches at one or more early services preceding the 11 o'clock service, and special children's services marked the afternoon at St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints' churches.

School Children Make Fund Gifts At Easter

The great hope for the future lies in the children of today, and the more they learn about the good things of life, the better the world will be from the administration of affairs that must naturally fall to their hands in the days that are to come.

The very fact that Easter marks a time when they are given holidays, can itself be made of great significance to them, for the events which it commemorates speaks of a great triumph which had as its preparation of life that was pure and spotless, and culminated with the greatest sacrifice of innocent blood for the good of all mankind that the world has ever known.

There is a parallel between the work that the Peterborough and district Br. War Victims Fund endeavours to carry on, and the new life symbolized by Easter, for the money which the former raises at the sacrifice of individuals and groups, goes in its entirety to help many a sufferer who perhaps has lost everything he or she had by reason of air raid attacks on their home.

Grade 6, King George School

From the very fact that school children undertake a work for this purpose at this season of the year, they must unconsciously gain some inspiration and good from it themselves, nothing making this more sure than the fact that time and again, boys and girls who have taken a lead on previous occasions, come back again with more help.

This is borne out today with a donation of $11 from Grade 6 at King George School as the result of an effort in which Richard Pulley, a pupil in that class played a leading role, following other efforts of a varying nature on former occasions in which he also took a leading part. This young boy got a new guitar for a present last Christmas so he donated his old one, still in good condition for a draw for which they sold tickets to the value of $9.65, and Byrl Aker, another pupil in the same class sold tickets to the value of 65 cents for an embroidered chesterfield set, and the class made up the balance of the total credited to them.

The guitar was won by T. I. Hill, shoemaker on Hunter street, and the chesterfield set by Mrs. Fred Storey, Jr., while the children were quite elated at being able to bring this money into headquarters of the fund, from their labor of love to help others in distress when the school closed down for the Easter vacation.

Other Classes Also Assist

Another class, Grade 3 in the same school also wound up their activities of a studious nature for the next few days by bringing in another gift of $2, while Grade 1, Room 12 at Central School, composed of the youngest of young folk brought in $1.06, showing that they too were mindful of the needs of other less fortunate people, before they set out on their own pleasure.

Former Principal Dies Following Lengthy Illness

A principal of Queen Mary School for 15 years, Malcolm Neil Clark, whose illness forced his retirement in 1933, died Sunday at his home, 302 Hunter street west. He will be well remembered by all the west-end students who passed through his classes from 1918 until 1933, when he reluctantly handed over the task of building up members of the younger generation to take their places as conscientious citizens.

Mr. Clark was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, and was born in Bentinck township, Grey county. He attended Collingwood and Owen Sound Collegiate Institute and was an Honor Graduate of Toronto University. In 1897 Mr. Clark was appointed principal of Alliston Continuation and Meaford Model and Public Schools, where he served his apprenticeship as principal.

Coming to Peterborough in 1912, the late Mr. Clark became principal of King Edward School for six years and then moved on to Queen Mary. He was a faithful member of Knox Church where he has been an elder. Mr. Clark was also superintendent of Knox Sunday School for a number of years.

Surving are his wife, formerly Amy Louise Prud'homme, two daughters, Cora at home and Mrs. F. W. McDonald of Toronto; one son, Gordon of Detroit, Mich. and a grandson, Bruce Malcolm Clark also of Detroit. There is one sister, Mrs. Duncan Morrison of Dornoch and a brother, John, of Vancouver, B.C.

The remains will rest at the Comstock & Son Funeral Home, 305 Water street, until noon Tuesday when they will be moved to Knox Church for service at 2:30 p.m. Rev. H. J. Mahoney and Rev. William McDonald will officiate. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Court Martial Convicts Veterans Guards

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP)—As the aftermath of complaints made to Federal authorities by the Town Council of Buckingham, Que., regarding alleged fraternization between a group of German prisoners of war and civilians, disciplinary action has been taken against two members of Co. 12, Veterans' Guard of Canada.

The men are Cpl. William Lee of Montreal, ordered reduced to the ranks and sentenced to nine months' detention, and Pte. Nelson Skinner of Granby, Que., sentenced to one year's detention.

Lee and skinner were tried before district courts-martial after Buckingham Council had passed a resolution asking authorities to see that stricter supervision was exercised over German prisoners of war brought into Buckingham from Thurso, Que., 45 miles east of Ottawa, for dental treatment.

Faced Six Counts

Six counts were laid against Lee and six against Skinner following reports that prisoners in their charge being brought to Buckingham from Thurso had been permitted to drink beer and dance with a group of Buckingham girls known locally as the "Happy Gang."

The girls testified at the courts-martial that they had driven from Buckingham to Thurso with the prisoners and their guards.

Skinner said at his trial that had the eight prisoners concerned chosen to "start something" he could not have stopped them, and that the only way to meet the situation was to be "halfway decent" to them.

Lee was convicted of three charges, and Skinner convicted of five. At the courts-martial, held at Buckingham two weeks ago, Lee was acquitted of three other charges, and Skinner acquitted of one. The incident which gave rise to the charges occurred March 15.

The Thurso work project has since been closed, and prisoners working there transferred elsewhere.

Defense Headquarters announced Saturday that Lee had been found guilty of drunkenness; disobedience of standing orders by permitting prisoners of war to fraternize with the public, and conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline by permitting prisoners to consume intoxicating liquor in a public place.

Skinner was found guilty of permitting prisoners to fraternize in public with civilians; leaving six prisoners in the custody of a civilian without reasonable cause; carrying out his duties improperly by permitting prisoners to proceed in a truck unaccompanied by a regular guard; while acting as an escort permitting prisoners to fraternize with civilians and permitting prisoners of war to consume intoxicating liquors in a public place.

The findings and sentences of both courts-martial were confirmed by Maj.-Gen. E. J. Renaud, District Officer Commanding Military District No. 4 (Montreal), and promulgated Saturday.

Would you advise me to stay in

Girl's Chances Better in Home Town

ANSWER — Eligible young men are as scarce as hens' teeth in civilian circles anywhere now, for the worthwhile chaps are mostly in the army or navy or the marines. My guess is that you would have a better chance of bringing down your game, when you went husband-hunting, if you lay in wait for one in a small town until he came home on a furlough and was girl-hungry, than you would if you stalked him in a big city where so many of the man-eaters had already assembled.

But I would certainly urge you to stick to the work that you enjoy and that is along your own line. Then you will have a consolation prize, even if Mr. Right doesn't come along.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 11

ACCORDING TO the predominant planetary configurations this may prove to be a dangerous and difficult day, with open and above-board attacks and disagreements as well as the menace of penicious undercurrents of a more or less sinister threat. It is recommended that the utmost prudence, discretion and vigilence be exercised, as any off-guard or reckless conduct might precipitate these disagreements, quarrels or deep-laid schemes or intrigues. Make changes with calm consideration, be wise with strangers or any sort of curious or doubtful contacts. Emotions should be well controlled.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year the outcome of which depends upon complete descretion and vigilance, in all their contacts and relations. Not only are there hints of strife, ruptures and turmoil but there may be sinister undercurrents threatening the peace, happiness both in business and strictly personal relations. Especially the latter may be subject to duplicity, intrigues, dangerous plots and lures. Keep alert, shun suspicious alliance and refrain from emotional or impulsive or illicit indulgences. Change carefully.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be wayward, impulsive, carried away by its emotions, as well as easily duped by strangers or smooth schemes and sinister intrigues. Its romantic life may be particularly menaced.

16 Quilts Made For Red Shield

ROSENEATH, April 8 (ENS) — A talk on Education by Miss Helen Weir, a motion to donate $30.00 to the Red Cross, and a decision to start a drive for used clothing and make heavy quilts for Greek relief, were three of the main features at the W.I. meeting held on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was held in the town shall, Mrs. Frank Brown was hostess and the president, Mrs. Earl Waldie, was in the chair.

Miss Weir, principal of Roseneath school defined education as the vehicle by which children learn about their environment. In social study, she stated, they learn of current events and places. The physical environment teaches them how to get along with people, and the school must seek to lead the child that he may develop into a good citizen, she believed.

Miss Weir was of the opinion that religious education in the school should be taught by a minister of the Gospel.

During the business period the financial statement presented by Mrs. S. Thackeray, showed $77.14 in the treasury, including receipts of $37.00 from a dance and $31.00 from sale of tickets on a quilt.

The Branch has made and donated sixteen quilts to the Red Shield, Cobourg, made five print quilts, sold four, and sold tickets on the fifth quilt.

It was decided to donate $30.00 to the Alnwick Red Cross Branch with the stipulation that the donation go to headquarters to be applied to the fund for prisoners of war parcels.

A communication was received from Dr. A. R. Richards, Cobourg, asking permission to show slides relative to the coming Victory Loan campaign, at the May meeting. Dr. Richards will be invited to attend.

It was announced that Mrs. Clarence Hayes of Georgetown, would represent the department and address the officers' rally at Roseneath on Friday afternoon, April 28. All ladies in the community are urged to attend.

The members are asking for donations of used clothing, and heavy quilt blocks for Greek relief. These to be left with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, by April 15.

A donation of $1.50 towards a quilt lining was received from Mrs. R. Crego.

A display of articles made from flour bags was the response to the roll call, and included laundry bags, clothes pins bags, luncheon cloths and aprons.

Miss Clarice Atkinson played a piano solo, and a vote of thanks was tendered the hostess, who served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

3 Churches Give Easter Message

MARMORA, April 10 (ENS) — The Easter festival was observed in local churches with large congregations. At the Sacred Heart church, High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father H. J. Farrell at 10.30 a.m., followed by benediction. Father Farrell delivered an inspiring Easter message. The altar and sanctuary were beautifully decorated with carnations, cinerarias and snapdragon.

Lessons Learned

At St. Andrew's United church, Rev. G. Crabbe of Eldorado was the officiating minister at both services. In the morning he spoke on 'Lessons from the life of Peter." The choir sang an Easter anthem and Miss Flora Sanderson of Toronto, who is a member of the Metropolitan church choir, sang a solo.

In the evening the Girls' Choir, in addition to leading in the musical portion of the service, sang two anthems. The sermon was based on the text "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and these things shall be added unto you."

Women At Tomb

St. Paul's Anglican church was beautifully decorated with choice blooms, including flowers on the organ given by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Neath. There was a choral communion at 11 a.m. with Rev. A. B. Caldwell as celebrant. The rector's discourse was based upon the account of the women finding the empty tomb as given by St. Mark. The duet, "He Lives" was sung by Mrs. C. Nichol and Mrs. P. Gray, the latter also singing "Rest Crucified Redeemer," during the offertory. Fifty-five partook of Holy Communion.

Evensong was conducted by the lay reader, W. J. Cottrell, whose text was "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and today and for ever." The choir rendered the anthem, "Alleluia, Alleluia, Hearts To Heaven and Voices Raise," with W. J. Cottrell taking a solo part.

Boys' Choir Performs For First At Easter

Easter Day at St. George's Anglican Church was a most festive and memorable one for the rector and congregation. The celebration of the holy communion commenced at 8.30 a.m., with the rector as celebrant. The simplicity of this service, the altar with its beautiful array of Easter flowers, made it a most impressive one.

At 10 o'clock the Sunday school (primary and senior) held their Easter service in the church, and this was conducted by Mr. Moore, who spoke to the children in keeping with Easter Day.

The 11 o'clock service was the celebration of the holy communion. This was choral and a full choir was in attendance. The newly formed boys' choir made its first appearance along with the adult choir in their new vestments of blue and white. The choristers, 12 in number, were pleased at taking their proper places in the new choir stalls. The sacrament of holy baptism was administered at four o'clock. At seven o'clock (evensong) was sung. The anthem, "King of Kings," was presented by the choir. Easter hymns were sung wholeheartedly by the choir and congregation which filled the church at all services.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TEST THE SITUATION

BEFORE deciding which direction to take a finesse that can be tried either way, a declarer should always, if possible, try to find out about it. Frequently the playing of other tricks first will enable him to get a count on one of the defenders' hands, or at least a very strong indication as to which of them holds the card which worries him. By doing this, he can often eliminate guesswork entirely, or reduce it to a minimum.

North: ♠ K 10 7 6; ♥ J 8 4; ♦ K J 10; ♣ A 8 6

West: ♠ 8 5 3; ♥ A K 9 6 3 2; ♦ 7; ♣ Q 4 3

East: ♠ 4; ♥ 7; ♦ Q 8 6 4 3 2; ♣ J 10 9 7 2

South: ♠ A Q J 9 2; ♥ Q 10 5; ♦ A 9 5; ♣ K 5

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Everybody in a duplicate played this deal at the same contract of 4-Spades, but not everybody made it. Several were set because they played the diamond finesse in the wrong direction and lost a trick to the Q.

Several tricks were exactly the same at all tables. West took the heart K and A and led a third heart, which East ruffed. The club J was returned to the K, and three spades drew the outstanding trumps.

The declarers who were set then decided to play West for the diamond Q as part of the strength for his heart bid. They laid down the diamond A and then led, intending to finesse. When West discarded a heart, they realized they would have to lose a trick to the diamond Q and accept defeat.

A few of the declarers made the contract by guessing East for the diamond Q and leading the J from dummy toward the A. The better ones, however, eliminated all guesswork. After winning the fourth trick with the club K and dropping trumps, they scored the club A and ruffed the club 8. When West followed suit to all three club rounds, he marked himself definitely as having held six hearts, three spades, three clubs and consequently only one diamond. So those declarers knew exactly how to play the diamonds, winning with the K and then leading through the Q, which they knew was held by East.

Germans Claim Raid Failed

LONDON, April 8—(AP).—American heavy bombers, striking into Germany after a lapse of several days, attempted to raid Berlin this afternoon, a German broadcast reported.

The attack was not confirmed immediately by American air headquarters. The capital was last attacked by the Americans March 22.

The broadcast said strong formations made the attempt but "suffered one of the heaviest defeats and none of the formations was able to cross the Elbe."

This recalled a similar claim made Thursday when 15th Air Force bombers based in Italy raided the German-held Croatian capital of Zagreb. German announcements on that raid boasted their fighters had inflicted "one of the greatest strategical defeats suffered so far" by the Allies, but returning crewmen reported only moderate resistance and a headquarters announcement said 16 enemy planes had been shot down to the loss of three bombers.

In the only reported aerial activity during the night, R.A.F. bombers laid mines in enemy waters, the Air Ministry reported.

Ask Women Operate Barges

LONDON, April 10—(CP)—If women of Britain fancy a job with a minimum wage of $15 a week, free fuel and light and an extra tea and sugar ration, the Ministry of Transport is calling for volunteers. There is an acute shortage of bargees.

Training is under military supervision. They learn to handle small craft and locks and on completion of the course, form "gangs" of three, handling essential cargoes of war supplies on the canals.

But this work calls for hard, robust women and the ministry says the main qualifications are "grit and the spirit of service."

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to cleanse the blood and with the blood cleansed the complexion should clear up.

Jap Forces 10 Miles From Imphal

Glider Forces Land In Rear Of Japs Cut Supply Lines

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, April 11 (AP)— A second attempt by the Japanese to take Kohima, northeast India strong point, appeared in the making today as the southeast Asia command announced the enemy continued to press in on that area and sharp patrol actions inflicted casualties on the Japanese on the near approaches to Imphal, main Allied base.

Patrols along the Imphal-Tiddim road, south of Imphal, were in contact to a point well down the road from the edge of the plain while in the northeast it was estimated that fighting was going on eight to 10 miles from Imphal itself.

The enemy proddings around Kohima, which guards the approach to the Bengal-Assam railroad at Dimapur, 35 miles away, seemed to indicate he would try to by-pass the town in case the second attack fails.

Fighting Heavy

Heavier fighting was reported in central Burma where Indian troops, landed by glider and plane in the area of Katha and Mawlu, were spreading deep behind enemy lines. This operation already has cut rail and river communications serving the Japanese who are facing the advance of Chinese and Americans from the north.

Now these air-borne Chindits aim at destruction of communications behind the Japanese Indian offensive which would have a serious effect when the enemy reserves lodged along the Chindwin river are depleted.

Kohima is only 35 miles from the Bengal-Assam railway. The bulletin said pressure was also maintained and in the hill country near Kohima north and south of the Manipur road.

To the west, in Northern Burma, Chinese forces driving down the Mogaung valley area captured Wakawng, six miles south of Shaduzup, which had been seized by American troops.

German Attacks Thrown Back On Anzio Front

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, April 11—(AP)—Italian troops holding Mount Marone, mile-high peak 15 miles northwest of Cassino, have respulsed small German thrusts at two points, killing seven of the foe and taking one prisoner—the first announced capture of a Nazi by the new army of liberated Italy.

On the Anzio beachhead British troops two miles southeast of Carroceto drove off a German platoon with casualties and other Nazi attempts at infiltration in that sector were repulsed. Three miles west of Littoria, on the other side of the beachhead, an American ambush patrol, killing three and wounding two.

As shelling and patrol clashes continued along the main 5th Army front a headquarters commentator said recent German replacements in Italy have included soldiers who lost some of their toes as a result of frostbite on the Russian front.

The Allied communique today said Allied artillery had set fire to an ammunition dump in the Cassino sector.

The Navy announced that a United States destroyer bombarded German postions around the beachhead Sunday and that an American minesweeper on patrol off Anzio shot down a Junkers 88 Saturday night.

Flying more than 800 sorties, Allied planes hammered at German communications yesterday with medium bombers striking at rail bridges at Orvieto, Attigliano and Poggibonsi, while fighterbombers hit at others at Fano, Popoli and Falconara. Last night medium bombers blasted the ports of Piombino and Santo Stefano on the Italian west coast. Returning fliers reported a number of direct hits on bridges and new cuts in rail lines.

Shipping along the Dalmatian coast also was attacked. One enemy plane was shot down during the day and two Allied planes were lost.

RAF Bombers Drop Record Load

Cascade 4,000 Tons On Rail Centres In Belgium, France

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 11 —(AP)—The heaviest attack in the R.A.F. bomber command's history — a 4,000-ton blasting of Belgian and French railroad centres by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. planes Monday night—was reported by the air ministry today as nearly 2,000 American bombers and fighters carried the onslaught against German air defences through its fourth day.

The American task force of nearly 1,000 bombers and an equal number of fighters attacked aircraft factories at Oschersleben and Bernburg and other targets deep in Germany. It returned to England as the R.A.F. was disclosing details of last night's heavy attack.

The bulk of the R.A.F. offensive was borne by 900 heavy bombers attacking five French and Belgian railroad centres. Other Lancasterss, meanwhile, dropped many 8,000-pound bombs on a "very important" depot declared to contain large stores of signal and Radar equipment for use of the German air force. This depot was at St. Cyr, near Paris.

Mammoth Attack

The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. had poured down more than 3,360 tons of bombs on several previous night operations, and on March 22 smothered Frankfurt with well over that figure—but never, the air ministry said, had the load been so heavy as last night's.

An Air Ministry communique said bomber command sent out altogether 900 planes last night in attacks which include also hammering blows by Mosquitoes at Hanover and other targets in the Ruhr and mine-laying in enemy waters. The raids cost 22 bombers but all the Canadian planes returned safely.

Reports from Germany indicated American planes were maintaining the offensive today with attacks deep into the Reich.

Berlin radio said the Americans dropped bombs on central Germany and asserted the raiders suffered heavy casualties in widespread operations over central and eastern Germany. Formations leaving Reich territory were being harassed by German fighters, the broadcast said.

The smashing night attacks on occupied territory centred on railway yards and depots at Ghent in Belgium, and at Tergnier, Aulnoye and Laon in northern France. Canadian Halifax squadrons shared in the raid on Ghent while Canadian Lancasters were in the force which struck at Laon.

An R.C.A.F. communique said "many" aircraft of the Canadian bomber group took part in the double-barrelled attack.

In addition Canadians in an R.A.F. Halifax squadron joined in the blow against Tergnier.

The Air Ministry departed from WINS AWARD — LAC. Max Hutchinson of Peterborough is the first man from this city to be given the Oak Leaf Cluster. At a risk to his own life, he pulled a badly injured pilot from a burning plane after it had crashed, sawing through the metal wreckage with a hacksaw.

Peterboro Boy Wins Medal Far Saving Pilot

With complete disregard of his own safety, LAC. Max Hutchinson, stationed at Aylmer, rescued an injured pilot from a blazing plane, thus being the first Peterborough man to win the Oak Leaf cluster, and one of about 20 in Canada to have this decoration.

LAC. Hutchinson is an aero-engine mechanic at Aylmer station and he was working around the field when he saw one of their pilots get into trouble. As the plane crashed in a neighboring farm field it broke into flames and by the time the mechanic had run across the fire was spreading rapidly.

With the help of some of his comrades, he cut through the metal, using a hacksaw, working swiftly as the flames licked out at him, and after a few minutes when the issue hung in the balance, he was able to reach the badly injured airman, and extricate him.

A special letter of commendation from Air Marshal Robert Leckie, chief of air staff, was presented to LAC. Hutchinson at a recent wings parade at Aylmer. The letter praised his initiative, courage and resourcefulness which he had displayed when he ran to the burning machine, which crashed on January 18.

Formerly employed in the Industrial Control at the C.G.E., Max Hutchinson is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchinson, his father having died about a month ago. A sister, Mrs. Kenneth Shadgett, lives on Walnut street, and he has three brothers, Albert, Cyril and George, all in Peterborough.

Reds Attack Crimea On Two Sides

Konev's Legions Within 5 Miles Of Iasi In Romania

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Assocated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 11 — (AP) — Russia's 4th Ukrainian Army stormed southward into the Crimea from two directions today in a drive aimed at clearing south Russia of the Axis invaders as Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 3rd Army smashed to within six miles of Ovidiopol, escape bottleneck through which the remnants of the Nazis' Odessa garrison were fleeing toward Romania.

The 4th Army, under command of Gen. Feodor 1. Tolbukhin, was attacking in the Crimea along a 75-mile front from the Perekop Isthmus at the north-western corner of the peninsula to Visash Bay on the northeast, field dispatches said.

In two days, a Russian communique declared, Gen. Tolbukhin's forces advanced more than 12 miles to kill 5,500 enemy troops and capture another 1,000. About 11 German divisions (perhaps 100,000 men) were believed isolated in the Crimea.

To the northwest another Red Army crossed the Siretul and Suceava Rivers in Rumania, the war bulletin announced, and reached a point less than five miles from the rail junction of Iasi. This drive by Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 2nd Ukrainian Army was said to have captured 180 towns and villages along a 65-mile long front and smashed to within 15 miles of the Campulung oil fields and within 160 miles of the Ploesti wells.

Deepest penetration reported on this sector was at Solca, 19 miles northwest of Suceava and 35 miles from Transylvania. Marshal Konev's right wing was striking westward along the Darmenesti-Budapest railway toward the Carpathian mountains and captured Radauti, one of the largest cities in Bucovina.

Iasi Half-encircled

With Iasi half-encircled, Marshal Konev's left wing was reported wheeling southward toward the Danube, taking Targu-Frumos, 27

Railway Busting Proceeds Across Europe

LONDON, April 11 (CP-Reuters) —Anglo-American railway busting operations in northern France and Belgium appear to be part of the general plan for "softening up" the German transport system behind the so-called invasion coast.

These attacks, now going on with steadily increasing striking power, have covered a rectangular area 150 miles deep by 250 miles long, extending along the Channel coast from the mouth of the Scheldt to Havre and running inland almost as far as the Luxembourg border to Tours in France.

This region included Paris, Amiens, Lille and Le Mans. It may be assumed the attacks are closely related to Anglo-American bombing of the German aircraft industry and military objectives in northern France. British and Canadian heavy bombers are now participating with devastating effect in this softening up of the German transport system. Last night alone 900 of these bombers attacked railway targets in northern France and Belgium.

This use of the R.A.F.'s strategic night bombing force on such tactical attacks suggests either that weather and moon conditions over Europe are hampering their employment in their normal strategic role of night bombers or that aid of the R.A.F. bomber command has been called in by "the invasion high command" under General Eisenhower

The Garbo Touch

WINDSOR, Ont., April 11—(CP).—Considerable excitement was aroused Saturday by reports of a bear in Grove Cemetery, a surly, silent beast which sat 40 feet up in a tree and ignored all advances of spectators. When it was finally identified as a racaoon, fear was dispelled and workers erected a ladder to get a better look. The raccoon climbed 10 feet higher, then descended with sham friendliness to be petted and bit a stroking hand. He was left to finish out his Easter visit in solitude.

2,100 Homeless After Storms

NEW YORK, April 11 — (AP) — Violent storms left a trail of death and property damage today in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and Colorado.

Tornadoes killed at least 15 persons in Arkansas and Oklahoma last night, and injured upwards of 160.

Floods routed hundreds of families from their homes in the Arkansas River watershed of Oklahoma and Kansas and in Kingfisher county in western Oklahoma.

The storms affected 515 families, totalling 2,100 individuals; destroyed 110 houses and damaged 215 others.

19 Die In Storm

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. April 11 (AP) —Nineteen persons were killed and at least 150 injured in a series of tornadoes that struck with lightning-like fury over a wide area of Arkansas last night.

The tiny Woodson community, 15 miles south of Little Rock apparently was one of the hardest hit spots. At least five inhabitants of the farm security administration project there were killed and many injured.

At Magnolia 15 persons were seriously hurt and 40 to 50 slightly injured when a storm blew down 14 buildings at the camp occupied by conscientious objectors.

Wall Buries 2

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 11 — (AP)—Rescuers pulled the bodies of two men today from the wreckage of a wall blown onto the Fort Wayne National Bank building by a high wind, and continued digging for three women bank employees reported still in the debris.

Five other women were dug from the wreckage and hurried to hospitals. Several other persons were hurt.

The wall was the west side of a five story building destroyed by fire two weeks ago. Parts of the wall crashed through the roof of the bank.

Canuck Fliers In Big Raid Over Belgium

BY LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 11—(CP Cable) The R.C.A.F. bomber group provided the main force in last night's attack on Ghent, Belgian communications centre and one of the targets of a five-ply smash by a record number of R.A.F. and Canadian bombers on targets in occupied France and Belgium.

At least 11 Canadian Halifax squadrons hammered at the railway yards in Ghent while Canadian Lancasters participated in the R.A.F. blow at Laon in Northern France.

Canadians also flew with an R.A.F. Halifax squadron which blasted at railway objectives in Tergnier, also in northern France. All the Canadian aircraft returned safely.

The Allouette Squadron, piloted by Flt. Lt. W. L. Vanexan of Smiths Falls, Ont., Bluenose squadron. The Lion, Iroquois, Moose, Ghost, Bison, Porcupine, Tiger, Snowy Owl and Leaside squadron took part in the Ghent raid.

P.O. Bill Woodrow of Ottawa, counted 10 fighters flying at 20,000 feet and said one was within 100 yards of his Iriquois squadron Halifax but didn't fire. Sgt. Jack coates, of Toronto, a squadron mate, had skirmishes with three fighters, one of which chased him out of the target area after he had given the slip to two others.

Flt. Lt. John Keane, Orono, Ont., called the attack "a perfect prang".

"There can't be much left of that place", said Sgt. Bruce Betts of Windsor, Ont., an Allouette squadron bomb-aimer. He said: "I saw bombs drop right on the target and we could see the rails shining in the blast."

Would-be Assassin Shot By Guard

MEXICO CITY, April 11 — (AP) — A young Mexican army lieutenant, who attempted to assassinate President Manuel Avila Camacho, was wounded gravely in a break for freedom last night and rumors circulated here today that the assailant was dead.

President Avila Camacho escaped injury although a bullet fired point blank pierced his coat and left powder burns near his heart. The President who helped overpower the assailant, identified as Lt. Jose Antonio De La Lama Rojas, 31.

Ther was no amplication of an official statement that "several documents from Nazi sources" were found upon the assailant.

When large crowds gathered in the Hacienda near the jail the prisoner was said to have attempted to escape by overpowering two guards and fleeing into the crowd. A single shot from the rifle of Rafael Solis, army guard, felled him.

Lama Rojas, a member of the Palace miltary staff, was first reported taken to a military hospital under guard but attaches said early today "Lama Rojas is not in hospital here," giving some credence that he was dead.

Eden Won't Resign Daily Mirror Claims

LONDON, April 11.—(CP).—The Daily Mirror praised Anthony Eden's record as foreign secretary to-day and scored those who. it is said had started recent rumors that he was about to resign his post in the government.

"There may be people—some of them in high places—who would like to see Mr. Eden go." the newspaper said in an editorial. "He reflects the mood of those who stand boldly on the war record of Great Britain and the Empire and who desire to see British foreign policy based on that record.

"There has been too great a readiness to make concessions with British interests at stake.

"What the foreign office needs is a strong man with a strong policy. Mr. Eden fills the bill."

Situation Serious In De Gaulle Action

ALGIERS, April 11—(AP).—The reaction of certain members of the French Consultative Assembly to Gen. Charles de Gaulle's ouster of Gen. Henri Giraud brought up the possibility today that the French Committee of National Liberation might review its action which named Gen. Giraud inspector-general of the French Army. Gen. Giraud refused to recognize the action.

The committee will meet again this evening. Officials said the entire committee was involved in the dispute between the two generals and described the situation as serious.

Knox Confident On India Set-up

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox today expressed confidence that British forces in India will be able to halt the Japanese drive near Imphal.

Stating that the Jap operation involved only a small number of men, and that he did not regard it as particularly serious, Knox said:

"The British ought to be able to beat it and no doubt will."

Asked at his press conference about reported concentrations of Japanese fleet units at Singapore, the secretary said such reports had been received but it was understood now that the enemy force "has been dispersed so far as we know."

American air forces are steadily enlarging their control in the Pacific theatre, said Col. Knox.

He also said he would seek a legal ruling on the postponement of the trials of Maj.-Gen. William C. Short and Vice Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, charged with dereliction of duty in connection with the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941.

English People In Bad Mood

Strikes, Eire's Attitude Irks Many

LONDON, April 11 (CP) — A sense of frustration has become apparent among the people as the endemic ills of the coalfields festered anew and Eire, insistent on holding aloof from the war, revived old aches about the two countries' relations.

There has been some of this frustration too, in the manner the people received the news of Russia's intention to establish diplomatic relations with the Badoglio government without prior consultation of her Allies.

The people are out of temper with things.

It will be all right, you feel, once the invasion begins. It is this waiting-without-knowing-when that has been proving hard.

There was less inclination to abuse the striking miners than to blame the government for its handling of the situation when Welsh miners went on strike recently but there was criticism of the recently-ended Yorkshire strike.

The Welsh strike was over wages and that in Yorkshire over wage deductions for coal taken home.

The annoyance over Eire shows in bitter editorials and cartoons and the loss of the seeming indifference with which the Briton can discuss almost any subject, favorable or not to his country.

Crucial Battle for Balkan Pass Looms

Odessa's Fall Puts Pressure On Crimean Peninsula Where Divisions Are Trapped

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

There seems to be anxiety in some United States quarters (though it's difficult to understand why) over Australia's making a reallocation of manpower, involving the withdrawal of some 90,000 from the army, many of them veterans who have passed their jungle-fighting prime.

Australia is pulling her weight. New Guinea—El Alamein—Tobruk—The Malaya Peninsula jungles—Greece. I've been with the Aussies in two wars, and they're fightin' fools. Their only fault is that they try to do more than their share.

The fall of this port renders the Crimea untenable for the dozen or so Nazi and Romanian divisions which have been holding it. And the Crimean Peninsula has been the keystone of Hitler's defence of both the Ukraine and the Balkans—a vast naval-aerial-military shield for his entire right flank.

That's why Nazi General Von Mannstein, on orders direct from the Fuehrer, sacrificed scores of thousands of men in a suicidal effort to hold the vast salient of the Dnepr Bend as protection for the Crimea.

Already the Red Army has opened a fierce offensive against the Crimea. There have been close to 100,000 Axis trops on the peninsula, but the number there now is problematical, for some may have been evacuated by sea to Romania, and others are said to be trying to escape by water now.

In any event, the Nazi gangsters' hold on the Crimea is domed. Once it has been cleared of the enemy, the Red fleet will move back to its big naval base at Sevastopol and, with possession of Odessa as well, the Muscovites will again rule the Black Sea.

Meantime the crucial battle for the gateway to the Balkans is boiling up. That will centre in what is known as the Galati Gap. This gap, which is some 50 miles wide, lies between the great curve of the Carpathian area as it swerves through northern Romania, and the marshy delta of the Danube River on the Black Sea.

This gap not only is the natural gateway into the Balkan Peninsula, but it leads to the Ploesti oil field, just to the south, from which Hitler gets the petroleum without which he cannot long wage war. Thus he has a double reason to fight to a finish to hold the Galati opening—to protect the Balkans and to guard his precious oil wells.

Corrects Australian Story

70,000 Men Low Category To Be Released

MELBOURNE, April 11 — (AP) — Francis Forde, Australian minister replying to criticism in the United States of his announcement that 90,000 Autralian soldiers would be released from military duty to meet war manpower shortages, today explained that all but 20,000 of the men involved would be discharged for unfitness.

Mr. Forde said it was decided last October to allocate 20,000 army men to industry and that an additional 70,000 who normally would be discharged for unfitness, would be transferred directly into war industries.

The War minister said that since then there has been no new decision to reduce the size of the Australian Army. (Unofficial estimates place the army's size at approximately 800,000 men.)

The October decision, Mr. Forde said, was made after the British government requested an increase in the Australian exports of meat and butter and after U.S. forces in the southwest Pacific asked for increased supplies of the same commodities.

Australia has no intention of reducing her scale in the war effort, Mr. Forde said, and she remains one of the most completely mobilized of all the United Nations.

Eire Lays Plans To Raise Sufficient Food

By J. H. MURDOCH
Canadian Press Correspondent

DUBLIN, April 11 (CP)—In the turbulent history of Eire politics of the last 30 years there has seldom been such a degree of unanimity in public opinion as at present, a spirit of unity which has arisen from the attitude taken by the government in rejecting the demand of the United States, supported by Britain, for the removal of the German and Japanese diplomats from Dublin.

The consensus is that Prime Minister De Valera handled a most delicate and dangerous situation with considerable skill and dignity.

When David Gray, United States Minister in Dublin, presented his note to the Prime Minister, the latter immediately informed the leaders of the other political parties in the Dail of the situation and they endorsed Mr. De Valera's policy and approved the text of the note to be handed Mr. Gray.

One of the first to be informed of the American demand was John D. Kearney, Canadian High Commissioner. Mr. De Valera sent for Mr. Kearney, explained the situation and indicated what the Eire government's reply was going to be.

Now Eire is getting down to the task of becoming as far as possible economically independent of overseas supplies. Wheat production is the first job to be tackled.

Fuel Is Scarce.

By compulsory tillage regulations the farmers have been asked to produce 700,000 acres of wheat this year and if this target is reached no wheat need be imported and Eire's bread will, for the first time, be made entirely from home-produced flour. There will be concentration also on the production of potatoes, barley and oats.

Considering that Eire has 12,000,000 acres of arable land and just less than 3,000,000 people, the production figures set by the Government should be reached. To obtain the objective the Government is about to launch the biggest food production campaign ever attempted in the country.

Every inch of arable ground and every possible sod of peat will be needed if the Irish people are not to be hungry and cold after the next harvest. That, in effect, is the warning of Mr. De Valera when he broadcast to the people.

The fuel position is particularly serious. Because of seasonal conditions the people may have no more than 40 per cent of their needs in peat.

Members of all parties have supported Mr. De Valera's call to the nation and the leaders of the churches have reinforced his appeal.

Japs Abandon Gasmata Bases

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 11—(AP)—American forces control most of New Britain, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today. The Japanese have abandoned supply and fuel bases at Gasmata and Cape Hoskins and are in full retreat eastward to Rabaul for a last stand.

The Nipponese have lost around 10,000 men dead and wounded since American soldiers and marines opened the New Britain campaign in December with landings at Arawe and Cape Gloucester, said the Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific.

A headquarters spokesman estimated the loss at one-fifth of the 50,000 Japanese strength on the island at the start of the campaign, leaving 40,000 to man, machine-gun positions and pill-boxes for the final fighting around Rabaul, enemy base which has taken thousands of tons of Allied bombs in recent months.

Since soldiers of the United States 6th Army landed at Arawe Dec. 15 and the marines' invasion of Cape Gloucester on the western tip of the island Dec. 26, Japanese casualties have been 232 prisoners and 4,679 abandoned dead, with wounds, starvation and disease more than doubling this figure, the Allied communique said.

Enemy Marooned

Allied conquests in the Bismarck archipelago in the past few months have cut Japanese supply lines and stranded the enemy troops in New Britain. Rabaul, once a mustering point for enemy warships and planes operating against American invasion forces in the Solomons, has been hammered into near-uselessness by Allied aircraft.

The communique today said 80 tons of bombs were poured on airdromes, supply dumps and gun positions in the latest of daily assaults on the base.

Cape Hopkins, on the north central coast, was within reach of a marine force which had captured Talasea March 9 after a leapfrog invasion from Cape Gloucester.

Allied aerial blows from Boerce island northwest of Australia to Woleai island in the Caroline group were reported in today's communique. Bombers dropped 408 tons of explosives in the operations Saturday and Sunday.

The Danger of Coughs Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often of a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately may, eventually, cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cough or cold the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help get rid of the trouble.

G. S. Matthews Is New President Of Rotary Club

Gordon S. Matthews was elected president of the Peterborough Rotary Club for the year beginning July 1 at a meeting of directors held after Monday's regular luncheon at which a new directorate was named out of the field of eleven that had been selected by the club's nominating committee. The five directors elected at the luncheon were Chas. S. Cummer, Ken. Currie, J. H. Eastwood, Gordon S. Matthews and Frank C. Patterson.

There was no speaker at Monday's luncheon but instead a most enjoyable musical program was presented by Rotarian Frank Oldfield, baritone, of Toronto and R. W. Wright, tenor, Toronto with Rotarian Harry Northrop of the Peterborough club at the piano.

Fully recovered from a recent traffic accident in which he was knocked down by an automobile Mr. Oldfield was in excellent voice and his rousing martial numbers delighted the audience.

He opened with the swinging song "Let the Bands Play" a number that was given a typical Oldfield rendition and in response to the applause sang as an encore the amusing song "The Handsome Territorial". Later in the program Mr. Oldfield sang the spirited patriotic song "The Empire's Call" and as an encore the song story of the guardsman who started crooning on parade and nearly wrecked the army.

Mr. Wright's solo contribution to the program was the recitative

GORDON S. MATHEWS

"Righteous Art Thou Oh Lord" from the cantata "San Giovanni Battista" which the soloist sang in fine voice and with appreciation of the beauty of the words.

A duet "The Battle Eve" sung by Messrs. Oldfield and Wright without rehearsal was excellently done. Rotarian Harry Northrop carried out the duties of accompanist in masterly fashion.

The German agency DNB announced today that American air formations were over northern and central Germany and said violent aerial battles were raging over Brunswick and Hanover.

The heavy raids Monday and last night fell within the belt where the Germans have set up the strongest defences to meet the forthcoming Allied invasion.

Gets 5 Planes

Maj. James Goodson of Toronto, a fighter pilot in the United States army air force, claimed to have destroyed five German planes on the ground and shared in destruction of another after a sweep over northern France yesterday.

American losses in Monday's daylight operations were five bombers and four fighters. At least 12 Nazi fighters were destroyed in air combats and many more were reported shot up on the ground.

Last night's large-scale operation was the second successive R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. night attack on objectives in occupied territory. Big British and Canadian bombers blasted railway yards on the outskirts of Paris and at Lille on Sunday night.

Laon, hit by the R.A.F. last night, is the capital of the Aisne department, 87 miles northeast of Paris, and a junction of lines linking Reims with Amiens and the Channel ports. It was last attacked heavily by the R.A.F. March 23.

Tergnier also is a rail centre some 20 miles northwest of Laon on the main route to the Channel. Aulnoye is a hub on the French side of the Belgian border, linking one of the main French-German lines to industrial Lille and the Channel ports.

RUSSIANS HAVE ODESSA—Odessa, major Black Sea port, has been recaptured by the Russians, and the remnants of the garrison are now fleeing to Rumania. Others are believed to have escaped by boat to Varna in Bulgaria.

miles west of Iasi and 16 miles from Pacsani; Vulturu, four miles northwest of Iasi and Goesti, 20 miles west of Iasi. There was no mention in the Russian communique of the progress of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's 1st Ukrainian Army, which reached the Czecho-Slovakian frontier Saturday.

In the newly-mounted Crimean offensive, Gen. Tulbukhin's troops cracked the heavily fortified defences in the Perekop Isthmus, the communique said, captured Armyansk, and reached the Ishuny area in a two-day, 12-mile drive. On the east his forces crossed Sivash Bay to the southern shore where enemy defence lines stand guard before the open plains of the huge peninsula.

Front dispatches said a quick reconquest of the Crimea, sealed off last Nov. 1 when Gen. Tolbukhin's army hurled the Germans back from Melitopol on the mainland, appeared likely, with the Russian Black Sea fleet and the Red Air Force co-operating in the offensive.

Czech troops under Gen. Ludwig Svoboda, attached to Marshal Zhukov's 1st Ukrainian Army, carried the Czech flag up the Carpathians, anxious to place it on Czech soil.

Capt. Alexei Beliaev, Red Star correspondent with the Czechs, said German defences guarding Czechoslovakia were strong. "Many Hungarian divisions" were said to be confronting the Russians. The writer added, however, that Czech troops and Soviet fighters had stormed the defences and "penetrated into the enemy rear."

One Czech unit, backed by Soviet artillery and aviation, was said to have defeated a large enemy outpost where the Germans and Hungarians dropped their arms and fled with the Czechs pursuing so swiftly that the enemy was prevented from clinging to prepared positions in the Carpathians.

In another sector, the Czechs smashed enemy counter-attacks with strong artillery fire. Nearby, several Hungarian detachments surrendered. One entire Hungarian regiment (up to 3,000 men) surrendered, the writer said.

Izvestia reported that German commanders were deserting troops in the Crimea. A captive was quoted as saying "our command took off by plane and we knew it was a bad symptom."

Reporting a big break-through south of the Brackish Sivash, Izvestia said "Our lines move southwards" and that Red cavalry was charging after the fleeing Germans and Rumanians.

Istanbul dispatches quoted a traveller from Rumania as saying the Germans had rushed a score of pocket submarines to Varna and Constanta, Rumania ports, apparently to protect convoys of small boats engaged in evacuating Axis troops from the Crimea.

The German communique said "heavy fighting with superior enemy infantry and tank forces" continued on the northern Crimean front. The Germans claimed the recapture of the pre-war Polish town of Delaytn, 30 miles south of Stanslawow, at the entrance of the Tatar Pass in the Carpathians. The communique said the Odessa garrison had withdrawn to the southwest and west and that the surrounded Tarnopol troops still were holding out.

Teach Religion 2 Periods In Each Week

TORONTO, April 11.—(CP).—Religious education in Ontario schools will consist of two periods of instruction each week under regular teachers, Dr. J. G. Althouse, provincial director of education, said last night in addressing the secondary school headmasters' association the opening day of a four-day convention here of the Ontario Educational Association.

The two periods of religious education will be in addition to the daily religious exercises in the schools, Dr. Althouse said in disclosing for the first time particulars of the program proposed in the recent Legislature session by Premier Drew as Minister of Educatiin.

"Provision will be made to excuse from the religious instruction, or from the religious exercises or from both, the children of parents or guardians who object, on conscientious grounds, to having their children take this training," he said.

He saiad that "very little would be left to the individual teacher" in handling the religious courses, and that the education department believed that "both the course and the method of teaching should be clearly outlined in a text, and in a manual available to all who are interested."

"New teachers starting next year through the training schools will be trained in religious instruction," he said. "But next year the course will be given by the present teaching staffs."

The proposed course in religion has been developed from those in other Canadian provinces and in Britain, he said, and praised the cooperation of the clergy in helping to shape the course.

Dr. Althouse disclosed a cadet course, designed to meet the needs of the three armed services, has also been outlined but can not be formally announced until it has received sanction of the three ministers of national defence at Ottawa and the Minister of Education for Ontario.

In a business meeting Monday, R. J. Wright, principal of the Memorial school at Hamilton, was elected president of the Ontario Educational Association. He succeeded M. A. Campbell of Toronto, editor of the Canadian School Journal.

Avilo Camacho Misses Death

MEXICO CITY, April 11—(AP)—President Manuel Avila Camacho barely escaped assassination yesterday by a young Mexican army lieutenant who later made a break for freedom and was himself seriously wounded.

A bullet fired a point-blank range pierced Avila Camacho's coat, but the President helped overpower his assailant, identified as Lieut. Jose Antonio de la Lama Rojas, 31. An official bulletin said "several documents from Nazi sources" were found upon him but there was no amplification.

Lama Rojas attacked two guards taking him from the national palace to army barracks and fled through a suburban street before felled by a bullet below his chest, Gen. Francisco Urquizo, undersecretary of national defence, announced.

President Avila Camacho, who took Mexico into the war on the side of the Allies, told reporters this "isolated incident" did not represent "a division of the Mexican family."

Airforce Talk Muddles Scribes

OTTAWA, April 11— (CP).—A sprog climbed out of his bombfoon after a rhubarb gave the pukka gen. to a spy, telling him his kite ran into a little job bandit, had a shambles, but got away a good squirt before joining a gaggle and stooging home.

It's airforcese like this that newsmen, covering the arrival of R.C.A.F. repatriates, are forced to translate so the public will know what their aces overseas are doing.

A free translation of the first paragraph would read something like this: A novice flier climbed out of his Typhoon bomber and gave accurate information to an intelligence officer, telling him his plane ran into an enemy fighter, had a brief battle in which the novice got away a long burst of fire before joining a loose formation of returning bombers and escorting them home.

Duff gen.—inaccurate information; big job—bomber; boogie—unidentified plane; pee-low—a sort of French version of the word pilot; a good do—lots of action; gong—a decoration; along for the ride—no action; brown job or pongo—army; shark bait—navy; erk—groundcrew; the boss—the commanding officer; plumber—flight engineer; screened—taken off operational duties; clot—a pilot who plays the fool, like dive bombing his girl's house; shaky do—a tough fight; and packed up—engine failure.

There are signs, too, that some of these words and hundreds like them will some day be adapted to civilian use, be a part of modern slang. For instance, a lot of fliers refer to thir children as "sprogs."

Uniform Style Of Spelling Adopted By C.P.

NEW YORK, April 11 (CP) — A uniform style for foreign place names has been adopted by the three United States News Services to make it easier for the public to follow the story of the war.

(The Canadian Press will follow this style).

In an effort to end possible confusion over places appearing in the war news under more than one name, the Associated Press, the United Press and International News Service adopted in general the style of the National Geographic Society, but made certain exceptions to conform with North American usage.

The National Geographic Society style basically followed is that of the name in use in the various foreign countries themselves. The principle of native spellings also has been adopted by the United States Geographic Board and the chief American atlas and map publishers.

Out of 40,000 names listed by the National Geographic Society, the three News Services made 78 exceptions in the cases of places figuring prominently in western culture, history or tradition under an Anglicised form.

Some Exceptions

These exceptions include Rome instead of Roma, Moscow instead of Moskva, Athens instead of Athenia, Limerick instead of Luimneach, Euphrates river instead of Frat river, and so on.

Among the National Geographic usages adopted are Romania instead of Rumania, Yugoslavia instead of Jugoslavia, Manchuria instead of Manchukuo, and Dnepr and Dnestr rivers instead of Dnieper and Dniester.

Foreign names for such words as Island, Gulf, Sea, etc., generally given in the National Geographic Society's lists in native form are to be translated into English by the News Services.

The three services agreed also upon the form Marshal Josip Broz for the Yugoslav Partisan leader, instead of Brozovich. The appelation Tito also will be retained.

The new uniform style, effective today, is aimed at ending such confusion as may have arisen over places like Cernauti, called Czernowitz, and Iasi, also called Jassy, to name only two which are prominent in current news.

LONDON, April 11—(CP). — Counter-attacks by Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz' Yugoslav Partisan troops have dispersed German attempts to recapture the town of Mrkonjicgrad, in the Jajce area on the main road from Sarajevo to the Italian frontier, a communique broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio announced today.

Board Of Education Decides School Conditions Sanitary

CAMPBELLFORD, Apr. 11 (ENS) —Meeting in one of their special sessions last night members of the Board of Education tabled a report made by the Board of Health and made tentative plans to proceed with alterations to the playground at the east side of the public school.

Chairman A. J. Armour presided and 11 members attended and heard the Board of Health's report, which in rebuttal to recent charges of unsanitary conditions at the school stated that "conditions relatives to maintaining the health of the pupils and teachers are good."

In the preamble the report, signed by the secretary of the Board of Health, J. F. McGregor, pointed out that the investigation had been made pursuant to a resolution passed at the regular meeting of the School Trustees on January 31, and that as was to be expected, it was confined "to matters that are strictly of a sanitary nature (as) it is out of the province of this board to deal with matters appertaining to the cultural or educational affairs of the School board."

Thorough Report

The various points were taken up as follows: "We have no comment to make on the heating system. However, the condition of the air in the class rooms is altogether too dry and should have more moisture content. Hence, some means for providing greater humidity should be installed.

"The artificial lighting of the class rooms is of little or no advantage to the pupils. We have been led to believe that the electric light was for the use of the janitor, so that in the short daylight hours of winter, he would be able to do the sweeping after classes had been dismissed. In any event, if the artificial lighting is used for class room work, some change should be made. We do not say immediately, in view of the fact that a new fluorescent lighting system will soon be available for the general use of the public. The light from the fluorescent lamp is so superior to the ordinary electric light, being the nearest approach to daylight, that has as yet been produced, that it would pay to wait.

"More wash basins should be provided with a supply of hot water for winter use. Two or three more basins would be a decided improvement. The coat hooks in the halls for the children's clothes, are in our opinion, too close, which causes the clothes of one child to overlap those of another, and it is most evident that germs could spread from one to another in this manner.

"We would strongly recommend and advise that the teachers see to it that the pupils coming to school are clean. It matters little how well the school buildings are kept it filthy children are allowed to mix with others, and such a condition will offset the best efforts than can be made to keep health conditions at a high standard. As a Board everything possible will be done to have homes investigated, from which filthy children are reported to our sanitary inspector."

In Good Shape

In regard to the condition of school buildings, the report stated there was little wrong. The toilet system is splendid. On the day of the inspection, one toilet was covered over with a box—possibly temporarily out of repair. However there were no bad odours from them. The furnaces were working in good condition, and with no smell of coal gas. The drinking fountains were in good working condition and appeared clean. Taking the school as a whole, from a strictly sanitary point of view, conditions are good. The inspection was made without anyone knowing when the inspection was to be made."

After reading this report the secretary then read a communication from the Council conveying their willingness to meet "at the convenience of the Board" in a joint session, to discuss matters pertaining to the school. Sensitive to its duty in dealing with educational and school matters the board dealt with the Board of Health report and council letter all in one motion, "that the report of the Board of Health and letter from council be received and filed and that a copy of the Board of Health report be sent to council in reply to their letter, and that we study and as far as possible carry out the recommendations contained in the Board of Health report."

Sensitive Point

Returning to the letter in the press, which had been the chief subject discussed at their regular meeting two weeks ago, Trustee McKeel declared: "We know the discussion that has emanated from the criticism, and possibly it would have been just as well to ignore it from the start, but speaking for myself and some other members of the board, we got a little peeved." He went on to say that the Board should let the people know its position in the matter and with this in mind, gained the support of members in presenting a prepared statement to the press.

During a discussion of the various means that might be undertaken to improve the playgrounds, Chairman A. J. Armour made pointed reference to the fact that despite some shortcomings at the public school there were "few schools of comparable size in any part of Ontario that had domestic science and manual training rooms such as ours." He believed the Board should "start now" by calling for tenders to level the playgrounds during the summer months.

"I don't know who you'd get to do it unless it's the County", put in Trustee Locke.

Mr. Bonnycastle recalled there was a difference of about seven feet in the elevation between the east and west side of the school yard. Though members expressed the view that to advertise for tenders and get no response due to the labour shortage, would relieve them of criticism, no motion was made.

Property Chairman Locke reported he had made further inquiries regarding the purchase of fire extinguishers and had finally found a retailer who could produce them. On motion he was authorized to order seven two-gallon extinguishers of the soda and acid type, thus providing one for each floor and the basement at both public school buildings. As to the linen hose for the high school Mr. Locke said this was quoted at $17.05 per hundred feet, but he was not certain it was available. He was instructed to measure the hose at the school and order enough for replacement.

Court Remands Man Who Robs Mental Patient

COBOURG, April 11 — (ENS). — Phillip Bouthillette of Montreal was remanded for sentence until Thursday when he appeared in police court Monday on a charge of theft of $150 from Stanley Muldrew of Newcastle on March 23. Muldrew, police said, was now in the Ontario Hospital at Whitby.

Provincial Constable Alex. MacLeod of Cobourg testified that he was to have taken Muldrew to Whitby prior to the date of the offence, but due to a robbery at Millbrook had to postpone it. The constable related that Muldrew had been at a hotel in Newcastle, where Bouthillette worked and he and the accused went to the bank at Port Hope on March 23, where Muldrew drew out $302, all his funds. From the bank they went to the station, where the accused bought Muldrew a one-way ticket to Montreal. Muldrew didn't stop at Montreal but went to Ottawa, where he was picked up while climbing the roof of the station at Ottawa, the constable said. He was brought back and taken to Whitby.

On March 25, Constable MacLeod, accompanied by Provincial Constables W. Thompson and R. Pollard, went to the hotel in Newcastle where the accused resided. Bouthillette denied having any of Muldrew's money, but later the con-

Raise The Voting-Age

The C.C.F., at its Ontario convention, expressed the opinion that the franchise should be extended to men and women at eighteen, and not at twenty-one, as is now the custom. If this provokes us to think for a few minutes about the franchise in general, the C.C.F. will have accomplished something of value.

We do not doubt that there are some men and women who are quite capable of using a vote intelligently at the age of eighteen; certainly there are great numbers of them who are not capable of using a vote intelligently at twenty-one, or at forty-one, or at sixty-one. There are some people who never really discover what a vote is, and who either neglect it, or use it capriciously, or sell it to the highest bidder. In every democracy there is a portion of the electorate which does not vote in a responsible or intelligent manner; the numbers included in that portion are greater than idealists care to believe.

But what is to be done about it? Should we restrict the vote, and if so, how? Should we allow votes only to those who own property of a certain value That is obviously unjust and foolish. Should we give the vote only to people who have had a fixed amount of schooling? No, for the length of time spent in school is not a safe guide to intellectual ability. Should we give the vote only to those who can pass an intelligence test? No, for a test which was really searching would be hard to apply to a whole nation, and it would rule out too many people who would insist upon their right to vote. No, it looks as though our present system, slovenly and inadequate as it is, must be retained, and we must give the vote to everybody who is not actually insane or in jail.

But should we give it at eighteen? Frankly, we think not. A boy or girl of eighteen is still a child in many important ways. Perhaps they will protest that they are considered old enough to fight, and thus should be old enough to vote. We think that this is false logic. They are old enough to take orders, certainly, but they are not old enough to give them, and voting is a way of giving orders.

We think that it might be a good idea to raise the voting age to twenty-five. At that age most people have had some experience of life and ought to have some knowledge of what is going on in the world. Such a change in the voting age would not do anything about the problem of the voter who never advances beyond the age of twelwe, but we thing it would be an improvement, nevertheless.

The Retiring Montagu Norman

After almost twenty-five years as Governor of the Bank of England, the Rt. Hon. Montagu Norman has retired; until last Thursday he was the most powerful banking figure in the world, and it is said that Britain's foreign and domestic policy during the past quarter of a century was deeply influenced by him.

In writing of Norman the phrase "it is said" must appear often, for he disliked publicity, and took pains to keep his opinions and his professional activities secret. Whether he was genuinely convinced that obscurity was necessary to his work, or whether he simply liked mystery, no one can say. His appearance was distinctive; once seen, he could not be forgotten. An austere and finely moulded face was partly obscured by a beard; he wore a flowing black tie, velours hats, and unobstrusively elegant clothes. Yet when he travelled he took the pseudonym of "Professor Skinner", and affected to be surprised when his incognito failed to work. Norman was a financier in the E. Phillips Oppenheim tradition.

His enemies—and they were many—said that he knew nothing about finance. It is hard to believe that he would have been re-elected to his position year after year if that had been the case. But it was apparently true that he relied heavily upon his intuition and upon his own very compelling personality in some phases of his work. As Governor of the Bank of England—and thus as the Government's banker—he was an advisor to the Cabinet, and was said to be almost hypnotic in his dealings with politicians.

It was upon Montagu Norman's advice that Britain made huge loans to Germany after the last war to help that country to her feet. But instead of paying off her loans and reparations, Germany used the money for military preparations. Norman was a close friend of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the president of the Reichsbank and Hitler's financial advisor, a fact which did not sit well with anti-fascists in pre-war Britain. But Norman cared nothing for their opinions or for the articles which frequently appeared in the newspapers directed against him. "The dogs bark, but the caravan passes on", he said and that remark sums up his attitude toward most of the world.

Almost every ill which has befallen Britain during the past twenty years has been traced to Norman's influence by somebody. Doubtless he was a grossly abused man. But when another twenty years have passed we shall learn what sort of man he really was, and it will make an intensely interesting story.

The Value Of Shrines

The campaign in Italy has already caused some damage to buildings which are of historical or cultural importance, and it is unlikely that the fighting will be completed without more damage of the same kind. There is a good deal of apprehension on this score, and particularly in connection with the possible bombing of Rome. Are we justified in doing unpredictable damage in a great city?

The answer appears to be that we shall be forced to bomb Rome whether we like it or not. And most certainly we do not like it. There has been, however, a division of opinion on this point, and one side of the question was put with force by Captain the Rev. A. W. Downer, who said recently: "No shrine, abbey or other historic spot is worth the life of one of our soldiers". The other body of opinion maintains that this is not so self-evident as Captain Downer seems to think.

In the London Times, for instance, there recently appeared a letter from Harold Nicholson, who has long been prominent in political circles in Britain, in which he said that he thought that the preservation of the Sistine Chapel was of immeasureably greater importance than the preservation of the lives of himself and his two sons; he added that he had consulted his sons before making that statement, and they had agreed with him. Another letter in the same paper put the matter thus: "In 100 years it will matter little whether any of us died at 30 or 80, but it will matter greatly whether the monuments of Rome still stand". There have been many expressions of this point of view.

Far from the scene of battle, we do not feel justified in expressing an opinion on this subject, but we wish to point out that two opinions exist, and that Captain Downer has not said the last word. We are fighting this war, presumably, because we are convinced that some things matter more than individual lives. Some of those things, surely, are the treasures of art which are our inheritance from the past?

A Japanese Ghost Story

There can be no doubt about it, our enemies lead the way in certain branches of propaganda; the Japanese, for instance, may take the credit for being the first of the warring nations to use a ghost-story to keep up morale on the home front.

According to the Japanese radio and press, when Japanese troops had all been evacuated from Attu, the spirits of dead Japanese soldiers engaged American troops in fierce fighting for three weeks, even staging counter-attacks. In the South Pacific also Japanese ghosts are plaguing our troops, bringing mental derangement and causing them to kill themselves as the result of nervous disorders and morbid fear. At least, that is what the Japanese say.

If there are any Japanese spirits fighting in the Pacific they are better equipped than the average ghost, for when they fall they leave perfectly good corpses behind them. We think that the United Nations are as willing to fight these spirits as the more conventional Jap soldiers.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Czechoslovaks insist that they know why Hitler is conscripting men of 60: it is because they embody metals valuable to his war effort—silver hairs, gold teeth and leaden legs.

For a country which is prepared to become indignant about the fate of India's oppressed millions, our neighbour to the south is strangely reluctant to allow its negro citizens to vote in its presidential primaries.

Our Villainous Tax System

(FROM THE OTTAWA JOURNAL)

THE taxation practice of Canada is probably the worst in the world. Let it be understood here that no criticism is intended of war taxation. The war taxation must be judged simply by the necessity, not by its desirability. The Journal wishes to speak only of the species of taxation which grew up with us in peacetime; and which, it is to be hoped, the common sense of the Canadian people will insist should be revised when peace comes.

In brief, our income taxation is excessive, it is unjust in some of its bearings; and our inheritance taxation is villainous.

EVERYBODY expects that there will be modifications of the present war taxation after the war ends. Even the Government promises that. In the recent Speech from the Throne in Parliament it was announced that after the war there will be "suitable tax modifications."

But there needs to be not merely tax modifications but revision of the whole taxation system, and provision for appeal to the ordinary courts.

"The welfare of the country," says a recent article in the Winnipeg Free Press, "demands a complete overhaul of our tax machinery." The Free Press specifies "five intolerable injustices which do not exist in the British or United States system." Yet the Free Press does not even mention the worst injustice of all, namely, our double imposition (Dominion and Provincial) of extreme inheritance taxation. Nor does the Free Press stress sufficiently the least democratic feature of our tax laws, namely, that they prevent appeal to the ordinary courts of justice.

THE five "intolerable injustices" which the Free Press truthfully specifies may be summarized briefly thus:

1. Inevitably the interpretation of and enforcement of the tax laws fall to government officials who are naturally likely to wish to please their employer, the government, by squeezing the private citizen. Governments invariably want all the money they can raise. This tendency should be subject to impartial and cheap check. There is no check now except appeal to a government court—namely, the expensive Exchequer Court—whereas quick and easy tribunals of appeal exist in Britain and the United States.

2. Twenty-six years after assessing a citizen for taxes, a government can reopen the account; and saying it was mistaken in the first place, can force him to pay more taxes for years long past. Similarly with inheritance taxation. None of this is permitted in Britain or the United States. Another feature of the Canadian injustice is that whereas the government can reopen a claim against a citizen, a citizen can not make a claim against the government for any overpayment of tax.

3. The Dominion Government taxes much income twice over. If a citizen is a shareholder in any company, the government first taxes the income of the company—which, of course, reduces the value of the stock to the shareholder—and then the government also taxes the income the shareholder gets from the company.

4. When a citizen invests some of his capital in an annuity, the government taxes the annuity. If the citizen kept his capital and lived by spending it year by year, he would not be liable for taxation—except on such interest as his diminishing capital might pay.

5. Antiquated and complicated collection methods of tax collection are in force.

THE foregoing specifications by the Winnipeg Free Press do not touch on our villainous inheritance taxation. The Dominion Government collects an extreme inheritance tax; each province of the Dominion collects another extreme tax on the same estate. Also, mirabile dictu, the Dominion taxes the tax which an estate pays to a province, and each province taxes the tax which an estate pays to the Dominion. And there is no recourse for a citizen to any court but an expensive government court.

THE people of the United States are rousing in a characteristic way to check the evil of drastic taxation. A number of the states are demanding that Congress call a constitutional convention to prevent the United States Government going beyond a certain limit in income taxation. The demand is that the Federal Government shall not take more than 25 per cent of anybody's earnings by income taxation (except in time of war).

The states whose legislatures have so memorialized Congress are Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and Wyoming—with the New Jersey and Virginia state senates also on the band wagon. If 32 states all told ask Congress for this tax-ceiling convention, the convention will have to be held.

GOVERNMENT taxation of incomes and inheritances is sugared for the majority of people by the imposition of heavy super-tax upon the well-to-do, particularly the rich. To the extent that a government may spend the money wisely for public aims and social security, the policy is of course reasonable and just to a certain point. But governments are liable not to spend money wisely: and unquestionably no government can spend money as usefully as private citizens can and do in the promotion of industry and business. National prosperity must depend in part on private enterprise; and extreme taxation tends to destroy the life blood of private enterprise, to put the brakes on national progress and prosperity, and on what should be the general gain of the people, even the less well to do.

Canada and the Canadian people are liable to fall far short in future years of the prosperity which their natural and national resources permit unless there is revision of the present taxation practice.

Girls On Farms

Good sense is shown in the rule to the effect that only girls over 16 will be permitted to go on farms this year, under the plan for recruiting students to help in the fields. This is no job for younger children. It is no holiday; it involves plenty of hard work and long hours. Girls under 16 do not belong in such occupations.

Meanwhile, with plans going forward to send the students out to the farms, we are still waiting for an official pronouncement as to what is to be done in respect to school reopening in the Fall. There is still need for assurance that the whole student body will not again suffer a curtailment of educational advantages for the sake of the few in the fields.—Windsor Star.

In the Chinese Theatre

ONE day I attended my first Chinese theatre. I went planning to remain only half an hour or so. I stayed four hours. My first impression was not unlike that of other people—including some professional critics who have gone to the Chinese theatre and, experiencing it for the first time and not knowing what it was all about, have looked down their noses. They've come away complaining that it was nothing but noise and more noise, and the conventions were barbaric and unseemly, and it didn't make sense.

At one side sits the orchestra, men in their shirt sleeves. They whang on cymbals, pound on drums, and saw away on their Chinese fiddles, and the racket is on. Often it seems a race between the actors on the stage and the musicians as to which will drown out the other. Then suddenly the music stops, and the silence is appalling.

An actor in a gorgeous costume with a magnificent headdress prances across the stage waving a stick. You wonder what for. But the costumes are wonderful to behold and are alone worth the prices of admission.

Ambling around the stage is a bored looking, elderly Chinese clad in modern trousers and a faded sweater. He doesn't seem to belong among the colourfully dressed actors. Nobody pays any attention to him, even though he often offers the actors teacups or hand properties; and throws a cushion down upon the floor in exactly the right spot when one wants to kneel. During some action in the front of the stage he begins, in his bored manner, to set a couple of chairs beside a table at the back, and plumps down a talky, ponderous, high-brow play. Come and bring your knitting, or your newspaper, and pay some pillows onto the chairs as if he were thoroughly angry at the actors for making him work. He's the property man....

You can produce any Chinese play ever written with a table and a few chairs. The older the table is, and the more like a plain kitchen table, the better. Any old kind of a chair too... For hand properties, any second-hand store could furnish you with enough in ten minutes to do all the plays of Old China. Now and then something very special and very Chinese is needed, of course. But this can be used again and again, no matter what the play. You could give, say, a Shakespearean tragedy tonight and tomorrow night a modern gangster opus, and the properties used for both plays would be the same.

Scenery there is none. A blank wall and a few choice quotations from the philosophers. Two doors, one at the right and one at the left. Through these doors the actors make all their exits and entrances. A bare stage, some magnificently gowned actors, a bored property man, a noisy orchestra, and a good play—that's all you need in the Chinese theatre.

And the audience is the best part of the fun. The auditorium is just as brightly lighted as the stage. So the audience sits and chats. Some read newspapers, some fall asleep. Up and down the aisles goes the man with refreshments. You can, if you like, have watermelon seeds, which you neatly crack with your teeth (but you have to learn how first). Nobody seems to pay much attention to what is happening on the stage.... In a Chinese theatre you can do all the things you've always wanted to do at a boring opera or attention only when the action is interesting. If it isn't, sit and enjoy yourself with your friends until the time comes when the stage offers something to your liking.

And so the Chinese theatre jogs along in its own merry way, as it has jogged since the first actor in China did a bit of pantomime under a pear tree.—from "Three Times I Bow," by Carl Glick.

Trollope's Ladder To Fame

I NOW FELT that I had gained my object. In 1862 I had achieved that which I contemplated when I went to London 1834, and towards which I made my first attempt when I began the Macdermots in 1843. I had created for myself a position among literary men, and had secured to myself an income on which I might live in ease and comfort—which ease and comfort have been made to include many luxuries. From this time for a period of twelve years my income averaged £4,500 a year. Of this I spent two-thirds, and put by one. I ought perhaps to have done better—to have spent one-third, and put by two: but I have ever been too well inclined to spend freely that which has come easily.

This, however, has been so exactly the life which my thoughts and aspirations had marked out—thoughts and aspirations which used to cause me to blush with shame because I was so slow in forcing myself to the work which they demanded—that I have felt some pride in having attained it....But though the money has been sweet, the respect, the friendships, and the mode of life which has been achieved, have been much sweeter.

In my boyhood, when I would be crawling up to school with dirty boots and trousers through the muddy lanes, I was always telling myself that the misery of the hour was not the worst of it, but that the mud and solitude and poverty of the time would insure me mud and solitude and poverty through my life. Those lads about me would go into Parliament, or become rectors and deans, or squires of parishes, or advocates thundering at the Bar. They would not live with me now—but neither should I be able to live with them in after life. Nevertheless I have lived with them.

When, at the age in which others go to the Universities, I became a clerk in the Post Office, I felt that my old visions were being realised. I did not think it a high calling. I did not know then how very much good work may be done by a member of the Civil Service who will show himself capable of doing it. The Post Office at last grew upon me and forced itself into my affections. I became intensely anxious that people should have their letters delivered to them punctually. But my hope to rise had always been built on the writing of novels, and at last by the writing of novels I had risen.—From "Autobiography," by Anthony Trollope.

Not Really Tested

One of the chemical companies down in the States has devised a new compound which eliminates mud. Mix the chemical with soil and the soil becomes waterproof—hence mudless.

According to reports it has been tried on landing strips with good results. Rain fails to turn the soil into the usual goo.

The new preparation has not really been given the acid test yet, however. It has not been tried on Manitoba gumbo. For decades ox carts, bicycles and locomotives have been disappearing during the Spring thaw around these parts. — Winnipeg Tribune.

Freedom of the Press

Mme Genevieve Tabouis, Europe's most famous woman journalist, believes so strongly in freedom of the press that she wants a freedom of the press tribunal made part of the post-war organization for peace. She also would like to see a freedom of the press clause incorporated in the peace treaty as foremost newsmen and politicians have advocated. Mme. Tabouis, whose column in L'Oeuvre of Paris scored some of the biggest political scoops of the thirties, is now publishing the French language weekly, Pour la Victoire, in New York. From there she is conducting as lively a battle for freedom of the press as in the days when she was foreign editor of L'Oeuvre and the stormy petrel of European journalism. In those days her critics said Mme. Tabouis did not always hit the nail on the head in her aim to "tell the truth about what is going on in international politics." But she hit it often enough to make a number of foreign ministers break into cold sweats periodically, and her column was one of the most widely read in Europe.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

"Docked For Time Off"

When a man deliberately absents himself from his job he cannot reasonably expect to be paid for attendance, and M.P.'s who by so doing disfranchise constituencies should not expect to be treated differently. This is the principle on which the Select Committee at Stormont have based their proposal that payment of an M.P.'s full salary should be conditional on one-third attendance. The standard is not onerous, and a generous piecetime rate is allowed for those who fall behind this figure. One imagines that this will be accepted as an eminently just recommendation. The wonder is that it has not been made long since.—Belfast Telegraph.

A Bible Message

And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the dedication, and it was winter. And Jesus walked in the temple of Solomon's porch. Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If you be the Christ, tell us plainly.

Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me....

I and my Father are one....

If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him. (John 10: 22-25, 30, 37, 38.)

Letter To The Editor

UNSEEMLY ACTIONS

Sir,—Citizens living in the vicinity of Little Lake have been puzzled for a long time to understand the policy adopted by the city in connection with the Lock Street wharf. The actions and activities of the various sightseers and children have frequently appeared unseemly to many casual onlookers.

Therefore, with the advent of a new season of summer activity approaching, let us hope that those in authority will take the necessary steps to correct the unsatisfactory conditions now existing by applying the following remedial measures and rules:

1. No swimming allowed off the wharf.
2. No dressing and undressing to be permitted on the wharf by day or night.
3. No singing and dancing permitted on the wharf after 9 p.m. to the music of stringed instruments and harmonicas.
4. Proper police supervision.

Anyone who thinks that this wharf was constructed for swimming purposes or that people living around this neighbourhood should put up with the kind of doings mentioned and not offer any criticism is taking the wrong attitude entirely.

The city has provided good bathing facilities elsewhere in the city within comparatively easy reach of all citizens. The water in Little Lake is deep and drownings could occur quite easily, not to mention the purity or impurity of the water.

The wharf was constructed for purposes well known to all, and visitors as well as citizens of Peterborough should be able to stop there without having to cope with a crowd of bathers who are not improving their health much if at all, and who are making a general nuisance of themselves to quiet-minded citizens living in the neighbourhood.

All fair-minded residents, young and old, will admit (if they are familiar with the facts) that the cessation of all activities mentioned will result in a decided improvement all around. Those who disagree will constitute that small ever present minority who refuse to face facts and who always enjoy seeing things done in the wrong way.

In closing, let me again reiterate that should the city see fit to prohibit the improper conduct referred to, no hardship will be suffered by anyone. On the contrary, all citizens will be protected by a measure which is essentially fair to all and will benefit accordingly.—Yours truly,

FREDERICK WM. MAYBEE.

British Press In War

In a pamphlet issued by British Information Services in an account, interesting to American as well as to British makers and readers of newspapers, of the effects of the war upon the British press. In 1938 newspapers and periodicals were using between 21,000 and 23,000 tons of newsprint weekly. This rate has dropped to 4,860 tons. Most papers have but four pages, the Sunday papers six to eight. The Times of London and The Manchester Guardian have from eight to ten pages. The Daily Telegraph has from four to six. Circulation has generally gone up, but The Times and The Telegraph have deliberately decreased theirs, the former by 26, the latter by 30 per cent. Reports have to be cut to the bone, some subjects or sections omitted and photographs used with the utmost economy.—New York Times.

Soldiers Win Phone Calls

The bingo for servicemen held on Saturday evening at the Recreation Centre, under the auspices of the Citizens' Committee, proved a real Easter treat to those boys fortunate enough to win telephone calls anywhere in Canada. Other prizes were razor from Pratten Hardware and cigarettes from Moore's barber shop.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Perhaps you are not planning to marry in tulle and satin. Perhaps you are planning an informal wedding at home or perhaps in a country church or post chapel. Perhaps you'll wear an important little dress. If you are very young and the guest list is limited, make a bridal dress of white dotted swiss with an organdie yoke. If the wedding is small, or it may be your second one, make a gentle slip of a bride's dress in either pink or champagne beige, with bows at the throat and waist, and suggestion of sleeves. For a long-remembered day, a short wedding dress of palest blue rayon crepe, with basque bodice and swirling chiffon overskirt. With this wear a tiny bonnet thatched with forget-me-nots.

For the large formal wedding wear a princess bridal dress of white faille silk with no train and a short veil filming from a lace straw head dress. The length of the veils range from shoulder to below the waist line. Some of these veils hang from a small half hat made entirely of lily-of-the-valley, snugly veiled. Another veil of lace made in fan shape, falling from a band of wide white ribbon that encircles the head; the veil hangs barely to the shoulder.

Then there is the more tailored type of wedding when the bride wears a smart suit or a pretty flowered print dress worn under a double-breasted dressmaker reefer of all-wool twill with tortoise buttons. A small flower turban made of flowers, in the same shades as are in the dress and a smart face veil.

The going away outfit may be a smart suit, or one of the many smart coats shown this spring. A suit of Harris tweed in the grey and white or sunni blue and white, worn with a small flower turban in the same shadings as in the suit. A bright colored print dress or one in plain color with the new fitted, collarless coat or a swagger coat, if the tailored type is more becoming to your figure.

HAPPY MARRIAGE MAY BE DULL

No Headlines in Scandal Sheets But Peace That Passes All Understanding Enjoyed.

A YOUNG woman who has been married two years complains that her marriage is settling down into being just as dull and pepless as her parents', and that her husband is acting just like her father does. And she says she never expected that.

Nor does any other starry-eyed bride. Every blessed last one of them believes that her marriage is going to be different from the flat, drab marriages she sees all about her. She thinks hers is always going to be full of romance and thrills and excitement, and she sees herself walking from the altar to her golden wedding day in white satin and orange blossoms, with a man who never degenerates into being a mere husband.

Bride Quickly Disillusioned

But, alas, the dream doesn't come true, and by the time the bride has combed the rice out of her hair and unpacked her wedding presents and hung the kitchen curtains she begins to discover that human nature and human behavior are pretty much of a pattern that repeats itself endlessly, and that her case isn't going to be any exception to the mill run of marriages. It is going to be just about like Mama's and Papa's.

This is what we call the disillusion of marriage. Many a girl can't take it, and that is why the divorce ratio is so high among the young. Because marriage isn't the exciting adventure they expect it to be; because their husbands are Tired Business Men instead of great lovers, they chuck it into the discard.

This is particularly the case with women who are married to well-to-do men and who, having nothing else to do, begin to search for the crumpled rose leaf under their forty mattresses of ease, and find their grievance is the monotony of marriage. It is just routine, with no more kick to it than a glass of milk, and they had expected to spend the balance of their lives drinking cocktails.

These women who find marriage a failure because they no longer thrill at their husbands' kisses, or palpitate at the sound of their footsteps, forget two important facts, one of which is that there is no way in which we can possibly escape monotony. We have to keep grinding at the same old mill wherever we are, whatever we do. And the other is that we are all the slaves of habit, and we are happiest when we follow our old familiar routine.

Point Where Marriage Is Success

And this is just as true of marriage as it is of life in general. No marriage is really a success until the husband and wife have gotten to the place where they take each other for granted, and have learned how to sidestep the angles of each other's dispositions and to keep off of the subjects that started arguments.

The happy marriages are not those filled with jealousies and quarrels and suspicions and divorces and swapping husbands and wives and the things that make gossip and headlines in scandal sheets. They are those in which nothing exciting happens, where two people live together in love and harmony in a companionship so close it does not even have the need of words.

A marriage like Father's and Mother's. Maybe that kind of marriage may lack pep, but it is full of the peace that passes all understanding.

Service Thought Stressed At WA Meeting

Closer relationship to God; helping the minister in his work among the congregation, and giving advice where it was needed, were stressed as the three main aims of the Women's Association, by Mrs. Fred Horton, addressing the regular meeting of the W.A. of St. James' United church. Mrs. Horton, president of the Presbyterial of the W.A., spoke on "The Aims and Ideals of the W.A., the largest Organization in the United Church."

Mrs. Horton said that she hoped all moneys would soon be raised by voluntary giving, and expressed her dislike of games of chance as a method of raising money. "Put spiritual things first," she said, "and the finances will be taken care of." Speaking on the decline in the morale of the people, Mrs. Horton told the group that through Christian living, they could have a lifting influence on others, and could help them to regain their faith.

Mrs. Horton was introduced by Mrs. M. Stokes, president of the W.A., who conducted the business meeting. Mrs. J. Roberts presented the penny-a-day offering, and Mrs. E. Beavis offered the dedicatory prayer. Rev. F. Craik led in prayer after the opening exercises, and Mrs. M. Stokes read a sonnet, written by an airman to his mother. Mrs. E. M. Davis read an Easter message, and Mrs. J. H. Tamblin sang "Open the Gates of the Temple," accompanied by Mrs. George Wallace.

Refreshments were served during the social half hour which followed the meeting, with Mrs. E. M. Davis, Mrs. J. Olavson, and Mrs. W. K. Sloane serving.

For Wednesday, April 12

A DAY OF dramatic and thrilling events is forecast from the exciting transits of minor planets. Reactions may be felt in business, professions, social, domestic and romantic affiliations, probably arising with sudden and surprising power, digging deep in to the basic foundations of life and building up resources and creative activities of far reaching effect, and on sturdy, secure and meritorious rewards. However, there may be dangers from precipitate moves or changes, or over-active emotions or impulses. Work for sound and enduring returns. There may be separations, if based on irregular foundations, also much romantic or social enjoyment and pleasure. A time to look to future stability.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of exciting and thrilling adventures, with much of a spectacular and dramatic nature, accompanied by sound efforts to build a future of enduring and secure recognition and rewards. Despite upheaval and commotion there should tbe a marshalling of the energies, talents and accumulated resources for the purposes of permanent and far reaching results. There may be a spading up of undesirable contacts or associations but there may be compensatory joys and satisfactions, with a crystallization of those things worth preserving for future well being and safety.

A child born on this day may be blessed with many talents and graces, sound as well as subtle, with probable public recognition for sterling character or dramatic adventures.

A PROUD PAPA

NEW WATERFORD, N.S., April 11 (CP)—Here's a proud papa to top all proud papas. He's Sgt. Waldo MacMillan who walked 86 miles to get a look at his new daughter.

MacMillan, instructor with the Reserve Army, was in Cape North—the northernmost tip of Cape Breton—when he received the news. He left there Thursday afternoon and arrived at Bras D'Or Saturday, after walking clean over Smokey mountain and spending Thursday night at Englishtown for a breather. He took a train from Bras D'Or to Sydney and from there a bus to New Waterford.

Sgt. MacMillan reported the baby beautiful and the travelling tough.

Moose Ready For Tilt With Wagner

A strong actionful program of heavyweight wrestling has been carded for tonight at the Brock Arena. The main bout features the return of two very well known grapplers in huge Earl McCready and Strangler Bob Wagner. McCready has not been here since last January having received a series of lucrative offers from various cities in the States that carried him as far south as Texas. The big Canadian was unbeaten throughout and is hardly likely to be at all soft with Wagner. That doughty Portlander however is brimming over with confidence according to a wire accepting the bout, received by Frank Tunney on Friday. Wagner has been at his home away out in Portland, Oregon for several weeks and tonight's bout will be his first one back in the East. The grim Strangler is a very tough chunk of a man and should give McCready a red-hot go of it.

Karl the Krippler Davis has been forced to take a semi-final bout on this card and the tall Texan's temper is likely to be even worse than usual. Davis will meet Soldier Frank Hewitt, a newcomer from Detroit, who may surprise even the rugged Krippler.

In the third bout that popular rabble-rouser Jan Gotch meets the ex-airman Johnny Gyroffy.

Hockey Becomes Year-round Job

TORONTO, April 11. — (CP).— Professional hockey used to be a seasonal chore for William Osser (Bill) Cook, general manager of Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

"Now it's become a year-round job," he said in an interview here last night. "In fact it's become a 24-hour watch as well, in order to keep up the pace set by Eddie Shore (manager of Buffalo Bisons also of the A.H.L.)

Bisons downed Cleveland four straight in the best-of-seven A.H.L. play-offs this year.

One of the most outstanding right wingers, with New York Rangers, a few years ago, Bill Cook arrived here early yesterday and "looked over" players for Quebec Aces and Sudbury in the third game of their Eastern Canada senior final series last night. Aces won the game 8-3 and the right to represent the East in the Allan Cup play-offs, as a result of two previous wins.

"We don't know what's in store for us next winter," Cook said, "but neither does anyone else. Meanwhile we're going ahead as usual with our scouting and recruiting programs."

The Cleveland team manager said his club played to "more than 300,000 customers" in the past season—an all-time record for minor professional hockey attendance.

Only club in the circuit that did not register an attendance boom was Pittsburg. The general attendance, he said, was from 17 to 20 per cent.

SPORTS - Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Promoter Frank Tunney has mixed up what looks like one of the most interesting wrestling melanges of the current season for tonight's show at the Brock Street rink. He has followed the effective formula in each of the three bouts on the card of matching a hero against a mat bad man. The result should be three thrilling battles. Bog Wagner, Krippler Karl Davis and Jan Gotch are the trio of villains who will endeavor to carry the banner of skulduggery through to triumph tonight and it has to be admitted that they are the hombres to do it, especially if the three representatives of the cause of virtue happen to get a bit careless. There is no doubt about the main bout for Strangler Bob Wagner's rough-and-ready style working against the mat experience and cleverness of Earl Moose McCready should make for an epic struggle between two powerful adversaries. McCready is a prime favorite with local fandom and he will have the moral support of the whole gathering tonight. But that will not bother the Pacific Coast one-man riot squad. Wagner has been booed so often and in so many places that he would think he was slipping if the crowd didn't jeer his every action. He'll simply wade into McCready with everything he has and the Moose will find him a tough opponent. The Canadian should win but he'll know he has been to the wars.

* * * * * *

As for the semi-final clash that should be another riot. Karl Davis, demoted from top billing, is not likely to appreciate his relegation to the semi-final spot and the onery Texan will try to take it out at the expense of his Detroit opponent Soldier Frank Hewitt. The latter is a new-comer to this circuit but he brings quite a record into the rink with him. He'll need more than that, of course, to face Davis successfully for whether you like him or not you've got to admit that the Texan is really tough and has the power to back up his mean moves. The Soldier had better be on his guard all the way or he will imagine that he has run foul of a buzz saw. As for the opening Jan Gotch, the hard-hitting Pole who never bothers about technique when he can get the same results with a well-timed kick or a squarely-landed punch should prove an admirable foil for fast-moving Johnnie Gyroffy. The Ottawa boy, recently with the Air Force showed all kinds of speed in his match with Toar Morgan last week and he should be able to escape the mauling Pole, although Gotch is tough at close quarters. All in all it has all the earmarks of a well-rounded card.

It's On The Move

A few days ago this column did a little April Fooling about Peterborough's new hockey and sports arena. Today we are glad to offer something that while not as sweeping is a good deal more reassuring and that is that a lot of spadework is being done and that the organization of a drive that is expected to give this city a building that will meet the hockey and skating needs of community and provide Peterborough with a modern auditorium and sports centre. A representative committee is being built up and in a short time it will be possible to publish a complete picture of the organization setup and to announce the opening of the campaign. Just as an indication of the manner in which the project is meeting with general support it can be mentioned that at Monday's luncheon of the Rotary Club it was announced that J. K. Hughes had been appointed to represent Rotary on the central committee. All other service organizations will be represented and the committee personnel when published will supply its own evidence of the general desire to carry this drive through to a triumphal conclusion. Welland has shown that it can be done and Peterborough is determined to do it.

In answer to a query from a fan who wants to know when Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks last met in the Stanley Cup final, the answer is the spring of 1931, says Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star. The goalie for the Hawks at that time was the immortal Charley Gardiner, considered by many qualified critics as the greatest puck fender of them all. On the starting Chicago forward line were Tommy Cook, centre, Stew Adams, left wing, and Mush March, right wing. Taffy Abel and Marvin (Cyclone) Wentworth were the top defencemen. Where they now? Wentworth is with a brewery in Toronto; the gigantic Abel operates a restaurant in Sault Ste. Marie, on the American side; Adams is a major in the Canadian Army; Cook lives in Fort William, Ont. Teddy Graham also is a major in the Canadian Army. The Hawks' top scorer of that year was Johnny Gottselig, who, along with March is the only player still with the club. His linemates were Lolo Couture and Doc Romnes. The No. 1 Montreal line of 1931 had Howie Morenz, Aurel Joliat and Wildor Larochelle. George Hainsworth was the goal guardian.

Now For Finals

It's Oshawa Generals and Quebec Aces to represent Eastern Canada in the Memorial and Allan Cup finals and thus for once the experts have registered a double success in picking the two teams at the beginning of the season as the probable champions of the East. Oshawa youngsters cleaned up the junior round at Montreal last night when they uncorked too much power for Royals in a second period rally that saw the Motor City team open up a decisive margin. Royals came back in the final period to outscore their opponents 2 to 1 but never seriously threatened to wipe out the Oshawa margin and the Generals came home winners by 5 to 3 to take the series three games to one. They now meet Trail the Western winners in the final round, starting in Toronto Saturday night. Quebec Aces made it three straight over the Frood Open Pits by defeating the Sudbury aggregation 8 to 3 last night. The Open Pits hung on for a while but in the long run the Aces carried too much punch and won going away.

If the war ends before another hockey season, we imagine manager Jack Adams will do a general housecleaning job at Detroit, Bill Gaynon predicts in the Niagara Falls Review. The way Wings faded in the playoffs was the answer that many of the veterans have either reached the trail's end or require a change of scenery. True, such Stanley Cup winning key men of the previous year as Johnny Mowers, Jack Stewart, Sid Abel and Eddie Wares, were not around for the present race, but many of those yet on duty, played heavy roles in that conquest. Don Grosso, Syd Howe, Mud Brunteteau, Carl Liscomb and Joe Carveth, were highly regarded when the motor city boys outlasted all opposition, but that was twelve months ago and they were anything but effective fellows against Chicago. Of course, Black Hawks must be given some credit for the Detroit letdown, but the stand of the Adams boys was so pathetic that hockey followers are inclined to place most blame at their own doorsteps. Nothing can be done if war clouds still surround us at next puck taking off time, but we have a sneaking suspicion other plans will materialize if peace has returned by then.

Toronto Boasts Strong Pitchers

TORONTO, April 11 —(CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs base their hopes for a successful defence of their International League baseball title on a pitching staff which the management regards as much stronger than last year.

President Peter Campbell looks on four men as the key figures of the 1944 mound staff—Al Jarlett, Tom Ananicz, Orie Arntzen and Alex Mustaikis. However, the shortage of capable outfield talent may lead the club to use Mustaikis, 32-year-old graduate of Elmira, N.Y., in the Eastern League, in the outer gardens.

Jarlett's combined pitching record last season with Pittsburg in the National League and Toronto was 13 wins and seven losses. Ananicz won seven games and lost eight with Newark and Toronto. Arntzen won four and lost 13 with Philadelphia Athletics in the American League.

Four of the 12 pitching prospects are Canadians: Earl Cook who played last season with Portland and whose home is at Stouffville near Toronto; 23-year-old Ralph McCabe from Belleville, who was on the Toronto and Albany rosters in 1943; Rookie Stanley Stenoff from Toronto sandlots and 30-year-old David Lambton, Montreal semi-pro southpaw.

265,000 Attend Soccer Matches

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 11—(CP Cable)— Sports-loving Britons went "all out" during the Easter week-end to enjoy what many believe will be the last big holiday week-end before "D Day", the opening of the long-awaited second front in Europe.

Opening of the 1944 turf season climaxed the week-end sports surge with the greatest crowds on record turning out at the Windsor and Stockton horse racing tracks. Windsor held an estimated 50,000 fans with thousands unable to gain admission. The press of the crowd at one time broke the entrance gates and many women fainted.

More than 265,000 watched 27 big league soccer matches throughout England, following similar great crowds for the regular soccer program Saturday.

Greyhound racing at London's Wembley Stadium catered to the greatest wartime attendance—40,000—and the crush was so great many bettors were unable to reach the wickets in time to make wagers.

Windsor racegoers received their greatest thrill when Dorothy Paget's Orestes, favorite for the Derby and the two thousand guineas, was beaten by a neck by the Solicitor, a 100-to-7 shot owned by J. W. Boyle.

With The Boy Scouts

Owing to Holy Week the meetings of many Scout Groups were curtailed in their activities so that we should get back this week with renewed vigor. Let us realize that the Scout Craft show starts just two weeks from now and that we should have all our preparations in shape by the end of the coming week.

What can I put in the Scout Craft Show? That question was put to your scribe during the past week, and the answer is, practically anything you want to, if your Scout or Cub master gives it his or her OK. When we drew up the lists, the committee realized that there were things that some boys would make that were not definitely stated so that we put on the end "Articles not listed above."

Scouters' Club

Attention of all officers and assistants is drawn to the meeting of the Scouters' Club being held in the Murray St. Sunday School down stairs at 8 p.m. sharp Wednesday evening, April 12th. All officers should attend to discuss items regarding the coming Scout Craft Show.

One or two suggestions need a little ironing out. Also some reports given on the advancement of the training toward the various program to be shown. We would ask the Cub leaders to have their reports ready for Akela Marshall and the Scouters, for Scouter McNabb. In the absence of the show chairman, Commissioner Wolff will take over. A social program has also been arranged.

St. Luke's Pack

Owing to Holy week the meeting was held in the home of Akela King with work being done toward the Cub Craft exhibits. The boys are various tasks. Alistair Fettes passed Bank Savings in second star work. Hugh Rose led the closing grand howl. Refreshments were served at the conclusion.

St. John's

keen and got right down to their Saturday afternoon one of the City buses was attacked by 18 Cubs under the guidance of Akela, Baloo and Raksha, they started out for Jackson Park. Some were armed with duffle bags, some paper bags and bottles of pop, but all came prepared to help the inner man along the trail. From the Bus stop, the Pack travelled the Jungle trail through the Park from the eastern entrance and then along the side of the creek. Some spots were soft mud but the average ground was in fair shape. Once, Raksha got nearly bogged down but the only incident happening was a very minor cut finger on Ko, this being promptly repaired from the first aid kit. After some games a fire was lit and supper eaten.

On the return home, some of the boys walked all the way whilst others in the distant parts of the city rode by bus. A pleasant time was held by all. Akela is awarding points for the best log written by the Cubs. The Pack was glad to welcome Terry Common, former member, spending Easter holidays in the city.

Reporter's Slipping

We have not heard from our friends at St. Andrew's of late and are wondering if they have already given up for the summer. Also our news from Sacred Heart and All Saints is missing.

TURF GREAT DEAD AT 19 — Sun Beau, former top money winner on the American turf, is dead at the age of 19 at Doswell, Va. Sun Beau, who earned $376,744 for his owner, the late Willis Sharpe Kilmer, ruled the turf as money-winning champion in 1931-40. Sun Beau started 74 times, won 33, was second 12 times and third 10 times.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The fifth racing season in southern England in war time opened yesterday at Windsor when a crowd, estimated at 50,000, jammed the track entrances, breaking the gates and causing many women to faint. The crush was so great that many turf followers missed the first and second races. More than £100,000 was bet on the 10 races and the daily double paid £200 to 20 fortunate fans. Some patrons paid from £10 to £12 10d for cab transportation from London.

Dorothy Paget's Orestes, favorite for the Derby and the Guineas, was defeated in the feature face by Solicitor which had been bought last year by J. W. Boyle and H. Quennell from Lord Porchester.

With the Brooklyn Dodgers drafting pitchers Wes Flowers and Tom Sunkel from oMntreal Royals, the International League Club, in training at Bear Mountain, N.Y., is rated as having more quantity than quality for the coming season, Bruno Betzel, newly appointed manager, is the 12th pilot of the Royals in 18 seasons.

With the expected loss of their Latin-American contingent, Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators was faced with the necessity of reshuffling his available players, it was stated at Washington last night following Selective Service announcement the dozen Cubans, Puerto Ricans and Venezuelans would have to register for army draft by June 12 or go home. They have intimated they would leave.

After arriving at the Philadelphia Athletic's training camp at Frederick, Md., yesterday, Louis (Bobo) Newsom did not jump into a uniform nor sign a contract but told Connie Mack he would like to pitch against Toronto Maple Leafs in the exhibition game today.

Boxing Finals

District finals in the Canadian Army boxing championships are scheduled to get under way at London, April 11, at Camp Borden April 13 and at Toronto April 18. The zone finals are scheduled for Camp Borden April 20; the eastern semi-finals at Petawawa Camp April 28-29 and the Dominion championships at Ottawa May 4.

Seven horses which had wintered at Fred Merrill's Mountain Rose Stable, Glendale, Ont., are being shipped to the Toronto Woodbine track next week after having been exercised in the paddock of the farm by Jockey Rex Leavitt.

After conferring with Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Black Hawks, and Bill Tobin, business manager, Paul Thompson said at Chicago last night he would manage the N.H.L. club "if there is hockey."

Joe Louis Overseas

LONDON, April 11—(AP)—Sgt. Joe Louis, who is in Great Britain to give a series of morale-building exhibitions for American troops, declared today he plans to fight again after the war, with Billy Conn as his opponent. He said there was no chance right now of meeting British champ Freddie Mills.

2 Ace Pitchers Return To N.Y. Yankees

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Spud Chandler and Ernie Bonham who between them pitched 35 winning games for the world champion New York Yankees last year, will be back with the Bronx Bombers when the major league baseball season opens a week from today.

Chandler won 20 and lost four, and Bonham won 15 and lost eight. Neither has been called up and under the latest ruling of selective service, restricting the drafting of those older than 26, may be able to play for a short time.

Chicago Cubs—Five rookies start against White Sox Thursday: Don Johnson, 2b; Bill Schuster, ss; Tony York, 3b; Andy Pafko, cf and Billy Holm, c.

St. Louis Cardinals—Only bright spot in St. Louis was arrival of Ted Wilks, Cardinal pitcher. Bad weather curtailed workouts for both Cards and Browns.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Infielder Pete Coscarart expected to start third season with team against Cleveland at Indianapolis. Coscarat, who previously said he'd stick to war job at Escondido, Calif., reported yesterday.

Cleveland Indians—Three players on casualty list: Mickey Rocco with foot injury incurred in volley ball game; Joe Heving struck on leg by line drive in batting practice; and Oris Hockett with sprained shoulder.

OshawaGenerals In Finals For Memorial Cup

MONTREAL, April 11 — (CP). — Oshawa Generals today entered the finals for the Memorial Cup, junior Dominion hockey crown, against Trail Smoke Eaters, after capturing the eastern Canada championship by defeating Montreal Royals 5-3 here last night to take a best-in-five series by a 3-1 margin.

Trail won the western Canada finals Saturday night by defeating Port Arthur Flyers 3-2 to take the series in three straight games.

A crowd of almost 8,000 fans, largest to see a junior game here, was on hand to watch the Generals pile up a two-goal lead in the first and second periods and then coast to victory in the third when Royals succeeded in slamming two counters past Goalie Harvey Bennett.

Oshawa dominated the play during the first period when Ken Lindsay started by bagging the first counter at 2.14. He scored again in the second after teammate Floyd Curry beat Royals with a second at the opening of the frame, and Yvan Hamel collected Royals' first tally.

In the third period flashy Jimmy O'Connor bagged Montreal's second and third goals. Ken Smith added the Generals' fifth counter between O'Connor's two tallies.

The game was a rough and tough affair with 16 penalties handed out, each team receiving eight. Oshawa's Bill Ezinicki got a five-minute major penalty in the final frame after a fight broke out between Mike Demchuk and Floyd Curry. Several other players joined the scrap and it soon turned into a melee.

Harry Kazarian received a large cut on his right temple when nailed by a skate.

Goalie Harvey Bennett in the Oshawa nets played an outstanding game and foiled many attempts by Royals to score. The Montreal team had a strong defence despite the fact Generals scored five times.

Handlers Win Extra Wages

NEW YORK, April 11—(AP)—Striking grooms at Jamaica won their fight for more money Monday when the State Racing Commission approved a track-proposed plan to boost purses $100 on each race, the extra money to be used to pay the boys who escort the horses to the paddock.

The grooms, seeking $5 for each horse led to the paddock and $15 for each winner, held up Saturday's first race a half hour, and turned yesterday's opening event into a one-horse affair.

The betting cancellation on the race led to a refund of $112,933, $65,904 of which was on the daily double.

Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the commission, said the purse increase would be effective immediately and would be added to all purses up to $5,000, at all New York tracks.

The crowd of 30,340, irked by the controversy and elimination of the first race, held back on the second-race betting, but finally poured its money into the pari-mutuels to the tune of $1,142,468.

That gave an average of $290,611 for the remaining six races.

Al Smith Picked

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians announced last night his choice of starting pitcher for the opening game April 18 against White Sox at Chicago would be the 35-year-old Al Smith. Last season Smith was voted the club's most valuable player.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 11. — (CP).— The falling off in attendance at some amateur hockey play-offs, especially in the west, caused some viewing with alarm among promoters and camp followers. The natural question raised is whether the elimination series aren't being dragged out too long for the brand of hockey offered in many centres.

Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamini points out that the five and seven-game series were originated in the late pre-war years when the supply of players was good and the customer demand was also high. But when enlistments cut into the player ranks the Allan Cup squads lost some of their appeal, he contends. Things reached an all-time low in Calgary when New Westminster Lodestars and Edmonton Victorias drew 700 fans a game.

That doesn't apply so much in the east, where the juniors have been packing in the customers consistently, and the seniors also have good gate appeal on the whole.

It's a hard problem for the C.A.H.A. to solve. With poor gates those long series are white elephants, but when business is good the coffers of the hockey body are supported in the lavish style to which they have become accustomed of late years. Gambling usually brings headaches anyway.

Skulduggery Suggested?

A four-team lacrosse league has been formed in British Columbia, but the Army had to fight hard to get a berth alongside the Dominion champion New Westminster Salmonbellies, Richmond and Burrards. The other teams at first didn't want to let them in, contending the Soldiers would have too able an assistant in the draft board. They had visions of their players donning khaki and army uniforms to oust their former playmates, but were finally argued out of such uncharitable ideas.

Incidentally:

Revival of interest in ski jumping is urged by George Jacobsen in the Montreal Gazette. The few available jumps in the Laurentians received little patronage last winter, and he wants the sport encouraged. He suggests short, easy jumps of 50 or 60 feet should be built and youngsters taught the ropes as basis for future big-time participation. Jumping provides far more thrills than any other skiing activity, but the danger and difficulty scares off most skiiers....Minor baseball seems headed for a good season in London, Ont., with 40 teams entered for the summer's play....Capt. Doug Sinclair, co-holder with Lieut. Ken Chandler of the Dominion squash doubles title in 1942-43, has been transferred to Vancouver as army examiner. Chandler is at Camp Debert, N.S.

NEW YORK, April 11 —(AP)—In the midst of that opening-day mob scene at the Jamaica race track, a couple of fans got into a fist fight in front of the press box....The cops hauled them apart with as little delay as possible....Whereupon another seeker after outdoor recreation, a wad of greenbacks in his hand, jumped up on his seat and offered: "Two to one they don't throw 'em out of the park. They've still got their dough."

A rookie a day:

Tony Ordenana, Pirates — Pittsburgh's version of "good field, no hit."....At Portsmouth, Va., last year President Frank Lawrence called the Cuban shortstop the best infielder his club had had since Pie Traynor in 1920....Confident Tony agrees, though he hit only .249 in the Piedmont League....But you should have heard what old Honus Wagner had to say when Tony missed a grounder in an exhibition and then staged a gaudy display of peevishness....The printable part was: "Who do you think was going to pick up that ball for you? The groundkeeper?"

LONDON, April 11.—(CP Cable.)—A crowd of 40,000, greatest of the bank holiday football program, Monday watched Everton trounce Liverpool 3-0 and establish itself as a serious challenger to Bath and Wrexham for the league north championship.

Bath, although defeated 2-1 by Swansea, retained the league lead on goal average as Wrexham and Chester played a two-all draw.

Three of the four semi-finalists for the league cup participated in league championship matches, open to all teams whether or not they are in the play-offs.

Aston Villa trounced West Bromwich and Manchester City whipped Manchester United, both by 4-1 scores, before crowds of 15,000. Sheffield United dropped a 3-1 decision to Barnsley. The other semi-finalist, Blackpool, did not play.

The R.A.F. smashed the British Army 3-0 to win the Inter-Allied Services Cup for the first time in the war. Both teams were sprinkled with big league footballers, one of the R.A.F.'s best being Nerbard Joy, Arsenal international. Len Horsman, with two, and L. C. Finch, scored the goals.

Chelsea and Charlton, league south cup finalists, warmed up for the cup tie at Wembley April 15 with victories in the league's championship play. Chelsea edged out Fulham 3-2 and Charlton beat Reading 3-1. Arsenal ousted Brighton 3-1 and Watford beat Aldershot 2-1.

Glasgow Rangers and Partick Thistle drew 3-3 in a Scottish Southern League game while Celtic trounced Queen's Park 4-1.

Lodestars Tie Senior Series

PORT ARTHUR, April 11—(CP)—Western Canada's senior hockey champions likely will be riding on top form when they meet Quebec Aces in the Allan Cup series, whether it be New Westminster Lodestars or Port Arthur Shipbuilders, now in a gruelling best-of-seven series here. Both teams have been extended to their best in the five games gone by the board and neither has an advantage to date.

Lodestars bested the Thunder Bay champions 8-4 last night, leaving each team with two wins and a draw. Sixth game will be Wednesday night.

New Westminster, with great speed and more checking, moved ahead 2-1 after eight minutes of play and never were headed. After building up a 4-1 and then a 5-2 advantage, Lodestars fought off Shipbuilders when Port Arthur had a 6-4 player edge to emerge with a 5-4 lead at the end of the second period.

Lodestars checked the Port Arthur power-line of Stan Robertson, Norm Larson and Waikko Koivisto into the ice. It was this line that gave Port Arthur its two victories.

New Westminster scoring was well divided with Buster Brayshaw, Maurice Duffy and Pete Leswick each getting three points. Brayshaw netted two goals and Duffy and Leswick one each and also had two assists each. Other goalgetters were Frank Dotten, Scoop Bentley, Jim Wilson and Harvey Fraser.

Quebec Aces Eliminate Frood Seniors

TORONTO, April 11 —(CP)—Unleashing a six-goal scoring spree in the third period, Quebec Aces last night downed Frood Open Pit 8-3 to sweep their best-in-five Eastern Canada senior hockey final series 3-0. Frood fought Aces on even terms for two periods, but crumbled in the final 20 minutes as the Quebec squad opened up.

Aces now enter the Allan Cup finals against the Western champions, either New Westminster Lodestars or Port Arthur Shipbuilders. This is the first time in the history of Allan Cup play that a team from Quebec City has reached the finals although Montreal teams have been contenders numerous years and Montreal A.A.A. won the cup in 1930.

Aces went ahead 2-0 in the first period on goals by Bruneteau and Doug Baldwin. Open Pit knotted the score in the second on goals by George Blake and Herb Vaillancourt late in the period.

In the third period, Lude Check started the landslide when he got a piece of his stick on Tremblay's skimmer and deflected it into net. Goals by Butch Stahan, Russ Rossignol and Gino Rozzini followed in short order before Oscar Clouthier got Frood's final counter.

Tempers Flared

Tempers were flaring and sticks and elbows were flying by this time. Mixups followed one another along the boards and about the nets.

Aces played a waiting game and scored two more goals on breakaways, Germain Bergeron and Lude Check rapping home the rubber.

Nine penalties were handed out in the game, and both sides enjoyed a one-man advantage on different occasions. All goals were counted while the teams were at full strength, though Frood scored one just after a penalized Quebec player came back on the ice.

Bouvrette played a cool game in the Aces' nets, turning aside Frood whenever they broke through the defence. At the other end of the ice Maurice Gerth handled far more rubber, and made some sparkling saves, but looked bad on two or three of the goals that got by him.

Check led the scorers with his two third-period goals, while Robinson of the Aces with three assists and his teammate Tremblay with two paced the play-makers. Frood goals were divided among the two forward lines and the defencemen, Alec Singbush and Rollie McLenahan, who played steady, rushing games.

HELEN HAYES

Helen Hayes And Adolphe Menjou Spotlight Victory Loan Show

Heading the parade of distinguished Stars who will contribute to the Sixth Victory Loan by appearing in Canada on the Victory Star Shows are Helen Hayes, one of America's best-loved dramatic stars; Adolphe Menjou, debonair veteran of many screen successes, and Anna Kaskas, glamorous blonde Metropolitan contralto. Along with Canada's Percy Faith, the Lyric Trio and a 40-piece orchestra and choir, they will be heard in the first Victory Star Show of the current series. It will be broadcast Wednesday, April 12th, over a coast-to-coast network from 8.30 to 9.30 p.m. EDT from Massey Hall in Toronto.

Helen Hayes, great actress of the legitimate theatre, has played 4,210 performances on New York stages and another 3,000 appearances throughout the country. England's famous queen, "Victoria Regina" played by Miss Hayes for the first time in 1935 and made stage history. She has just completed a long and successful run on Broadway in "Harriet." Miss Hayes, of course, has done her share of motion pictures and won the Academy Award for her performance in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet." Helen Hayes travelled to Canada during the Third Loan Drive also to lend her talents on our behalf.

Sauve, debonair Adolphe Menjou, owner of the most extensive wardrobe in Hollywood, has many successes to his credit in his distinguished film career. Lately, however, his attention has been focused on doing his stunt for the boys overseas. He has just returned from visiting the soldiers in England, Morocco, Tunisia, Algiers, Brazil and in the Caribbean. He visited wards at front line bases as well as in the rear. Mr. Menjou, also, visited Canada before to assist in our Victory Loan Drives.

Anna Kaskas, beautiful young American contralto, is a superb artist as well as an enchanting songstress. During recent seasons she has been soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, the Boston Symphony, the Toronto Philharmonic and others. Since 1936 Miss Kaskas has appeared throughout each winter season of the Metropolitan and has gone on three of its spring tours.

The Lyric Trio, with Anna Mel Enfants, Lionel Daunais, Jules Jacob and accompanied by Alan McIver, is also donating its services for this first big broadcast. This outstanding vocal trio has had long runs on the American networks and is probably the best-known Canadian vocal aggregation on both sides of the border.

Hear this dazzling Victory Star Show at 8.30 p.m. EDT over CHEX.

Delegates Pass Two-Player Motion

MONTREAL, April 11 — (CP) — Delegates to the annual C.A.H.A. meeting yesterday unanimously adopted a committee's report that C.A.H.A. cards for minor players have an agreement added whereby parents or guardians for minor players will consent to their playing.

They also resolved that, in the case of any player who transferred to an American club without proper procedure and then turned professional, the amateur club would not be entitled to a share of the transfer fee. It was also suggested that proper transfers be enforced in the future.

A recommendation forbidding players under 18 to make any transfer was sent back to the resolution committee for further consideration.

Lions Even Series

TIMMINS—(CP)—St. Catharines evened the best-of-three Ontario Hockey Association Juvenile final series with South Porcupine Holman Pluggers, last year's champions, at one game apiece by scoring a 6-4 victory here last night. Pluggers won the first game 5-4.

Snow Slides Trap 34 In Colorado

BERTHOUD PASS, Colo., April 11—(AP)—Marooned in the Rockies by an avalanche and heavy snows, 32 persons, including three babies, waited today for their rescue and word concerning a severely injured woman who was taken down the mountainside in an army snow buggy.

While huge snowplows chewed their way up the east and west slopes of this 11,324-foot pass, soldiers yesterday carried supplies to the summit.

The marooned party took shelter in the Summit Lodge Sunday night after a rumbling snowslide swept three automobiles off the road and stalled others. One young woman, buried inside her car by eight feet of snow, dug her way upward to safety by jabbing with a screwdriver.

Trevor Pollock Likes Sailing With Norwegians

HAVELOCK, April 11 (ENS) — Norwegians are not only good sailors, but swell people to work with, in the opinion of Trevor Pollock of Havelock, who is home on furlough after a year's wanderings with the Merchant Marine. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pollock, Havelock.

Not only are the men easy to work with but the captains are "real fellows." Unlike many English captains in the service, who have been able to buy their commissions, Norwegian captains have to work their way up from the decks and they really know their jobs, and the problems of the men, he declared.

"Nearly all Norwegian sailors have been torpedoed at some time since their country was invaded. Many of them have had ships sunk under them three or four times, and one man on this last cruise, has been torpedoed six times. They think hothing of it. Many have escaped from their homeland since the invasion and others have made their way from internment camps. Incidentally, the food on Norwegian ships is the best I have run across."

Wolf Packs Lurking

Although young in years. Mr. Pollock has had some near misses in his sailing career, which he claims don't count. He is reticent about his experiences in action, but admitted that sub attacks are common on every trip, and that at least three or four times during the journey, they will launch their deadly missiles.

Tankers, which are such a popular object for U-Boat attack, are not always too desirable for merchant sailors, but for eight months, Mr. Pollock served aboard one. Asked what he thought about working his way across the Atlantic on them he said:

"I was sure nervous on the first trip and don't mind admitting I was scared. You are very conscious of what you are carrying, but after the first one you get used to it and it doesn't bother you. When you see a U-Boat attack on the convoy then you do a little thinking about the cargo underneath you, but the first trip is the worst. We're much safer now, for the destroyers do a wonderfgul job."

Brother Killed

Mr. Pollock enlisted in July 1943. His oldest brother, F. O. Keith Pollock was missing, believed killed, while stationed at Gibraltar in November, 1942, and for that reason he and a younger brother Claude thought first about joining the R.C.A.F. The latter tried to enlist in the Navy, but was too young, so both boys are now in the merchant marine.

Since he had had some previous training on guns, most of the time he has been among those chosen by the gunlayer to be part of the permanent gun crew. For this reason, he has had a chance to work on every gun on the ship. They are taught to tear them down, and put them together again, in order to be well prepared for emergencies.

Most of Mr. Pollock's trips have been made in the North Atlantic where submarine action and heavy weather make it tougher for merchantmen. He had one bad trip caused by storms, off the coast of Norway. They were slated for the Murmansk run, but their orders were changed and they went to the Mediterranean instead. While there they were attacked and the ship ahead and the one behind were hit, but his escaped. As they sailed along the African coast, they could see all kinds of wrecked material abandoned even by the beaches, where the Germans suffered such a defeat, he revealed.

Little Recognition

One of the things which amazes the young sailor when he comes inland is the indifference to and ignorance of civilians about the merchant marine. At Halifax, he says the attitude is quite different because the people realize the importance of their job and are proud of them. All along the United States coasts, there are Merchant Seamen's clubs. There are in addition to the U.S.O. since these sailors are not in uniform, and have only a button to distinguish them. Their papers are too bulky to carry around as identification much of the time.

In reply to a hint that the Navy might feel slightly superior to the merchant service, Mr. Pollock gave an emphatic denial. He said that all Navy men to whom he had talked or heard about, were the first to acknowledge what a swell job the merchant marine is doing, and were perfectly frank in admitting that they got the dirtiest jobs.

Before he enlisted last summer, Trevor Pollock was employed in a St. Catharines war plant. His service appealed to him because it seemed to offer an earlier opportunity at action. On his last trip to Canada, he acted in a Quartermaster's position and he has hopes that after another voyage, he may get a chance to train as a wireless operator.

He also paid tribute to the Navy League and the Red Cross. When they dock after a trip, the Navy League is right on the job with magazines and they stow them aboard in large enough quantities to last the men for two or three more jaunts. The Red Cross is often on hand to distribute sweaters and socks to the crew too, Mr. Pollock related.

Capacity Crowds Attend Easter Services

HAVELOCK, April 11—(ENS)—Easter Sunday in the village saw crowded churches, with special messages centering mainly around the Resurrection. The Easter note of victory over death and the grave. its promise of sin's defeat and the future life of the believer, and its practical outworking in service of the living Lord, received due emphasis.

The service in St. John's Anglican Church was observed in the evening commencing with Evensong and followed with Holy Communion. The rector Rev. R. E. Lemon spoke impressively from the text "Why seek ye the living among the dead," and related the great measure of comfort and hope in the Resurrection, especially in these trying times of present day existence. The choir sang as an anthem "Proclaim His Triumph" and D. J. Holdcroft sang a solo "Open the Gates of the Temple". A student of Wycliffe College, Mr. David Lemon assisted his father in the service.

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church was well attended when High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Carroll and was followed by the benediction. Special Easter hymns were sung and the altar was beautifully decorated with cut flowers.

At Knox Presbyterian Church, Rev. John Davey, D. D., preached to a large congregation in an afternoon service. Taking his text from the 20th Chapter of St. John's gospel, he gave an appropriate discourse on the Resurrection stressing the fact that through love and loyalty, the resurrection is not only for Christ but for all. Mr. Fred Bennett took the solo part in an anthem "Lilies of the Garden", and the choirs anthem was "The Way to Calvary.

The United Church is the only local church having two Sunday Services. In the morning Rev. J. W. Wilkinson chose for his text "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."

The choir sang two anthems "The Lord is risen to-day" and "Allelujah" and a quartette of Mesdames J. Clark and G. Morrow and Messrs. E. Chiles and W. Nobes ang "Follow Me."

In the evening a beautiful Easter Cantata was put on by the Junior Choir, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. William Platt and Mrs. R. Campney. The precessional Hymn was "Raise Our Banner," followed with an anthem "The Dawn of Life." A trio-Misses Ruth Wilkinson, Margaret Anderson and Dora Ketchen sang three hymns "O Story Sweet," "I love to tell the Story", and "Love that Passeth Knowledge." A pantomine "The Old Rugged Cross" was enacted by Ruth and Stella Wilkinson, Evelyn Iles and Helen Anderson. Two anthems "Low in the Grave He Lay" and "We Come with Singing" were rendered by the choir. A beautiful vocal solo "Above the Hills of Time" was sung by Miss Margaret Anderson, while she stood with an armful of Easter lilies in front of a lighted Cross. A poem "Calvary's Sorrow and Joy" was recited by Helen Price. Another pantomine "He took my Place" was enacted by Elaine Iles, and the final anthem was "We'll Bear the Cross." Capacity crowds greeted both services and by special requests the evening Cantata will be repeated next Sunday night.

ISTANBUL, April 11—(AP)— The Germans have rushed a score of pocket submarines to Varna and Constanta, apparently to protect convoys of small boats evacuating stranded Axis troops from the Crimea, a traveller from Rumania said yesterday. Trinity Sunday School Presents Pageant

APSLEY, April 11 — (ENS). — The Sunday School of Trinity United Church presented the pageant on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, with a good congregation attending. Music was under the direction of Max R. Smith, with a full choir of senior girls and boys. Miss Betty Edwards sang "Lo in the grave He lay," with full choir for chorus. Miss Ruby McColl sang "The Old Rugged Cross" as a solo. A pleasing item as the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Stewart Brown, the superintendent. In a short address read by Jack Tucker, the teachers and pupils thanked Mrs. Brown for her faithfulness and her untiring efforts in every way to make the Sunday School a success. Mac Everett presented the gift, a book entitled "The Apostle." Fred Reynolds of Clanricarde gave a splendid Easter message.

QUIRT BROTHERS IN THREE SERVICES—Four sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Quirt, 425 Sheridan Street, three of whom enlisted at 18 years of age, are serving in three branches of the armed forces. FO. Douglas Quirt, R.C.A.F., has been a patient in a hospital in Scotland for nine months, following a bomber crash. He has only recently been able to be up out of bed and to move around a little with the aid of canes and braces. His injuries included a broken back and broken ankles, and he was paralyzed for six months. A graduate of the Collegiate, FO. Quirt enlisted in July, 1940, and went overseas in October, 1942. He was a pilot of a Mosquito bomber and he was making trips over Germany frequently until his plane crashed on active service. Stoker 1 Bob Quirt enlisted a year ago and he is the youngest boy in the forces. He is serving on a minesweeper, and before enlisting worked at Genelco. Sgt. Reginald Quirt is with the 4th Anti-Tank Regiment overseas. Before joining the Army in July, 1940, he was a lumber inspector at Haliburton. The fourth brother, FO. Jack Quirt, is a member of the permanent R.C.A.F. force. When he graduated from Collegiate in 1936, he entered the R.C.A.F. a few months later. He was stationed in Canada until this year, instructing at Mountain View, and he expects to serve as navigator in a bomber now that he is overseas.

Approve Police Court In New City Hall

Incorporation of the police officers and court room in Peterborough's city hall of tomorrow was recommended by the committee of the whole council last night with Mayor Hamilton presiding.

Another feature receiving approval was an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,200 persons, available for public meetings, concerts, dramatic presentations and other community purposes.

Another structural detail that was considered in the discussion was an assembly hall equipped for dinners but the committee finally decided to omit it from present tentative plans.

Provision of offices and other facilities for the Utilities Commission, oBard of ducation, Separate School Board, and other similar bodies should be on a rental basis, according to the suggested policy which the committee outlined.

Blue prints of two floors and basement, prepared by City Engineer Shaver and Guy Quartermaine of City Engineer Parsons' office, were scrutinized, mainly for their space allotment and general accommodation.

"These are only sketches," said Mr. Shaver. "They are only a architect of the space assignment that may be required."

Before consulting an architect, the committee was of the opinion that the question of a site should be considered, "in order that he would be in a position to design a building in general conformity to the property on which it will be erected".

Alderman Sands, Dutton, Curtis and Swanston were appointed a sub-committee to discuss with a group of interested citizens their willingness to undertake the drafting of a rather broad planning program to include the proposed city hall site in relation to any other building and expansion projects for the years after the war. This suggestion is virtually a result of city planning enterprise which has been recently discussed at a public meeting.

Some mention was made last night of locations from which a city hall site might be chosen, but that phase of the meeting was only an incidental expression of opinion. Two of these properties are owned by the city. One of them is the present city hall corner at Simcoe and Water streets. That site would require the demolition of the present could be carried as far as necessary old buildings, and the new city hall on to the market square.

The other property was at George Charlotte and Water streets and would involve razing of the market hall block and its clock tower. Ownership of these properties, which are now in the administration of the City Trust Commission, would avoid expenditure for land in private hands. The property on the south side of Brock street between George and Water streets was also briefly mentioned, and reference was also made to the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, as companion to the site of the postal-customs building planned by the Dominion Government. That project was held up by the outbreak of war.

The committee of the whole last night actually decided nothing beyond reconsideration. The several motions were recommendations to the council, that is the inclusion of police court and auditorium, and the rental basis of accommodating associate public bodies.

The sub-committee was requested to proceed at once with their interview with representatives of a group of civic planners, and to report at the council meeting next Monday night. It was believed that these citizens would assume this work in a spirit of public interest and willingness to give the council the benefit of their ideas.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY — AC.1 Mark Crough, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Crough, 139 Rubidge Street, is observing his 20th birthday this week. He enlisted about a year ago and is now serving in the ground crew overseas. Prior to enlisting, he was employed at Genelco.

Municipal Wood Pile Down To 1,192 Cords

The city's wood pile is down to 1,207 cords, Alderman Glover told the Examiner today. Deliveries to April 5th were 2,399 cords, and the quantity sold up to that date was 1,192 cords.

The present policy of the fuel committee is to remain out of the market and leave the business to the retail trade. Their progress in stocking up for next winter will be noted around the middle of the summer, and if the prospects are reassuring the city will continue standing by with its remnant from this departing winter. It was learned some time ago that Ernest C. Braund succeeded in getting out of the Kelly woods in Cavan all the hardwood that was available. At one stage of the filling of a supply agreement with the city, Mr. Braund reported difficulties of transport before the frost came last fall. Trucks could not get into the bush, and Mr. Braund reported the experience to the committee. Some of its members were inclined to believe that the trucks never would get in or out. certainly not with three or four cord loads, and the attitude of the committee was generally and aloofly to the effect that as Mr. Braund got himself into the bush it was up to him to get out either with benefit of plenty of frost or new roads, or both.

The incident was reported at that time, and the sequel transpires that Mr. Braund delivered 896 cords of top class hardwood to the city, and at that stage of his progress the government stepped in and ordered him to switch over from fire wood operations to logging for lumber. Authorities decided that better use could be made of the Cavan timber in the bole than cutting it up into four foot lengths for firewood. Prior need, it was said, was for lumber, and the limbs would suffice for keeping the home fires burning.

So, that was the end of Mr. Braund's deal in helping to supply the city with hardwood in an emergency. He would have kept on delivering if government officials had not intervened, and commandeered the tall hardwood trees for more essential purposes.

Divorce Suits Clutter Assize Court

Divorce actions, initial and final, clutter the Supreme Court of Ontario in its present non-jury sittings which open at the Court House before Mr. Justice Greene this afternoon.

The marital wreckage that is being heaped up in the atmosphere of respectability which so heavily pervades this Court of the Crown, includes:

Three applications for final decrees.

Three undefended preliminary actions.

One undefended suit.

One action for alimony.

The docket includes several other actions, one of them a claim against the city, but the matrimonial discord and infidelities stand out more conspicuously in the resent docket than in the most of those which have preceded it since divorce devolved to the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in its assizes.

The three final applications are simply the ultimate act of dissolution following the Court's decision of "decree nisi" in a previous court. The latter disposition is conditional and temporary until the final decree is granted.

Farmers Leaving Factory Jobs

Quite a number of the farmers still remaining in industrial jobs at the beginning of the month have gone back to their farms during the past week or so of their own accord, Selective Service headquarters said today. The exodus has been gradual and about evenly distributed among the various city plants where agricultural workers have found essential employment through the winter season.

Apparently it is the forward-looking attitude of the farmers themselves that has brought about this voluntary return to the land. Reports are to the effect that the ground is still pretty well frozen and not yet suitable for the spring plowing, but it is these farmers' idea to be there, ready, when the first chance to start farming operations comes.

Still there are scores of other farmers who are still at their off-season employment in Peterborough, and by the terms of the Dominion regulation these men will be allowed to stay here for a little time yet. Final decision setting an end to the extended term of working in town rests with the manager of the Selective Service in this area, W. H. L. Mellis, on whose authority farmers will eventually be notified to resume their primary occupation, being granted 48 hours' notice of separation before their present employment automatically expires.

Impose $10 Fine For Selling Above Ceiling

Giving judgment in a case in which the evidence and argument had been heard last week Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning found Hugh J. Davis guilty on a charge of having sold body hardwood in Peterborough at a price higher than the maximum provided under the fuelwood orders.

His Worship found that Davis had sold two cords of wood at a price of $16 per cord while the ceiling price for the same wood here is $13 a cord.

The accused was fined $15 and $4.75 on that count and on second charge of having sold wood in Smith township above the ceiling price to which he pleaded guilty was assessed $10 and $1.75 costs.

Davis was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., while W. F. Huycke, K.C. was the prosecutor.

During the hearing of the case the accused had stated that the wood had been sold at Rose Island for $11 a cord and that the extra $5 was the cost of hauling the wood to Peterborough.

In his judgment today Magistrate Langley found that the sale had taken place in Peterborough. The actual contract of sale, the performance of the contract in the sense of the delivery of the wood and the payment had all taken place here, he found. In addition His Worship said that the title would not pass until the wood was appropriated by the purchaser.

"This case illustrated the difficulty of trying to control economic laws by legislation, if you can call these regulations legislation," said Mr. Carley in asking for a light penalty. "This was not a case of profiteering. The evidence shows that Davis had bought this wood mainly to keep his men busy until he could begin his contract of hauling wood for the city. Incidentally it is a well-known fact that the city in its wood transactions has not been able to sell at the ceiling price and make both ends meet."

"The difficulty is," said Magistrate Langley, "that people seem to want to pay more than the ceiling prices. I don't consider this a serious breach of the regulations."

"From my inspection of Davis' books I am satisfied that these were isolated transactions," said Mr. Huycke, "and so I am not pressing for a heavy fine."

Welfare List Drops To 71

The city's welfare allowance in March was $12.73 a person, as compared with $9.90 a year ago.

The number of persons on relief last month was 71, as follows: 12 heads of families, 30 of their dependents, 5 single men and 4 single women. Corresponding figures for March last year were: 20 heads of families, 57 dependents, 4 single men and 32 single women.

Welfare expenditure for March was $903.96 as against $1,119.65 in that month last year. Details were: provisions, $427; fuel, $310; clothing, $35; rent, $90; doctors, $39.

Total welfare cost for the first quarter was $3,839; less rebates of $1,588.32 payable by the government; leaving $2,250 charged against the city treasury.

Four new applicants registered for relief last month, according to the report of Welfare Officer Metheral at the recent meeting of the city's welfare committee.

Applications were completed for fifteen old age pensions and one mother's allowance.

Depth Of God's Love Message Of J. Spink

The evangelistic service in the Regent Theatre Sunday evening had as guest speaker James F. Spink, F.R.G.S., of Chicago, noted author and traveller. The subject was based on John 3:16, a text that would be given by the great majority of Christians the world over as the greatest text in the Bible. It is the cornerstone and the keystone of the Christian faith.

The speaker asked the question, What kind of a God is it who so loved the world that he gave His only Son? Do I understand it? No. Do I believe it? Yes. Why? Because Jesus said so. It is only through Christ that Christians can comprehend the love of God, he declared. They cannot measure its height, its depth or its breadth, but they believe that in Christ they have the revelation of His love. Nature may reveal the majesty of God, but it does not show His love. Nature is often ugly, as is sin. It is only at Calvary over the cross that the words, "God is Love," stand out in all its truth and power, Mr. Spink said. In nature one can see the hand of God; at Calvary we see the heart of God.

During the service Lennox Smith of St. Catharines, accompanied on the piano by Miss Jean McLeod, sang three gospel songs.

The speaker next Sunday will be Rev. E. L. Simmonds, M.A., B.D., of Toronto, and soloist, Andy Gibson, of Hamilton.

Plan Huge Modern Bus Terminal On George St. Near Dalhousie

Plans have been completed for a bus terminal to be built by the Dolmuir Syndicate, comprising Peterborough and Toronto financial men, on the east side of George street, in the block between Dalhousie and Sherbrooke streets.

"We are planning to make Peterborough the hub of the bus transportation business in Eastern Ontario for the next twenty-five years," a Toronto representative of the Syndicate informed the Examiner to-day.

"It is our intention to go ahead with construction as soon as we receive the necessary permit from the federal authorities. We have applied for permission to build, and we are prepared to begin the work this year if we get the approval of the government."

Plans provide for a two-storey office and concrete building, with a frontage on George street of 75 feet, which may eventually be extended to one hundred feet, in the middle of the Dalhousie-Sherbrooke block, extending through the depth of the property to the shops of the Peterborough Machine and Lubricator Company of which E. R. Wilson, former alderman, is president.

Purchase Property.

It is understood that the company has acquired the entire premises of Machine and Lubricator Company, and will replace them with an expansive garage fronting on Water street, south of Sherbrooke street, and extending through the entire block to Dalhousie street.

The buildings will be of concrete and steel structure, and the George street, terminal office and headquarters will be of concrete and buff brick.

"Peterborough's new bus terminal will be better than the big terminal in St. Louis," the Examiner's informant stated "If we were in a position to proceed with the construction immediately we would be glad to announce more of the details, but the project depends upon the decision of the federal authorities as to when we can begin

We expect that this will be the terminal for all the bus lines operating in and out of Peterborough, and we can promise the people of this city that they are going to have a bus transportation centre of which they will be proud."

Long-Range View

The company is looking forward to the future that will develop after the war, and in their planning they expect that the Kawartha Lakes area will become more popular than ever as an attraction to tourists.

For the last ten years the city council has been suggested to the bus companies now radiating from Peterborough that they should endeavor to provide a terminal for their joint use. Some project had been mentioned a few years ago, but the war intervened, and the proposal lapsed. Buses have used the Charlotte street block between George and Water streets for casual terminal purposes, and their public has had to depend chiefly for waiting accommodation and information on the Empress Hotel.

J. J. Duffus Helps

Among those who are interested in the projected bus terminal are Senator Wm. H. McGuire of Toronto, Senator J. J. Duffus and E. R. Wilson.

"Special mention should be made of these three men, all of them Peterborough men, for Senator McGuire is an old Otonabee township boy, because they have been most active in pressing the advantages of Peterborough as a geographical centre of eastern Ontario and the logical city to become a bus transport centre," the company's representative remarked.

He might also have added, if he had known, that these three men are all sons of Otonabee township.

The terminal office building will provide waiting room accommodation and other facilities for the public, restaurant or coffee shop, despatching office, and so on, and the second floor will be used for general offices of the company.

Father Of Quads Seeking Divorce

HEANOR, Derbyshire, England, April 11.—(AP).—The lusty trio of survivors from the quads born to Norah Rose Carpenter and Staff Sgt. William Thompson, Jr., of Pittsburg, Pa., "are thriving and doing even better than expected." Miss Edith Mathews, superintendent of the nursing home where they will remain until the end of April, said to-day.

She added: "Michael especially is thriving. He now weighs 6½ pounds. Madeline weighs 5¾ and Maureen 5¼."

The quads were born Feb. 28 and MacDonald, the youngest, died a few hours later.

Sgt. Thompson has a wife in Pittsburg. He has asked her for a divorce so he can marry the English girl.

Pte. J. W. Grieder Believed Killed

Reported missing in December, Pte. John William Grieder, the son of Mrs. Alice Grieder, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough, is now believed to have lost his life fighting as a paratrooper with the 1st Special Service Force in Italy.

Twenty-two years of age, he enlisted a year ago last March, leaving his job with the Canadian General Electric. He received his initial training at Ottawa and Camp Borden and was with the Midlands Regiment before joining the special force last September. Going to Fort Ethan Allen he got his wings as a paratrooper in a week's time and in November went overseas directly to Italy.

Pte. Grieder's early life was spent in Cheltenham, where he received his education. Besides his mother, there are two brothers, Jim and Bruce, and a sister, Mabel.

"Just Grandma" Does Her Bit For War Victims

Real sacrifice of wealth may mean much or little from a figurative standpoint of worldly standards, nothing perhaps serving to emphasize this as much as the parable of the widow's mite as told by the Great Master, to show how this represented far more than all other type of offering, because it meant the giving of all she had.

The picture of a wonderful personality is conjured up in the mind of the writer, through a gift made to the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, which has on more than one occasion appeared in this column to help the sufferers from air raids over Britain. Its very nature suggests a very kindly old lady who is not possessed of an abundance of this world's goods from a monetary standpoint, but who has a richness of love for her fellow creatures in trouble and difficulties, that far surpasses and outweights many other offerings for the same purpose.

In a handwriting that shows the toll that advancing years are exacting, the secretary of the fund on each occasion has found a letter on his desk, in which a note enclosed stated that the enclosed dollar bill was "For the war victims" and signed "Just Grandma" and this poignant message and evident sacrifice displays a sympathy such as could very well serve as a beacon light to a better world for the future.

For Grandma's Sake

This gives rise to a suggestion that there are hundreds of people who could far more afford to give a dollar than this dear old lady, and in order to have the privilege in leading the way to do some further good for the cause for which she has made some evident sacrifice, another gift is listed in today's receipts under the heading for "For Grandma's sake" with a plea that numbers of the residents of this city and district do likewise to both help the cause and pay tribute to her unselfish act for others in distress. In so doing, either initials or receipt numbers could be used to identify any particular gift for this purpose in addition to the suggested acknowledgment, or any other manner which they may prefer.

Other Personal Gifts

Two other personal gifts also demonstrate a real desire to do something to help unfortunate people back to some semblance of their former life, both taking the practical form of a nice $5 gift, one of them under the acknowledgment of "ET.", while the other from David, Margaret and Ralph suggests the three children of one family unite in this blessed act at this season, which sees much in nature to remind all who care to be observant about such things, that the works of a Great Creator continue on in love to care for the needs of his children.

Menjou's Opinion

TORONTO, April 11 — (CP). — Screen Star Adolph Menjou, who arrived here today to participate in the Sixth Victory Loan, said that after five months overseas he thinks "we are not nearly tough enough, but the tougher we get the sooner it will be over."

"Anyone who thinks this war is almost over is a fool," he added.

Menjou visited England, North Africa, Sicily and Italy from June to November.

Liquor Cases Dominate Court

Liquor cases formed the big end of the docket in police court this morning when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., disposed of a list of charges all arising out of poorly controlled thirst.

Three of the offenders, Gordon Holland, 777 George street; Charles Fleetwood, George street, and Enos Meyette, no fixed address, all pleaded guilty to having been drunk and admitted a previous conviction so that the fine in their cases was $50 and $2.50 costs or a month in jail.

William McMaster, Norwood, Donald Armstrong, Aylmer street, and Angus Lindsay, Albert street, entered pleas of guilty to intoxication charges and the fine in their case was $10 and $2.50 costs.

Patrick Allen, R.R. 9, and Lyle Brooks, Louis street, similarly charged, pleaded not guilty and secured a week's adjournment.

Music Features Church Services

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11, (ENS) — Large congregations attended local churches here as citizens observed one of the two great Christian festivals on Easter Sunday. Though special music was the main instrument marking the occasion the clergy gave timely messages designed to bring to closer perspective the story of the Crucifixion.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church the service was made exceptional by the contribution of the Junior Choir which sang "Happy Hours at Eastertide" and Francis DeCarrol who sang a solo. A second number from the choir "O Death Where is Thy Sting" was also well executed with Mrs. Donald Rutherford taking the solo. In the evening Mrs. J. Cowell was soloist and the choir sang "What Are These". Rev. J. O. Ralston conducted both morning and evening services.

A profusion of flowers decorated the font and altar at Christ Church where even the record congregation of Christmas was exceeded as worshippers filled the main portion of the church and overflowed into the rarely used gallery. Rev. W. J. Lennox conducted the choral communion service and in his sermon dealt with the lesson taught by the resurrection. Miss Gertrude Maynard played the organ and the anthem chosen by the choir was Carrie Adams "Awake Ye Saints" with Mrs. William Nelson taking the obligato while solo parts were effectively sung by Maj. J. M. Bygott, Miss Ethel Bedford and Mrs. J. O. Benor.

Song Service

At St. John's United Church a service in song was well rendered and dealt with the events leading up to the Crucifixion and the Resurrection of Christ. The numbers included a solo, "And They Came To A Place Named Gethsemane," from Strainer's "The Crucifixion", by G. W. Lucy; "The Agony", from "The Crucifixion" by the choir with W. Henson as soloist; solo and quartette, "When Jesus Rose Up" by Mrs. H. O. Richardson, Miss Nellie Hoover, Dr. H. O. Richardson and G. W. Lucy with Mrs. Charles Howey as soloist; solo, "And When They Were Come to a Place", from "Darkness and Dawn" by F. W. Peace, by G. W. Lucy; male quartette, "Jesus Our Lord Was Crucified" by H. M. Donald, Harold Twigg, G. W. Lucy and Harold Pierce; solo by Mrs. Steven Twigg, "When The Even Was Come" from Shelley's "The Resurrection"; "Alleluia" a solo by Mrs. A. G. Watson; the choir, "As It Began to Dawn" with Mrs. H. O. Richardson taking to solo part; solo, "He Is Not Here" by Mrs. Harold Twigg; anthem "Hallelujah, Now Is Christ Risen", (Simper) by the choir. Charles Howey, organist and director of the choir was highly commended for his part in arranging the special music of the day. Rev. G. N. Maxwell, B.A., B.D., conducted the services and in the morning took as his subject, "He Is Alive".

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

—By J. R. Scott

With The Armed Forces

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

A hand-across-the-border gesture which came to my attention recently could well be a minor basis for a more cooperative international world spirit. A picture of BRUCE PRICE, Peterborough, on board an ice-covered corvette appeared in a Buffalo paper. A woman reader there clipped it out and forwarded it to the Examiner, with the request that it be sent on to the boy's mother, who would probably treasure it.

She did. Mrs. R. A. Price, who is now living in Toronto was delighted with the thoughtfulness of her neighbor to the south. In her letter she explained that her son had written her about the awful gale they encountered and in addition he found himself seasick for most of the trip. All the crew had to get out and chop ice and when they reached port they still had tons of ice aboard. It was a miracle they were still afloat. That is what it means to ply the Atlantic in winter.

Friction Evidenced

On the surface, British, Canadian and Americanu troops appear to get on well together, but a letter from PTE. JERRY PEARSON, serving in Italy, states that in England and North Africa, there is little love lost between English troops on one hand and Canadian and American soldiers on the other.

"No matter what you may do for the Englishman, there is no use trying to satisfy him. The more you do, the more he beefs and expects of you. The women are just the opposite. Canadians and Americans get along well, but there is a great feeling between the Yanks and English. The latter are jealousy, not without cause, over American superiority in clothes and equipment."

Pte. Pearson also made reference to the N.A.A.F.I., which stands for the Navy, Army, Air Force Institute. It has, he says, a bad name with the troops, and they accuse the people running it of trying to make huge profits from the soldiers. Canteens run by the same people are in England, North Africa and probably other places too. This soldier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearson of Lakefield.

Warm Welcome

Some of the inhabitants of Sicily have proven very hospitable to Canadians stationed there, writes LIEUT. JOHN PIERCE in a recent letter. He was staying at the home of a local priest, where everything possible was done for his comfort.

"You would enjoy seeing me in the evenings sitting around his fireside trying to carry on an intelligible conversation with him. Between a few scant Italian phrases, a dim recollection of High School French and great wavings of my hands, I can get a few ideas across. But I have not yet reached the stage where I can enjoy a lively argument on politics.

"After paying out 137,605 lire ($1,400) to Italian workmen, I felt rather important. I can't say much about the job, but it was clever German demolition which gave us the work and I felt rather proud that my platoon was chosen to fix it up in a hurry. We have been out on our own now for some time and it reminds me of home a good deal. We are in a land of melting snows, poplar and scrub oak trees. It freezes solid in the nights, but days are usually warm."

Lieut. Pierce, who is serving with the Royal Canadian Engineers, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pierce, 492 Homewood avenue.

Out In Open

The Maple Leaf, which is printed in Italy for the troops, is fulfilling an important function. There has never been an Army yet whose personnel didn't grouse, but they often have real grievances, and such a paper helps to explain the private's viewpoint to those in charge so that they can remedy the situation.

A storm of protest has been aroused among Canadian soldiers over the activities of an Italian "Al Capone" whose organized thugs have been helping themselves at Bari and Naples to mail and parcels destined for Canadian troops. At Naples recently 97 bags of Canadian mail were stolen. On a single day, a war correspondent reports 27 Italians working at the docks were convicted of theft. Others have been arrested for stealing Canadian Red Cross parcels destined for prisoners of war. They were tried in an Italian court and given minor sentences of a few days imprisonment. British authorities only heard of this case accidentally.

The ring leader at Bari is Giovanne Pastore, 35. He was found guilty by an Allied military court for interference with military mail and unlawful possession of allied property. He was sentenced to death on the first charge and given 20 years' imprisonment on the second.

Handed Over.

Court of Review of the Allied Control Commission ruled that the military had no right to touch Pastore on the first charge (this was changed shortly after) and lesser sentence on the second count was upheld. The Allied authorities have no assurance that Italians officials will not release the man at any time.

The Canadians, who owned that stolen mail, in an editorial demanded action and answers to certain questions. They want to know if in the face of such an epidemic are proper measure being taken to deal with it; what guarantee have the Allies got that Pastore will serve out his sentence; will the other 20 men be arrested for the same business he tried; what court will handle their cases; if the arrests were the results of army investigation, why should civilian authorities and regulations apply?

Shalto Watt, war correspondent, relates that the favorite thieving grounds are bomb-pocked roads leading from the docks, edged by damaged buildings. The thieves, most of them youths about 15, wait for a loaded truck to come along, then send a child in front. When the driver stops, they slash away the canvas covering. As the truck moves on, the thieves dump mailbags and goods on to the road, where it is picked up by confederates. The main problem facing the military is lack of personnel to enforce a strict enough guard, he states.

SGT. PILOT CLAIRE GRAINGER

Formerly living out West, Sgt. Pilot Claire Grainger, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Grainger, 179 Adeline Street, is serving overseas He enlisted in the R.C.A.F. at Regina in August, 1941. After training at Brandon he qualified as an aero-engine mechanic at St. Thomas. Following some time spent at Trenton, he remustered as air crew. Sgt. Pilot Grainger graduated as a bomber pilot at Hagersville last October, and took further training in Canada before proceeding overseas.

Sailing on Corvette.

Max Paterson, R.C.N.V.R., who trained as a supply assistant, is one of the crew on the corvette Lindsay. This is his first ship. Enlisting September, 1943, he trained at Regina, H.M.C.S. Cornwallis, and Halifax. Before joining the Navy, the sailor attended P.C.I and worked in the office at Canada Packers He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Paterson, 748 George Street North.

Brothers Meet.

Two brothers who hadn't seen each other for four years, had a happy re-union recently when Dave Leether returned from overseas and his brother LAC Reginald Leether was in Peterborough on furlough. David enlisted in the Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry Highlanders four years ago, and after some time with that unit he transferred to the paratroop section, graduated, and went overseas. Recently he decided he'd like to take a crack at the Air Force, so he transferred to the R.C.A.F., and was sent back to Canada for training. He formerly worked at the Brinton Carpet.

LAC. Reginald Leether joined the R.C.A.F. about a year ago, and is at present stationed at McLeod, Alta. He was just at the end of a 16-day furlough when he learned his brother would arrive the next morning, so was given a brief extension. He has now returned to his post. Before enlisting, LAC. Leether worked at the Johnson Motors. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. Leether, 358 George Street South.

Family Celebration.

Two brothers overseas, Pte. Ronald E. Brand, R.C.A.S.C., England, and Pte. Fred H. Brand, in Italy with the H. and P. E. Regiment, are celebrating birthdays this week. Their mother, Mrs Fred Brand, Sr., 250 Carlisle Avenue, is also celebrating one.

stables found a wallet on the window sill outside, containing $110.

Suggested Montreal.

The accused told the court that he met Muldrew in the beverage-room at Newcastle and that at the latter's request he went with him on March 23 to Port Hope, where Muldrew drew out his money. Muldrew wanted to go somewhere by train and accepted the suggestion of Bouthillette that he go to Montreal. The accused told the court that he was to go with Muldrew and was given $150 but that he couldn't leave just then as he wanted to pick up his clothes at Newcastle.

Bouthillette asked the court for the opportunity to make up the missing $40 from the $150 which Muldrew had given him as his pal in Newcastle was willing to lend it. The pal was a youth who was going to Halifax with him to get on a ship. However, Bouthillette had told the court that the reason he had at first denied to police that he had the money was because he owed his friend $10, and as he was in the next room and might overhear, he didn't want him to know that he had the $110.

"Small chance of him lending you $40 now when you held out his $10 when you had $110," commented the magistrate.

Asked if he suspected that it was strange that Muldrew should give him $150, the accused said that he didn't know that Muldrew was "crazy."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TIME FOR TRUMP LEADS

THERE ARE two times when a trump lead is pretty strongly indicated. One is when the declarer and his partner have each bid a different suit and then they finally got together on a third suit as trump. It is quite clear then that each may ruff the other's suit. Another time is when the declarer has bid two suits and the dummy none

East studied plenty before passing this, deciding that his partner would not have bid that way unless his diamonds were better than his hearts.

North put the fat into the fire when he led the spade A. West ruffed this and, deciding that he had to get at least one ruff of his own hearts, led the 5. North put in the 8—should have used the 6—and South overtook with the A so he could lead back a trump. His diamond 2 went to the dummy's Q. and the heart 2 was led, the J forcing the Q. North could not lead a trump now, so sent back the club 4. West won with the A and led the heart 10. North covered with the K and the diamond 6 ruffed it.

That enabled West to make his contract. He ruffed the spade 6, dropped the rest of the diamonds, took a trick with the heart 9 and then gave up two clubs, losing only those two tricks plus two in hearts.

If North had sensed that West probably would want to ruff one or more hearts in the dummy, as South did from the start, he would have led his diamond 8 originally. When West then led a heart and South won with the A, he could have banged the dummy's last diamond out with a second trump lead. Doing that would have obliged West to lose three tricks in hearts instead of two. These, plus the unavoidable two club losers, would have beaten the contract.

Rebekah Lodge 34 Years Old

HAVELOCK, April 11—(ENS)—Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98 of Havelock celebrated their 34th birthday anniversary when about 125 members and visitors gathered for this occasion.

The Dorcas degree staff conferred the Rebekah degree on three candidates, which makes a total of 42 initiated into Dorcas Lodge since January 1. Twelve applications were received during the evening, and several prospective names were submitted to the Lodge. One of the highlights of the evening was the impressive ceremony of unveiling the honor roll of husbands, brothers, sisters, sons or daughters of members of Dorcas Lodge, who had enlisted for active service. This ceremony consisted of a quartette, "Sons of the King," by Ada Russell, Jennie Southward, Minnie Williams and Fred Bennett, after which the honor roll was unveiled by Addie McCutcheon.

The names on the honor roll were read by Minnie Williams, who had presented the honor roll to the Lodge, followed by prayer by Chaplain Rose Easterbrook, after which the members sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning." D.D.P. De Bois of Lindsay was the honored guest of the evening, and addressed the meeting, after which she and her Marshal, Eva Shaw of Lindsay, presented the Lodge with two beautiful sandwich plates. Noble Grand Cole of Loch Lomond Lodge of Campbellford presented the Lodge with three trays from her Lodge. Other guests were present from Peterborough, Kingston, North Bay, Smith Falls and Toronto.

At the close of the meeting, the lunch committee served a dainty lunch from a lace-covered table, which was decorated with candles and a three-story birthday cake iced with the Lodge colors, pink and green. N.G. McCutcheon lit the 34 candles, and after they were extinguished, the cake was served to the guests.

Whisky Goes To Stockholders

PEORIA, Ill., April 11—(AP)—Federal Judge J. Leroy Adair entered an order to-day assuring distribution of 237,000 barrels of American Distilling Company whisky to stockholders of the company at cost price.

His order enjoined any stockholder from interfering with administration of the unusual plan of Gilbert B. Geieger, trustee of the company, to distribute its huge stock of whisky, estimated as the largest stock in the country and stored mostly in the firm's principal plant at Pekin, Ill.

The order also restrained anyone from bringing suit against validity of the trust indenture which provides the distribution plan.

The Judge's order was in a suit brought by Harry Hendin of St. Louis, a stockholder, who sought to prevent operation of the plan.

The plan, announced last November in New York, provides that any stockholders, as of the close of business Feb. 29, 1944, may exercise the privilege of purchasing, for each share of stock, 15 cases of a blend of straight whiskys at cost price. He also may purchase, for each share, one case of bottled in bond Bourbon and rye whisky at a total cost of $46.50 for both cases.

The company, the largest independent in the business, estimated book value of its stock at $8,000,000.

Mr. Cornell explained some points on pollination, germination and stratification, and then called on Mrs. Moyer to give a paper on seeds. Mrs. Moyer dealt particularly on culture of Sweet Peas, and a package of New Spring Flowering Sweet Peas was given to each member present.

Jack Miner 79 Years Old

KINGSVILLE, Ont., April 11 — (CP).—American and Canadian sportsmen from many points began arriving early today to participate in the Jack Miner anniversary celebration at the Miner sanctuary and the Memorial Hall dinner at Kingsville, marking the 79th birthday of the world renowned naturalist.

Several thousand visitors are expected to attend a reception this afternoon at the grounds of the Miner home. Among guests expected to attend tonight's dinner was the name of Lloyd F. Eagan, president of the Detroit Sportsmen's Concourse, representing more than 10,000 Michigan sportsmen.

Jack Miner, born in Ontario, came to Canada with his parents in 1878. In 1904 he began work on his wild life sanctuary and banded his first wild duck in 1909.

Six years later he started banding wild Canada geese, and since that time has banded more than 50,000 wild ducks and 35,000 geese. The banding is for scientific purposes, as it is through this means that the habits of the birds are followed.

Throughout, the world Miner's method of banding has been followed.

Canada's Debt Not Out of Line

TORONTO, April 12—(CP).—Canadians should not be frightened by the increases which have taken place in the country's debt so far or which are likely to take place before the end of the war, Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, said today in an address at a Canadian Club luncheon.

"I do not wish to suggest that public debt could be increased at the present rate for an indefinite period of time without placing an intolerable strain on the economy, even although the additional interest payments are made to our own people," said Mr. Towers, also general chairman of the National War Finance Committee.

"But I do say that the increases which have taken place so far, or are likely to take place before the end of the war, should not frighten us.

"The real burden of public debt depends on the taxable capacity of the country, and that, in turn, depends on our production and earnings. National income has approximately doubled since before the war. At the present moment, the real burden of debt charges is less than it was 20 years ago."

The amount owed by the Dominion Government and the Canadian National Railways had increased $6,609,000,000 between Aug. 31, 1939, and Dec. 31, 1943. The domestic debt had increased somewhat more than this, but had been offset by a considerable reduction in foreign debt.

"One's first inclination is to calculate interest on the increased debt at three per cent. per annum, and assume that interest charges must have risen by about $200,000,000 a year," said Mr. Towers.

30 Million Pounds Of Beef Shipped To Britain Recently

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP).—About 30,000,000 pounds of Canadian beef have been shipped to the United Kingdom in the last few months and the movement of all meats overseas has become more free recently, it was learned today.

Canadian Meat Board purchases of bacon for the United Kingdom were about 275,000,000 pounds in the first three months of this year, and it was learned that the improved shipping situation has facilitated the movement of such stocks out of the Dominion.

Under an agreement covering two years, signed last fall, Canada agreed to ship not less than 900,000,000 pounds of bacon in 1944 and 1945.

Officials said today that the rate of Meat Board purchases indicated that the minimum provided in the contract for the first year at least would be far surpassed.

Last year 675,000,000 pounds were shipped, and authorities said that there was the prospect that 1944 shipments would be nearer 600,000,000 pounds than the 450,000,000-pound minimum.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said earlier this year that although the minimum bacon contract was smaller than shipments under previous contracts, Canada was determined to see the British consumer would continue to enjoy his four-ounce weekly bacon ration if at all possible.

The minister said he believed the 600,000,000 pounds annually required by Britain could be provided in 1944 and perhaps in 1945 if good production conditions prevailed in Canada.

Officials said that experience thus far has indicated that the 1944 production will be up to expectations.

"Relatively small" shipments of Canadian beef to the United Kingdom market were reported for the first time during the war in November, as a condition of scarcity in several Canadian cities in preceding months began to turn into a surplus.

Engineers Fight New Labor Law

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP)—The National Labor Relations Board at its first hearing today reserved decision on an application by 14 professional organizations for exclusion from the new Dominion Collective Bargaining Code.

The case affects some 21,000 professional men including engineers, chemists, architects and surveyors.

W. P. Dobson of Toronto, president of the Ontario Association of Professional Engineers, and L. A. Wright, of Montreal, general secretary of the Engineering Institute of Canada, acted as spokesman for a delegation which appeared before the Board.

Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, chairman of the Board, in opening the hearing said two points were to be determined—whether professional groups were included under the Collective Bargaining order and if they were what relief could be provided by the Board.

The organizations in a collective brief said the professional men considered their position to be between labor and management. While not unsympathetic toward the principle of Collective Bargaining the professional men thought they should remain a separate group and not be compelled to come under a Collective Agreement negotiated by a Trade Union.

Partisans Take German Base

LONDON, April 12.—(CP).—Yugoslav Partisans have stormed and occupied the important German base of Gradina in Central Yugoslavia, inflicting heavy casualties on the routed garrison, including a "fairly great number" who drowned in the Una river while fleeing the city, Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz announced to-day.

Broz' communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, said the German command was rushing fresh troops into Eastern Bosnia and Serbia to counteract widespread thrusts by guerilla flying columns against enemy communications there as well as along the Dalmatian and Croatian coasta sectors.

The guerillas were especially active in the area between Knin and Petrinja, the communique said, smashing a sector of the Bihac-

Wingate's Spirit Lives On

Three Courageous Leaders Emulate Him

LONDON, April 12—(CP)—Maj. Gen Orde Wingate of the bristling beard and amazing Burmese victories is no more, but the tradition that built up before he died in a plane crash recently is being carried on by three Britisr army officers who are almost as fabulous as their erstwhile leader.

Head of this trio which for some time has been disrupting Japanese plans is Maj. Bernard Edward Ferguson, a 33-year-old Scot who wears the D.S.O., a beard and a monocle.

A professional soldier and the son of a professional soldier, this Black Watch officer was with Wingate on the first guerilla expedition into Burma.

A fellow Major is Michael (mad Mike) Calvert, a 30-year-old Irishman whose exploits have earned him his telling nick-name.

His specialty is starting out through the Burmese jungle loaded with dynamite and blowing up Japanese communication lines.

Last of the trio is Capt. Geoffrey Lockett, 30, who once sold wine in Liverpool. Before going on the Burmese campaign he had all his teeth pulled, and then campaigned, accompanied by wild Scottish war cries, in kilts, a bush shirt and a beard.

Imphal Fighting Continues At Terrific Pace

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, April 12 (AP)—Allied forces fighting hard to clear the Japanese invaders from the Imphal-Kohima-Dimapur road have developed their operations to the point where enemy pressure on Kohima has decreased, Allied headquarters announced today.

The communique said there was no important change at Kohima, which guards the 36-mile road to Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam road. Japanese snipers already have infiltrated along this route.

(A Tokyo broadcast by the Domei agency claimed a general assault on the Allied citadel of Imphal was imminent, with Indo-Japanese forces making furious assaults on Allied positions some seven or eight miles northeast of the town. It said "terrific fighting" was in progress some 13 miles north of Imphal.

The Japanese claimed the capture of Kohima on April 6.

The Japanese previously had blocked about 15 miles of the Imphal-Kohima road.

South of Imphal the Allies cleared out the last enemy road blocks on the Tamu-Pale section of the highway and thus the troops fighting south of this area, on the road to Tiddim, had a clear line to Imphal for supplies and reinforcements.

The communique announced, however, that the Japanese had occupied a hill feature overlooking the plain of Imphal from the northeast—but thereafter suffered heavy casualties, presumably from an Allied counter-attack.

In far north Burma, the two American-Chinese drives toward Myitkyina, main enemy base, made progress. The Chinese 38th division, pushing dwon the Mogaung valley, occupied the village of Tingring after a swift advance from captured Wakaung.

There were further fierce clashes on the Arakan front in the southwest which cost the Japanese heavy casualties.

Trapping Champ

ALBANY, N.Y., April 12—(AP).—It takes a fox to catch a fox. That was the State Conservation Department's observation in naming Albert Fox, Steuben county farmer, New York's champion trapper for the season. Fox averaged more than $100 weekly between Nov. 5 and April 1, the Department said, trapping 75 foxes, 253 muskrats, 12 bearer (the legal maximum), 40 skunks, 13 mink, 21 raccoon, 15 'possum and two weasels.

King To Retire When Allies Capture Rome

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, April 12.—(AP).—Tired and bereft of empire, King Victor Emmanuel III. proclaimed to his people and the world today that he would turn over the power of the throne to his six-foot son, Humbert, 39, the Prince of Piedmont, on the day that Allied troops enter Rome.

The 74-year-old monarch declared he would appoint his son "Lieutenant-General of the Realm," and would retire entirely from public affairs.

Thus Victor Emmanuel, who reigned 43 years, yielded provisionally to the pressure of Italian Liberal leaders who have refused to form a democratic government in Italy while he remained on the throne.

Better Time Coming

"The day shall come," said the King, who was eclipsed by Benito Mussolini in the Fascist era, "when our deep wounds will be healed and we shall take once more our place as a free people among free nations."

The announcement came a day after representatives of the Allied Governments had closed a two-day conference in a southern Italian town where the King has a villa. (The fact that the King's statement so closely followed the Allied representatives' conference suggest-

Red Troops Nearing Sevastopol

Spectacular Gains Registered In Romanian Push

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP)—Two Russian armies are hammering through the Crimea from the east and north, capturing villages in the Peninsula with lightning-like speed, while on the mainland the Red Army drove rapidly today through the Siret Valley of Romania towards the vital Ploesti oilfields.

The Red Army suffered what appeared to be a momentary setback west of Skala, above the middle Dnestr, as the Germans broke through to a trapped garrison, but it seemed to be only a defensive action, and not a counter-offensive.

In Bessarabia, the Soviets were closing in fast on Chisinau, capital city, while to the south they stormed the streets of Tiraspol.

West of Odessa they were mopping up German and Romanian units and driving toward Ovidiopol, shortest route to Bucharest.

From the Kerch Peninsula in the Eastern Crimea, Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's amphibious army advanced towards Feodosiya, first big city on the route to Simferopol, Yalta and Sevastopol.

With but one exception Soviet arms were victorious all along the 500-mile front extending from the Crimea to the 1939 Czech front, a Russian communique declared. This was in the area just west of Skala north of the Middle Dnestr, where a German relief force cracked a Russian cordon previously thrown around the remnants of 15 Nazi divisions trapped in that area.

The German thrust was achieved only at the cost of many men and tanks. Moscow acknowledge that the Nazis had captured the town of Buczazc (Buchach), midway between Skala and encircled Tarnopol, 80 miles to the northwest.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 2nd Ukrainian army, meanwhile, was reported to have struck hard at Axis forces in Central Romania, storming the important rail junction at Pascani, 55 miles west of the Prut River and Criestesti, eight miles beyond. Pascani, 155 miles northeast of the rich Ploesti oilfields, surrendered only after 3,000 German and Romanian troops were slain, the Russians said. Near Iasi, fierce Axis counter-attacks were repulsed and several towns captured.

Fight In Tarispol

Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky, whose troops were battling in the streets of Tarispol, the last Dnestr crossing still open to the Germans aside from Ovidiopol, sent other forces in a dash toward Chisinau, capital of Bessarabia.

Marshal Konev's spectacular advance into Romania—his troops were reported already ascending the Carpathian foothills—has caused the Axis high command to shift its Romania-German military headquart-

Patrols Spar On Italian Fronts

NAPLES, April 12 (AP)—The Germans launched a small attack against Allied troops defending the hills north of Cassino yesterday and stepped up the tempo of their shelling and mortaring of Castle Hill just behind the rubbled town, but the attack was thrown back hard and Allied guns answered the barrage with sharp fire of their own, headquarters announced today.

Castle Hill, overlooking almost all of Cassino, has been a sharp thorn in the side of the Germans and they have tried repeatedly to take it. The castle itself is but a pile of rocks from months of shelling, first by the Allies and then by the Nazis.

German shelling of the area south of Cassino was on a reduced scale and normal patrolling activity was resumed there as on all sectors of the Italian front.

On the Anzio beachhead, a small enemy party attempted a minor thrust three miles southwest of Carroceto and two other parties tried to cross the Moletta river near the coast, but all these thrusts were repulsed. The Nazis attempting to cross the Moletta were brought under heavy mortar fire and suffered casualties.

German guns continued to shell rear and port areas of the beachhead and twelve planes made what was described as an ineffectual raid on the port. One of the planes was downed by anti-aircraft fire.

Five German planes were destroyed last night, the communique added.

Freeze Tenants?

TORONTO, April 12—(CP).—The Board of Control today passed a resolution asking the Federal Government to issue an order "freezing" tenants in their present places of residence. The Board authorized Mayor Conboy and Controller R. H. Saunders to ask the Federal Government in Ottawa Friday to make the order effective immediately. A survey carried out by the city showed that at least 1,000 families must leave their premises May 1 and have no place to go.

Mammoth Navy Appropriation Up For Debate

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(AP).—The largest naval appropriation bill in the history of the United States went to the floor of the House of Representatives to-day to help the fleet play its part in winning the war at sea.

It carried $32,647,134,336 for naval activities during the 12 months starting next July 1, a figure which, if approved by Congress, will boost to approximately $350,000,000,000 the obligations voted for the total war effort since July 1, 1940.

The program which the new funds will help finance contemplates the use of 6,628 self-propelled vessels, 74,925 non-self-propelled vessels, 19,035 naval planes exclusive of thousands of training planes, and 3,657,467 saialors, marines and coast guardsmen.

"Whatever the cost, we know the Japanese well enough to realize that we cannot regard victory in the Pacific as anything short of the destruction of the Japanese empire," the Appropriations committee had been told by Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

"To accomplish that destruction we must deliver the heaviest attacks of which we are capable, as soon and as often as possible, where it will hurt the most.

"This will require every ship, every landing craft, every airplane, and every piece of material—and the trained personnel to man them—that can be made available."

"It is no secret that Tokyo is the ultimate objective of all these operations."

The job of getting there, he added, will not be "easy". "The distances that are facing us for the future are even greater" than those already travelled, he said. "The difficulties that are facing us are tremendously greater. We still have a very long way to go to win the war in the Pacific. The casualties that are going to have to be taken into the hospitals are going to increase very markedly in the next six months, and they will stay at a high rate."

Despite predictions of many experts that the European war may end this year, Vice Admiral F. J. Horne, second in command to Admiral King, told the committee he expects Germany still will be in the fight when 1944 ends.

James V. Forrestal, Navy undersecretary, told the committee the appropriations were the prelude to major operations both in the Pacific and the Atlantic.

Messerschmitt Plant Badly Damaged At Wiener Neustadt

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 12—(AP)—More than 500 United States heavy bombers, flying from Italy, attacked German aircraft factories in the Vienna area today while Britain-based air fleets were sweeping toward Europe, carrying into the fifth day the current campaign to cripple the German air force ahead of the invasion.

These daylight attacks followed night R.A.F. blows at central Germany.

The bombers from Italy concentrated their main attack on a Messerschmitt factory at Wiener Neustadt, 30 miles south of Vianna, dropping many tons of bombs. Returning airmen reported good coverage of this target, which was heavily damaged last November.

Zagreb Bombed

Another Italy-based force attacked an airfield and railroad yards at Zagreb, the capital of the puppet government of Croatia, while others bombed a cement factory at Split, important Yugoslav port.

In the first four days of the current campaign, air headquarters here announced, 352 German planes were shot down, and many more were smashed aground, both at airfields and in aircraft construction plants.

Last night R.A.F. heavy bombers smashed at Aachen, Hanover and other objectives in central Germany.

The R.A.F. heavyweights braved bright moonlight in returning to the Reich for the first time since the March 30 Nurnberg raid cost a record tall of 94 bombers. Last night's attack on multiple targets, however, was carried out with a loss of only nine planes.

The night blows, which also included mine-laying in enemy waters, followed yesterday's assaults on Gemany by a fleet of nearly 2,000 United States bombers and fighters which fought fierce sky battles. On Monday night R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. four-engined planes had unloaded

553 Firms Have No Holiday Plan

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP).—More than 500 Ontario industries operate on a working week longer than 46 hours and have no vacation-with-pay-plan for employees, it is shown in an Ontario Department of Labor survey made public to-day.

The survey, which covers 1,308 industrial firms, was made in connection with the new provincial law making compulsory a 48-hour week and one-week vacations with pay each year for employees working eight months in a year.

It showed 737 firms have a work week of 48 hours or less, the most popular being the 44-hour week which is effective in 344. However, 571 have a work week longer than 48 hours and 99 firms have a work week of 60 hours or more. In one firm the week is 72 hours.

The survey showed that 764 firms had some vacation plan and 553 had none.

Of the firms in the survey, 838 were in the greater Toronto area and the others in 80 provincial towns or villages.

Turkey Continues Exporting to Germany

Blunt Warning From Cordell Hull Brings Reply In Newspaper

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

State Secretary Cordell Hull's blunt warning to neutral nations last Sunday to stop lending aid and comfort to enemies of the United Nation's hasn't fallen on deaf ears abroad, though it remains to be seen how receptive they are.

Quick reaction comes from a pro-Nazi source in one of the most important neutrals—strategically situated Turkey—whom the Allies have been trying ineffectually to persuade to join them in the war so as to speed victory. The newspaper Cumhuriyet, a Hitlerite sympathizer, declares there's no reason why Turkey shouldn't continue to ship chrome to Germany.

That's a direct reply to Mr. Hull, for one of the sins of the neutrals he mentioned Sunday was "sending to Germany the essential ingredients of the steel which kills our soldiers."

Of course Qumhuriyet doesn't necessarily speak for the Government. However, the Turks maintain a rigid censorship and would scarcely permit publication of such an editorial unless they were willing to fly a balloon to test the Allies. In this connection it's interesting to note Berlin's announcement that Frans von Papen, German Ambassador to Turkey, has arrived at Istanbul and will stage "a great reception" in the next few days.

We shouldn't jump to the conclusion that Turkey is swinging to the German camp. What it may mean—not only as regards Turkey but some other neutrals—is that they fail to recognize that the world is entering a new epoch in which neutrals no longer will have a place. Our globe has so shrunk under the white heat of military science that the time has passed when any country can refuse to take a positive stand, either for or against.

Or, if that's debatable ground, we can stick to Mr. Hull's language in dealing with the position of neutrals, namely, that "it is no longer necessary for them to purchase protection against aggression by furnishing aid to our enemy...." In other words, the Allies now are able to protect the neutrals and to win a victory which will insure freedom for all.

Pearkes Appeals For More Manpower

CALGARY, April 12.—(CP).—Canadians are "living in a fool's paradise" if they think the storming of the Fortress of Europe will be any less costly than it was to the "Gallant Forlorn" of the Peninsula Wars, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., officer commanding the Pacific command, said here last night.

Addressing the annual Vimy dinner of the Alberta Military Institute, he pleaded with members of the institute to urge more manpower to support Canada's overseas army.

"We are to storm the Fortress of Europe," he said. "Our leaders have told us that this year we must be on the road to victory. But we are living in a fool's paradise if we think that storming the Fortress of Europe will be any less costly than it was to the 'Gallant Forlorn' of the Peninsula Wars.

"It is not now or never. It is now or after a long period of additional suffering.

"Fifty per cent. acceptance of duty is not enough. It must be 100 per cent., and 100 per cent. means that every young man of our country must join his comrades overseas."

Soldier Vote Question Still Tangled

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12—(AP).—Unless some order quickly emerges from the chaotic soldier-vote situation in the United States it seems unlikely that many Americans overseas will mark their ballots for next November's presidential elections.

Right now the plans for taking the overseas vote are about as vague, complex and confusing as President Roosevelt described them when he let the Federal ballot bill become law by default.

The President polled governors of the 48 states on the proposed system and he got nearly 48 different replies. Each state has its own voting laws and the present Federal law would permit each of them to participate in the absentee voting.

The law provides that men and women overseas may be provided with a complete state ballot.

Vote All Offices.

But they have to write a postcard, which will be provided, asking their state authorities to send a ballot form. And state ballots, in presidential elections, are elaborate documents. They carry the names of candidates for everything from Congress and governor down to local coroners.

If a soldier certifies that he has applied for a State ballot before Sept. 1 and has not received it by Oct. 1, and his State governor has certified before July 15 that a federal ballot is legal in his state, the soldier may us the simplified federal ballot.

The simplified federal ballot, providing an opportunity to vote only for president, vice- president, senators and representatives, is what the administration sought to have passed in the first instance.

But after months of wrangling in Congress the present bill emerged as a compromise with the States' righters.

The Bill provides for the establishment of a "United States war ballot commission" to be appointed

Farm Machinery Output Normal

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP)—Prices Board officials said today farm machinery production is being well maintained and is "only a shade" behind the overall output anticipated for the present year.

They were commenting on a statement by the United States war production board in Washington which said that farm machinery manufacture in the United States is trailing 22.7 per cent behind schedule.

Canadian authorities said that the slight lag behind production schedules in Dominion sources of supply was not sufficient to warrant any change in the program.

"We are quite satisfied with the output," said an official.

Seven-day Trial On Witchcraft Attracts Crowd

BY ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 12 —(CP)—Not since Hitler marched his army into Poland has a non-war story captured so much space in Britain's press as the celebrated "witchcraft" trial which lasted seven days at London's Old Bailey.

It resulted in a jail sentence for Mrs. Helen Duncan who set herself up as a medium at it settled no differences between the believers and the unbelievers in spiritualism.

Some people said Mrs. Duncan amassed a fortune as a medium. The court held she was a fraud and convicted her under the Witchcraft Act of 1735. If she did make a lot of money—and there were those who said she took in as much as $1,000 a week—there was no sign of it in her way of life.

She lived in a modest house, spent no money on jewellery or dress and had no social aspirations that were apparent.

Her conviction was her second in 11 years. Previously, in 1933, she was held to be a fraud and at Edinburgh the Chief Constable declared "Not only has she attempted to delude the confirmed believer in spiritualism but she has tricked and defrauded and preyed upon the minds of a certain credulous section of the public who have gone to her seances in search of comfort for the mind in their sorrow."

A Humbug

During her trial in London the Chief Constable of Portsmouth, where she was arrested when police interrupted a seance in January, after a navy man declared she was not a genuine medium, called her "an unmitigated humbug—a pest to society."

But amazing evidence of belief in her powers was given by more than 40 witnesses for the defence. Her counsel said he could have brought hundreds of others.

Each day of the trial the London press devoted columns of space to reporting it. The week-end Sunday papers went all out and Hannen Swaffer, long-haired outspoken columnist of Fleet Street and confirmed spiritualist who testified at her trial said after Mrs. Duncan had been convicted, "I may be a fool but I believe in Mrs. Duncan.... We will fight in this case to the end."

Because of the Duncan case, he added, this will seem like the blackest hour in the history of spiritualism to a great many, but it will prove its greatest advertisement.

A Month In Jail

"Every time we have been attacked it has made people curious," he added. "They have started to inquire and all we ever asked for is honest inquiry by honest men and women. If you go on with your inquiry you must end a spiritualist."

Just why Mrs. Duncan turned to spiritualism was, like the money she was reported to have made, never explained. Nor was it explained why she chose as her "spirit guide" Albert Stewart, a native of Dundee who died in Australia when Mrs. Duncan was 11.

After sentence of nine months in prison Florid, 280-pound Mrs. Duncan collapsed moaning in the dock.

"Oh I haven't done it," she moaned. "Oh God, is there a God? I never done it."

The court insisted its judgment emphasized that Mrs. Duncan had "pretended" to recall spirits in tangible form and said it was not attempting to decide whether spirits actually could be recalled.

Canada's Debt

Interest Charges Low.

"But this is far from being the case. The average cost of war financing has been a little less than 2½ per cent. Moreover, average interest costs of pre-war debt have been reduced during the last four years as it has fallen due and been refunded. Finally, the cash receipts of the Government from its investments in or advance to other organizations, such as Bank of Canada or Foreign Exchange Control Board, have to be taken into account in determining the net interest burden, and receipts of this character have increased substantially since the war.

"It can therefore be stated that at the end of 1943 net interest charges were running at the rate of about $220,000,000 a year, as compared with $145,000,000 at the outbreak of war. The increase was $75,000,000 a year."

The key to the debt problem as to many others rested chiefly in the maintenance of a high level of employment and income in the postwar years, said Mr. Towers. But a country to be successful in the economic field had to gain the understanding and support of its people. It was then in a position to apply its knowledge somewhat more effectively than the other.

"By the same token, it will earn high marks for its war effort and will reach the day of victory in the best position to face the problems of peace," he said. "I believe that Canada will be found in that category if we stick to the program which has been developed.

"Let us always remember that it is our job to keep this country in such shape that when our men come back they will not find their future marred or impeded, or even for a time destroyed, by disorderly or chaotic conditions at home. Saving and investing in Victory Loans is one of the best contributions any of us can make to the preservation of stability."

Gnr. James Peters Finds Brother's Grave

A small white cross in a military ceremony at Ortona, marks the last resting place of Pte. Victor Peters, who lies with his comrades, who fought so valiantly in a foreign land that freedom's light might remain undimmed.

This news has been sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peters, Hurley street, by a second son, Gnr. James Peters, who is now serving with an anti-tank unit in Italy. He wrote that the graves were well kept, and while victory came too late for his brother and many others, they stand guard, spurring on those who follow after them.

Ortona was one of the bloodiest fights in which Canadian soldiers have participated. Many of them fell, but their comrades pushed grimly on until the enemy was forced to yield. Pte. Peters was killed December 16 by a shell explosion, while serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

A third brother who saw action in the Mediterranean area, Pte. Frank Peters, is at a military hospital in Kingston. He was seriously wounded during heavy fighting in Sicily, and in the New Year was sent home. He spent a few weeks furlough with his parents before returning to Kingston.

Championship Teams Plan Exhibition Game

A telegram has been received at the Y.M.C.A. from Kitchener-Waterloo volleyball players, 12 times winners of the Ontario volleyball championship, accepting an invitation to play this Saturday evening in connection with the dinner being given to the Peterborough Y team, this year's Ontario volleyball champions.

In the tournament in Toronto last month these two teams finished in a tie with 5 wins and one loss each, and in the play-off Peterborough won the sudden death game, making it two games won from Kitchener, the first game of the regular series and the final.

The games on Saturday evening will be exhibition contests, but the brand of volleyball will be the best to be seen in this country as well as to the south of the line as Kitchener have played some of the best American teams and have held up their end in every case.

ed that Victor Emmanuel took his action with Allied approval.)

An official spokesman at the seat of the government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio said the King's statement, which was broadcast to the Italian people, was "a spontaneous announcement by His Majesty" who "decided to make the statement at this time to eliminate any obstacle that might still exist in the efforts by various political parties to reach full co-operation with the Italian Government.

"The King's statement is directed to all parties without exception on behalf of the effort of the entire nation to achieve true national unity."

Text of the King's announcement:—

The Italian people know that I have always been at their side in difficult times and in happy ones. They know that eight months ago I put an end to the Fascist Regime and brought Italy, notwithstanding every danger and risk, to the side of the United Nations in a struggle for liberation against Nazism.

The Italian Navy, Air Force and Army have been obedient to my call during the past eight months and have been fighting undauntedly against the enemy shoulder to shoulder with the Allied forces. The Italian contribution to victory is and shall ever be more great. The day shall come when our deep wounds will be healed and we shall take once more our place as a free people among free nations.

Putting into effect what I have suggested to Allied authorities and to my government, I have decided to withdraw from public affairs by appointing my son, the Prince of Piedmont, Lieutenant General of the Realm.

This appointment will become effective by formal transfer of power on the day on which Allied troops enter Rome.

This decision would, I firmly believe, further national unity. It is final and irrevocable.

Mrs. Ruby Meggs Heads Rural Trustees

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — Rural school trustees at the Ontario Educational Association Convention today passed a resolution approving the township unit plan of school administration after principal J. A. Partridge of North Bay Normal School spoke in favor of the plan.

Principal Partridge said the school system should not be kept in the horse and buggy age and that the larger unit of administration is the most progressive step yet taken toward giving the rural pupil equality of educational opportunity with the city child."

Costs were reduced, attendance increased, better equipment was provided and better results were obtained from replacement of the present school section unit by the larger unit, he said.

"The curriculum that was good enough for the father is not good enough for the son today. We must progress in the school as in other lines of life."

The township plan would not necessarily mean the closing of present one-room schools.

Mrs. Ruby Meggs of Gore's Landing was elected president of the Rural Trustess Section and H. R. Bradford Secretary.

A resolution presented by G. S. Plaxton asking for a government grant to pay a bonus of $200 to rural teachers to help equalize their pay with that of urban teachers was defeated.

The English and History section yesterday passed a resolution asking the Department of Education not to place the whole burden of the proposed program of religious instruction on English teachers.

Sixty-four American bombers and 16 escorting fighters failed to return from yesterday's daylight blows at plane factories in Oschersleben and Bernburg and at Rostock and Arnimswalde, near Stettin, a U.S. communique said. But the wild battles cost the Germans 126 planes and at least 58 more were wrecked on the ground by American fighters strafing airdromes.

Nine of the American bombers were forced down in Sweden and a Swedish communique said the crews of all were safe, with the exception of one airman who was dead when his plane landed.

The Germans dropped bombs at several places in Eastern England last night and a brief announcement said "slight damage and some casualties have been reported."

Fresh waves of Allied planes, meanwhile, were seen winging their way across the English Channel toward Europe in mid-morning.

Aachen, centre of an important coal mining and industrial area in the Rhine valley, had not been the target of a major attack since July 13, 1943. Reconnaissance photographs taken after that R.A.F. assault showed that 500 acres of the town had been devastated and 80 of its factories hit. Heavy damage also was done to railway tracks, the station and rolling stock.

In the interim, the city had been hit, however, by Mosquito raiders, the last time on April 1.

Hanover, the centre of Germany's rubber industry, also is the site of numerous other war plants and has huge railway yards. It has been hit numerous times by both R.A.F. and American bombers and was raided last Monday night by Mosquitoes.

49 People Die 200 Hurt In U.S. Storms

NEW YORK, April 12 — (CP) — Storms which battered most of the United States the last two days leaving 49 persons known dead subsided today after a final swing at the eastern seaboard and the Great Lakes area.

Nearly 200 persons were injured in tornadoes, rain squalls, wind storms and snow storms from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Ocean. Lighter rains extended west to California.

Many remained homeless in Kansas and Oklahoma as rivers continued flooding in the wake of torrential rains. A forecast of clearing and colder weather promised some relief, but several streams had not reached predicted crests.

Arkansas, with 35 dead in a series of tornadoes, was the worst sufferer. Six were killed in Fort Wayne, Ind., by a wall blown over by a high wind, North Carolina, Alabama, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Kentucky, Georgia and Tenessee each reported one death directly due to lightening or wind.

Snowplow crews who fought for 36 hours to reach 22 motorists stranded high in the Colorado Rockies at Berthoud Pass by snow avalanches succeeded last night in opening a path to the inn where the victims had taken refuge.

A 60-mile-an-hour gale, described as the heaviest in nearly four years, battered many points along Lake Michigan, and in some localities tore ships from moorings.

Jew Claims Pope Pius Helped Him Escape

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — Jules Wallach, a German Jew who arrived with his wife among the party of refugees which reached the United States last week-end, explained that he had got out of Europe with the aid of Pope Pius.

"I had a private audience with the Pope, one day in October of 1942," he related. He said he would help me, but that I must be patient. I would not be free and in Canada to-day if it were not for his help in procuring a visa."

Dewey Retains Strength In Mid-West Vote

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Lt.-Cmdr. Harold E. Stassen emerged with demonstrated mid-western popularity in the race for nominaton as the Republican presidential candidate to-day, but a record-smashing write-in vote in Nebraska showed New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is strong there, too.

With his name and that of Wendell L. Willkie on the ballot, Lt.-Cmdr. Stassen won yesterday's Nebraska preferential primary. From 1,043 of the State's 2,031 precincts, the former Minnesota Governor now serving with the Navy collected 25,495 votes to 10,169 for Dewey. Mr. Willkie, who quit the race after failing to obtain a single delegate in the Wisconsin primary last week, trailed with 3,267.

Gov. Dewey got all his votes the hard way—they had to be pencilled in on the ballot—and his impressive showing led Ira Beynon, Nebraska national committeeman, to predict a first ballot nomination at the Chicago convention for the New Yorker, who has said he is not a candidate.

Bowling Club Has Good Year

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12.—(ENS).—Members of the Campbellford Bowling Club, largest local recreational organization, held their annual meeting in the library this week when reports of the past season were reviewed and officers for 1944 named.

The retiring president, W. A. Kingston, presided and the treasurer, J. D. Mills, gave the financial statement which indicated the club was in a healthy position.

Officers and committees for 1944 were named as follows: Honorary president, J. F. R. Douglas; president, W. H. Brady; 1st vice-president, H. T. Scott; 2nd vice-president, Lloyd Taylor; secretary, J. Soldiers' Mail

Complaints have been heard from every part of Canada that mail sent to men serving abroad is slow in reaching them, or fails to reach them, and that letters from them to their friends and relations at home are a very long time on the way. These complaints have become so numerous and so pressing that the Hon. W. P. Mulock, the Postmaster General, has issued a statement on the subject which, so far as this paper is concerned, gives a completely satisfactory explanation.

Mr. Mulock makes it clear first of all that the Postal Department is doing the best job it can under difficult conditions; he stresses the fact that the Department has nothing to hide and is not trying to make excuses; what he wants to do is to tell the public how hard it is to find men who are serving abroad and get their mail to them, and he wants to make it clear that the job is being done, even though it takes a long time to do it in many cases.

◆ ◆ ◆

There are three main obstacles in the way of quick and completely efficient delivery of soldiers' mail. The first of these is that we are short of transport, and that the transport we have is often needed for purposes even more important than carrying mail. The second is that the weather conditions on the Atlantic are uncertain in winter, and may delay the passage of mail by several days. The third reason is that Canadian soldiers abroad are moved about frequently and over long distances, and it sometimes takes several days to find out where a man is.

• • •

Last year twenty-seven and a half million pounds of parcel post were sent abroad from this country; that amounts to 6,930,835 parcels and of that number 3,008,969 were tobacco parcels, which have to be individually listed by the Canadian Postal Corps before they are dispatched; these tobacco parcels are checked again upon arrival in the United Kingdom, and are listed before they are dispatched to their owners. Every precaution possible is taken against loss, but Mr. Mulock says that losses do occur, all the same; the aim of the Canadian postal authorities is to reduce the losses to the minimum.

• • •

It takes longer than most people realize for a parcel to reach a man who is in a fighting area. Mr. Mulock estimates that ninety days pass before a parcel mailed in Canada reaches a man in the Mediterranean area. It takes about a week for the parcel to reach its port of dispatch, and it must then wait for a convoy to Britain; that takes about ten days; sixteen days on the water, waiting at port, resorting for dispatch to the Mediterranean, waiting for another convoy, sorting at base and dispatch to formation postal unit—all these things take time, and the total is ninety days. It seems a very long time, but it is the quickest that can be managed. A tobacco parcel, ordered from a tobacco shop and thence through a large tobacco company, will take about two weeks longer.

• • •

And what about the thirty-one and a half million letters which went to men in the services last year? It may take anything up to thirty days for one of them to be delivered. And that is when the mail is properly addressed, and when the recipient is at the address given on his letter; hunting for a man who has been transferred, or whose letter is not properly addressed, takes extra time.

Letters to men who are in hospital may be marked "In Hospital", and these receive a special treatment which gets them to their owners by the quickest possible means.

The Post Office is doing its utmost to handle an unusual amount of mail at a time when facilities for dealing with it are limited and capricious. We must remember this when deliveries overseas are not as fast as we could wish.

We observe that the mayor of an American city has married at the age of 80. Mayoray Dotes?

Limitations Of Air War

An Associated Press correspondent writes that the Russian people are asking once more when Britain and the United States mean to begin their assault on Europe. The Russians are not greatly impressed by our air war; they admit that it is useful, but merely as a preliminary to a land attack.

Are the Russians right in this opinion? They have won many spectacular victories in this war, and they have won them all on the ground, with mobile and infantry troops. It has been said many times that superiority in the air is a necessity for victory on land, but the Russians do not attach as much importance to that maxim as we do. They achieve the air superiority, and then they proceed to do their real fighting on the ground.

There seems to be no doubt that we have exaggerated the power and efficacy of air war. In the German Blitz which levelled the great cities of the Low Countries we saw what air power could do in surprise attack; but in the Battle of Britain we learned something about the limitations of bombing. We learned that it could not break the spirit of a people, or even disorganize their civilian life to the point where it became impossible to carry on. Now, in Italy, we are finding out a few more things: a U.S. correspondent reports that in the bombing of Cassino, which he observed for three and a half hours, about 45 per cent. of the bombs dropped fell on the city which was the target, and the remander fell at random. And Homer Biggart, of the New York Herald-Tribune says:

"It is strange, after reading eyewitness accounts of how Cassino was levelled by the air force, to stand on a hill overlooking the town and see so many buildings still erect.... The Allied air forces have been the victims of too much ballyhoo".

Of course these bombings are efficacious. But they are not a substitute for ground fighitng; they merely prepare the way for it. As always with new methods of warfare, we have overestimated the power of bombing. The terrible assaults on Europe from the air are a preparation, and not a substitute, for an invasion by land.

Kite-Flying In Spring

During the past week we have seen several boys flying kites here and there in the city. In recent years the sport seems to have declined, and we are glad to see anything that looks like a revival of it; for kite-flying is beautiful to watch, and requires a high degree of skill if it is to be done well. To our amazement we have seen several lads trying to fly kites in streets which are lined with trees; no good can ever come of that.

There are several kinds of kites, and they repay study. The commonest kite is the diamond-shaped kite, which usually has a tail. These kites can be handsomely decorated, and they look very fine in the air; it is quite easy to transform such a kite into a dragon with a long tail. The box kite, too, can be made to look very fine by making the sides of different colours of paper; a box kite takes a lot of practice in flying. It is possible to weave the tail of a diamond kite in such a way that it will make an interesting noise as it flies; in the Orient bamboo reeds are sometimes put in the kite tails in order to make musical kites, and they produce a very pleasant sound.

Kite fighting is good sport, and takes great skill. To make a fighting kite it is necessary to prepare the six feet or so of cord nearest the kite with glue, and to coat the glue with crushed glass while it is still wet. Then, when the kite is in the air, the game is to manoeuvre to the windward of an opponent's kite-string and, with a sudden sharp jerk, cut his kite adrift. A kite fight is rather slow, like chess, but engrossing to the players. We suggest that such contests might be used as a means of settling disputes on points of honour.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Cost Of Living Remains Stationary In Canada", says a headline. Yes, it just takes all you make, as usual.

Jackie Coogan, once a child star but now an American flying officer, reports that Burmese natives thought he was a god when he descended on them in a glider. It must have taken him right back to the days of his screen popularity.

W. L. Clark, writing in the Windsor Star, says: "There is one big issue in the coming Dominion election. Each candidate will be asked "Who are you for, the big guy or the little guy?'" The delusion that this country will reach its greatest glory under the direction of "little guys" who are hard pressed to run their own affairs, is one which dies hard. But not as hard as the delusion that a "big guy" is always a crook and an oppressor.

Cookery—The Slighted Art

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THE way in which book reviewers neglect works on cookery is nothing short of scandalous. Has Fadiman ever reviewed a cookbook? Not to my knowledge. What has Desmond McCarthy to say about it? Nothing at all. Has Macaulay ever held forth about Mrs. Beeton, or did St. Beuve ever immortalize a recipe? Not a bit of it. The truth of the matter is that book reviewers are dreadful snobs, and they do not think that cookery is aesthetically quite respectable; if a new book about sculpture or music comes out, they hasten to write about it to show what cultured fellows they are, but cooking is beneath their notice. I am above such pettiness, and in this article I want to draw your attention to three books about food, two of which are quite frankly written as cookbooks. If you do not like food, and habitually dine on a crust and a glass of water, this is not for you.

◆ ◆ ◆

THE first book is "The Gastronomical Me," by M. F. K. Fisher, who wrote that excellent cookbook, "How To Cook A Wolf." M. F. K. Fisher is a very beautiful young lady who is also an expert cook, and as one might expect, she has been loved by many men for these qualities. Her love-affairs seem to have been conducted over luncheon and dinner tables to a surprising extent, and her emotions have all become inextricably mixed with her meals. This is a thing which happens to all of us, but we do not confess it so freely, or write about it so entertainingly as Mrs. Fisher. Emotion and food are closely linked; passion brings hunger. It is a wise custom which provides the mourners at a funeral with a hearty tea, and the merrymakers at a wedding with a feast; who has not been amazed to find, after a lovers' quarrel, that he longed for bacon and eggs as a hart longs for the water-brooks? Disappointment and heartburn are almost synonymous. Protest as we may, the stomach plays its part in every emotion.

IN the book under review M. F. K. Fisher eats her way through a variety of love-affairs. To some people the scent of lilacs or the strains of a waltz recall the divine moment, the supreme ecstasy, the first kiss or the final wretched parting; but to this author pate de fois gras and a bottle of Chablis 1929 can raise a romantic ghost just as readily. And I would point out that M. F. K. Fisher is not a puffing glutton but a vision of delight. If her book has a moral, it is this: a love firmly based upon an impeccable cuisine is stronger than death.

THE next of my three books is "Clementine In The Kitchen," written by Phineas Beck, which is the pen name of Samuel Chamberlain, whose work as an etcher is perhaps known to you. Mr. Chamberlain is an American man of business, and for many years before the war he lived in France as the representative of a great American business house. He and his family had in their employ a Burgundian cook named Clementine, and Clementine was a kitchen genius. In this book Mr. Chamberlain writes charmingly about the cook, and the dishes she prepared and the pleasure which those dishes gave to the Chamberlain family; when the war came Clementine returned to the U.S. with the Chamberlains, and the book also tells how she adapted herself and her French cooking methods to life on this continent.

THIS book is the most sensible guide to French cooking that has come my way. There is just as much snobbery about cooking as there is about wine or book-reviewing; there are tiresome people who maintain that a dish can only be prepared in one way, with one set of ingredients, and that any departure from that method results in something which is not fit to throw to a dog. Now that is pedantry; good cooking is founded on good taste and good general principles, and one of the marks of a good cook is the ability to adapt new or unexpected ingredients and methods to time-honoured dishes. That is what Clementine was able to do, and this book tells how she did it, explicitly and with recipes. I have eaten several dishes made from these recipes, and they are first-rate. Clementine transferred French cooking from Burgundy to New England without so much as breaking an egg, and the result is an enrichment of our North American cooking knowledge. For this is not French hotel cooking, but French domestic cooking, which is a very different thing.

MY last book is "Casserole Cookery" by Marian and Nino Tracy. I recommend it with reservations. It is for experienced cooks, and not for young brides who want to pick up a few easy dishes. The reason? Because it relies heavily on canned foods as ingredients, and too much canned food makes for a poor diet. But for a good cook who wants 150 recipes for quick and distinguished dishes, this book is well worth the price. It encourages the use of such herbs as thyme and basil, which are easy to get at the grocer's, but which most cooks neglect entirely. One of the faults of our Canadian domestic cookery is that it is shamefully underseasoned; another is that it is usually too sweet when it is sweet at all. If you already have a good shelf of cookbooks you will find "Casserole Cookery" extremely useful; but, as I have already warned, it is not for beginners who are deceived by the idea that cooking in one dish is easier than cooking in five.

Crime And Its Sequel

Thus in high-sounding phrases he committed a super-crime whose purpose was to destroy Russian resistance, give him the vast riches of the Ukraine, the Caucasus and other regions, capture Moscow, reduce the Soviet Union to slavery and demonstrate to his treacherous ally in the Orient that he was the complete master of Europe from the English Channel to the Urals. We all know the sequel. — Christian Science Monitor.

Cautious

As we got this story, a suburban matron steamed into the Biltmore, late for an appointment with her husband, who had arranged to take her to lunch with a business acquaintance. Not finding him in the lobby, she made for the dining room. At the entrance, the headwaiter asked if he could help her. "No thank you," the matron said. "I just want to go inside and look for my husband. He's lunching here with a friend." At this, the headwaiter unobstrusively blocked her way and casually inquired, "A lady?" "No, a man," she said. "Oh, that's all right, then," he said, bowing her in.—New Yorker.

OLD SHOW, NEW CAST

A Little More Modesty

(A LETTER TO THE MONTREAL GAZETTE)

SIR,—Are we insensibly ranking ourselves, in the opinion of other nations, as experts in bombastic claims? Else how explain the latest emanation from the successor of the man who had, for a very long period indeed, "told the world" that the relatively small, untried army (certainly not 200,000 bayonet strength) under his command was to form "the spearhead" of a western invasion. This was served up with our matutinal coffee by Shapiro for months until it died an unnatural death.

I would like you to set out the premises, if they exist, upon which Crerar dubs this selfsame army "the world's best troops." This may be granted in the case of Australians, New Zealanders, Indian Khurkas and Sikhs, Mother Country men, South Africans, Poles et al, but does Crerar really mean what he says when his claim is tested against the Russian armies?

Why is it that we are always better than everyone else? Long ago Hon. C. G. Power proved to his satisfaction (and to that of those who agreed with him) that the R.A.F. is merely an adjunct to the R.C.A.F. from a personnel flying standpoint.

The same thing can be said concerning the R.C.N. which has now jumped its claim to over 50 per cent of escort ships on the Atlantic route. Macdonald could not be expected to say, of course, thaat no sizeable convoy ever leaves Halifax without some of the larger British units, up to capital ships. I hate to think what would happen to an R.C.N. corvette-escorted convoy "all the way across" if it ever ran into a Tirpitz, Bismarck or even a Scharnhorst.

Let us hope that Crerar meant "the world's best trained troops." Then he would have been upon surer ground: They have bucked no opposition, with the exception of the large scale raid at Dieppe and the Sicilian landing, almost four years after the outbreak of war, this landing of division strength, to be augmented upon the invasion of Italy.

It seems to me we could copy Hon. J. L. Ilsley's remarks in the House of Commons at Ottawa on the 11th of February with advantage: "We have done well for a small population, more than the world thought possible, but he makes a mockery of words who says our effort and sacrifices are proportionately greater than the people of Great Britain." And this has been said time and time again, until Mr. Ilsley had the courage to spike this fantastic claim.

There is no such animal as "the world's best fighting man," with all due respect to Crerar and his well trained troops. No one will begrudge him an "equal to the best." This should satisfy even a Canadian, but "the best" is a little bit too thick.

W. P. CARTER.

Montreal, April 3.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CAMPBELLFORD—NULLI SECUNDUS

Sir,—Will you kindly permit me to address the citizens of Peterborough in reference to the Editorial that appeared in April 6th issue of your paper under the caption "Criticism and Campbellford". The reason for making this request is to let the people of your city know that we take exception to the said Editorial written in such sarcastic language, is resented, and very apt to be harmful to the cordial relationship that for so many years has existed between our town and your city.

I am not going to discuss the contents of Ratepayer's letter, in that this is not the issue, as matters pertaining to our Public School is purely our own problem. We do not pretend Ratepayer had no right to send a letter to the Examiner for publication, no more than if Ratepayer chose to suck his own thumb—his personal privilege, but surely bad taste; or do we say the Examiner had no legal right to publish Ratepayer's letter—which was of no value to the paper. Why, as Editor, you chose to write such an Editorial is beyond me. The mere fact that our Mayor is reported to have said "That Ratepayer's letter should not have been published in the Home Edition of the Examiner" was no reason or cause to write such an offensive article. A fair question, Mr. Editor, what motivated your Editorial?—and keep in mind we are not simple enough to believe you are solicitous for welfare of this community over that of selfish interests. Do you not realize your editorial is nothing short of a diatribe against our Mayor, et al of our town, in fact, a depreciation of Campbellford in general with no other possible interpretation than a hostile act. As a citizen of Campbellford, I consider our town, for its size, is second to none.

Quite recently one of our Councillors joined the great majority and Mayor Hamilton of your city sent our Council a letter expressing the sympathy of the people of Peterborough in the loss we had sustained. This expression of kindness was appreciated and his letter was not put away in a letter file but pasted into the minute-book to be a permanent record in the Archives of this town to be read by future generations as a token of the friendly relations of our respective municipalities.

In the concluding paragraph of the said Editorial with your reference to the borrowed garden hose, what do you mean?, a gross insult. You have spoken in an Editorial which is usually taken as an expression of community opinion. I feel the citizens of your fair city have no such idea and I am confident will not endorse such utterances. In 1932 we had a fire at the Pulp Mill which is out of reach of our fire hydrants and a call was sent to your city for help and a ready response was given with men and equipment. The plant was saved and is a going industry today. At a later date we had a fire at the Bank of Montreal and your city sent help. We had ample equipment but lacked experience, but your firemen did splendid work and the building was saved. Your late City Clerk, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, was a good friend to Campbellford, and if space permitted, could relate the many considerations that has been shown to us, and for which we are very grateful and appreciative. The fact of the matter is that Campbellford and Peterborough have many things in common, e.g., the tourist trade, the older members will remember the splendid missionary work done by the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association. With all these close associations, can it be said you are seeking to disrupt these cordial relations that have been built up in all these years? I trow not.

Peterborough has always received the lion's share of the outside business of our town; but it must be remembered there is the City of Belleville just the same distance from Campbellford, and some people say better stores and greater selection of goods, but as to this, it is a matter of opinion and I do not pretend to know, however, I do know what a leading citizen of Belleville said regarding your Editorial. In my opinion you have done Campbellford an injustice, possibly not intentionally, nevertheless, it would appear you are not working in the best interests of your own city or our town.

JOHN F. McGREGOR,
Clerk of the Town of Campbellford.

SUBTERFUGE AND INNUENDO

Sir,—I am instructed by the Board of Education to write you relative to certain criticisms of the local schools.

The Board holds its regular meeting the final Monday evening of each month in the Council Chamber, Public Library. The chairman always asks if anyone present wishes to address the Board on any subject pertaining to school matters.

This is a privilege open to any ratepayer, group of ratepayers, or any organization who may have the interest of the schools at heart, and providing they are ratepayers or residents of Campbellford. The Board promises an attentive hearing to all such.

The Board considers this a much more businesslike form of procedure and in conformity to our democratic principles as contrasted to any subterfuge, innuendos and anonymity, cloaked behind letters signed "Ratepayer."

The Board wishes to point out that the Board is merely a group of trustees for the operation and general maintenance of the schools, and that the Board's power to build, tear down and rebuild or otherwise improve is limited by law to a very small financial outlay.

It is the Board's duty to guard legitimate ratepayers against all such schemes whose ultimate result would be to considerably increase the tax rate beyond ratepayers' ability to pay. It is the policy of the Board to co-operate with the Council to this end.

However, to counteract any unfavourable impressions which the ratepayers of Campbellford may, in an unguarded moment, have obtained from such letters, etc., the Board quotes in full the recent report of the local Board of Health anent the schools. The Board feels sure that a careful perusal of this report will fully describe conditions in the schools to be quite the reverse of what ratepayers have been erroneously led to believe by anonymous letters, or otherwise.

In conclusion, the Board desires to extend to any legitimate ratepayer or resident of Campbellford, the opportunity of visiting the schools at any time, and judge for himself or herself the conditions there.

Very truly yours,
WESLEY STEPHENS,
Secretary, Board of Education.

A Bible Message

Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear: but your iniquities have separated bewteen you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear. (Isa. 59: 1, 2.)

But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him.

For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life. And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.

Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned: (for until the law sin was in the world: but sin is not imputed when there is no law. Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the figure of him that was to come)....

Therefore as by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all unto justification of life. For as by one man's disobedience many were mad sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous. (Rom. 5: 8-14, 18, 19.)

History Lesson

With all its faults, the English nobility has never lacked guts in serving its country on the battlefield or in the political arena. We might have better government in this country, too, if fewer scions of our "best families" were afraid of soiling their lily-white hands in "dirty politics."—Detroit Free Press.

Hesitant Diplomacy

As to the major charge of hesitation: is it possible that hesitation now is better than commitment to a line that is wrong? If it is the object of American and British diplomacy to adapt their policies toward the liberated countries to the wishes and desires of the peoples of those countries, is it not better to wait until there is some certainty as to what their objectives are? Why it is not reasonable to assume that, in many cases, our policies hesitate because of lack of adequate facts on which to base them? Let us suggest that such a course does not merit sweeping condemnation.—Winnipeg Free Press.

"Idiotic" Policy

The disclosure, after eight months, that during the invasion of Sicily, American Army and Navy gunners shot down 23 American transport planes and killed 410 American paratroopers by mistake is more shocking because of the delay. The censorship rules which hold up such disclosures make the American people wonder what else is being held back. The error, or bungling, which brought about this regrettable tragedy is genuinely less serious in its effect on public morale than the revelation that, in spite of repeated promises, we are not always being told the sad news along with the good. Since the bad news usually leaks out, as did this about the 410 paratroopers and the disastrous Nazi raid on Bari, the censors accomplish nothing but to get themselves distrusted. Such a policy can only be described as idiotic. A full diclosure of Army and Navy blunders at the earliest moment possible—which means, of course, after the news can be of no value to the enemy — is the only wise course.—Los Angeles Times.

Rowe, Grand Lodge Herald; toast to the visitors proposed by N.G. Diaper was responded to by P.D.D.G.M. Earl Craighead of Campbellford; toast to the new candidates proposed by P.G. Harry Ferguson, was responded to by F. L. McKenzie. The guest speaker, Rev. G. N. Maxwell; Past Grand Chaplain, spoke highly of Oddfellowship and of the great need of the teachings of the Order in the world to-day of friendship love and truth.

Following the banquet, degree master and his staff conferred the first degree. The second degree was conferred by the degree staff of Stirling lodge, and the third degree was under the leadership of Degree Master Bro. Ferguson. Tough Battles Likely In 5-Pin Windup

City League bowlers are set for what promises to be the toughest of all assignments of the year when they stage a double-header tomorrow evening to wind up their season's schedule. Due to the fact that seven teams are still in the running for the juicy prizes which go to the winners of second, third and fourth positions there is bound to be action galore.

Jay's have already nailed the $60 special for first place which they cinched last week but the Cleanrites have only a single point advantage over K. of C. for second money. The second special is worth $30 and the third is worth $18 and it's hardly necessary to state that both outfits have their eyes glued on that extra 12 bucks. Fourth position carries a $12 tag and five teams have a chance to win it. Jack Wade's Outlaws, red hot of late, are leading with 48 points, Fractional Motors have 46, Sunocos and Empress 45 each and Ramblers 44.

In tabling the schedule for the games the first teams on the list are Gimblett vs. Curvin's Old Timers and that alone is ominious, as both outfits are friendly but bitter rivals who would dearly love to bury each other with hardwood. In fact it's a sure bet there won't be any wild balls thrown from any section of the bowling drives as the league pays off as usual for each point won plus the added incentive of weekly prizes for high individual and high team scores.

The first games start at 7 o'clock sharp and the second at 9 o'clock. All teams are requested to cooperate in starting on time.

The schedule of games is as follows:

7:00 o'clock—Old Timers vs. Gimblett; K. of C. vs. Sunocos; Outlaws vs. Machine Shop; Freeman's vs. Fractional Motors; Jay's vs. Big Five; Stags vs. Ramblers; Westclox vs. Cleanrites; Canada Packers vs. Empress.

9:00 o'clock—Sunocos vs. Machine Shop; Cleanrites vs. Old Timers; Fractional Motors vs. Empress; Stags vs. Gimblett; K. of C. vs. Outlaws; Westclox vs. Jay's; Freeman's vs. Canada Packers; Ramblers vs. Big Five.

Picked As Star

EDMONTON — (CP).— Centre-player Noel Macdonald, now Mrs. Harry Robertson, was picked yesterday as the all-time star of his succession of women's basketball championship teams by J. Percy Page, now a member of the Alberta Legislature. Her scoring average was 13.5 points in 135 games. Page coached his Edmonton Grads to 512 victories in 522 matches over a quarter of a century.

Montreal Wins

MONTREAL — (CP). — In the first of their Eastern Canada basketball finals last night, Montreal Y.M.H.A. measured the Saint John, N.B., Juniors 56-36 to gain a 20-point lead in the two-game total-points series for the junior court honors.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Church Softball League has called an important meeting for next Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing a re-organization of the league for this season. The Church loop ran into many difficulties last year and for some time it was thought that the league would be abandoned for the duration. Fortunately however the officers of the organization have decided to attempt to operate again this season. We say, "fortunately" because we feel that there are a lot of youngsters who want to play organized games and the Church League would seem to be the only agency that can give them the opportunity. It is hoped that next Monday's meeting will be largely attended and that the various Sunday Schools throughout the city will endeavor to place teams in the various divisions of the league so that the organization can go on providing facilities for organized softball for the city's younger players. An invitation is extended to all friends of the game who might be interested in helping to make the league a success to attend this meeting and give the loop a good start for the season.

Interest in the Stanley Cup final series, except of course in Montreal where the fans are at fever heat, has practically evaporated. To hockey enthusiasts outside of the metropolis the battle for the historic mug is over even if a fourth game is coming up. When the Canadiens won the second game of the series in Chicago, the round was as good as finished and when they came back and took the third fixture the finishing touch was put on a Montreal winning of the Cup. So far as the fourth game, scheduled for tomorrow night in Montreal, is concerned, fans generally regard that as merely a case of playing out the string. They look for the Canadiens to grab that one off without a tussle and thus win the silverware in four straight games. They figure that the Black Hawks, well-beaten in the first game at Montreal and then out-scored twice in a row on their own ice by the fast-travelling Canadiens haven't a chance to win the fourth engagement. And of course if the Hawks did manage to repeat the fluke win engineered by the Leafs in the semi-finals when they were outshot 61 to 22 by the Canadiens and still managed to squeeze out a victory, it would be only a case of prolonging the agony because they would then be faced with the task of winning three more in succession on Montreal ice to take the Stanley Cup. As the Canadiens have only been beaten once in 28 starts at home the odds against a four-game sweep by the Black Hawks can be visualized.

It's Monotonous

Outside of the Motor City itself the capture of the Eastern Canadian junior title by the Generals has aroused very faint enthusiasm. As a matter of fact hockey fans have become a little fed-up with the continued success of "Oshawa" junior teams and there would have been a lot of quiet satisfaction if the Montreal Royals had succeeded in eliminating the Motor City representatives. The feeling that Oshawa's success is largely due to the fact that the team has the backing of a big industrial concern and that such a condition gives the Generals an edge over their opposition. That, it is pointed out, is especially true under war time conditions when the co-operation of a big firm engaged in war work makes it possible to hold on to young players who might otherwise find themselves in the armed services. However that may be the majority of hockey fans would be glad to see the honors passed around. The feeling is that winning junior championships has become an Oshawa monopoly and that it is high time the Motor City team was torn from its grip on junior honors.

* * * * * *

Chick Appel of the Stratford Beacon-Herald in discussing that point argues that the solution is not in breaking up the Generals but rather in building up a team good enough to beat them. Writes Chick: "Some fans are putting up the cry 'Break up Oshawa,' but that's something to which this corner can't subscribe. The long reign of the Generals should be an incentive for other clubs to ice stronger teams and thereby end the domination of Oshawa in junior hockey circles. What Oshawa has done other cities can emulate if they go about it in the same way, and that is by scouting the better class of teen-age pucksters in advance, and then expending some effort to land them. Organization of the better junior "A" clubs has been likened to the pro teams, and frankly there does not seem to be very much difference. The only difference this observer can perceive is that the pros pay their players openly, while the good junior clubs work behind the scene and operate under the guise of amateurs. Nobody knows it any better than the sponsors of the junior teams. As for the governors of "shamateur" hockey, they, no doubt, realize what is going on, and are part and parcel of the present set-up, because they allow it to continue with a wink of their eyes."

Pulling For Clapper

Another of those ex-New York Rangers collared an N.H.L. individual award with Babe Pratt voted the Hart Trophy. Earlier, Clint Smith, whom Rangers sold to Chicago, took the Lady Byng award and the latest selection of Pratt must make Lester Patrick wince in reflection, says Bill Westwick in the Ottawa Journal. Pratt, enjoying his best season as sparkplug for the Leafs, nosed out Bill Cowley by just three votes. Cowley nodded approval when he heard the choice. "A very good one. Babe's played great hockey for Leafs all season. He's been terrific as a puck-carrier, led all their power plays and it was pretty hard getting the puck away from him." Cowley had figured the trophy he won last year and in 1941 would be between Pratt, Earl Seibert and Doug Bentley. "You can't underrate Seibert, either. He's been playing great defensive hockey and he can still carry a puck, too." Yet Cowley can't hide his disappointment that Dit Clapper didn't make the grade. He was asking how Clapper made out before inquiring about the award. "Choice of Pratt is an excellent one," he said, "but frankly I've been pulling for Clapper all along. The Hart Trophy always has escaped him, but I don't know of any hockey player who was more worthy of it. His last chance was this year and for that reason I was pulling hard for him to get the call."

Westclox, the leaders in the Ladies' Five Pin League and Outboard Marines, the second-place team both had clean sweeps in their league games Monday night so that the standing remains unchanged as a result of this week's activities. The Big Bens are still six points out in front and as they have shown no signs of faltering their lead looks to be ample to carry them through. Outboards have been hanging on grimly but have been unable to do much to make a dent in the Westclox margin. The girl bowlers had a fairly good night Monday, although none of them hit the 700 mark. Seven fair trundlers however climbed above 600 with M. Johnston of Corvettes setting the pace with 685. Westclox had three players in the 600-class rollers, Marg Selkirk with 681, Isobel Bullock with 671 and Marg Hawthorne with 652.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: G. Bennett of the Stores team in the Westclox League at Duffus Alleys last night had visions of a perfect game when he rolled ten strikes in a row but on the 11th ball left the five pin standing finishing up with 435....Jimmy Duffus and his Trenton R.C.A.F. bowling cracks will be here tonight for a match game with the City League champions, Jay's. The game is billed for 9 o'clock....Bob Wagner who was to have met Earl McCready here last night was motoring from Portland where he had gone to bring his wife down east....The Pacific Coast star got caught in yesterday's storm and was finally held up at Buffalo, too late to make train connections....He is anxious for a crack at McCready and will likely get his chance....Toronto ball club is not showing much power in its training season games and so far the Leafs' pitching has been nothing to write home about either. However the Toronto outfit has had one break in the return to the fold of catcher Herb Crompton....Jim Sutherland of Kingston has been recommended by the C.A.H.A. to have his name included in Hockey's Hall of Fame.... The Kingston veteran deserves the honor for his feat of salesmanship in persuading the powers-that-be that the Penitentiary City was the home of hockey.

Husky Wrestler Takes On Two Opponents

Big Karl Davis the Texan bad man saved Tuesday night's wrestling show at the Brock. With Strangler Bob Wagner held up by storm conditions on his way back from Portland, Ore., and unable to reach Peterborough for the main bout, the Krippler, after winning the semi-final in short order from Soldier Frank Hewitt of Detroit, went back against Earl Moose McCready in the feature bout, and while he lost in straight falls to the Aurora farmer, made the battle one of the toughest of the season.

Davis took on the extra chore on the express condition that the time limit should be wiped out and that the bout would be fought to a finish. As it turned out the battle ended inside the hour but it was crammed full of action.

McCready, just back from a long and successful tour of the western and southern states, has never looked better in a bout here than he did last night. And by the same token Davis has never been more savage. The result was a brawl that for sheer intensity has not been surpassed at the Brock Street Arena since the Tunney wrestling shows moved in.

In Straight Falls

McCready took the match in straight falls, the first in 11 minutes with his favorite rocking-chair cradle hold and the second with a double reverse toe-hold after 26 minutes battling but the Krippler did not go down to defeat until after a grim struggle in which two of the most powerful men in the game today used all their science and power and a few caveman stunts beside trying to achieve mastery.

It was an epic struggle from the first time the two big fellows gripped each other. Davis, working with a ferocity that surpassed any of his previous performances here was evidently out to overpower the Moose with a barrage of back-alley attacks. He pulled McCready's hair, went after his eyes, swung rabbit and kidney punches, got in the occasional kick and tried his killing toe holds at every opportunity. Referee Maxwell early sampled a bit of the Davis technique when he made the Texan break a headlock. Davis slapped a similar hold on the official to show Maxwell that it was perfectly legal and wound up the demonstration by clipping the referee on the chin.

McCready, usually a quiet and cool performer, was stung into following the Texan's tactics on several occasions. In fact he softened Davis up for the first fall by uncorking a barrage of right swings to the head that had the Krippler almost out on his feet. Then after the punches had the big fellow from the Lone Star State all ready for the kill the Moose applied "old Rocking Chair" and he has never applied it with more power or more effectively. He trundled Davis all over the ring, pinned between the powerful McCready legs, and finally flopped him down on the mat with a jolt that must have been heard a block away. Pinning him for the fall was only a formality after that.

The second round was every bit as tough. Davis tore in with a driving attack as if he hoped to even up the count in short order and he gave the Moose quite a ride. Two or three times he managed to get a leg hold on the Canadian, using the ropes to add power and it looked as if McCready would have to yield a fall. However, Earl finally succeeded in working loose and in protecting himself until he got the kinks out of his leg. Then he proceeded to give the Texan some of his own medicine by going after Davis' under-pinning. He did not succeed in getting a fall but he had the big fellow limping badly. Davis retaliated with a gouging attack but McCready ended that with a barrage of rabbit punches that paved the way for the second fall. The Moose finally took it with a reverse double toe hold that Davis found it impossible to break.

Davis Wins This One

The Texan won semi-final clash with Frank Hewitt of Detroit in quick style. Hewitt gave away a lot of weight and tried to make up for it by speed but it was like a corvette tackling a battle wagon. For the first minute or two the quick-moving former soldier had the big Texan baffled. He tore right into Davis and showed so much speed that the bad man seemed a little puzzled and before he knew there was a battle on Hewitt had him down on the mat and in trouble with a toe hold. However the Texan soon solved that problem. He quickly cut down the Detroiter's speed by bouncing haymakers off the Hewitt chin and after a little of that treatment clamping a stepover toe-hold on the ex-soldier was a simple matter. The bout ended right there for when Davis puts the pressure on that grip there is only one answer. The Texan got the fall and Hewitt was limping badly when he left the ring.

There was a vivid contrast in style in the opening bout between the speedy and clever Johnny Gyroffy, formerly of the R.C.A.F., and the hard-hitting Pole Jan Gotch. Gyroffy won the bout after 21 minutes lively action when Gotch went berserk, knocked Referee Maxwell down twice, slammed him to the mat with a headlock and then twice drove Gyroffy off the platform with punches to the jaw. The second time he was hit the former Flier tumbled down the steps and was lucky to escape serious injury. The dazed Maxwell followed him out of the ring and raised Gyroffy's arm to show that he had won by the disqualification of the Pole.

It was a stormy ending to a bout that showed a lot of action. Gyroffy's fast moves and quick breaks offset the down-him-down-and-drag-him-out tactics of Gotch, who fought his usual battle and never stopped swinging. The winner's clever exhibition won him a lot of friends.

Referee Bert Maxwell took a lot of verbal punishment from the crowd and quite a lot of corporal punishment from the wrestlers, and he must have been glad when it was over. Fred Scates as usual kept his eye on the stop-watch and also introduced the grapplers in excellent voice.

Here and There in Sport

Not all of Cuba's ranking baseball talent is to be found in the United States. And if more of the Latin Americans were in the States they might be faced with a Selective Service order to register for military duty or return to their native lands, as in the case of those with the Washington Senators.

From Havana it was reported last night Julio Moreno, starry twirler of the Circulo Artesano club, pitched a shutout, striking out 21 batters in nine innings, allowing four hits and smashing out a two-run homer to win 5-0. This performance broke the Cuban amateur and pro record. In a previous game he struck out 17 in nine innings, and this season, he has fanned 90 in 59 innings to win six games and lose one. Incidentally, in last year's Carribean amateur world series, one double-header drew 23,000 fans.

Confined to St. Albans Hospital, New York, from the effects of malaria contracted during service on Guadalcanal, Marine Sgt. Barney Ross, former boxing champion, yesterday received his honorable discharge papers. He had been decorated with the Silver Star and was accorded a presidential citation for heroism.

George Nicholson of Yonkers, N.Y., sparring partner in the troupe accompanying Sgt. Joe Louis on his British tour, declared at London yesterday the heavyweight champion had not lost any of his fistic ability because of army service. "Joe is moving better than ever," declared Nicholson. Louis now weighs 215 pounds.

15,000 To Attend

A crowd of 15,000 was expected today for the opening of the racing season in Maryland at the Pimlico track where a 28-day meeting is scheduled with more than 1,700 horses stabled there and at nearby Laurel Park.

The all-star game of the American Association in July will be staged as a tribute to M. J. (Mike) Kelly, 68, president of the Minneapolis club, in recognition of his 50 years in baseball, it was decided by the league yesterday.

New England horse racing opens today at Narragansett Park, Pawtucket, R.I., to continue at various tracks until mid-November. Proceeds of the first four days of the current meeting are being devoted to war charities and additional pari-mutuel equipment has been installed for the expected increase in betting.

Cornwall To Have 2 Hockey Teams

MONTREAL, April 12 — (CP). — John F. Keenan of Cornwall, vice-president of the Ottawa and district branch of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, disclosed last night that Cornwall will have Senior and Junior "A" representation in hockey again next season. Keenan addressed the C.A.H.A. during the second day of its 27th annual session here.

Keenan, who has been affiliated with intermediate, junior and minor hockey in and around Cornwall, said that a senior team will be entered in the Ottawa and District League. As for junior hockey, the Ottawa vice-president stated that Cornwall would have a junior league of its own and would probably enter a team in the Junior Amateur Hockey Association, the Quebec Junior "A" League.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP).—The blitz is definitely on the men's senior basketball picture this year. War-time regulations and difficulties have jolted more teams back on their heels than opposing players have been able to subdue, and the set-up changes so fast it's hard to keep up with it. The late turn of events shows the quite-definite possibility the Dominion championship will be decided in a joust between a defeated team and one that backed into the finals.

Merritton Hayes Steel took the Eastern Canada title in sugar-cookie fashion when Windsor Varsity, Montreal Oilers and Scoudous (N.B.) R.C.A.F. Repair Depot bowed out by default. Chances are the Steelmen would have preferred a fight for the championship, since they will be creaking at the joints through inactivity if this keeps up.

In the wets things are nearly as screwy. Last year's champion Pat Bay Gremlins meet Edmonton U.S. Engineers for what is billed as the western title series. It will be an empty bauble for Gremlins if they win because the R.C.A.F. will not let them travel east for the All-Canada finals. If Engineers win, all is well, but if they lose they will hve to meet Vancouver Combines for the right to go east. And Combines were whipped three straight by Gremlins not long ago. You takes your choice!

Rubber Stretcher:

Dr. P. J. Gallagher, honorary secretary of the Manitoba Golf Association, comes up with a novel idea for saving those precious and rare golf balls. He suggests that clubs adopt a rule permitting the golfer to replace his new ball with an old one. without penalty, after he has made his intial drive from the tee. Of course, that's assuming your slice is under control and you can find the ball at all.

Immortal Sergeant:

Visions of army sergeants donning umpires' pads and masks after the war are called up by Clancy Loranger in the Vancouver News-Herald. Inspired by the report from Camp Grant, Illinois, that a school for baseball umpires has been established for service men there, Clancy opines that the sergeants would be naturals. He foresees erring ball-players chased off to do K.P. duty or guardhouse chores if they don't knuckle down to the top-kok ump.

Incidentally:

No one can cry "shamateur" in the direction of the Copper Cliff and Gananoque midget hockeyists who paiad their own expenses to Toronto for the Ontario play-offs. The boys scraped hard for the trip, but lost out to Toronto Young Leafs ....Trail Smoke Eaters juniors, current sensations of the sport world, aren't surprised they are getting better as they roll along. Smokies were the only junior club in British Columbia last winter and they played against seniors all season, getting a chance at junior opposition only when they left the province.

Western Cities Plan New League

MONTREAL, April 12 (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association yesterday put its approval on a West Coast Senior International Hockey League that will embody teams from Seattle, Portland and British Columbia cities. The C.A.H.A. is in session in its 27th annual meeting here.

The C.A.H.A is planning to draft a protest to the International Ice Hockey Association requesting that the Bay Cities Hockey League, recently outlawed professional loop operating in and around Los Angeles, be dealt with in a "satisfactory manner." Another professional hockey loop on the coast was in the process of formation. It will be called the Pacific Coast Hockey League, the meeting was told.

Many Changes Adopted By Hockey Heads

MONTREAL, April 12 — (CP). — Changes to Canadian amateur hockey rules concerning goaltenders, managers, coaches and trainers were adopted last night night at the 27th annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The most serious change in the rulings affecting penalties to goaltenders was that allowing the netminder only one major penalty, for which a major penalty shot will be taken by his opponents. For a second major offence, the goalie will receive a match misconduct penalty and will be replaced by one of the players on his team.

In the case of replacing a broken stick, where the implement is thrown to a player, the rule calling for penalty was relaxed to exclude goalies from receiving misconduct penalties. If a goalie's stick is broken and another is tossed to him he will receive a minor penalty and have a minor penalty shot taken at him.

Another tightening up rule was introduced calling for a minor penalty shot for any infraction of the rules which will encourage a misconduct penalty on the part of the goalie.

Managers, coaches and trainers were the subject of two rule changes brought in by the rules committee. In the first case, if such a member of a team is removed from the playing bench, the case shall be reported to the branch president who shall investigate.

Managers, coaches and trainers who are removed from the bench shall not direct in any way or attempt to direct the club. Such an offence will bring one year' suspension.

Severe Fine

In the case of a manager refusing to start his team, the ruling to fine him was changed to read "shall not be fined more than $100." Words added were "not more," placing the sum at the discretion of the local branch.

W. A. Hewitt, registrar of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, released figures showing an increase of more than 10,000 minor hockey players this season.

Final figures for midget, bantam and juvenile sections in the 1943-44 season were 27,271 as against 17,167 registrants last year. The O.H.A. topped the branches across the Dominion with 11,530. Quebec had 7,542 registrants. Ottawa district came third with 1,999 registrants.

The C.A.H.A. also voted bonuses to the finalists in both the Memorial and Allan Cup playoffs. They will got to Oshawa Generals, Trail Smoke Eaters. Quebec Aces and the winners of the New Westminster Port Arthur series.

Delegates also decided that bonuses of $1,500 will go to all branches of minor hockey next season and $500 to the finalists in Memorial and Allan Cup play.

Three-Way Race Likely In Base Stealing

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP) — George Case's five-year reign as the Major League's leading base stealer may come to an end this year.

The Washington Senator outfielder had to go at top speed last season to nose out Wally Moses, of the Chicago White Sox, with 61 stolen sacks to Moses' 56. This year George Stirnweiss, of the Yankees, may make it a three-way race.

Stirnweiss swiped only 11 for the world champions last season, but he watched most of the games from the bench. As a regular at second base this season he may approach his record of 75 stolen bases while with Newark of the International League in 1942.

Other Major League News:

Cincinnati Reds—"Let them pick the Cards and Cubs," explained Manager Bill McKechnie as the Reds reached Crosley Field. "Somebody's going to be surprised," indicating he thinks Reds will win pennant.

Omen While Roamin'

After Utah's "national champion" basketball team had been beaten by Kentucky in the first round of the garden invitation court tournament, Vadal Peterson, Ute coach, and gradaute manager Keith Brown were walking down a snow-filled New York street....Brown kicked some object lying in the snow, stooped to see what it was and came up with a pocket size Bible.... "Look, Vadal" exclaiamed, "here's our good luck. It's always good luck to find a Bible."....To make the story short, when they returned to their hotel there was a phone call inviting them to fill in for Arkansas in a western tournament, and from there on the Utes went on to win all the honors in sight.

A Rookie a Day.

Sigmund (Jack) Jakucki, St. Louis Browns—right-handed pitcher who belonged to the Brownies in 1937 and comes back, aged 31, after winning 18 and losing three for a Galveston, Tex., semi-pro team last summer....promises to win 15 this year....Jack left grade school at 16 to serve a four-year hitch in the Army....Made two trips to Japan as a member of a civilian team in Hawaii and hit two homers in Tokyo....High blood pressure keeps him from trying to belt a few Japs for home runs.

Expect Syracuse Team To Start International League In Low Gear

BY LAWRENCE J. SKIDDY
Sports Editor, Syracuse Herald-Journal

SYRACUSE, April 12 — (AP) — Weak beginnings and strong finishes have been synonymous with Syracuse's International Baseball League efforts the last several years.

In three of the last nine years they have won the governor's cup. In six of the last nine years, as first-division members, they have taken part in the playoffs.

This year, led for the third season by Jewel Ens who has piloted them to two consecutive governor's cups, the chiefs appear sure to live up to at least one part of their tradition. They'll start poorly.

They haven't had much of a squad at their spring training base in Dedford, Ind. Rain and cold weather have dogged their footsteps and they are poorly conditioned. Ens is raising his old familiar cry—"I need pitchers."

Last year he had Tom Delacruz, Mike Schultz, Lefty Carter, Jim Konstanty, Horatic Bartelson and Jim Blackburn. They did even better for him than the 1942 hurlers. Now all but Konstanty are gone, and big Jim is training with the Cincinnati Reds—who may take over title to him before the season begins.

Hod Lisenbee, making a come-back; Lynn Nelson, a relief hurler the last two years, and Reg Grabowski, recently classified 1-A by his draft board, head of the chief pitching array at present. But Ens has Konstanty as a possible come-back, half-a-dozen rookies, and he may get more help from the Cincinnati Reds.

The outfield normally might be only fair, but in a war year it's the best in the League with Al Mele, Goody Rosen and Walter Gazen as regulars, and John Tyler as fourth man.

Milt Stroner and Chico Rodrigues, last year's utility infielders, are due to report any day. Dan Phalen, with two year's experience in Lowe Links of the Cardinal chain, is on first base. Herbie Moore is at shortstop with Fitzgerald and Hagen at second and third. Fitzgerald is a Homer, N. Y., semi-pro with some class C and D experience, and Hagen a Chicago semi-pro who has caught Ens' eye. Rodigues and Stoner may oust the semi-pro kids from the starting lineup, however.

Steve Plantz, Pittsburgh semi-pro who trained with Cincinnati, heads the three-man itching staff.

Many Opposing Delayed School Openings

TORONTO, April 12 — Postwar improvements in school courses, teaching methods and administration were yesterday discussed by Ontario teachers, trustees and supervisors, who met in 40 special sections of the Ontario Educational Association. It was the second day of O.E.A.'s four-day convention, with sessions at University of Toronto and the Royal York Hotel.

Educational units larger than the one-room school are needed to give every Ontario school child equality of educational opportunity by utilizing to fullest advantage the newest scientific aids to education, Ontario Premier and Minister of Education George Drew told the trustees and ratepayers' department. A commission has been appointed to examine the existing structure.

"Of 7,489 schools in Ontario, 5,377 are one-room schools," he said. "New aids to education cannot be given full effect in a school in which one teacher instructs children whose ages range from 6 to 16.

"Some of the ethical standards taught in one-room schools a generation ago could well be revived today—but do not let us confuse the principles underlying education with its general practice. Our system must adjust itself to new facts. With transportation available to nearly every one, small educational units are not as necessary today as they were 50 years ago.

Explore New Media

"Educational media like motion pictures and radio, still regarded as a means of recreation, have not yet found a true place in our schools. With them, history and allied subjects can be taught as they never could have been before."

Suggestions that the Drew Government's $3.5 million grant toward educational costs be distributed to school boards according to their need was advanced by H. G. Taylor, Belmont, president of the trustees' department.

"I don't agree with the idea of paying one mill on assessed property to make up the grant," he said. "In cases of industries paying the tax, it really means that the tax is paid by purchasers of their product. In other words, we consumers help the tax by paying twice."

The department carried a resolution asking that sex education be a part of school curricula, or that instructors be made available to boards approving such teaching in their schools. Trustees also asked Department of Education to consider spending more time on teaching arithmetic and grammar in public schools.

"Any high school teacher will tell you that he has to drill his pupils in the fundamentals of arithmetic. Their writing is atrocious and they don't even know simple parts of speech," said W. J. Saunders, Kingston.

Urge Parctical Courses.

Other resolutions asked for more practical courses of study for pupils who did not intend to go to university; for establishment of rural agricultural schools similar to urban vocational schools; for larger units of administration to bring more manual training, home economics and music to rural pupils; and that greater attention be paid to selection of teachers with consideration given to applicant's qualities of personality and leadership.

Miss Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa, social research advisor to the Progressive Conservative Party, said that the introduction of religious instruction into Ontario schools by the Drew government was one of the greatest steps forward in the direction of postwar reconstruction yet undertaken. She was addressing a luncheon of the home economics section.

Debate on Opening Dates

Heated discussion of the advisability of delaying school openings in the autumn to allow children to do farm work occurred in the urban trustees' section meeting.

Urging that urban schools should open at regular time, Cecil James, Windsor, said: "The Windsor schools are absolutely opposed to staying closed so that 150 out of 5,000 pupils may do farm work."

G. H. Thomas, Harriston, moved a resolution that any shortening of the school term for any purpose should be the entire responsibility of the Department of Education, and that this duty should not be left to the choice of local school boards.

Dr. W. H. Butt, Toronto, opposing the resolution, said this would be a "slap in the face" for the contribution of the Drew Government to furthering the war effort. The resolution was referred to the resolutions committee.

The details of Ontario's proposed health services under the new Municipal Health Services Act were explained by Dr. R. P. Vivian to a joint meeting of the urban and county council trustees. He said in his speech that mental illness was now one of the great medical problems.

"The Ontario hospitals are now caring for some 15,000 persons afflicted with various mental difficulties," said Dr. Vivian. "The solution to this problem does not lie in the creation of bigger and better institutions, necessary as they are, but depends largely upon the efficiency of a mental hygiene program in co-operation with a community."

his prospective candidacy, kept a fast pace along with the leaders in the Illinois Republican primary. In 6,692 of the State's 8,726 precincts he had 393,870 votes to 27,421 for Riley Bender, Chicago real estate man. The total of Gen. MacArthur, endorsed for the Presidency by the Chicago Tribune, was behind that rolled up by Gov. Dwight Green in his successful bid for renomination but slightly ahead of that for Richard J. Lyons, winner in a three-cornered race for the U.S. senate nomination.

The primary results are not binding on the 50 Republican delegates named in the same election.

The Republican vote total in both Nebraska and Illinois was far ahead of the Democratic, where it was no-contest most of the way. President Roosevelt, assured of the support of Nebraska's 12 delegates and 50 from Illinois, had 26,480 votes in 1,290 Nebraska precincts in an unopposed preferential primary race.

In Washington, Vice-President Henry Wallace announced plans for a trip to China about the time the Democratic National convention meets and there was immediate speculation that he was removing himself from the race under orders. The stock of Senator Harry Truman (Dem., Mo.), chairman of the Senate war investigating committee, boomed as a possible successor.

Use Bermuda Lilies For Easter Flowers

APSLEY, April 12 — (ENS) — The service in Trinity United Church on Easter evening was well attended. Special Easter music was sung by the choir, a duet given by Mrs. O. Miller and Miss Myrtle Tucker being worthy of mention. Mr. Robb gave an inspiring Easter message. The chancel was profusely decorated with potted plants —among them being a bunch of Easter lilies sent from Bermuda. These lilies have come to be looked forward to every Easter by the Apsley citizens. They are sent every year to Mrs. Cyrus McFadden by her daughter Mrs. Leland Barnes (nee Annie McFadden) of St. George's, Bermuda.

VETERAN HOME.

Wounded during an action on the Italian mainland, where his unit fought as part of the Eighth Army, he expects later in the month to report to Kingston for a medical check-up that will ascertain to what degree he is fit to resume military duties. Father's Attitude Blamed For Family Fight

"I think that you have been trying to save money and it has preyed on your mind until nobody could live with you," Magistrate R. B. Baxter told Harry W. Armstrong, Stewart street, in police court this morning during the hearing of a family row as a result of which Armstrong charged his son, Roger Armstrong, 28, with assaulting him on Easter Sunday afternoon.

The trouble started over the father complaining about the son turning on a couple of electric lights at their home on Sunday afternoon.

Armstrong said that when the son turned on the lights again after complainant had turned them off, he had gone out and pulled the switch outside. As he came back into the hall, he swore, his son aimed three blows at him. Two of them were warded off but the other hit him on the chin and knocked him down. Then he said his son had kicked him several times.

"They are trying to put me out on the street," Armstrong said about his wife and son and daughter.

"You are saying that they are entirely to blame and you not at all," remarked Magistrate Baxter.

Retaliation

Roger Armstrong, his sister Mrs. Phyllis Jay and his mother all gave evidence for the defence. Armstrong testified that he only shoved his father after the latter had shoved him and the other witnesses testified that Roger Armstrong did not strike or kick his father. They all agreed that the father was constantly complaining about them turning on lights and walking on the linoleum and that he had been cross for years.

In dismissing the charge Magistrate Baxter advised the family to go home and endeavor to find a formula for more peace. W. J. Arthur Fair defended Roger Armstrong and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

War—4 Years Ago

APRIL 12, 1940—Britain mined the Skagerrak and Kattegat with biggest field in history. R.A.F. lost eight planes and the German six in air battles over the North Sea, and German bases in Norway, Britain sent protective force down to Danish-owned Faroe Islands.

Drill Absence Brings Fines

"You knew what your responsibility was when you joined up but you have kicked it around like a football," said Magistrate R. B. Baxter in finding Gerald Anderson guilty on three charges of failing to attend drills of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve.

Anderson who had pleaded not guilty but was convicted by the court was fined $5 and $1 costs on each of the three counts, with the alternative of five days in jail in each case.

The accused told the court that he had been working during drill nights at the Quaker Oats. He also added that he had thought that his time was up at the end of three years and that the war situation had improved since the time he enlisted.

"I heard Premier King say over the radio," said the accused, "that the danger of invasion was passed. The situation was bad when I enlisted but when I heard the prime minister say that that was good enough for me."

Proper Procedure

Magistrate Baxter told Anderson that he should have secured a leave of absence and Major Eastwood of the Rangers said that there was no difficulty in securing such leaves if the proper procedure was followed.

James P. Chalmers pleaded guilty to three charges of failing to attend Ranger drills. He told the court that he had turned in his uniform a year ago and when he heard nothing more about it thought that he had been struck off the roll.

Sentence in his case was deferred until Saturday.

Board Of Health Discusses Need For Sanatorium

The desirability of providing a sanatorium for tuberculosis patients in the city of Peterborough, a question which has previously been a subject of discussion in meetings of the City Council, was raised again at Wednesday's monthly meeting of the Board of Health by Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H. A new TB sanatorium was being built at Kingston now, Dr. Kelly said, adding that all patients of that category in this and adjoining counties were being sent to Hamilton for hospitalization and treatment.

It was Mayor Hamilton who referred to the previous debate on this matter in council meetings; and it had been the decision of the council at that time, he said, that it would prefer not to have sick people from outside the city of Peterborough, even though no danger of communicating disease existed.

Alderman Dutton, chairman, suggested that the crux of the matter lay in the determination whether conditions were serious enough to warrant this step in providing local accommodation for TB patients. The matter was left open in view of the approaching visit of Dr. Vivian, Minister of Health, whose advice would be asked.

On motion it was resolved to accept the payment of $2.50 a day from the Department of Indian Affairs, even though the municipality cost was $3 or more at the present time.

Disease Decreases

There was a general decrease in the incidence of all the major communicable conditions, Dr. Kelly's report said. Fourteen patients were cared for during the month at the Queen Mary Isolation Hospital, remaining for 110 hospital days or an average of 7.9 days per patient. The week of March 21 saw a visit of the Travelling Chest Clinic and approximately 230 appointments were made. The reports from these, Dr. Kelly said, had not yet been completely received.

During the month the market was inspected by Dr. Harold Worton, and its condition was found satisfactory, with all meats offered for sale appearing wholesome and clean. A number of butcher shops, milk vendors and refreshment booths were inspected prior to issuing licenses, were found satisfactory and recommended license by Dr. Worton. Mr. Dutton mentioned that Dr. Worton would be asked to take on more work due to the preoccupation of Mr. MacPherson with the the city's new undertaking of garbage collections.

Prizes Given For Cribbage

A large number of enthusiastic cribbage players, members of the recently organized V and Y Cribbage Club, held a doubles tournament at the Canadian Legion Hall Tuesday night. Winners of the first prize, an order for $3 of merchandise at the Fashion Craft Shop, were R. Bacon and M. Williams; while A. Wade and J. Hornthone won second prize, which was worth $2. Consolation prizes went to R. Everitt and A. Dryland and to A. Jobe and A. Smith.

A table was laid out at the Legion Hall containing several unique hand-made cribbage boards, one of which was made by Jess Airriess in 1915 from a piece of wood from the Clothe Hall at Ypres and used by soldiers in the trenches. Another, a fine example of craftsmanship, was made by Eskimos at James Bay from walnut wood of a wrecked ship, inlaid with ivory from walrus tusks.

The progress of the club since its inception a few months ago was sketched by A. E. McDougall, secretary of the club. He said that as of the present time there were 61 paid-up members, and that efforts were being made to extend the membership to 100.

The singles competition for the trophy contributed by Louis Yeotes continues at the Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evening meetings of the V and Y Cribbage Club in the Legion Hall. In addition there is to be an open doubles tournament on April 25.

Lindsay Man Plays In Checker Tourney

LINDSAY, April 12 (ENS)—The 1944 Ontario Checker championship tournament was held at Hamilton for three days and over 50 expert players from all sections of the province, including Lindsay, were in attendance.

The highlight of the first round was the playing by L. Lager of Hamilton against Norman Stephens, champion of Toronto, in which eight games were required to win the battle.

M. B. Annis, of Lindsay, defeated C. N. Clay, the well-known champion of Niagara Falls by three wins and one draw. All five rounds of play were well contested and resulted in the prizes being awarded to: Norman Stephens, of Toronto; A. Fulton, of Toronto; Neil Siddy of Niagara Falls; and Dr. Annis of Lindsay; J. G. Vanevery of Hamilton.

The election of officers for the Ontario Association for 1944 resulted as follows: President, A. Skillen, of Hamiltan; vice-president, Dr. M. B. Annis, of Lindsay; treasurer, J. B. Kelley of Dundas.

Lifting 600-pound Pork Barrel Nothing To Peterboro Strong Man, Dan MacDonald

LINDSAY, April 12— (ENS) — Dixon Jewett, of Cannington, recalled a story to-day of the "strong men" of years ago who prided themselves in their great strength and feats of agility and skill.

"I remember when I was working in Peterborough several years ago of being told a story by William Snowden, then proprietor of the Snowdon Hotel (now Charlbond Apts.) a man named Dan MacDonald. He was the strongest man in the district and people marvelled at his strength—Samson had nothing on this chap. Sixty years ago he was a clerk in a Peterborough store. Then he moved to Lindsay and became a storekeeper, but he is buried in the Little Lake Cemetery where a small slab, common in those days, marks his grave. I can still recall the verse graven on his tombstone. It can still be deciphered and reads as follows:

"Ye weak beware, here lies the strong, a victim to his strength: "He lifted sixteen hundred pounds and here he lies at length."

James B. Beggs recalled that MacDonald kept store in Lindsay, at the foot of Kent Street, and it was not an unusual thing for him to pick up a barrel of pork, weighing 600 pounds, or a barrel of flour and carry it out of the store.

Mr. Dixon alo states he remembers Mr. Snowden saying that MacDonald used to juggle 100 pound dumbells and toss one from one hand to the other. The one day he noticed some men trying to lift some heavy machinery at the Grand Trunk station in Peterborough. They could not budge the article. MacDonald asked them to step aside and he would do the lifting. He picked up the heavy article, moved it to where it was wanted, and then collapsed, having broken a blood vessel. Hence the epitaph on his tombstone.

Good Work Done By Club For War Victims

More often than not, a Community Service Club would from its very name, imply that their interests were chiefly concerned with the betterment of things for their own immediate locality, but in these days of fast moving events when modern science has brought the ends of the earth so much closer together, it is noteworthy that many folk are getting that wider vision which looks toward extending their service to a much wider field, which naturally extends their influence for good far beyond what originally brought this type of club into existence in years gone by.

In a land that upholds the tenets of Christianity, the great commemorative seasons of Christmas and Easter are events of prime importance, so nothing would seem more appropriate than that they should be made the occasion of doing some good for other people in distress, for that is surely a sign that they are endeavouring in a practical way to uphold the teachings of Him whose followers their observance of these festivals proclaim then to be.

Fraserville Community Club

Centered around Fraserville some ten miles from this city, a Community Service Club has been operating for some time, and with Mrs. McClenaghan playing a leading role as president of the group, they have been doing a good work in raising money for various war objects, mainly through the holding of social events, themselves an important feature of community life in sparsely settled districts, from which the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has on a number of occasions benefitted to assist in its objective of giving help to the sufferers from air raids in Britain.

It is significant that in these acts of well doing on behalf of others rather than for themselves, they should chose these two great festivals around which much of the Christian Faith is centered, to again give help for this cause, the latest of which is listed today in an amount of $15. for the fund, following the previous one given at Christmastide last year.

Box at Empress adds $9.00

When personal interest in the welfare of other less fortunate people extends itself to assuming a daily obligation to lay aside something to give them a helping hand, it displays a sincerity of purpose that is truly commendable, and that is what has been going on for a long time in connection with the penny box located in the Empress Hotel. I latest contribution of $9.00 to-day follows on a long list of assists that has made it one of the outstanding contributions in its class to help the fund along.

Bancroft Shivers Under 5 Inches Snow

Bancroft woke up this morning under a blanket of five inches of snow, but the capricious April weather did almost as well or ill for the Peterborough countryside with 3.75 inches during the night.

This was snow with a high water content, or seemingly with a heavier saturation than some of the winter samples, and was probably equivalent to a heavy rain. Not an aspect of it made it welcome to city folks, and especially to the school children who were bogged down in the house for these brief winter holidays. To them the world was out of joint; boys with kites and girls with skipping ropes, and the weather perverse and mean.

Probably farmers would contribute the only compensating idea in the prospect of more moisture to soak slowly into the ground instead of splattering on the surface as rain often does and rushing away into the creeks.

GIVEN COMMISSION—Harold E. Mason, 515 Cross Street, was one of the graduating pilots at Yorkton, Sask., last week, and he has been granted his commission. PO. Mason is 20 years old and a graduate of the Collegiate. Before enlisting he worked in the Westclox office, and a brother, LAC. Eric Mason, is serving overseas.

PASSES COURSE — Signalman Kenneth J. Hotston, R.C.N.V.R., recently passed a course in signalling, and he has now been posted on active service. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hotston, 299 King George Street. Signalman Hotston went from Collegiate into the Navy February 8, 1943.

Major R. Bamsey Transferred To Niagara Area

After three years of untiring effort in behalf of the welfare of the men stationed at No. 32 C.A. (B.) T.C., Major Reginald Bamsey, Salvation Army, who has been in charge of the camp canteen since its opening, is leaving Peterborough April 19.

In recognition of the job he has done at the Peterborough camp, Major Bamsey is being promoted and will have four camps under his jurisdiction in the Niagara area. They will include Niagara Active service camp, Chipawa, Allenburg, and the Niagara Reserve Camp, which will open May 23.

The new Auxiliary Services representative at the Training Centre will be Supervisor Ernest Irwin, S.A. He has been stationed in Alberta and before the war was Deputy Bandmaster at Dovercourt Citadel in Toronto.

Looking back to the opening of the camp, Major Bamsey recalls that when he first arrived all he had to work with was a room with four walls. There were no tables or chairs, just blank space. He expressed his gratitude to the people of Peterborough, and the women's organizations in particular for the help they have extended to the Sally Ann at all times, both in time and gifts. He has also watched the growth of the Uptown Recreation Centre which is doing such an important job for the men in uniform.

The Major's transfer further reduces the number of the original officers left on the staff. There are now only an estimated two or three still serving in this centre. While Major Bamsey will be stationed in Niagara District, and will travel around between the four camps, his wife and family will live in Toronto.

Both the soldiers and those groups connected with camp entertainment, will feel the loss of this Auxiliary Services officer from their ranks. He was always interested in their personal problems and energetic in getting things done. During his period of service he has made sing songs an attractive entertainment feature at the Sally Ann and his good humored sallies have provided a cheerful atmosphere in which the soldiers could relax.

Bag 352 Planes

LONDON, April 12—(CP). — United States bombers and fighters in this theatre have shot down 352 German planes in the last four days, official announcements said today.

This brought to 2,611 the announced total of enemy planes destroyed in the air since Jan. 1 by Britain-based American airmen.

Special Dishes Used For Passover

Of general distaff interest during this week of the feast of the Passover is an old custom in accordance with which every Jewish housewife possesses a special set of dishes which are used only during these eight days.

These domestic festal dishes are kept separate throughout the year and are brought out for the Seder, the formal evening meal of last Friday and Saturday, continue in use until next Saturday, and then are carefully placed away until the ceremony of the next year's Spring returns.

The Passover is virtually a festival of freedom, commemorating the Exodus from Egypt. Tradition ascribes the first Passover to an ordinance by Moses at the command of God.

Special Food

Abstaining from leaven is a restriction of the time of Passover. Jewish families eat matsoh, unleavened bread, which for Peterborough consumption is obtained from Toronto. If flour is required for any baking purposes, if the housewife wishes to make a cake for the family, it is the matsoh flour which must be used.

The word Seder literally means order, because everything at that meal on Friday and Saturday evenings must adhere to a fixed traditional custom of service and other accompaniments. Everything is arranged in a certain way, and that order is followed from year to year. The youngest child of the family who has reached an adequate stage of education begins the reading of the Haggadah during the Seder. This little boy or girl begins by asking the Four Questions, the first of which is "why is this night different from all other nights?" The reply is read from the Book of Exodus.

Ancient Custom

The feast of the Passover seems to be as old as Israel, and is observed by Jews the world over. The Seder is an annual occasion of family reunions, and in this fifth year of the war every Jewish soldier who could obtain leave from military duty to be with his family for the beginning of the Passover made a special effort to do so. The last two days this week, terminating the festival, are regarded as holidays, and are observed in that manner as far as practical. Those who keep the spirit of the season, apart from the general customary observance, would not even ride in an automobile, according to one detail of information.

Honor Employee

NIAGARA FALLS, April 12—(CP)—While opening of the sixth Victory Loan drive still is some weeks away, one Bond has already been bought here. City council will present it, along with a letter or scroll, in recognition of the heroic act of a city employee, George Bell, who at great personal risk snatched a five-year-old boy from under the wheels of a railway tank car March 30.

Belittles Loss

NEW YORK, April 12 — (AP). — Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar, Nazi radio commentator, told the German people last night the loss of Odessa was painful, but "preservation of forces engaged there is at present much more important than the possession of this locality, which lies far beyond the Dnestr." Actually only 22 miles separate Odessa and the river.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 13

WHILE THERE is portent of stubborn obstacles or other difficult situations to vanquish these is splendid promise of success, distinguished achievement as well as the ultimate assurance of attaining high ambitions or noteworthy objectives. Concentration of the energies and talents, as well as real resources should attract the solid approval and financial aid of those in power and influence. Personal integrity and sound abilities find their own reward amongst a welter of impediments and frustrating circumstances. Prudence and perseverance win out.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sound and solid achievement, perhaps beyond the highest expectations, because of a practical and constructive grasp of opportunities against obstacles, impediments, delays or other disappointing situations. Persistent and patient effort, with attention to detail and systematic handling of a bad situation is likely to win the substantial support of those in position and power, in the determination to win cherished objectives against many odds and delays. Be prudent in domestic or affectional relations and keep up morale and physical well being, and enduring rewards are in sight.

A child born on this day may have much ambition with talents to attain the best although beset with obstructions and delays. Its reliability should attract the approbation of those in power.

Pretty Wedding Solemnized At All Saints

All Saints' church was the setting for a pretty wedding recently, when Estelle Lenore Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Simmons, George street, became the bride of Gordon Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee, Alfred street. Rev. W. A. Filer officiated, and Mrs. W. Logan played the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white taffeta on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline. Her veil of white tulle was in a halo shape, caught to her head with forget-me-nots. She carried American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Harry Ferguson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, in powder blue net over taffeta, made with a full skirt and sweetheart neckline. She wore a matching shoulder-length veil, and carried pink roses and carnations. Mr. Harry Ferguson was best man.

Receiving at the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, was the bride's mother, in black crepe, white accessories, and a corsage of Bettertime roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, dressed in navy blue crepe, with a corsage of Bettertime roses.

For a trip to Toronto, the bride chose a red suit, and black accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Lee will make their home at 43 Alfred street.

While the members were gathering, Mrs. W. P. Purdy played soft music. Mrs. R. H. Rowe, president, led in the opening exercises, and Mrs. H. Roberts led in prayer.

Mrs. Robert Kitchen spoke on the spiritual need of the time, under the topic "What We Should Do, and How We Should Live, as Christians." She said that the command should be "Be ye therefore perfect." "Let our conversation show that we are putting Christ first in all things, since it is the everyday life that counts," she said.

Mrs. T. Curvin sang "Alone," accompanying herself on the autoharp. Mrs. W. J. Prindible, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Gray, sang "Ora Pro Nobis." Mrs. Agnes White read "Two Easter Offerings," which gave a lesson on the value of prayer.

Lily Lake W.A. Meets

Mrs. Clifford Chapman, Mrs. William Steinkraus and Mrs. F. W. Rowland were hostesses for the April meeting of the Lily Lake Women's Association held at the former's home. "Easter" was the theme, which appeared in the roll call; in the Scripture read by Mrs. Clarence Hancock; and the prayer, given by Mrs. George Middleton. Mrs. W. Steinkraus read an Easter story.

Arrangements were made for the W.A. to take charge of the Sunday School service for the last Sunday in April. It was also decided to send sandwiches for the spring tea, being sponsored by the Local Council of Women.

Another quilt was quilted, and several blocks were pieced in readiness for another. Before lunch was served, little David Pryde, grandson of the hostess, asked grace. Mrs. James Shields and Mrs. D. W. Wilson will be hostesses for the May meeting, to be held at the former's home.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I copied the recipe I am writing out for you from a magazine advertisement, but I changed it to suit my family and my income. You will recognize the method I am sure, and I hope you find it good enough to print.

Meat Roll With Pea Sauce

Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, ⅝ cup milk, 2 cups ground meat, (preferably cooked), tomato catsup, Worcestershire sauce, gravy. Sift the dry ingredients, cut in shortening with knife or use finger tips and moisten this tea biscuit mix with milk. Roll dough out to one-third inch thickness and rectangle. Season the meat with the catsup and Worcestershire Sauce. Moisten to a paste with gravy and spread over dough (if you have no gravy use a little water). Roll, jelly-roll fashion, and cut in slices 1 inch thick. Place on a well-buttered pan and bake from 15 to 20 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr. (if uncooked meat is used it should be beef, and these must be covered). Serve with sauce made with green peas. If enough peas are added to the sauce this can be a complete one-dish meal.—Ines Bird.

This is good with salmon or any leftover fish, well seasoned with your seasonings plus lemon. Also good with Tomato Sauce. Thank you, Mrs. Bird.

When Sugar's Low...

Baking day, and your sugar running low! Your family will be looking for cake—light, delicate, velvety, down to the last delicious crumb. Impossible? Certainly not! With Swans Down and a good recipe, low-sugar cakes—or cakes sweetened with syrup, honey or jam—are successful as any of pre-ration days. But don't forget . . . you can't get Swans Down results with any ordinary flour!

1. To Sweeten with Honey
Honey cakes need dependable recipes like the one below—and flour with the superb fineness of Swans Down. Given these, they are fine-textured, tender, thin-crusted . . . and keep beautifully!

Honey Spice Cake
2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons mixed spices
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¾ cup honey
2 eggs, separated
⅓ cup milk
⅔ cup chopped raisins (may be omitted)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and spices, and sift together three times. Cream shortening with lemon rind; add honey gradually, beating well after each addition. Add ¼ of flour and beat until smooth and well blended. Add unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each. Add remaining flour in thirds, alternately with milk in halves, beating very well after each addition, and including raisins with last addition of flour. Add vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold up in moist peaks. Stir quickly but thoroughly into batter. Turn into greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan, and if available, sprinkle with ⅓ cup chopped nuts. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 55 minutes, or until done.

2. Little Sugar, No Substitute Needed
For cakes that are fine and even, thin-crusted and velvety-crumbed, you've learned to expect a fairly generous amount of sugar. But here's good news! With Swans Down you can use less sugar, yet have typical cake-fineness and deliciousness.

Apple Dessert Cake
2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 egg yolks, unbeaten (or 1 egg)
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Peeled apple

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Turn into greased pan, 8 x 8 x 2 inches. Arrange eighths of peeled apple over batter, sprinkle lightly with sugar and cinnamon, and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes. This cake is best served hot.

3. When Syrup Replaces Sugar
To use syrup as sweetener and get good cake-texture and flavor, you need dependable ingredients and a properly adjusted recipe. Swans Down gives marvellous support to a carefully balanced mixture like the Sugarless Orange Cake in the next column.

Sugarless Orange Cake
2¼ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 cup light corn syrup
2 eggs, unbeaten
⅓ cup milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening with orange rind; add syrup gradually, beating well after each addition. Add ¼ of flour and beat until smooth and well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add remaining flour in thirds, alternately with milk in halves, beating very well after each addition. For best results, beat cake very well at each stage of mixing. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 30 minutes, or until done. Good with orange or chocolate filling and frosting.

For Better Cakes
Beginner or expert, you'll find that Swans Down helps you make better cakes. Milled from selected wheat, Swans Down is sifted again and again through silk, until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Makes cakes outstandingly light, tender, velvety-crumbed . . . and does it thriftily, too!
Nine tested recipes on each package.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

DAUGHTER'S SACRIFICE UNWISE

Becomes Dreary Drudge by Giving Up All Her Spare Time to Care of Mother.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am the only daughter left at home out of a large family and I have my mother to care for. I am 32 and work all day downtown and, of course, have few amusements. The dull life I lead, with only my mother for company, is getting on my nerves and telling on my temper both at the office and at home.

Now I do not want to hurt my mother's feelings in any way, but do you think it very selfish of me to go out with my friends occasionally and leave her alone? I do so every once in a while, but I feel so conscience-stricken that it spoils the good time I could have had. I suppose it is the fate of the one left at home to have to care for an old parent, but I do so envy my sisters with their happy homes and children and freedom to go about.

DISCOURAGED.

Sacrifice That Is Futile

ANSWER—I think that the most foolish thing that any human being ever does is to enslave herself or himself to another. I do not believe that it is anyone's duty to utterly sacrifice his or her life to another.

In fact, I think that sacrifice is nearly always futile and that it oftener does harm than good. This is nearly always the case when children give up everything for their parents. Nine times out of ten it would have been better, even for the parents, if they had gone on and lived their own lives and carried out their own plans.

This certainly will happen in your particular case if you let your mother monopolize you so that you cut all pleasure and amusements out of your life and become nothing but a dreary drudge. You will become so peevish and nervous that you will be hard to live with and most likely you will lose your job, because employers do not like to have irritable people who are so hard to get along with around them. And you will end up in nervous prostration.

Of course, your mother wants your companionship and she does not realize that she is being selfish, because she does not dream but that you are as interested in hearing her twice-told tales as she is in hearing the fresh news that you bring in. Nor do the old, whose interest in the outside world is little, ever understand why young people want to go around and dance and do the things that they don't want to do.

But in this matter you have to save yourself. So why not tell your mother that you are getting stale and nervous spending all of your time at home, and that you must have two or three evenings out a week in order to keep you chirped up and peppy?

And what about those sisters taking their turn in entertaining Mother? If they live near you, why don't you wish off one evening a week on them and tell Mary that she must come and sit with Mother on Tuesday night, and Sally on Thursday night, and Jane on Saturday night? Or, if they live away, write and tell them that Mother is their Mother just as much as she is your Mother, and that it is up to them to invite her for a nice, long visit and give you a rest. There is no reason why one child should be the family goat.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Is a girl of 24 really in love if she feels embarrassed by the looks and slow ways of the man she is engaged to, even though he is dear and kind and worships the ground she walks on? Do you think this couple will be happily married when the girl feels herself superior to the man?

BUD.

Wife Should Not Feel Superior

ANSWER—I don't think that it makes for the happiness of any couple for the wife to feel herself superior to the husband. Women like to look up to their husbands and husbands like to look down on their wives, so the arrangement is mutually satisfactory. But it is quite otherwise if the wife condescends to her husband and is always criticizing and correcting his manner and his grammar and his pronunciation.

You often see a man married to a dowdy woman who doesn't know how to dress and who murders the King's English and who is awkward and ill at ease in company, and he never seems to be embarrassed at his wife's lapses or to mind them. But a woman writhes when her husband looks provincial, or acts like a boob, or when he voices ignorant opinions.

PFC. FRANCIS J. SHEEHAN

INDIAN RIVER, April 12.—(ENS.)—PFC. Francis J. Sheehan, stationed at Homestead Army Air Base, Florida, is spending a two weeks' furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheehan of Douro.

PFC. Sheehan was born in Otonabee and spent his childhood in this locality, attending both S.S. No. 3, Otonabee, and S.S. No. 7, Douro. Later he attended St. Peter's High school in Peterborough and after graduating went to St. Paul, Minn. There he secured a position on the staff of the Black Hawk Hotel Co., where he was employed until the time of his enlistment with the American Air Force.

Another brother, Joseph, is in training with the R.C.A.F.

War Industries Cut Plane Costs

DETROIT, April 12 — (AP) — The automotive council for war production reported today that the big four-engined Liberator bomber planes which the car industry two years ago produced for $238,000 each now are being made for the government for $137,000 each and light tanks that sold initially for $45,000 each have been reduced to $22,564.

Reviewing how the automotive industry is "stretching" dollars in the war production effort the council reported that 50 calibre machine guns today are priced at $200 as against $510 last year and that the government now is able to buy 18 sets of precision aircraft engine parts for the price paid last year for 10 sets.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today we are going to give you several recipes. We are not going to confine our column to any one thing in particular, but you will agree that all recipes in it are very good. You will be glad you tried them and will use them more than once. The first one is intended especially for the man of the house, as you will know by the name but he will by no means get it all for himself because all members of the family will help him out.

Man's Apple Pie.

Bake crust just as for ordinary pie. Filling: 6 apples, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon mace, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup grated cheese.

Method: Wash apples and cut fine. Sift sugar, spice and salt, and mix thoroughly with the apples. Turn into a pie tin lined with pastry. Spread over with grated cheese. Put on top crust pushing it toward the centre and pressing off edges. Bake in hot over 450 degrees F. for 10 minutes, reduce the heat to 350 degrees F. and continue baking about 40 minutes.

Hostess Special Salad.

Part one: Arrange sliced peaches, pears, Maraschino cherries and mayonnaise in a cup of lettuce.

Part two: Arrange shredded cabbage, diced pineapple, chopped peanuts and mayonnaise in another cup of lettuce.

Part three: Arrange seasoned cottage cheese moistened with cream and garnished with paprika in a third cup.

Method: Place three cups of lettuce on a large salad plate. Fill a small paper cup with salad dressing and place in the centre. Serve either ripe or green olives on the side.

Ham Drumsticks.

Four slices smoked hams, 2 cups bread crumbs, 2-3 cup milk, 2 tablespoons soft jelly, 3 tablespoons prepared mustard.

Method: Have ham cut thin for rolling. Combine the crumbs with other ingredients to form a paste. Divide equally and place on the slices of ham. Roll each slice and fasten with tooth picks. Insert a skewer through centre of each to represent a drumstick. Sear in hot fat, cover and cook slowly.

Orange Sweet Potatoes.

Cook sweet potatoes in boiling, salted water. When done mash with butter and fill orange shells which have been previously prepared by scraping out white lining about 20 minutes before serving. Place the potato filled shells in a slow oven and heat thoroughly. When ready to serve top with currant jelly. These are lovely served with the ham drumsticks.

Dainty Pound Cakes.

One cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 4 eggs, 1 teaspoon almond extract, ½ teaspoon rose extract, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour.

Cream shortening and sugar well, then beat in ½ the sifted flour and salt. Then add the eggs which have been well beaten, and the extracts. Next beat in the remaining flour. This batter must be thoroughly beaten. Pour into a greased, slightly floured pan, having the batter higher at the sides than in the centre. Bake in a slow oven 325 degrees F. about 35 minutes. Cool, cut into cubes with sharp knife and ice. Then dust with chopped nuts or cocoanut.

RCAF Transports Prepare Fliers For Peace Time

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP)—What could easily become the transition school between combat and peace-time flying—the R.C.A.F. transport service—is growing in size and importance. Right now it covers routes extending from White Horse, Yukon Territory, and the Queen Charlotte Islands, B.C., in the west to Cairo in the east.

Chief of the command is Group Capt. Z. Lewis Leigh, O.B.E., 37, born in Macclesfield, Eng., but who considers Lethbridge, Alta., his home town. Under him are Wing Commander Marlowe Kennedy, A.F.C., 39, of Winnipeg, in charge of passenger transport; Wing Cmdr. Bruce Middleton, A.F.C., 38, Fort Francis, Ont., in charge of cargo and mail transport, and Sqdn. Ldr. Ernest Hall, 43, Cumberland, B.C., in charge of the factory-to-air-station ferry service.

Kennedy's passenger-carrying department embodies schedule and non-schedule flights. He flies high-ranking service officials.

Charge of Mail

Middleton also has charge of the planes that transport mail to men of the three Canadian Armed Forces serving in the various theatres of war, Hall's group flies the Mosquitos, Cansos, Harvards and Ansons from the Canadian factories to the R.C.A.F. home stations.

Kennedy and Middleton also have the supervision of transport pilot training. This is centred in Moncton. However, this school is slated to be moved, possibly to the west coast.

Group Capt. Leigh said most of the men now coming to him had done their full stint of operational flights over hot spots like Berlin and Frankfurt.

Two weeks ago H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, told a House of Commons railway committee that the R.C.A.F. had been asked to supply 75 pilots and 150 aircrew men for commercial routes and it is generally assumed the transport service will handle this first peacetime man-power order.

INDIAN INDUSTRIES GROW

NEW DELHI— (CP) —The total number of workers employed in factories in India rose from 2,156,377 in 1941 to 2,281,563 in 1942.

Dr. P. Kelly Warns Stern Methods Must Be Used Against Aggressors

COBOURG, April 12 (ENS) — The Battle of Vimy showed the world the excellence of Canadian soldiers conducting war operations under difficult conditions and the Canadians in the fore of the coming invasion should not find it too hard a task to repeat their achievements, declared Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly in addressing the members of Cobourg Legion at the annual Vimy Dinner held at The Baltimore Hotel on Monday night. James Rollings was chairman.

At the head table were Dr. Kelly Mayor Jack Burnet, chairman J. Rollings, Mrs. Myra McLaren, Cliff Atkinson, Dave Carr and Sergeant McIvor, the latter recently returned from overseas.

Mayor Burnet read a letter from Captain W. A. Platt of Cobourg, acting O.C. of the 5th L.A.A., Italy which advised that Cobourg boys over there had raised $106 in an assignment, to be contributed to the fund to build a new Legion Hall here. All who had received cigarettes for The Dads Club, including boys from Hastings, Port Hope and Baltimore, as well as Cobourg, contributed.

The evening opened with one minute of silence in honour of departed comrades, after which bugler Fred Hempstead sounded "The Last Post and Reveille.

Dr. Kelly's address was liberally seasoned with humorous anecdotes but a good portion of it was a very serious comment on the problems facing the world when peace had come.

Not Impossible

The Battle of Vimy had a lesson for the Canadian soldier, both before the war and afterward. Vimy was not a great hill in the sense of size and height but it was the pivoting point of the German forces retreating to the Hindenburg line. It was a good observation post and well-fortified and its capture was a great success on the part of the Canadain Corps. It proved that the Canadian soldier was an excellent one and had excellent spirit. They advanced on a wide front under very difficult circumstances and the Canadians in the fore in the coming invasion should not find their task too hard when the achievement of Vimy was realized. Belgium and France, in the low areas, would not be an easy country to invade but yet it was a terrain not particularly easy to defend. However the lesson of Vimy would encourage the Canadians fighting on the invasion front, Dr. Kelly said.

The problem of what to do after peace had come, was no easy one, he said. The last war was both won and lost by the Allies—not by the privates but by the civilians. The present war might have been avoided if a government of Chicago gangsters had been in charge, realistic and ready to sense intrigue and trickery and act accordingly, Dr. Kelly said. He referred to a book which had been published fairly recently, entitled, "What to do with Germany after the war." The author suggested real punishment for the German nation. Punishment was effective and the shingle, lath or rubber trap of years gone by, achieved a very satisfactory result for the wielder. The author of the book suggested that courts be establish to deal out punishment to the leaders and lesser heads of any country which had disobeyed international law, with the courts established in the countries where the offenses took place. No milk and water sympathy for the war criminals such as was dealt out to the Kaiser after the last war, Dr. Kelly said. The punishment should be so complete that repetition of the offenses would be given a wide birth.

Strict Measures

Germany should lose her sovereignty. It was foolish advice to say that Germany should not be crippled economically because Europe would collapse, he declared.

"What economic contribution has Germany made during the past 25 years," Dr. Kelly asked. Instead of contributing, Germany had taken 50 billions out of the countries which have been conquered. There should not be much worry over Germany's economic status. German finances should be controlled.

In England two men, Churchill and Eden had warned years back against Germany adopting a conquering role again and they were unheard. Baldwin, the man of finance was a man of peace. The financiers had said that Germany couldn't afford to go to war, but they were wrong, the speaker declared. The papers has said that back in 1939, financial cartels were ready to promote a loan of millions of dollars to Germany to fight the Russians. It was obvious that such an outlook should not prevail this time, the speaker said.

Vocal solos "The Trumpeter" and "Asleep in the Deep." were sung by Albert Hircock with Mrs. Lenore Greer at the piano.

Returned Soldier Speaks

Sergeant McIvor was introduced by Cliff Atkinson. Sergeant McIvor declared that it was good to be back home. If he was discharged from the army he hoped that he might join the Cobourg Legion. Speaking of the Cobourg boys overseas he said that these who were "kids" when they went overseas are men now, efficient and fit.

The toast to the women was proposed by W. O. Roy Service of Cobourg. Mr. Service, who said that his age was likely going to put him out of the army, added that he expected to be back in civies fairly soon. He paid tribute to the women in uniform who were handling their duties a efficiently as the men.

In replying to this toast, Mrs. McLaren said that the women of today were doing no more than was their duty. It was small in comparison with the sufferings of women in occupied countries or the dangers experienced by the women of Russia who did their nursing duties on the battle field, she declared.

The toast to the King was proposed by Arthur Waller. The greetings of Port Hope Legion were brought by Arthur Taylor.

LONDON, April 12 — (AP) — The German-controlled Vichy radio declared today that Italian Premier Pietro Badoglio had recognized the government of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), leader of the Yugoslav Army of national liberation.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

GET AFTER IT EARLY

WHEN YOU see the impending danger of a defensive ruff, and you can't afford it, you should figure out immediate measures, if you can, to protect yourself against that possibility. That means leading trumps at the earliest possible moment, to get the potential ruffer trumpless before he can cash the killer trick. Doing this one trick too late can be just late enough to beat yourself.

South, a bit of a handhog, justified his last bid here on the basis that North's bidding showed two spades, as a No Trump call the first time would not have been sound with only a singleton. Actually South got into the best contract, as the cards lie, if he could have played the hand right, but he did not.

West opened the club 2. Seeing a chance to make sure of four club tricks, South played low from dummy and won with the 10—apparently a cheap trick, but actually a most expensive one. To get into dummy for a trump finesse, he led toward the heart honors. East scored with his A and returned the club 4, which the A won. A heart to the K now enabled South to lead the spade 9 and send it through to the Q. West led a third club, which East ruffed with the spade K. The diamond J to the A now set the contract.

South should have read the club 2 as probably a fourth-best, marking East with a doubleton and threatening a third-round ruff. There was only one way to prevent that fatal ruff—lead trumps promptly and get trumps out before the opponents could lead twice more. This necessitated finding East with a trump honor and only one guard, or West with both honors unguarded. He should have won the club lead with dummy's K and led the spade 9 at once, losing to the Q. Winning the returned club in his own hand, he now should have laid down the spade A, hoping to drop the K from one defender or the other. When that worked, he would have been safe, and would have lost all told only one trick each in spades, hearts and diamonds.

Coffee Drinking Strike Issue

HOBOKEN, N.J., April 12—(AP) — Several thousand workers at the Bethlehem Steel Company Shipyard are refusing to work overtime in protest against what they describe as a company order prohibiting coffee-drinking on the job.

Thomas J. Flaherty, president of Local 15, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, C.I.O., said the night shift stopped work at 3:30 a.m. and did not work the normal two hours overtime. He predicted the day workers, who refused to stay overtime yesterday, would do so again today unless the company granted them permission to have their coffee on the job.

The local President said the men customarily drank coffee at their machines after they had completed their regular eight-hour shift, but that it did not interefere with their work.

Protection

FOR SMALL ESTATES

Every estate deserves the safety of Trust Company protection. The smaller your resources, the greater the need to ensure to your dependants the utmost benefit from what you leave.

Any idea that a Trust Company is not interested in small estates, or that the fees of a Corporate Trustee are higher than those allowed an individual, may be dismissed.

Japs Almost Surround Imphal Town

British Retain Hold On Strongpoints; Chinese Unit Gains

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, April 13—(AP)—The Japanese have edged around to the northwest of Imphal, supplementing their positions to the southwest of that partly-surrounded base in the Manipur plain of Eastern India, a Southeast Asia Headquarters communique disclosed today.

The announcement said British and Indian forces had captured a hill position in that area in hand-to-hand fighting.

(A Domei broadcast from Tokyo declared Japanese formations were launching thrusts near an airfield 2½ miles north of Imphal and also three miles northwest of Imphal. Other forces April 6 had reached a place nine miles northwest of Imphal and Sengmai, 12 miles northwest of Imphal, the broadcast said. A Domei correspondent claimed both Papel, 24 miles southeast of Imphal, and Moirang, another strategic point, where about to fall.

Jap Claim Gains

(The broadcast claimed the Japanese forced the Indian 23rd division to fall back to the north of Bishenpur, which is 17 miles southwest of Imphal, by seizing full control of the narrow trail south of Moirang, 24 miles south of Imphal and west of Lake Loktak.)

The Japanese previously had been reported operating west of the Imphal-Tiddim roads in penetrations which threatened the surrounding of the Manipur capital.

To the north, however, British forces were making progress in easing their situation by cleaning up some of the Manipur Road blocks with squeezing tactics near Kohima on the route to Dimapur and the Bengal-Assam railway lifeline.

This action was a mile-high battle in the Naga hills where the route turns westward to Dimapur.

American infantry raiders continued with the objective of completing a link with China before the monsoon by taking Nhpum Ga, in the hills east of the Mogaung valley of North Burma. Nhpum Ga is only 34 miles from the Myitkyina-Mandalay railway and 16 miles northeast of Kamaing, next important Japan-

Patrol Action Livens Front

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, April 13.—(CP Cable.) — Maintaining the constant vigilance that has marked the long lull on the Adriatic front, the Canadian Corps sent patrols from several battalions probing about the German positions Tuesday night.

The Germans also sent out patrols, one of which was repulsed by a Maritime unit, which killed one of the enemy.

An Ontario regiment lost two men on patrol in the coastal area and westerners, working behind the Germans near Crechio, six miles southwest of Ortona, located several enemy positions and withdrew without casualties.

Warm spring sunshine already has made fields green and dried out muddy roads.

A few soldiers already have ventured to swim in the blue Adriatic but they always keep an alert eye for the Germans, because the swimming hole is well within range of the enemy.

Hull Favors Going Ahead With Waterway

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP).—State Secretary Cordell Hull was disclosed to-day to have thrown his official support behind a move to win Congressional approval at this session for the $421,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and Hydro-Electric project.

Chairman Josiah Bailey of the Senate Commerce committee reported Mr. Hull had written him recommending enactment now of legislation that would authorize construction of the huge development immediately after the war.

"The enactment of this bill now," Mr. Hull wrote, "would provide the authorization for undertakings which would make an important contribution to the post-war period in providing for the expansion of water power development and for greater efficiency in transportation, as well as providing employment of useful and essential public works during the period immediately following the war."

In making the letter public, Senator Bailey said he personally believed the project involved a treaty between the United States and Canada, and as such could not be legally sanctioned by Congress through passage of a pending bill introduced by Senator George Aiken (Rep. Vt.).

A treaty requires two-thirds approval of the Senate, and the Senate rejected the St. Lawrence project in treaty form in 1934.

Senator Bailey said that if he is supported in this view by a subcommittee headed by John Overton (Dem., La.) which has been named to hold hearings on the Aiken bill, the measure will be turned over to the Foreign Relations committee.

Senator Aiken said various legal authorities had held that an agreement entered into in 1941 by the United States and Canada for joint construction of the project was not a treaty. Senator Aiken's bill would, besides approving that agreement, sanction an arrangement whereby the Federal government would grant power facilities to the State of New York.

Senator Aiken said he had requested Senator Overton to open hearings on the bill, and planned to invite Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, as a witness in support of it, along with Governors of several Great Lake States and other advocates.

One of Peterborough's best-known citizens, Dr. T. W. H. Young, former medical officer of health for Peterborough, coroner and veteran of the First Great War died this afternoon after several years of poor health.

Dr. Young who practiced medicine here for many years was as widely known as a military officer as a doctor. He commanded the 24th Field Battery here for a long time. In 1920 Dr. Young was appointed medical officer of health, a position he held until 1933.

In the first world war he was in command of a Canadian hospital overseas and was mentioned in despatches.

The squadron cited is commanded by Capt. Herbert H. Thompson of Pottsville, Pa.

Brave Canadian Dies Rather Than Surrender

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, April 13 — (CP). — Lieut J. G. Smith of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment will be remembered as the man who refused to be taken prisoner.

Smith, whose widow lives in Vancouver, was killed on December 10 when the Germans mowed down a group of Edmontons going forward to accept the surrender of prisoners. It was a Nazi trick which the Canadian Divisional Commander labelled "murder."

Details of that incident and of Smith's death were told by Maj. E. J. Bailey of Winnipeg, chaplain of the Edmontons. They disclosed that Smith, himself given the choice of surrendering or being killed, fought on until fatally wounded.

Smith led his men at a straight rush for 100 yards into the teeth of machine-gun fire, dropped to the ground, waited and then advanced another 50 yards which brought him and his men within 10 yards of th enemy's positions.

Then the Germans gave the surrender sign. Smith told his men to cease fire and went forward himself to take the prisoners, but he was covered by guns from the flanks and told to surrender or be killed.

His answer was to drop into a shallow shell hole and begin firing again. When his body was recovered a week later, five empty shells were found nearby and another was half way "up the spout" of his rifle. He was lifting himself slightly to ram in another round when a machine-gun bullet struck him in the head.

Bombers Hit Budapest Third Time

2-Ton Blockbusters Batter City's Railyards

NAPLES, April 13—(AP)—Allied planes attacked Budapest last night in their third assault on the capital of Hungary.

The communique said the raid was carried out "with good result" by medium bombers. A Reuters news agency broadcast quoted headquarters of Lt.-Gen. Ira C. Eaker as saying R.A.F. Wellingtons attacked the city, loosing two-ton blockbusters on Budapest for the first time. The broadcast said the attack was concentrated on the city's important railyards.

Budapest was first hit by United States heavy bombers April 3 and R.A.F. Wellingtons returned that night in a follow-up attack on rail targets there.

The Mediterranean air forces flew about 2,250 sorties during the day, including a heavy blow on the aircraft factory at Wiener Neustadt in Austria, and the railway system north of Rome.

Fourteen planes were lost in all operations, and at least 31 German aircraft destroyed, the communique said.

Aground, headquarters reported only patrol clashes on all fronts, and the repelling of small-scale Nazi attacks against Indian troops of the 8th Army on the Adriatic sector.

Railyards at Budapest were straddled with heavy bombs and one blockbuster struck a bottleneck point. Another stick fell among 100 rail cars, crew members said.

Reconnaissance pictures showed "considerable destruction" at Wiener Neustadt, 27 miles south of Vienna, with the main airplane plant there afire, and a components factory at Fischamend Markt heavily damaged.

(The Germans claimed 48 planes, including 37 four-engined bombers were downed over Austria and northern and central Germany Wednesday.)

Germans Plan Grand Attack

LONDON, April 13—(CP-Reuters)—The German general staff is planning to launch a big offensive in Poland before the Allies open a new front in Europe, Gen. Sir Gordon Finlayson, well-known military commentator, wrote today in the London Star.

The front for the possible attack lies on the Lwow-Kowel line, both towns being on the main communication routes from Germany, he said.

Gen. Finlayson reported indications of large German concentrations about those centres and said the Germans "realize that they must smash Russia or perish, and that it must be done before the western Allied attack."

"To this end they are reported to have brought divisions from the west to save the situation."

Bombs Fire Plane Factories In at Least Seven Axis Cities

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 13 — (CP) — United States heavy bombers landed a double blow at German aircraft production today, striking from Italy at works in Hungary and from Britain at important plants in Germany after an R.A.F. night block-buster raid on Budapest. The 15th Air Force at Foggia, Italy, hit a Messerschmitt factory near Gyor, 70 miles northwest of Budapest, as well as railroad car and machine works. The Tokol airdrome assembly plant 11 miles southwest of Budapest came under Liberator attack.

The British-based 8th Air Force made what the official announcement called a "four-bladed attack on aircraft plants at Augsburg and Oberpfoffenhofen, air force installations at Lechfeld, and a ball-bearing works at Schweinfurt." More than 500 bombers, accompanied by 750 to 1,000 fighter planes, went on this operation, and the announcement observed:

"The targets, all highly important to the German Air Force, had been hit previously, and today's blows were designed both to disrupt repairs and inflict new damage."

The blows at Hungary came after Italian-based R.A.F. Wellingtons hit Budapest last night with 4,000-pound block busters in the third raid within a month against rail yards important to Adolf Hitler's supplies on the Russian front.

Probably about 500 American heavy bombers participated in today's Italy-based onslaught, which carried into the sixth straight day the current offensive to wipe out the bulk of the German air force, both in the air and a-building, before D-day. The Vesces airdrome 10 miles south of Budapest was another of the 15th Air Force targets, while railroad yards at Brod, Yugoslavia, halfway between Belgrade and Zagreb, bore another section of the attack.

Earlier, R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. medium bombers attacked oft-battered coastal targets in Northern France. American medium bombers blasted Namur, Belgium, a German air base at Chievres in Belgium, and military targets on the Northern French coast. One American plane failed to return.

Often attacked previously, Osnabruck is a Ruhr Valley industrial and rail centre and is one of the most concentrated targets in Germany, covering only about four square miles.

British coastal towns opposite the French channels ports of Boulogne and Calais shook to heavy explosions. There has been no official explanation but some coastal residents expressed belief they may be coming from a heavy concentration of enemy gun perhaps recently installed and being tested for range. Others believe they come from strengthened anti-aircraft defences in that sector. Doors and windows rattled violently in homes and buildings near the waterfront as the rumbles continued across the channel.

At 11 a.m. the German radio declared that single enemy planes were over northern and central Germany, and 15 minutes later issued a warning that "a strong enemy formation is approaching southeastern Germany."

The early morning blow by the R.A.F. mediums was described as highly successful. One plane failed

Jitterbug Coal Pops From Scuttle In School Book Moves, Blinds Smoke, Pupils Terrified

BISMARCK, N.D., April 13—(AP)—State Fire Marshal Charles Schwartz today was puzzling over what he says is one of the most mysterious cases ever called to the attention of his department—"The Case of the Jitterbug Coal."

Stark county superintendent of schools R. J. Swenson called the marshal's office March 28 to report a series of "strange happenings" at the Wild Plum school house, 20 miles south of Richardtown.

The story, as pieced together by Schwartz from the sworn testimony of school patrons, pupils and the teacher, was:

On March 28, Mrs. Pauline Rebel, Wild Plum teacher, and her eight pupils were amazed when a pail of lignite coal near the stove began to stir restlessly without any apparent cause.

Lumps of coal started popping out of the pail.

Jack Steiner, a pupil, was hit on the head and slightly injured.

The coal pail tipped over and the lumps of lignite ignited.

Window blinds in each of the nine windows started smouldering and a dictionary began to move.

Schwartz said Wild Plum school officials testified when they arrived the coal was still reacting to a mysterious force. Pieces they picked up trembled in their hands.

An analysis of the coal by the state chemist failed to reveal any chemical which might have caused such action.

"We plan to send the pail, the dictionary and a sample of the coal to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington to see if any light can be thrown on the case," Schwartz said.

School officials have closed the school pending an investigation.

Two-Pronged Crimean Drive 35 Miles From Sevastopol

LONDON, April 13—(AP). — Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Caucasian army, in a rapid sprint westward along the Black Sea coast of the Crimea, has captured Feodosiya, 100 airline miles east of the naval base of Sevastopol, Marshal Joseph Stalin announced in an order of the day.

Feodosiya is 58 miles west of Kerch at the eastern tip of the Crimea and 18 miles west of the last reported position of the Red Army. It is 62 miles east of Simferopol, administrative centre of the pendant-shaped peninsula.

The broadcast order of the day said Yeremenko's independent maritime army "broke through the enemy defences" at Akmanai, where the Germans had constructed a fortified belt across the narrow neck of the Kerch peninsula.

At the same time, Moscow dispatches reported, Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 4th Ukrainian Army was sweeping down from the north and was within sight of the buildings of Simferopol, 35 miles north of Sevastopol.

German Papers Flood Neutrals

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LISBON, April 13 —(AP)— The tremendous battering which German cities have been taking recently from Allied air fleets has had little visible effect on the outpouring of Nazi newspapers and periodicals for export to this and other neutral countries.

Occasionally an important daily such as the Voelkischer Beobachter or the Boersen Zeitung appears on Lisbon newsstands printed on what resembles cheap wrapping paper. Sometimes the so-called Boulevard sheets seem to have run out of red ink. But a day or two later they are back to normal.

One explanation of the uninterrupted appearance of these papers, despite Allied bombings, may be the fact that there are hundreds of big printing establishments in occupied countries. As long as there are any of these left it will be possible to continue the publication of daily newspapers and illustrated weeklies for export under German datelines.

In any case, the general impression which these papers seek to create is that German productivity of all kinds has scarcely been dented.

This illusion is strengthened by the policy of swamping their news dispatches reporting difficulties and discontent on the Allied side of the fence while compressing to a few paragraphs the coverage of what is happening in Germany.

The German press thus is doing its bit with paper and ink to supplement the military defences that have been thrown up around fortress Europe, seeking always to convey the impression that inside that fortress is a solid core of determined strength.

Miners Accept Four-Year Plan

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—A government four-year plan providing a £5 minimum weekly wage has been accepted by coal miners, giving promise of a truce in strikes which twice this year have hampered Britain's war production.

Miner delegates conferring in London brought in the card votes from their district and announced today that 512,000 were for acceptance and 97,000 were opposed.

The Mine Workers' Federation already had endorsed the plan and had firmly opposed strikes such as the early April walkout in Yorkshire in which miners opposed certain provisions, such as a deduction of two shillings weekly for coal they took home for domestic use.

King Victor Eases Tense Situation

Monarchy In Italy On The Way Out, Communism Shows Considerable Gain

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

If the seers of ancient Rome were with us to read the flight of the birds of omen, I think we should be told that King Victor Emmanuel's promise of retirement may presage the end of monarchy for Italy.

Of course that's not what the sovereign has in mind when he says he will turn the rule over to Crown Prince Humbert as soon as Allied troops enter Rome. Victor Emmanuel hopes to continue the dynasty through his son, but whatever may be the outcome there's no doubt the Italian throne is rocking dangerously.

It's been agreed the Italian people shall choose their own form of government after the war—providing it's democratic. That doesn't bar a monarchy. However, there's a trend towards the left in Italy and one of the strong elements is Communism.

Palmiro Togliatti, Communist leader, has campaigned for a united war cabinet, but has coupled with this the declaration his party is willing to take subordinate posts in the government.

Friendly Attitude

Italian Premier Badoglio's attitude towards the Communists has been friendly, especially since Moscow's recognition of his interim government. In this connection the London Daily Mail today says Soviet recognition "undoubtedly strengthened Marshal Badoglio in the difficult task of asking for the King's retirement.

Victor Emmanuel's promise to retire has eased a tense situation, since there has been heavy pressure on him to abdicate, specially by the Italian Communists. It's expected his action will permit of the formation of a new cabinet which will include Communist representation.

The present Italian government will continue until the war is over. Then there will be a pebliscite to determine the form of government desired.

Thus Italy may give us an early gauge of the political trend on the continent of Europe. It's certain that the Italian Communists will try to carry the day. Just as it's certain that Communist will play a big part in numerous other countries, notably in the Balkans just across the Adriatic from Italy.

Taxes Preventing Planning

Industry Needs Special Post-War Budget

MONTREAL, April 13. —(CP).— Revenue Minister Gibson said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Montreal Builders' Exchange to-day he realized that under the present high rates of tax it has been difficult, or even impossible, for industry to provide for post-war development.

He had noted a Canadian Construction Association brief recommending industries be allowed to charge as expenses for taxation purposes disbursements up to a certain amount which were made in planning for post-war projects.

Mention of this position had been made in the speech from the Throne at the opening of Parliament in January, "and the matater now is being seriously considered," Col. Gibson said.

"While such expenses do not now qualify as 'disbursements necessarily made for the purpose of earning the income,' it is recognised that such expenses must, in many cases, be undertaken in preparing for the post-war period.

Other recommendations that have been made, such as the exemption of building materials from the sales tax for a certain period after the war, and a revision of the excess profits tax, are matters that will of course receive the consideration of the Minister of Finance (Hon. J. L. Ilsley)."

Allies Start To Get Tough

Eire, Spain And Turkey Being Watched

LONDON, April 13.—(CP).—Britain and the United States toughened their policy toward neutrals today by reducing steamship service to Eire, protesting against increased shipments of chrome to Germany and condemning the Spanish seizure of Allied oil stocks in Spanish Morocco.

The Ministry of War Transport announced steamship service from Britain to Eire would be cut after April 24. This followed suspension of telephone service and virtual prohibition of travel permits.

Britain and the U. S. were both said by an authoritative informant to have made strong representations to Spain about oil and to Turkey about chrome.

It was probable that similar notes would be dispatched dealing with Spanish and Portuguese shipments of wolfram and Swedish exports of ball bearings to Germany.

Spain seized oil belonging to Allied-owned companies at Tetuan, Spanish Morocco.

Seizure of stocks belonging to the Anglo-American, Shell and Vacuum Oil Companies has been reported, following the refusal of the companies to pay a special tax imposed on them after the United States government clamped a ban on the delivery of Caribbean oil to Spain last January.

Prisoner Pleads Need For Funds Caused Theft

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., reserved sentence for week in police court this morning on Francis Edward Ruttle, 30, who had pleaded guilty to breaking into the cottage of Frank Tanner in Chandos township and stealing a quantity of clothing and other articles.

Ruttle who recently moved into the Chandos district after living in Port Arthur told the court that he had stolen the stuff because he was down and out and was anxious to help his wife.

Pte. Frank Tanner of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, stationed at Bowmanville said that the stolen goods amounted to about $85. They included a couple of ladies' coats, blankets, a table-cloth, several shirts, a war saving certificate, and a pair of trousers.

Burned Certificates

Provincial Constable McClure said that Ruttle had admitted burning two war savings certificates he had taken from the Tanner place, along with some of the clothing. A partially burned table cloth was introduced as an exhibit.

The officer said that the padlock had been broken off the back door of the Tanner cottage and an inner door had been completely shattered with an axe.

Ruttle said that he had had an operation in the early part of the winter and had been unable to do much work since. He had come to the northern part of Peterborough county because a doctor had said that he should be where it was quiet. He told the court that his wife was ill and that he had broken into the Tanner place because he was up against it and was anxious to help his wife.

Magistrate Langley decided to reserve sentence for a week to let the police get some information as to the accused's status in the Port Arthur district.

Court Levies $10 Fine On Careless Driver

"I had had several complaints about the manner in which the accused was driving his car" said Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure in giving evidence in police court this morning in a case in which Orval Windover had pleaded guilty to careless driving.

"The complaints were that Windover, every time another car attempted to pass him would step on the gas" the officer stated.

"I wasn't holding traffic back" said Windover.

Magistrate Langley said that he thought a $10 fine would be sufficient.

11,751 Apply For Benefits

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 13 —(CP)—With Canada's unemployment insurance fund totalling $182,613,627 at Feb. 29 1944, some 2,750,000 Canadian workers now have an average of $66 each in a pot intended to help see them through slack periods.

Since the first workers became entitled to collect benefits from the fund in February, 1942—after paying in for 180 days—a total of $1,711,443 has been paid out in benefits. A natural seasonal tendency in the winter, combined with some industrial lay-offs, sent the number of applications for benefits to a new high of 11,751 in January.

The balance of $182,613,627 has been accumulated since compulsory unemployment insurance was introduced in July, 1941. Employers and employees have jointly contributed $149,413,103 and the government has paid $29,882,621. The balance has been earned in interest.

What are known as class workers pay 12 cents a week into the fund and their employers pay 21 cents. These workers are entitled, if they are single, to a benefit of $4.08 a week, or if they have one or more dependents, $4.80.

The scale goes from there up to workers earning $26 a week or more. In that category the employee chips in 36 cents a week, his employer 27 cents and the benefits are $12.24 for single persons and $14.40 for those with dependents.

Records of the payments are kept in unemployment insurance books which are issued for each individual employee. New books for the present fiscal year now are being issued and old ones have to be turned in and will be filed at unemployment insurance offices to maintain a record of past contributions.

Men and women in the armed forces are having their rights in the fund protected. Contributions made by these people are held by the commission and will stand to their credit when they leave the forces.

1,000 Strike

LOS ANGELES, April 13—(AP).—One thousand A.F.L. Officers Testify Accident Caused By Drunk Driver

Three Crown witnesses heard at this morning's session testified that John Joseph Allen, Bethune street, was drunk when they saw him after a traffic accident at Aylmer and McDonnel streets on the night of March 29.

Aline had pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunk driving and was defended by John A. Bradshaw, while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry prosecuted.

John Yelland, R.R. 3, Peterborough, testified that he was driving east on McDonnel street, and at Aylmer street his machine was involved in a collision with another car travelling at a fast rate north on Aylmer street. He said that Allen was the driver of the other car and that when he went over to him after the accident that the accused was drunk.

"He didn't know where he was or what happened,' the witness said.

Find Bottles.

Constable Gordon Trennum and Andre Dalton who investigated the accident both testified that Allen was drunk when they saw him. The officers stated that in the open glove apartment in the Allen car they found two empty beer bottles with fresh foam noticeable.

"He was a far different looking man that night than he is to-day," Officer Trennum stated in describing Allen's condition.

Constable Dalton said that while he was driving Allen to the police station after the accident the accused had admitted that he had been drinking.

"He said he had driven at other times when he was drunk and nothing had happened," the officer said. "When we took him into the guard room he had to support himself against the table."

At this stage the court adjourned until this afternoon.

Kurile Island Blasted Anew

PEARL HARBOR, April 13 (AP)—American Army and Navy bombers resumed Monday and Tuesday, where they had left off in March, their attacks on the Kurile approaches to Japan.

Army planes ranged within 1,000 miles of Tokyo to hit Matsuwa and Onnekotan Monday and a single plane bombed Matsuwa again the next day. Tuesday Navy planes raided Paramushiro and Shimushu.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, said the Carolines and Marshalls were other targets.

Heavy bombers lashed Monday at Truk. Fires were set and a large explosion touched off in the town of Dublon. The Moen airstrip was hit. Truk's eastern guardian, Ponape, was pounded Monday and Tuesday by medium bombers. The raiders attacked buildings, a storage area, airfields and small craft.

Indian Picture Rather Gloomy

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) —War Secretary Stimson said today that Japanese troops had cut the road between Imphal and Kohima and "are attacking both towns."

He observed at a press conference where he made the disclosure that "it is not too difficult" for troops to penetrate in areas of the hills and jungles. A linear defence at Imphal, he said, could not be employed but it is possible in such fighting to retain certain strong points on defense. Thus far, he added, British and Indian troops are holding the strong points.

He said that "substantial reserves of men and weapons are available" in the area.

The War Secretary, however, avoided predictions on the outcome by saying that "in the middle of a battle there is never anything to be gained by predictions; developing facts best speak for themselves."

JACOB FINKELMAN

busily "disengaging themselves" in the Crimea.

Other Russian armies yesterday captured both Tiraspol, 53 miles northwest of Odessa, and Falticeni, 60 miles south of Cernauti and 170 miles north of the valuable Ploesti oil fields, a Russian cimmunique announced.

Red Army troops also drew tighter the noose around the Skala pocket north of the middle Dnestr River, where the remnants of 15 German divisions—possibly 10,000 men—faced annihilation.

The twin Russian drive through the Crimea was materially aided by the Soviet Black Sea Fleet Air Force which was blasting enemy evacuation ports and communication lines with devastating results, the war bulletin reported. Harbor installations at Feodosiya were bombed, and four landing barges and a torpedo boat.

Constanta, Romanian Black Sea port and oil shipping centre, also was heavily bombed, Moscow said. Constanta is 230 miles across the Black Sea from Sevastopol and presumably would be one of the logical ports of debarkation for Axis troops evacuated from the Crimea.

In crashing the "second power zone" of the Axis defences in the northern Crimea, Gen. Tolbukhin's troops led off with a combination frontal and flank attack on the Ishun sector, Moscow dispatches said. Other columns speeding down from the Sivash Sea struck in a southwesterly direction, stormed the fortified town of Voinka and then drove down the central Crimean railroad for 43 miles to Karachakangil. The Germans were reported retreating rapidly, apparently heading for Sevastopol where perhaps 100,000 German and Romanian troops making up the Crimean garrison may elect to make a final stand. At the end of the day, Gen. Tolbukhin's vanguards were within 11 miles of Simferopol. with Sevastopol only 35 miles further south, Moscow said.

Extra Permit Brings $50 Fine

Illegal possession of an extra liquor permit to which he pleaded guilty in police court this morning cost C. M. Rishor a fine of $50 and $2.50 costs.

Capt. Ralph Standish who appeared for the accused, pointed out that the regulation had been passed to prevent bootlegging and that there was no suspicion of that in this particular case. He said that Rishor had thought that he had lost his original permit and had taken out a second one in Toronto. Later when he recovered the missing permit he had made the mistake of using them both.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in imposing a fine of $50 and costs, said that it was necessary to remember in fixing a penalty that it should be a warning to others not to commit similar offences.

Board Prevents Ford Walk-out

WINDSOR, April 13 (CP) — Intervention by the National Wartime Labor Relations Board in a dispute between the Ford Motor Company of Canada and Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) has averted possibility of work stoppage at the huge plant, Union officials said today.

They said that M. M. McLean, chief executive officer of the Board, told both Union and Company in a message to "observe practices prevailing" before the present dispute arose over the question of grievance procedure. Mr. McLean's message followed an appeal from Roy England, president of Local 200.

Union officials, who said this was the first time the new Board has acted prior to a dispute reaching a strike or work stoppage, explained that tension developed in the plant because the Company changed from the usual practice of handling grievances through Union Stewards. Twentyq-seven stewards were given misconduct notices, being informed that "appropriate action" would be taken against them if they persisted in handling grievances.

Tension was said by Union men to have been at a high point in the plant all day yesterday.

There was no immediate comment from the Company.

Chinese in the Mogaung valley advanced from Tingring, 18 miles north of Kamaing, and took Pumsin 25 miles to the northeast in the hills flanking the valley.

The Kumon range, in which American soldiers are battling Japanese troops, runs north of Myitkina to the tip of northern Burma. The town of Mogaung is at the southern end of the range.

Fighter bombers, supporting these ground operations, started large fires among enemy installations on Tuesday, the communique said, and the violent explosions which followed caused heavy damage.

Enemy installations in the Arakan Kaladan, Chin Hills and Chindwin Valley areas in western Burma were also bombed severely by fighter-bombers and dive-bombers, headquarters said, while fighters joined them to shoot up communications and supply lines.

Far to the south heavy bombers attacked the city of Moulmein on the Gulf of Martaban last night, starting huge fires at the railway station, in the dock areas and in the Rice Mill districts of the port. Prome, Irrawaddy River port 215 miles northeast of Moulmein, also was bombed in the same raid, the communique said.

Sink Million Tons

LONDON, April 13.—(CP).—More than 1,000,000 tons of enemy shipping has been sunk by mines laid by British planes since the spring of 1940 in the thousand square miles of water along the enemy coast from the Bay of Biscay to the Gulf of Danzig, the Air Ministry announced last night.

Retired C.N.R. Officer Suffered For 20 Years, Now Works 12 Hours Daily

Was Veteran of World War I. Returned With Bad Stomach Troubles. Took Many Treatments. Says Syntona Brought Relief After All Things He Tried Had Failed.

MR. HARRY GARVIN

Mr. Harry Garvin, well-known former C.N.R. police officer, who resides at 227 Ray Street North, Hamilton, Ontario, thinks every suffered of stomach troubles should be able to profit by the experience he had over a long period of years. He is Mr. Garvin's story in his own words as told recently:

"For twenty years I suffered from stomach troubles, which originated during my overseas service in World War I. At first it was only pastries, fried meats, and some other rich foods that gave me trouble, but as time went on I got so bad I could hardly eat a thing without having awful attacks of gas, acid risings, and heartburn. My stomach would bloat to almost twice its normal size. Sometimes my stomach and chest burned like there was a fire inside me and I was subject to bad dizzy spells. I had no ambition to do my work and I felt miserable all the time.

"I took all sorts of medicines. Then I went on a diet, I spent weeks in a hospital where I had the best of treatment, but nothing seemed to do me much good. One day I read in the paper about Syntona and I decided to try it. From the very first bottle my stomach felt better and after taking it several weeks I was able to eat anything and everything without fear of suffering afterward. That has been some time ago, but I have had no serious return of the trouble since.

"After many years' service with C.N.R. I am now retired, but I felt that I should be doing something to help out the war effort, so I recently got a job with one of our industrial plants. I am on duty from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. and thanks to Syntona I feel better than I have felt for many years."

No matter what medicines you may have tried, or how long you may have suffered, you owe it to yourself to give Syntona a chance to help you. Leading men and women throughout this entire city are telling almost every day of the good results that it gives.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Dogs At Large In Cobourg May Be Killed

COBOURG, April 13.— (ENS) — Dogs running at large on Cobourg streets was the subject of comment at a meeting of the town council on Tuesday. Councillor Alan Field pointed out that too many dogs were loose on the streets and it was decided to warn dog owners that dogs without tags which are running at large may be destroyed by the police. The hope was expressed that a warning may be sufficient.

Mayor Jack Burnet produced a lengthy questionnaire which had been sent to him by a firm engaged in collecting data on industrial sites. Among the questions was that of how far the town was from the nearest airport. Council decided to see what could be done by way of supplying the information required.

Orville Calhoun's request for extension of the sidewalk on the west side of Walton street from the corner to his property was referred back to him with the advice that a petition, properly signed by the citizens affected, should be presented. Thomas Guthrie wrote asking for removal of a tree at his premises and construction of a wooden sidewalk; referred to Streets Committee.

Claim for damages on the part of Harry Edwards for a fall on the sidewalk was referred to the town's insurance company. Permission was given to the Victory Loan committee for use of the opera house for a concert on April 21.

Lakefield Given Authority To Fill Lots

LAKEFIELD, April 13—(ENS).—Second step toward cleaning up the swamp lots in the village came on Tuesday night at the April Council meeting when the C.N.R. offered the village the authority to fill and level the eyesore. A small portion of these lots belongs to the village, but the majority of the property is owned by the C.N.R., and it was felt that some additional agreement with the C.N.R. should be made before the Council takes any action.

Reeve Scriver suggested that the village ashes be placed there, but said if all the lots were filled in it might take 50 years to do the job.

Councillor George Charlton suggested a light coating of ashes, with a further filling of nepheline waste, covered with top soil might do the job quicker.

Councillor Reg Doubt proposed that an agreement with the C.N.R. be obtained so that the village would not have spent several years of work in beautifying the property only to have it taken away from them. He suggested if this agreement could be obtained the Council work on possibly a five-year plan with so much to be accomplished each year according to a definite diagram of beautification.

Assess Boat Houses.

Gerald Northey's request for permission to build a boat house on the water front brought out the point that this year all the boat houses along the bay will be assessed and taxed accordingly — something that has never been done before, occupants using them tax-free in the past.

Property Chairman W. C. Grant said there were a number of dead trees in the park which are a menace to residents and campers, and should be cut. Men will be hired to do this at once and the wood cut up to be used in the park cookhouse stove.

A review of the business tax figures showed some business men had not paid the tax since 1938, and as soon as E. H. Humpage has completed an audit of the town books, court action will be taken to obtain these taxes Tax sale lists are also being prepared.

No calcium will be ordered this year for the village streets, as road oil has again become available.

Several requests had been received from residnets regarding use of the village grader on lanes and driveways and the council decided it would be available providing the time spent on the job was paid for.

Roads Commissioner Charlton proposed to use iron drainage pipes on several culverts where frost had broken tiles. He pointed out that the iron pipe available was cheaper than tiles used up to the present.

The Fair Board on Howard Beavis' request was granted permission to hold a street dance on July 3.

Some discussion again took place on the garbage issue, the collector having protested that in many cases people with septic tanks objected to the small fee charged for having their garbage collected once a month. Councillor Grant suggested that twice a month would be better and G. H. Charlton said that probably the only satisfactory method would be by having the whole thing put on the taxes, thus avoiding the collection issue and Councillor George Graham supported the idea.

Chief Garnet Samis in his monthly report showed two fines for infractions of the liquor act and a number of complaints handled.

Council made a further appeal to the Hydro in an effort to have a light placed between the Glynnwood Farms and the village limits.

Reeve Gordon S. Scriver, Councillors George Charlton, George Graham, W. C. Grant and Reg. Doubt and Clerk E. H. Northey were present.

Accounts were passed as follows: Chief Samis, first half March salary, $51.20; council session allowance at $9 each for first quarter, 1944, $45; fire department truck license, $4; street labor, $48.42; S. J. Charlton, Lloyd's insurance on workmen, $208.80; gauge for fire department, $5.40; Thomas Chaplin, stamps, $3; Bell Telephone Co., hall, $3.80; police, $1.59; Thomas Chaplin, box rent, post office, $5; Goodrich Rubber Co. hose, fire department, $255; Chief Samis, half March salary, $51; High School advance, $1,500; Public School advance, $1,000; Pyrene refills, $33.20; F. S. Coyle, grader repair, $3,36; Lakefield News, cards revaluation, $16; Hydro Electric, hall $14.21, streets $134.03, stable 75c, total $148.99; Ontario Hospital, $45.50; Percy McFadden, ploughing and sanding, $14.70; N. A. Moore, planking for street, $3.97; fire department payroll and phone, $231.5; Chief Samis, March car expenses, $10; Foster's garage, gas, etc. for grader, $31.84. Total, $3,717.15.

Family Prayer Vital Need

ROSENEATH, April 13—(ENS)—An address entitled "The Sabbath" was the special feature of the W.M.S. meeting on Tuesday afternoon. It was the Easter thankoffering service and the speaker was Mrs. W. A. Atkinson.

Mrs. Atkinson outlined the essentials in keeping the Sabbath Day holy and questioned, "Why Go to Church?" In answer, she said. In united prayer and praise to God, there comes courage to the heart. The power of prayer, including family prayer, readiness for public worship and the importance of Bible study were developed by the speaker. That Christians must needs be brave, and that never before were brave Christians needed as they are today was asserted by Mrs. Atkinson in conclusion.

Mrs. T. Coyle, speaking in appreciation of Mrs. Atkinson's address said, "she has renewed in our hearts what we believe and profess."

The meeting was held in Mrs. A. Halstead's home, with Mrs. Billie Halstead as joint hostess. The president, Mrs. R. Crego presided. The program was opened by Misses Margaret and Clarice Atkinson, singing "Jesus Stand Among Us", and a series of articles under the heading "They Found the Church There", were read by various members.

A brief business session was held and it was decided to postpone the cooking sale until later in the season. The May meeting will be held in Mrs. George Mouncey's home, with Mrs. A. Halstead as program convener.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Nichol, reported $26.27 in the treasury and the president announced the allocation for the coming year as $165, the same as the previous year. She reported also that the Cobourg Presbyterial had remitted $7,915 to branch, an increase of $5.80; and donated $257 toward the Batawa Church fund. The thankoffering was $18.50. The meeting closed with the benediction sung by the Misses Atkinson.

The hostesses' assisted by the members of the society served refreshments, and a social hour followed.

U.S. Foreign Policy

Within the past month sudden excitement boiled up in the United States about the apparent lack of a coherent foreign policy among the officials of the Roosevelt administration, and the excitement was allayed by an important pronouncement by the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull. This speaker stated a policy for the administration—a policy of international co-operation—which has given the greatest pleasure and encouragement to the United Nations. After the last war President Wilson stated a foreign policy for his country which the government refused to ratify; it is impossible to say how far that repudiation went in destroying the power and influence of the League of Nations, but it was a serious blow. It is good to know where the American government stands now, and where it may be expected to stand if the Democratic party remains in power after the coming election.

Mr. Hull's declaration was, in the broadest sense, an election move. The Democrats have taken a strong stand for international co-operation. By repudiating Wendell Willkie the Republicans have taken an equally strong stand for isolation. Both parties seem ready to stand or fall on this one bold issue.

Millions of people who are powerless to influence it one way or the other will watch the election contest with anxiety. The United States is one of the greatest of world powers; opinion is divided among the American people as to what responsibilities that commanding position brings with it. In Canada our interest in the U.S. foreign policy is particularly acute, because our own foreign policy is so strongly and so inevitably influenced by it.

And we have another cause for anxiety. No nation, however great, can flout its destiny too often. A rival to the U.S. in industrial and productive might has arisen—the U.S.S.R.—and if the U.S. wants to withdraw from international politics and international obligations, the U.S.S.R. will be only too glad to take the place which it leaves vacant. What this might mean to the U.S. over a quarter of a century may easily be imagined. If the U.S. were to declare for isolationism at the autumn election it would blight itself as surely as it blighted the League of Nations after the last war.

The Secret Of Life

"Digestion is the great secret of life", said Sydney Smith; it is a secret which some of us seek in vain. Yet a clue to our trouble may be found in this letter, which an American doctor recently addressed to the Toronto Telegram:

"Sir,—I have spent a few days in your very fine city. I had my lunch yesterday in a nice restaurant, where the food was excellent. I noticed (as one does) the very fast way that Toronto's young men and women—and middle-aged people, also—ate their food! It really shocked me. What will their digestive organs be like if they live to be fifty? They are ruining their stomachs. I thought U.S. people ate fast, but I have never seen anything like that which I witnessed in Toronto".

We have observed this gobbling in Toronto, and we have observed it to be very common elsewhere in Ontario, too; very frequently a man is forced to bolt his food whole, like a snake, in order to keep up with his companions at the table.

There used to be a popular legend that Mr. Gladstone chewed each mouthful of his food some extraordinary number of times—it was 85 times, or 90 times, the number varied with each repetition of the tale. We do not, of course, believe that Mr. Gladstone's greatness in statecraft was the result of this habit, and we are told by many doctors that chewing food or not chewing it has little effect on its nutritive qualities. But it is worth observing that Mr. Gladstone lived to a ripe old age—he died at 89—and preserved his digestion and his zest for life to the very end. His chewing habits at least prevented him from bolting his food, and thus aided him in maintaining that alert calm without which no man can hope to attain wisdom.

Very little time is gained by eating quickly. But much enjoyment and peace of mind may be destroyed and lost forever by bolting. The secret of life is digestion; let us keep the secret as well as we can.

An "Underground" Racket

A report from England tells us of a particularly despicable racket. A woman named Florence Lily Butler has been convicted of defrauding four wealthy sisters of the sum of £17,000—the equivalent of $75,650 in dollar currency.

The sisters were four women named Camenisch, and it may be that they are of Belgian descent. In any case, they made the acquaintance of a Lady Josephine Butler, who said that she was a daughter of the Queen of the Belgians, and also that she was closely in touch with an underground movement in Belgium which had it in its power to do great harm to the Hitler regime in that country. But of course all such movements need money for their work, and the Camenisch sisters were eager to help; that was how they came to trust Lady Josephine Butler with seventeen thousand pounds.

Lady Josephine Butler was actually Lily Butler, the daughter of a builder and an employee in the Ministry of Economic Warfare. She imposed successfully upon the Camenisch sisters, but they suspected her, caused her to be apprehended, and the story ends with her going to jail for a year, and paying a fine of $1,335.

There is something especially mean about this deception. The patriotic anxiety and eagerness to help of the four women was abused by a clever imposter who probably gave verisimilitude to her trickery with information which she picked up while doing a government job. Perhaps in her year's retirement she will decide to mend her ways.

For Home Consumption

An interesting dispatch from Ottawa tells of an increased demand for products of Canadian culture which can be exported to other countries. The Trade Department, the National Gallery and the National Film Board are being asked by the representatives of other United Nations, and members of the British Commonwealth for records of Canadian music, Canadian books, Canadian films, Canadian folk-art and anything, indeed, which they can use as symbols and examples of Canada's culture. And as a result recordings of Canadian music—chiefly French-Canadian folk-songs, as the only native music that we have—Canadian novels and histories, and Canadian films are going to every free country on earth, to show the people there what we can do.

In this connection it is also interesting to read that Mr. H. S. Southam, the Chairman of the National Gallery at Ottawa, has said that the building which houses our national collection of pictures, has become hopelessly inadequate for its task, and that Canada will need a new National Gallery building after the war. It is not generally realized what a fine collection is housed in the present building, or how many excellent loan exhibitions the Gallery sends to all parts of this Dominion.

And now we come to our point. Peterborough is going to build a new city hall after the war, and it seems to be agreed that this hall will contain an auditorium or a meeting-place which can be used for a variety of purposes. May we suggest that the architect be instructed to arrange this auditorium so that it will be suitable as an exhibition hall for pictures? Little expense would be involved in this project; it would simply be a matter of placing the hall so that it was well-lighted. If we had such an auditorium in Peterborough it would then be possible for us to benefit by the loan exhibitions of the National Gallery, and perhaps have two shows of pictures in this city every year—one in the autumn and once in the spring. We are convinced that there is a public here for such exhibitions, and that that public would grow rapidly as opportunities for seeing fine pictures increased.

Our city has grown during recent years in population and prosperity. We must see that it has a chance to grow culturally also, and that as many amusements and entertainments of the better sort are provided for our population as we can manage. A hall where pictures could be exhibited would be a great boon.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A columnist remarks that Montagu Norman, the retiring governor of the Bank of England, "looked like an artist, but his brain was sharp"; if he had looked like a banker the assurance might have been even more necessary.

"There is a choice in books as in friends, and the mind sinks or rises to the level of its habitual society", says a sage. Well, well! We never knew that detectives had so many friends.

(The ninth in a series of letters from a father to a son in the armed services.)

Cedar Hill, April -th, 1944.

DEAR John,—Never before within my memory have I wakened, as I did this morning, to a realization that for the night which is gone and the day that is begun I am alone and solitary on Cedar Hill. I do not like this being alone. While not particularly gregarious by nature and perhaps introspective to a degree more pronounced than is usual, I appreciate the proximity of other people.

I am alone this day because we of le famille Grosselliers are a prideful people. And being possessed of this self-centred pride, would find it difficult to be at peace within ourselves if we were to do less than is indicated in this hour of our nation's need for the services of its individual citizens. I, in my young manhood; you, in yours; Peter and Sara now that they have crossed the barrier of extreme youth and are eligible for whatever service they are best fitted. If they—Peter and Sara—have not already written of their intentions to join you in the services, it is with great pleasure, and a greater pride, that I write you this advisement of their actual entry. Both are with the flying services; Peter bent on piloting Spitfires, or failing that, anything that rides the skies; Sara, bewailing her sex because it is forbidden to fly, but determined to be as close to actual flying as possible. They left yesterday to report to their respective headquarters and, much to their ill-concealed disgust, your mother decided to accompany them as far as Toronto. Which explains why I am so entirely alone on Cedar Hill.

AND so we Canadians, who are true Canadians and are mindful of the honour, send our sons and daughters to the wars. We send them first because our nation is a party to this warfare being waged, and second because we believe our cause is just. They will acquit themselves as nobly as we have a right to expect, and with peace they will return to us. They shall have given the very best years of their lives in service to us and shall have suffered, perhaps died, in their defense of what is given to them as truth and right. For those who shall have died we can give nothing but our respect for a nation's worthy dead. For those who return, perhaps enfeebled by the rigours of war, or maimed in body or mind by the terrible, blasting horrors that are the engines of war, what shall we do? How shall we reward them? How can we reward them for their loss of limb, of sanity? The answer is obvious: while it is impossible to replace something that is gone forever, there can be something done to show our appreciation of their sacrifice by giving the unfortunate all that is modernly possible in treatment of their injuries and, having done all that can be done, provide for their future as wards of a great nation recognizing in full detail its responsibilities to its disabled soldier citizens. What a small price, indeed, is this responsibility of the nation when it is considered that the soldier has given his absolute all, his body and soul, to the service of this nation!

THEN the hundred thousands that return from foreign shores the mark of war upon them it is true, but otherwise uninjured and whole, and their regimented services no longer in demand? Ah, my boy, that is a problem! It cannot be solved by hospitals, pensions, memorials, or fine and lofty speeches. Yet they deserve the nation's best in that they served and willingly the cause of the nation.

AS I stood among the pines on the crest of Cedar Hill I ruminated on the thought of what is best for the reborn civilian freed at long last from the restraining grasp of a disciplined life in the armed services. The average soldier at the moment of peace will clamour for release from his bondage. He will be eager to return to a place in civilian life and will feel he is deserving of at least something in the way of priority. He will be hurt by the realization that little in the way of priority is offered and that those who fate decreed should stay far from where the battle was joined, are not at all eager to give up to the returning soldier anything which in the giving would cause an impoverishment of their own condition.

With due respect and full appreciation of the efforts of any and all organizations formed to promote the re-establishment of the returning thousands, I submit that the prime responsibility lies with the soldier in himself. And beyond a necessary guidance through the period of readjustment to civilian life, the soldier to become again a civilian alive to his duties as a civilian, must find the strength to succeed within himself.

IF I were permitted to advise I would say to the man or woman re-entering civil life: "Go out into the world and fight for success in whatever line you have chosen, and leave behind you the years of your service as something past and gone. Prove to those beside you that the armed service you have given has been a gift to your nation for which in health you need no recompense beyond that which you have received. Apply the discipline of self you have learned to this new life and make it pay a dividend. Do not make in any sense a vocation of the fact that you have fought and bled for your nation. The professional returned soldier is not a pleasant companion. As an avocation, yes; it is your duty to yourself and to your former comrades, that you support an organization of former soldiers having for its definite aim the seeing to it that the sick and maimed among you are considered as is their right." In the light of my experiences following that other war, I believe this the best advice obtainable at any price and if you, my son, were coming home tomorrow I would in all earnestness repeat it.

And on this note I leave you, John, to consider whether I am merely being hard—or practical.

YOUR FATHER.

For Free Trade Unionism

It may now be definitely stated that not a single Communist or party-line follower has been elected to any local office in the ILGWU elections held in the past four weeks in Greater New York. In several of the locals where the domestic totalitarians had representatives on executive boards or elected business agents two years ago, they suffered a total eclipse and their vote in some locals was cut nearly in half. To make the debacle unanimous, not a single convention delegate of the Communist persuasion has been elected from this territory.

This is about the cleanest mop-up of Communist influence in the ILGWU in the past twenty years, and a decisive victory for progressive trade unionism.—Justice, organ of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union.

Single-Purpose Parties Multiply

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

AT the recent Social Credit convention in Toronto, delegates representing the movement in different parts of the Dominion decided to establish an organization for nation-wide political action. The same Social Credit was adopted, rather than the rather flossy tag of New Democracy under which some Social Crediters have gained election to Parliament as national standard bearers of this peculiar monetary creed.

This development gives fresh impetus to a new trend in the Canadian political arena in recent years, a trend which, from any standpoint, can only be regarded as undesirable and disquieting. This is the multiplication of parties, especially of what might be called single-purpose parties, devoted to the advancement of specific doctrines, bearing on single, narrow spheres of the nation's political, economic and social life.

The trend as we now see it was begun by crystallization of the C.C.F. as a national body in the depths of the depression. While committed to a somewhat specialized dogma, the C.C.F. at least has a fairly broad program covering many phases of economic and social activity and something can be said for the value of a third party to keep the older parties on their toes. The same merits cannot be claimed for such groups as the Bloc Populaire, which avowedly is a Canadian party with a national program but actually functions as a purely sectional group upholding the aims of one faction within the French-Canadian minority block.

In the provincial field the creation of new parties was most strikingly exemplified by the abrupt rise to power in Alberta of the Social Credit followers of the late Premier William Aberhart. But even on its native heath, Social Credit has lost part of the ground initially won, though the Social Credit Government still retains power (by a one-third reduced majority) in Alberta. In the federal House, Social Credit and New Democracy members from Alberta number less than 4 per cent of the total Commons membership.

We cannot see that the Social Credit theories of monetary reform, unorthodox to the point of being viewed as fantastic and crackpot by some, are sufficient justification for building a national political party around it. The Quebec delegation to the Toronto convention saw how flimsy a foundation for national political action the Social Credit movement now has, and fought stoutly though unsuccessfully to keep it on an educational and propaganda basis.

However, the convention took the plunge and now that the national party has been set up, we can only hope, first, that it will be given the rebuking setback it deserves at the next general election; and secondly, that the spawning of new parties will go no further. We do not want to see in Canada the political divisions that brought about the loss of national unity, of national honour and of democratic institutions in countries such as France and Germany.

An Editor And An Apple Barrel

(LETHBRIDGE HERALD)

WE dug down into an apple barrel in a local grocery store the other day and came up with a Ben Davis. It had come all the way from Nova Scotia.

Now these many years past we've been in the habit of getting our apples out of those namby-pamby boxes they use out in British Columbia. To an old apple-bareller from the East, that has always made our gorge rise a bit. Apples weren't so precious in our day down East that they had to be rolled in tissue paper and packed in a little bit of a box which, when filled, wouldn't even strain the back of a 12-year-old to lift. Apples down in the old Huron County orchard were packed in barrels bright from the barrel factory, and when one was full of Northern Spies or Spitzenbergs or Kings it was a man's man who could lift one and load it unaided on the wide-mouthed hayrack they used for transporting the apple crop to market.

And they didn't pack those barrel apples inside a packing house, either. In the fall, the different varieties were picked from the trees—and they were big trees requiring a man's sized ladder to get the topmost—and piled in great red and yellow piles on the grass in the orchard. Then along came the empty barrels distributed from huge horse-drawn vans which left enough at each farm orchard, and shortly afterwards the buyer's apple-packing crew would arrive on the job. Usually four or five men and larger boys made up such a crew. They sat on their heels beside the pile of apples, selected the good ones and discarded the culls—the wormy, scabby and off-grade. The boss of the crew would pick out a bucket or two of the biggest, reddest and shiniest, and thse were set aside to top off the barrel; of course, the best had to come out on top. Then when the barrel was full with the big ones bulging over the top, the press was clamped on the outside, the top put in place, and screwed down into place and coopered and nailed securely. When the job was all done the farmer hauled the apples to town. If the apple crop was small he probably got as high as $1.50 a barrel, an almost unheard-of price. More likely than not he got 50 or 75 cents, in which case he had the exercise of picking the apples anyway.

After the packers were gone the culls were piled into the cellar or fed to the pigs, or hauled away to the cider mill. Then perhaps the big iron pot was set to boiling out in the yard and cider and cull apples were combined to make that delicacy, apple butter.

What memories that apple barrel in a downtown grocery store recalled the other day!

Weather In Scotland

Experience tells seasoned inhabitants of the West of Scotland that where the native brand of weather is concerned there are no reasonable hopes. It is not merely that the weather is unpleasant; there is such variety and rapid change from one sort of unpleasantness to another. So much so, indeed, that the only people in Glasgow to be envied are the employees on the subway, who live mole-like, it is true, but never need to regret that their shoes leak or that there is a large hole in their umbrella.—Glasgow Herald.

"All's Fair"

The Signal Corps and the R.A.F. have discovered how to make carrier pigeons deliver messages of war more quickly. The male bird is always eager to return to his mate. But to make him fly even faster, the urgencies of the eternal triangle are introduced. Just before he is carried off, he is shown the disturbing spectacle of his mate billing with a rival. His return home on the wings of jealousy is found to be 25 per cent faster.

It's the same with the female. The fastest record speed of an R.A.F. pigeon—68.7 miles per hour was made by a jealous hen.—Empire Digest.

Critic of a Court

Mr. Justice Dennistoun yesterday delivered certain severe strictures upon this newspaper and an editorial which appeared in it some weeks ago regarding the Manitoba court of appeal. The moral of the incident is, we hope, now clear to all. The Minister of Justice had Chief Justice Prendergast's resignation in his hands for months and did nothing about it. For urging action in the interest of the litigants who appear before that court, the Free Press has no apologies to offer. And if, in the future, it is deemed advisable in the public interest to discuss the court of appeal as at present constituted, or any other court in Manitoba, we will not hesitate to do so.—Winnipeg Free Press.

The Unions' Financial Returns

One section of the new tax bill, subject of hot argument and the spark that touched off the recent congressional crisis, requires that labour unions make informational returns of receipts and expenditures. No taxes are to be levied.

Whatever the merits and deficiencies of other parts of the bill, this section is certainly a step forward. It should be welcomed by honest labour leaders and by the rank and file.

The only persons who can lose by the new law are those crooked union leaders or parasitic racketeers who are bleeding union members and enriching themselves. They will, of course, find it more difficult to divert union funds, if financial reports have to be made.—Milwaukee Journal.

A Bible Message

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.... But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy.

And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear: forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot: who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you, who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory: that your faith and hope might be in God. (I Pet. 1: 3-5, 15-21.)

From Our Own Pockets

The finding of the money for all these social security plans with which our advanced thinkers are presenting us is not as simple as some people suppose. The Government, contrary to a wide, vague general impression, has no money of its own. The Government's money is the people's money; and all the cost of these plans and blueprints for our well-being, no matter how good they may be, must come out of our own pockets—out of pockets already pretty well emptied by the searching hand of Caesar.—Ottawa Journal.

Dogs In The City

If there is any animal that likes freedom it is the dog. He likes to run here and there, meet his dog friends and take a part in the frolics of the boys and girls. It is a sad fate for a dog to be tied up and kept in close confinement for the entire year. Actually a city is not an ideal place for the keeping of the average type of dog. He is in his element on the farm or with men who live in the wide, open spaces.

Only city people who really love dogs and who understand them should maintain such animals. There are too many people in the cities keeping dogs, who neglect them atrociously and have no real love for them or understanding of them.—Fort William Times-Journal.

Canada's Prime Ministers

During the 77 years since Confederation there have been 16 ministeries and 11 prime ministers in Canada. In the 34 years up to 1901 there were seven prime ministers and in the 33 years since then only four have been added to the list. The most frequent changes in the premiership came after the death of Sir John A. Macdonald in 1891. Between that year and 1896 there were five new prime ministers—Sir John Abbot, Sir John Thompson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir John A. Macdonald was leader of the Government for about 19 years, the longest period, but Sir Wilfred Laurier, leader for 15 years, had the longest unbroken term. Sir Charles Tupper had the shortest term, only two months and one week. Sir Robert Borden was in office for eight years and ten months. Mr. Mackenzie King, the present head of the Government, has been prime Minister altogether for about 16 years and ten months. This means that if Mr. King can hold on to the reins of office for another two years and two months he will be in a position to surpass Sir John A. Macdonald's record.

Old Bush Pilots Direct Transport Arm

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 13—(CP)—Four old bush pilots are kicking their heels under neat office desks at Air Force Headquarters here, directing the destinies of one of the R.C.A.F's newest divisions. They are helping build the Air Force's Transport Service.

Group Capt. Z. Lewis Leigh, O.B.E., 37, Lethbridge, Alta., is the chief of the command and under him are: Wing Cmdr. Marlowe Kennedy, A.F.C., 39, Winnipeg, in charge of passenger transport; Wing Cmdr. Bruce Middleton, A.F.C., 33, Fort Francis, Ont., in charge of cargo and mail and Sqdn. Ldr. Ernest Hall, 43, Toronto, in charge of the Ferry Service from factory to air station.

Leigh in his early career flew an old Fokker plane from Sydney, N.S., to Edmonton—barnstorming along the way to raise money to finance completion of the trip; flew the bush route to Great Bear Lake, taking part in half a dozen mercy flights; became pilot for the Russian Prince Galitizine and participated in early organizational flights for Trans-Canada Air Lines.

His first job in the R.C.A.F. was with a coastal patrol Hudson bomber flying out of a Nova Scotia base.

Kennedy had taken an R.C.A.F. short service commission too. Previously he made a three-year Air Force photographic tour of the West. He operated forestry patrols for the Manitoba Government. He beat his way between Edmonton and the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. He later went to T.C.A. to help organize their early western routes.

Middleton went to Britain by cattleboat and in 1931 joined a torpedo bomber squadron. He served at Malta during the Ethiopian war, patrolling the Sicilian coast.

He joined the R.C.A.F. a few months after the outbreak of war. He went to Rockcliffe in the test and development branch and suffered a broken back when his Aircobra crashed in a test flight. He joined Group Capt. Leigh after he recovered.

Hall began his flying career with the Royal Flying Corps in the First Great War. He was shot up over enemy territory and spent the last month of the war as a prisoner. Returning from overseas he became a pioneer barnstormer on the Pacific coast and piloted the first plane over the Rockies in 1920.

Believe Allies Can Feed Europe

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—John D. Black, Professor of Economics at Harvard University, to-day foresaw over-production of food in Canada, United States, and Australia in the post-war period, and predicted the Allied Nations would be able to feed Europe easily.

"It is entirely likely," he told the semi-annual meeting of the Academy of Political Science, "the United States will be called upon to supply less than one-half of the total food needed. It is very probable that Canadian wheat may be the largest single item supplied."

He estimated 100,000,000 Europeans would have to be fed over a lengthy period following the armistice.

2,000 R.A.F. Men Marry Canadian Girls

OTTAWA, April 13 — (CP) — More than 2,000 British airmen who have trained in Canada have married Canadian girls, United Kingdom Air Liaison Mission officials said this week.

Most of them have returned to Britain, leaving their wives behind, but they all dont intend to remain there. Hundreds have inquired about Canadian citizenship and the treatment they would be given by the Canadian Government should they decide to make their homes in Canada after the war. Many, however, intend to take their wives to Britain when arrangements can be made.

Walter Herbert, secretary of the Canadian Committee, a Canadian organization established a year ago to answer questions and acquaint British airmen with Canada and Canadian ways, has a sheaf of letters from airmen which indicate they look upon Canada as a post-war land of opportunity.

Part of the work of the committee and the British mission is helping Canadian wives join their husbands who have been posted back to England.

"The question is to get transportation for them," said Mr. Herbert. "And we have quite a problem on our hands."

Airmen who have thought about settling in Canada are acquainted with the concessions being granted Canadian returned men in the way of special educational and vocational training, land grants, and other benefits While all rehabilitation measures drawn up here concern Canadians only, Canadian-trained British airmen hope they might be given some similar consideration as a result of their military service.

Taxi Driver Seeks To Quash Conviction

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP) — Chief Justice Hugh E. Rose in Ontario Weekly Court yesterday reserved judgment in a motion by Charles Knott, Pembroke taxi operator, to quash conviction against him under a municipal by-law for operating a taxi in the township of Petawawa without a license.

Knott was fined $5 and costs on Jan. 31 by Magistrate T. M. J. Galligan at Pembroke. Three others were convicted at the same time and Knott's action is a test case on validity of the by-law.

The township by-law fixes different rates for licenses for those residing in the township and those who do not own at least $300 worth of property there.

Knott and the other drivers convicted carry passengers to and from Petawawa military camp and have their headquarters in Pembroke.

Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatic Pains?

These pains come from an inflammation in the muscles and are generally caused by a deposit of poison in the blood called uric acid which produces the irritating and painful effect that causes many days and nights heavy with pain.

During the past 60 years Canadian people have found that by purifying the blood stream, Burdock Blood Bitters aids them to enjoy freer body movement with less rheumatic pain, as B. B. Women Gain In Battle For Equality

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 13 — (CP) — Just as the last war gave women the vote, this war is bringing them types of ability to men, into the fore as equals in many

The job British women have done in the services replacing men, in jobs often extremely dangerous, is the best ammunition the feminists have in their fight for complete equality of the sexes.

Every day there are fresh stories of their successes and of the growing role of women in British public life.

Women have at last been admitted to British schools of medicine. It has been announced that five per cent of newly admitted solicitors each year now are women.

A woman, Frances Bedford, was recently elected a Fellow of the Royal Aeronautical Society, the second to attain this honor. Letitia Chitty, research worker at Imperial College, achieved the honor for the first time 10 years ago.

While the equal-pay-for-both-sexes-battle rages, the Chartered Surveyors' Institution boasts that since the first woman was elected in 1923 they have had equality in all things. A fair percentage of the 11,000 real estate agents and auctioneer members of the group now are women.

Midget Furnace Works Perfectly

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—A "vest pocket" furnace that can be hung from a rafter in the attic and will generate enough energy to heat a 10-room house now awaits its turn on the post-war assembly line.

The heater, of which there are several types, is another example how the necessities of war have stimulated engineering progress towards the comforts of future homes.

In war, it has been used to dry soldiers' laundry, to heat hospital tents, to dry parachutes, to di-ice airplane wings.

The "vest pocket" gasoline-burning edition weighs 20 pounds and is 20 inches in diameter and 15 inches long—about the size of an office wastebasket.

The heater uses the spiral accelerating flow design, is hermetically sealed and has a small combustion chamber. Made of a stainless steel alloy, this heater is sufficient in most climates for a 10-room house.

The engineers do not regard gasoline as a good fuel for household use but believe the principles they have developed are applicable to the burning of fuel oil, or manufactured or natural gas.

Coal Strike Ends Across England

LONDON, April 13 — (CP-Reuters) — The strike over "home coal" grievances has ended and there was a general resumption of work in the Yorkshire coal fields yesterday Every pit in the Barnsley area was working and in most instances there was normal attendance after the holiday break.

Representatives of Yorkshire coal owners and mine workers are to meet at Sheffield Friday to discuss anomalies created by the Porter award giving underground workers a weekly wage of £5 (about $22.50).

The strike arose because the miners objected to a deduction of two shillings weekly from their pay for coal they took home from the mines for domestic use.

All Muddled

EL PASO, Tex., April 13—(AP).—Saul Kleinfeld sent his wife and two children to his wife's mother in Passaic, N.J., sold his home and furniture and gave away all but one suit of clothes in preparation for induction into the United States Army April 11. At the induction centre he was told he isn't wanted now since he is more than 26. His plea to be taken in anyway availed nothing.

Election Booth Outcast's Home

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 13 — (AP) — Policeman Robert J. Goodwin noticed yesterday a light inside one of Buffalo's voting booths—large wooden structures distributed among the precincts at voting time.

In response to a knock, an elderly man appeared, clad in a bathrobe. There was a pot of pigs' knuckles and sauerkraut simmering on a stove, Goodwin said, and the place was equipped with cooking utensils and an assortment of canned food.

"He told me", said the patrolman, "he had had an argument with his daughter with whom he made his home, had taken up quarters in the booth two days ago, and had been "getting along fine."

SPORTS-Day by Day

The City Five Pin League will wind up a very successful season tonight with a double-header that will see the whole sixteen teams on the league roster in action. Double-headers in bowling are unusual but it was decided to bring the season to a close in this manner tonight so the campaign will end with the busiest night of the whole schedule. There should be plenty of interest in the game, too, for while first place has been decided by the capture of the top shelf by Jay's team for the seventh season in succession there will be a keen battle for some of the other positions. Cleanrites and Knights of Columbus are virtually tied for second place with 55 and 54 points respectively and Outlaws are fourth with 48 while there is a hot battle for the fifth spot. Fractional Motors have 46 points and right at their heels are the Empress and Sunoco outfits with 45 each. The league has had a fine season, with bowling above the average, some fine scoring performances and keen competition all along the line. That the latter feature is keeping up until the very end is shown by the fact that it will take tonight's double-header to determine a number of positions.

Congratulations are in order to the officers and clubs of the C.G.E.-Genelco Men's Bowling League upon the completion of a very successful season which wound up last night with one of the largest banquets in the history of the organization. The league from the big south-end plant is naturally no small affair as is evidenced by the fact that when it opened the season there were 66 teams lined up. Toward the end of the competition some of the teams folded but 58 of them were in there punching at the finish. An organization of that size takes some management and the officers of the loop, President George Stevens, Secretary Trowbridge and Treasurer Harry Vass deserve thanks for the manner in which the business of the league was handled and on the successful financial showing they were able to record. Last night's banquet was an enjoyable and fitting wind-up to a most successful season and a pleasing feature was a presentation to Ald. R. S. Cotton, long a hard worker in behalf of C.G.E. bowling and C.G.E. bowlers.

The visit of the Kitchener-Waterloo volleyball team for a game here Saturday night with the Peterborough team, this year's Ontario senior champions, should produce volleyball at its brightest and best. The Kitchener-Waterloo outfit were cocks of the walk in senior volleyball circles for a dozen years. They won the Ontario title 12 years in a row and were invincible until Peterborough's representatives finally succeeded in knocking them off several weeks ago and bringing their long reign to an end. The local squad was able to do something that no other team in the country had been successful in doing. They defeated the 12-time senior provincial champs twice on the one day, beating them in the preliminary round and then in the playoff. The visit of the crack Westerners to Peterborough is a noteworthy event and will help to make Saturday night's dinner in honor of the Peterborough team especially significant for it will serve to show the kind of opposition the local squad had to overcome to grab off the Ontario honors. Volleyball, incidentally, is becoming steadily more popular and an interesting development is that it is being more and more played by the men on active service, especially by the American troops.

It is undoubtedly a fact that no final game in the Stanley Cup series ever aroused so little general interest as tonight's clash in Montreal between Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks. Ordinarily there would be arguments wherever hockey fans got together as to the probable outcome. In this particular series, everybody, including we imagine the Black Hawks themselves, seem to feel that tonight will be the last round up and that when the siren ends play in the fourth game of the round the Flying Frenchmen will have the battered old mug to take care of for the next twelve months. Canadiens have already reeled off three wins over the Hawks, two of them before the rabid Chicago fans and the general opinion seems to be that tonight's game will be just a bit of cake for Dick Irvin's well-balanced squad. Since play opened last November the Canadiens have only lost one game before their home customers and that defeat was more or less of a freak. Canadiens had 75 per cent of the play and might just as easily have won by half a dozen goals but only managed to score once in 61 opportunities. That kind of thing couldn't happen very often and is not likely to happen tonight unless over-confidence trips up the Montrealers.

Between Stanley Cup victories at Chicago, Canadiens' Dick Irvin found time to offer a little advice to Judge Landis, baseball's high commissioner, says Bill Westwick in the Ottawa Journal. It seems that when Landis asked the Canadien coach how he accounted for "these consistently large crowds at hockey games," Irvin attributed the success to the changes made in the ice game. He pointed back to the days when six men carried practically all of the play without benefit of substitutions, and compared it with the present wholesale replacements. Irvin made the point that, "Every player gets into action every night. The fans have their favorites and they know they'll all play sooner or later. In other words, we utilize all our men all the time. If two or three are having bad nights others may be going good and they sustain the pace. I believe baseball could take a leaf from our book. Big league teams carry 25 men all season, yet often only nine men play for days at a time. Why not use the fellows sitting around? If an infielder or outfielder isn't hitting well, or fielding good on a particular afternoon why not yank him, and put somebody else in? Or maybe a pitcher is going along swell, but he isn't a hitter and suddenly up come two men on base in a tight game with the hurler due to hit. Why not send somebody up to bat for him and still let him come back and pitch? What's the matter with that kind of a rule? He can pitch, but he can't hit, so why make him try something he can't do or force him to leave the game for the day? You're disappointing the fans."

* * * * * *

Jim Coleman of the G. and M. in sizing up the Memorial Cup final series comes to bat with one piece of information that will probably bring the Trail kids a lot of support in their battle with the Oshawa Generals. The British Columbia outfit Coleman remarks "are a strange team in these days of the strange military replacement rule. The Smoke Eaters haven't added a single player since they started their hockey campaign in November." That is enough to make this column swing over to the Trail banner without hesitation. If this bunch of kids from the coast, with a lineup of real youngsters and presenting the same front as they did at the beginning of the season, minus one player whose certificate was cancelled, can beat the hand-picked Oshawa Generals, with their Toronto and St. Michael's reinforcements then more power to them. It would be the finest thing in the world for hockey.

300 Bowlers Attend C.G.E. Banquet

With a most enjoyable banquet featured by the presentation of prizes the C.G.E.-Genelco Men's Shop Bowling League wound up last night one of the best seasons in its history. Some 300 bowlers attended the affair in the Genelco Cafeteria and several scores figured in the prize-money presented during the program.

The League opened with 66 teams engaged in competition and 58 of them were still going strong at the finish.

George C. Stevens, president of the League, was chairman of the enjoyable banquet and with him at the head table were Senator J. J. Duffus, Ian F. McRae, J. E. Girven, Alderman R. S. Cotton, Harry Vass, treasured of the League and Robert Hanscom, representing the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club.

Jack Marshall was song leader for the community singing and the musical accompaniment was ably supplied by two musicians in battle dress, Pte. Paul Poirier, Halifax, on the guitar and Pte. Carson Boyd, Cornwall, on the accordion. The two soldier entertainers who are stationed at the Military Training Centre also contributed several lively numbers that were much appreciated.

Prizes Presented

Mr. McRae presented the prizes to the individual winners and to the teams who captured the section playoffs as follows:

Season's high average, Bob Dyer, Genelco Tool Design, with an average of 233.

High three games—Ed. Johnston, Fractional H.P. Motors, 914.

High single—A. Caccavella, Genelco, 409.

Section winners: No. 1 section—1 Switchgear, Frank Robinson, capt., 2 Earl Kearns' team.

No. 2 section — 1 Challengers. Frank Maloney, capt., 2 Combines, Doug. Barringer, capt.

No. 3 section—1 Induction Motors, Bill Bennett, capt., 2 Structural Steel, Rich Jackson, capt.

No. 9 section—Punch Press No. 2, M. Dobbin, capt., 2 Genelco Boring No. 1, Ed. Young, capt.

The prize money for the first and second half winners was then presented by Ald. R. S. Cotton. In doing so the speaker stressed the very fine sportsmanship that had been in evidence all season and expressed the hope that the friendly spirit that had been engendered would long continue.

Senator Duffus Speaks

Senator J. J. Duffus, guest speaker, congratulated the winners and also the teams who had failed to capture the prizes, pointing out that it was easy to be a winner but not so easy to be a good loser. After all, he said, the game was the thing. Prizes were a secondary consideration.

"The good fellowship and comradeship resulting from your league games are really an inspiration" said the speaker who added that he was glad that the alleys opened by his firm had been able to play a part in providing sport facilities for the workers of Peterborough. When other sports were faltering because of war conditions, he said, bowling was serving a very useful purpose in providing recreation.

Senator Duffus concluded by presenting Ald. R. S. Cotton on behalf of the league bowlers, with a framed photograph of the Peterborough and Toronto bowlers who took part in the recent games for the Cotton trophy. In doing so he paid a high tribute to the services rendered the community by Ald. Cotton. "He is everybody's friend" said the speaker "and is always working in the interest of good citizenship and of a good city."

In acknowledging the presentation Ald. Cotton said that nothing gave him more pleasure than to go to Toronto with the Peterborough bowlers to brush shoulders with their Toronto fellow workers and it was on that account that he had donated the Cotton trophy to be played for annually between teams from the Peterborough and County plants.

Treasurer Harry Vass announced that after all expenses had been taken care of $16 was left, and it was disposed of by drawing stubs from the admission tickets, the first fourteen whose names were drawn getting a dollar and the 15th a $2 prize. J. E. Girven made the presentations.

Robert Hanscom in bringing the greetings of the Social and Athletic Club congratulated the league on the success of its season and the officers on the evident good management that had existed.

Here and There in Sport

Frank Sargent of Port Arthur was re-elected president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for a second term at the closing session yesterday of the 27th annual meeting of the organization in Montreal. Other officers returned to their posts were: First vice-president, Hanson T. McDowell, Middleton, N.S.; second vice-president, Al Pickard of Regina; secretary, F. H. Marples of Toronto and registrar-treasurer, W. A. Hewitt, Toronto. Pickard was reappointed chairman of the board in charge of minor hockey.

At a subsequent executive meeting the invitation of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association to hold the next annual meeting at the coast was accepted. President Doug Grimston of that branch said the meetings would be held either in New Westminster or Vancouver.

Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight boxing champion, said goodbye to the ring last night at Pittsburgh when he left his home city to join the U.S. armed forces. On the previous night close to 1,000 boxing officials and fans attended a farewell celebration organized by the Dapper Dan Club.

Wants To Fight

Tipping the scales at 187 pounds, Cpl. Bily Conn declared last night at Fort Custer, Mich., he looked forward to a championship bout with Sgt. Joe Louis after the war and expressed the view age would count against the Brown Bomber. Conn, now 26 years old, went 13 rounds in a titular fight with Louis in June, 1941.

World table tennis champion, Richard Bergmann, a refugee from Vienna, was beaten last night three sets to two by Pte. Garrett Nash, an American soldier from St. Louis, before a capacity audience at the Queensberry Club, London. Bergmann won the world title at Baden in 1937 and again at Cairo in 1939.

Winner of the Washington Park and Belmont Futurities last season, Occupy has been withdrawn from the Kentucky Derby by Owner John Marsch because of the unfavorable training weather. He has also withdrawn Nezrahel, winner of the Arlington Futurity, for the same reason.

Stage-Fright

Although he hit close to .400 in the Venezuelan League, Jesus Manuel Ramos Garcia, otherwise known as Chucho Garcia, has batted .000 in exhibition games with the Cincinnati Reds with whom he is trying for a right-field berth.

Heading Home

WINNIPEG, April 13 — (CP).— Vancouver Hedlunds are on their way West to-day, carrying with them for the third successive year the Western senior women's basketball championship.

Hedlunds took the best-of-five series against Winnipeg Altomahs in three straight games, winning the first two encounters 42-27 and 41-26 and last night's match 40-30.

Detroit Wins 5

LOUISVILLE — (AP) — Working three innings apiece, Pitchers Elon Hogsett, Joe Orrell and Walter Beck of Detroit Tigers, allowed only seven hits yesterday to defeat Louisville Colonels of the American Association 5-1 in an exhibition canter. In nine spring games Detroit has won five, lost three and tied one.

Canadiens Hope To Finish Series Thursday

MONTREAL, April 13.—(CP). — Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens were ready to-day for what was considered likely to be the final game of the Stanley Cup play-offs and the National Hockey season.

The Hawks will be definitely the under-dogs when they skate out on Forum ice to-night in an attempt to do something they haven't managed to do this season—win a game against Canadiens. Most of the fans lucky enough to grab tickets for to-night's sell-out felt that they would watch the Canucks wind it up in four straight and there was little likelihood that another game would be needed Saturday night.

The Canucks felt the same way, to the chagrin of Coach Dick Irvin who doesn't like his charges feeling like that. In an attempt to guard against over-confidence, Irvin was inclined to be a bit mournful about the variety of more or less minor hurts Canadiens suffered in the two tough games in Chicago.

He was inclined to harp on the fact that Canadiens were feeling in just such a mood when Toronto Leafs stepped in and gave them their only defeat at home so far this season by taking the first game of the semi-finals 3-1. The Canucks have won seven straight since then to eliminate Toronto and run the count to 3-0 against the Hawks.

The Hawks weren't saying much, but they gave the impression they expected to be around for a few days and didn't anticipate the end of the series to-night. They came close to victory in Chicago and think they can turn the trick here at least once before the series winds up.

Probable starting line-ups:

Chicago	Position	Montreal
Karakas	Goal	Durnan
Seibert	Defence	Bouchard
Cooper	Defence	Lamoureux
Smith	Centre	Lach
Bentley	Wing	Blake
Mosienko	Wing	Richard

ALLAN CUP SEMI-FINAL
New Westminster 6, Port Arthur 2 (New Westminster leads best of seven series 3-2, with one game tied)

Montreal Wins East Title; Meet Kitchener

MONTREAL, April 13 — (CP).— Montreal Y.M.H.A. last night won their Eastern Canada junior basketball two-game total-point final series with Saint John, N.B., 103-83. They will now meet Kitchener, Ont., St. Jerome's College for the Canadian junior basketball title.

Last night's game was a draw 45-45, but the Montreal cagers won the series by a 20-point margin since they defeated the visitors on Tuesday night 53-38.

The Saint John sextette played a different game in the second attempt by passing more freely and shooting at the netting at every opportunity. Although they dominated the scene last night they could not overcome the wide margin of the previous game.

Once again the Y team was sparked by the sharpshooting of Mort Morein, who was the team's high scorer with 13 points, followed by Strulovitch with 11.

The high scoring for the Maritimers was shared by Whalen and Fox, each netting 11 points.

Referees McCormick and Malis were handing out penalties quite freely and it might have been a different story if the Saint John sextette had been more accurate with their free shots.

Y.M.H.A. scorers — Morein 13, Strulovitch 11, A. Waxman 2, M. Waxman 8, Brick 5, Prupas 6, Seltzer, Seltzer, Privnick.

Saint John scorers — Fox 11, MacLeod 5, Costello 4, Whalen 11, Keefe 6, Anderson 4, Prosser 4, Magnusson, Krossly, Bewick, and Flewwelling.

Bonus Plan

CHICAGO—(AP)—The National Jockey Club, operating Sportsman's Park, has arranged a $1,650 war-bond bonus plan as an added incentive for jockeys at the Spring meeting opening April 29. The four leading winners will split the awards with $750 going to the leading rider during the 14-day meet.

He Wrecked 'Em

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Eddie Erautt, pitcher for the Hollywood baseball team last season and now in training at Camp Roberts, wrecked the model-aircraft firing range for machine gunners when he smashed every radio-controlled plane with less than 50 rounds of ammunition. Other marksmen seldom hit the fast-moving models. Estimated damage to targets was $1,400.

Red Cross Gets Money From Baseball

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, April 13 — (AP).— It's all for sweet charity to-day as New York's Yankees and Giants meet at the Polo Grounds, and Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies clash at Ebbets' Field.

The Red Cross gets all the gate. Regular prices are being charged, and 35,000 are expected to see the Yank-Giant tilt, though no one knows how many will be on hand to see the Bums and the Bluejays.

The Polo Grounds spectacle will have ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker as master of ceremonies, Babe Ruth swinging his home-run bat at some practice pitches, Al Schacht doing his funny stuff, and music by a High School band and a Coastguard Drum and Bugle Corps.

Over in Brooklyn the program calls for parade, with all branches of the service represented, a bit of warbling by John Boles and Frank Sinatra, a bevy of Follies gals decorating the rotunda, and Jack Dempsey selling bleacher tickets.

Skipper Starts.

Hank Borowy will start for the Yanks, and Cliff Melton for the Giants. Freddie Fitzsimmons, the Phillie skipper, will open for the Jaybirds, and Rube Melton will be on the hill for the Dodgers.

Developments elsewhere:

National League.

St. Louis: Pepper Martin played last three innings of Cards-Browns city series game and scored two runs, showing some of his old base-running ability

Pittsburg: Pilot Frankie Frisch cheered by Wednesday pitching performance of rookie Art Cuccurullo who entered the game with the score tied and fanned six Clevelanders to win the game.

Cincinnati: Joe Beggs to share mound with Bucky Walters against Indians to-day at Richmond, Ind., after being sworn into Navy as a lieutenant, Beggs' stay with Reds uncertain.

American League.

Detroit: Don Ross, right fielder, still getting applause for one-hand catch yesterday snuffing Louisville rally in eighth, deciding game.

Philadelphia: Coach Lena Blackburne named manager of Lancaster in Interstate League, and five players sent along with him. Infielder Don Heffner and Catcher Bob Swift sold to Detroit.

Four-Minute Mile Attained In 1863

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—(AP). —The four minute mile is not only possible, but it has been done, says Dr. George W. Orton, former University of Pennsylvania track coach.

Dr. Orton, a great distance runner himself almost 50 years ago, informed Ed Pollock, Evening Bulletin sports editor:

"You will be surprised to know that a runner once beat four minutes for the mile. His name was W. G. Lang. In 1863 he did a fraction under four minutes on a straightaway course."

Because of a strong wind backing him Lang was not credited with the record. However, Dr. Orton thinks the four-minute record will some day be broken—officially and without any help from nature.

CANADIENS WIN THIRD GAME IN STANLEY CUP SERIES—Virgil Johnson, of the Chicago Black Hawks, breaks up a stubborn Canadien offensive by taking possession of the puck in the Hawk territory in the first period of the third game of the Stanley Cup hockey playoff at Chicago stadium between Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks. Fast action sent the Hawks' goalie, Mike Karakas (1) and Glen Harmon of Canadiens down on the ice. Watching the puck is Earl Seibert (17), of the Hawks. The Canadiens won the game, 3 to 2, giving them a 3 to 0 game edge in the series.

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP).— Ed (Strangler) Lewis, one of wrestling's former greats, thinks the end of the war will see an unprecedented crop of wrestlers thrown at the public (in more ways than one). The Strangler reasons that the boys are being taught all kinds of hard-boiled wrestling, jiu-jitsu, and mad mayhem to help them overcome the enemy, and that this will encourage many of them to take up the grappling game.

Just by way of starting the ball rolling, Lewis and a group of the maulers are starting a tour of army camps to put on displays of mat murder for the troops. Eventually they hope to cross the ocean to entertain the boys.

Strangler has an idea there, but let's hope he isn't planning to introduce piano wire and commando daggers into the rasslin' profession.

Western Ponies:

Horse racing in Western Canada gets a boost in the San Francisco Chronicle where Mrs. Tick Otis says no part of the continent can boast as large a per capita following of the gee-gees as Manitoba, racing "is a lot of fun up there," she continues, and "many horsemen pass up the bigger tracks in order to enjoy the sport in a land where horse racing is of interest to just about everybody."

Community planning:

Mayor H. Rollins of Belleville, Ont., comes up with a thought-provoking suggestion that every municipality should have a community-owned rink where the young people could get proper facilities for learning the ins and outs of hockey. Likening rinks to public parks in their community worth, he points out that citizens don't mind paying taxes to support a summer playground, so should not shy off from underwriting a winter sport centre that could provide even greater benefits.

Thursday thoughts:

Vince (Winnipeg Tribune) Leah says big hockey league scouts are casting an eye at Bobby Lafreniere, 14-year-old Somerset, Man., bantam defenceman. Bobby averaged five goals a game in the play-offs and in the Manitoba finals scored six goals as his team lost 13-6.... Lady Luck is playing ball with Goalie Bev Bentley of the smoking Trail Smoke Eaters. Goalkeeper's skates were unavailable in Trail, so the junior netkeeper donned unorthodox tube skates. He did so well he won't change now for fear of breaking the spell (or whatever it is those Smokies have).

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)— Although there's nothing in the wording of the new draft ruling regarding men over 26 that even hints at the status of baseball players, some baseball men who have their ears tuned to Washington wave lengths insist it means their athletes won't be called. "The army doesn't want 'em and they won't try to force ball players into war jobs," said one.

Kids'll Play Baseball, Too

Latest report on the growth of "kid" baseball comes from Milwaukee, where the "stars of yesterday" program, begun in 1936, operated with 85 teams last year . . . teams are named for former Brewer stars, hence the tag . . . a notable feature of the project is a baseball school, conducted by former pro players, which has drawn more than 6,500 kids to "Professor" Jack Kloza's lectures and nearly 11,000 at the outdoor classes.

A Rookie a Day

Louis Americus (Crip) Polli, New York Giants—who called him a rookie? He's 40 years old and in 1930, when he had a trial with the Yankees, Bob Shawkey told him he'd never be a big leaguer . . . nevertheless Crip showed enough at Jersey City last year (leading the league in earned run averages with 1.85) and in spring training to earn promotion. A little guy, he pitches more with his head than with his arm.

Montreal Team After More Players

By LLOYD McGOWAN
Montreal Star Sport Writer

MONTREAL, April 13 — (CP) — Bruno Betzel, who succeeds Fresco Thompson as pilot of Montreal Royals, figures that one man will make the club a definite first-division contender in the International Baseball League this season.

Gillenwater is a centre fielder who started a triple play for New Orleans last season and incidentally slugged out a tidy .333 in 109 games. Betzel hopes to get him from Brooklyn.

Eddie Badke is tagged for left field. Other outfield candidates are Elmer Durrett, back from various duties at Guadalcanal, and Duke Snyder, a fast man with a strong throwing arm.

Aside from possibly Ed Spaulding, erratic George Washburn, and promising Wayne Collins, the pitching staff is made up of almost total strangers. Howard Belknap from St. Paul seems to be a fixture. Roy Sanner, Bill Tanner and Jack Franklin are expected to make it, and Betzel figures on Tom Warren and Jack Franklin as Dodger donations.

Morris Aderholt is set at third base. Clarence Smyers will be shortstop. Gene Mauch and Barney Koch are battling for second base, and Walter Chipple looks like a winning wager for first.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins won the Stanley Cup for the third time in their history three years ago tonight when they defeated Detroit Red Wings 3-1 at Detroit. Boston's victory marked the first time the cup series was concluded in four straight games. Previously, Montreal Maroons took the cup from Toronto Maple Leafs in straight contests in 1935, but that series was best-of-five.

Lodestars Whip Ports For 3rd Win

PORT ARTHUR, April 13—(CP) —New Westminster Lodestars were favored to-day to advance into the Allan Cup final against the Quebec Aces and give British Columbia its second Western Canada hockey championship this season.

Lodestars, hoping for honors already won by Trail Smoke Eaters in the junior division, soundly whipped Port Arthur Shipbuilders 6-2 in the sixth game of their best-of-seven Western senior finals last night.

With three wins and a tie, Lodestars only need to hold the Thunder Bay champions to a draw in the seventh encounter on Friday night.

Only five penalties, including a 10-minute misconduct to Don Eaton of Shipbuilders, were called. New Westminster got three of the other four.

The Harvey Fraser-Maurice Duffy-Jim Wilson forward trio paced the British Columbians with five goals. Duffy and Wilson each rapped in a pair with Fraser getting the other. Scoop Bentley also scored for Lodestars.

Joe Gollatt and Bill McKenzie were the Shipbuilder snipers.

Lowly Italian Cowshed Sees Happy Ending To Romance Started In Canada 15 Years Ago

LONDON, April 13 — (CP-Cable) — A romance which began 15 years ago in Ontario culminated in the marriage of a British woman and a Canadian Officer in a cowshed under Salerno's guns in Italy, it was revealed here today.

The story was told by a Capt. Pryce, on leave from Italy, who was a witness. He said the groom used a ring which he bought hastily in an Italian shop.

"The bridegroom was Capt. Maurice Clark," he said. "The bride was Miss Mary Jamieson, originally from Glasgow. Until we landed she had lived in hiding since the German occupation of Italy. When we first reached the town, imagine how astonished I was to see Maurice suddenly throw his arms around the neck of a woman I thought was a peasant, and cry "Mary."

The bride met Clark in 1927 when she was a governess in Canada and he an engineer. They became engaged but quarrelled and Mary moved to Europe where eventually she became governess for an Italian family."

48 Girls Leave For Farm Camps

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP) — A 48-girl vanguard of an Ontario army of "land girls" expected to reach 4,000 was scheduled to pass through Toronto today en route to the opening of four camps from which they will lighten the Agricultural manpower shortage this summer.

The departure of school-age girls and boys for the farms is beginning two weeks ahead of the official scheduled date, April 28, through special permits granted High School students or high scholastic standing. The first group of girls comes from Smiths Falls, Kitchener, Parry Sound, Owen Sound, Woodstock, Ottawa, Fort Erie and Welland. At Toronto stations they are met by representatives of the Ontario Farm Service Force and directed to destinations.

Attempts are being made to recruit an equal number of urban boys to be placed principally on individual farms, with 75 per cent of the 60-odd camps to be operated by the Provincial government this summer intended for girls.

500 Wounded Arrive At Halifax

HALIFAX, April 13.—(CP).—Bearing about 500 battle casualties and other invalided fighting men, the Canadian hospital ship Lady Nelson docked here late Wednesday from overseas.

Army men made up the big white ship's complement almost exclusively—soldiers wounded in Sicily or Italy, or returned home from the fighting fronts of Britain because of illness or lowered category. A few airmen were in the arrivals.

Members of the 1st Special Service Force attached to the United States Army, one small group of Canadians has seen service both in Kiska and Italyas a spearhead formation.

Two members of the special service group were Sgt. Jerry Charlebois, Ottawa, and Pte. Jack Davies of Chatham, Ont., both of whom had been wounded while fighting with the 5th Army near Cassino. Both wore the group's paratroopers' wings and arm shields with a U.S.-Canadian device.

They formed the spearhead of the force that landed on Kiska, in the Aleutians, they said, and then they were moved out and taken through the United States to Italy.

"Our bunch took about 15 peaks from the Germans before we were knocked out in December," Charlebois said. The fighting they described was "plenty tough."

Nipped By Shells.

German shellfire accounted for Pte. Jack Scott of Vancouver, member of the 48th Highlanders of Canada, near Campobasso, Italy. Cpl. Jim Craig of Gadsby, Alta., with the Loyal Edmonton Regiment in the 8th Army, was wounded by artillery fire in the heavy fighting at Ortona.

Another victim of the Ortona battling was Sigmn. John Bittorf of Elora, Ont., who was struck by a shell splinter in the left elbow. Companions of Bittorf on the voyage home were another signalman —Ernie Ganton of Toronto — and Pte. Gerald Wannamaker of Picton, Ont., both of whom were invalided home for medical reasons after fighting their way as far as Ortona.

FO. R. J. E. Fisher, of Sarnia, Ont., member of the R.C.A.F., had been invalided home after seeing service in Italy In his bunk aboard ship, he occupied himself with needlepoint work, which he picked up during convalescence.

Wearing the Military Cross, Capt. R. G. Fitzgerald of Toronto returned with shrapnel wounds suffered in the battle of Ortona. He was decorated for gallantry while acting as a forward observation officer in the fighting for the city where the Canadians distinguished themselves.

Algoma Bishop Only 39 Trenton Native

SAULT STE. MARIE, ONT., April 13 — (CP) — Rev. William Lockeridge Wright, a broad-shouldered young clergyman who was born in Trenton, Ont., Wednesday was elected Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Algoma, and, at 39, will become the youngest bishop of the episcopate in the Dominion.

The new bishop — elected on the fifth ballot at a synod called to name a successor to Rt. Rev. G. F. Kingston, recently elected Bishop of Nova Scotia—comes of a family with a unique clerical background. There have been four generations of clergy in the family, and his great-uncles, Most Rev. A. U. DePencier, was former Archbishop of New Westminister and Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of British Columbia.

Came to Algoma in 1940

The bishop-elect came to Algoma Diocese in 1940 in answer to a call from Bishop Kingston to become rector of St.. Luke's Procathedral, and later he was chosen dean of Algoma Deanery.

He takes charge of a vast missionary diocese which stretches from the Ontario-Quebec boundary to west of the Lakehead cities of Port Arthur and Fort William, and from the northern boundary of Temiskaming District to the southern boundary of Muskoka District.

Vigorous and athletic, he served at Toronto and Tweed, Ont., after graduating from Queen's University, Kingston, and Trinity College, Toronto. In 1932 he was appointed curate of Christ Church Cathedral in Hamilton and four years later became rector of historic St. George's Church in Toronto. He was recently made a Doctor of Divinity of Trinity College.

Coming here in 1940, he has taken an active part in Canadian Legion work and other public affairs as well as devoting his talent and energy to his own parish, which had its beginning more than 100 years ago.

Son of the late Canon J. DePencier Wright, former rector of St. Luke's, Kingston, one of his brothers—Rev. J. DePencier Wright of Toronto—is a clergyman, and another—Rev. J. Lennox Wright is head of the junior school at St. Andrew's College, Aurora.

Although he will become the youngest bishop in the Canadian episcopate, Bishop-elect Wright is not the youngest clergyman of the Church to be elevated to such a high post. Rt. Rev. W. A. Geddes, Bishop of Mackenzie River Diocese in 1929 when just under 35 years of age. The late Archbishop J. A. Richardson of Fredericton was appointed coadjutor bishop of that diocese in 1906 when he was 37.

Bishop-elect Wright's wife is the former Margaret Clare of Orillia. They have three children.

Douglas Wants New Election

SASKATOON, April 13.—(CP). — T. C. Douglas, C. C. F. provincial leader, in an address here last night called on Premier W. J. Patterson to hold a Saskatchewan election before July 10.

"I wish to warn Premier Patterson that if he does not intend to hold an election this year there are provisions under the constitution to protect people against dictatorship and tyranny."

Mr. Douglas referred to a Regina report that in the event of an invasion of western Europe, with possible heavy Canadian casualties, there might not necessarily be an election this year.

"I cannot imagine anything more contemptuous than to use the fact that our boys may be in action, to keep their parents a minute longer under the rule of a discredited government."

Best Care Given Sailors Navy Doctor Tells Auxiliary

A general picture of medical services available to Navy men at sea and ashore was given by Surgeon Lieut. L. S. Bower, R.C.N.V.R., of H.M.C.S. Cataraqui, Kingston, who addressed the Navy Auxiliary. Lieut. Bower stressed the excellent care given to all Navy men, wherever they were stationed, and assured the women that everything possible was done for the comfort of the boys in hospital, and in the prevention of disease.

Speaking of the services available at sea, Lieut. Bower explained that all the larger ships, including destroyers, frigates, and the larger corvettes, carried medical officers. Smaller corvettes and minesweepers have sick bay attendants, but the services of the medical men on larger ships are generally always available with little delay.

Coastal patrol boats, and small vessels, always have one person generally the coxswain trained in first aid, he continued, but they are never very far from shore and regular hospital care.

Lieut. Bower described the general duties of sick bay attendants, and explained that they were chosen from their interest in the work, and that a great many of them had had some previous training along that line. S.B.A.'s, as they are called have the authority to call for aid from the medical officer on a largetr ship, and in convoys, doctors are often transferred to look after serious cases.

Best of Care

The speaker described the routine duties of a medical officer, and showed that approximately the same procedurve was observed on both land and sea. There is at least one sick parade a day, when all complaints are heard, and an inspection made. The ships have well equipped sick bays, he went on, and offer excellent and expert service.

"In action, of course," Lieut. Bower said, "the procedure is somewhat different. The officer clears as large a space as possible below decks, and commandeers men as stretcher bearers. He generally has trained S.B.A. to help him, and they carry on through the action".

A little-known duty of the medical officer, that of inspecting the galley, was also dealt with by the speaker. He explained than on ship and ashore, the medical officer must inspect the kitchens and make sure that everything is spotless and sanitary. He also said that on ship, the doctor often acted as a censor of mail, and gave friendly advice to the boys. "I consider that one of the most important things," he continued, "because when men live for long stretches in a small space, they often have small personal grievances."

They Cooperate

Lieut. Bower also dealt in some detail with shore establishments, and described the routine in these sick bays. He explained that more serious cases were sent to consultants, who were experts in their lines, and that the boys were given the best service possible. He especially mentioned hospitals in Sydney and Halifax, but also explained that in smaller centres, where there are no Navy hospitals, the Army always looks after cases. "The Navy returns the compliment, you might say", the speaker continued, "and helps wherever possible." Full services for Wrens are also available.

In concluding, Lieut. Bower praised the work of the Auxiliaries, and quoted from experience, telling the group how much boys in hospital had appreciated ditty bags sent to them at Christmas. He also urged them to keep on writing because letters mean so much.

Proceeds of $77 were reported from the rummage sale. Several prizes, to be given at the Bingo, being held Tuesday evening, were announced. The members voted to change the Auxiliaries account from savings to current account, and to set up a petty cash account of $10. Twenty-five dollars a month will be set aside for the purchase of wool. Proceeds from the card party amounted to $34.74, and the members are planning another, to be held April 25. Mrs. F. Merrett, presided.

The draw for the Navy pin, donated by Mrs. E. Wand, was made, and Mrs. T. Littlefair was the winner. A letter of thanks will be sent to Mrs. Wand, for her donation.

To Back Hull

LONDON, April 13.—(CP).—Prime Minister Churchill soon will make a statement in a broadcast in the House of Commons backing the warning to neutrals of Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, to stop supplying the enemy, the News Chronicle reported to-day. "Hull's warning has the full support of the British government," the paper said.

C. Hughes Heads Board For Blind In Peterborough

W. C. Hughes was re-elected chairman of the Peterborough Advisory Board, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, at the annual meeting of the Board held last night in Peterborough. Other officers elected for the ensuing year included: Mrs. W. B. Tucker, Norwood, 1st vice-chairman; T. P. Lancaster, Havelock, 2nd vice-chairman; Mr. T. T. Rodger, treasurer; Miss Betty Lytle, secretary; Mrs. D. Whalon, welfare convener.

Colonel E. A. Baker, O.B.E., M.C., Croix de Guerre, national director of the Institute for the Blind was guest speaker for the occasion and was introduced by Colonel J. A. Dewart.

In his address, Colonel Baker outlined the history, growth and development of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind which was formed in 1917 for re-educational and rehabilitation services for both civilian and war-blinded.

"By arrangement with the Dominion Government, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind will undertake to train and rehabilitate Canadian service men blinded in this war, so stated Col. Baker. He said that casualties resulting in blindness have been fewer in this war compared to the number blinded in the First World War, but that undoubtedly more casualties will follow as Canadian troops become more actively engaged in combat with the enemy.

According to Colonel Baker, twenty Canadians have already lost their eyesight in service to their country in this war, most of whom are now in training at the headquarters of the Institute for the Blind in Toronto. Baker Hall, located on Admiral Road in Toronto, was recently officially opened and will serve as a home for blinded service men in this war.

H. L. Garner moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his enlightening and inspiring message and assured Colonel Baker of the whole hearted support to the work for the blind on the part of citizens of Peterborough and district.

Through the efforts of the local board, fifty-eight blind persons in Peterborough City and County are being provided with services of vital importance, including employment, training, free use of Braille library, welfare relief assistance and social service. The board also provides preventive and curative treatment to destitute men, women and children who are in danger of losing the use of their eyesight. Reports submitted at the meeting showed that expenditures amounting to over $2,591 had been made during 1943 in connection with these services.

Mayor James Hamilton was present and welcomed Colonel Baker and other special guests, and conveyed the best wishes of the City Council for the continued success of the work for the blind in Peterborough.

Those present were: Mayor James Hamilton, Colonel E. A. Baker, W. C. Hughes, Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, Rev. W. MacDonald, H. W. Henry, field secretary; Richard Meyers, Toronto; Fred Hills, Miss Betty Lytle, Mrs. E. V. Morphit, Mr. R. L. Dobbin, Mrs. S. Higgins, Lakefield; Miss R. Young, Gordon Matthews, R. M. Glover, H. L. Garner, Miss A. Grant, Mrs. E. Lynch, Mrs. D. Whalon, Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Burleigh; A. McNab, T. T. Rodger, W. H. Lytle, John Bradshaw, Miss Hazel Henry.

COMMISSIONED — Bill Grady received his commission as a Pilot Officer at the graduation ceremonies held recently at Hagersville. He served as a sergeant wireless air gunner overseas in 1941. Following his return to Canada, he was an instructor and later remustered as a pilot. After a furlough he will commence his duties as a flying instructor. PO. Grady is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Grady, 520 Lock Street.

Fishermen Win Farmers By Cooperating

Peterborough Fish and Game Association held its monthly meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday evening and there was a good attendance of members present to hear George Baker of Apsley, former president of the Fishing and Angling Association of Buffalo. Mr. Baker spoke on the organization of sporting groups in the States, with particular reference to co-operation with farmers and property owners on whose lands club members were desirous of fishing.

"Always get their permission and relations will be much happier all round," said Mr. Baker. "If you show consideration for the farmer and respect for his property by taking pains to avoid littering his grounds and so forth, he will be much more inclined to oblige you and help make your expeditions pleasant ones."

The speaker also devoted some time to explaining to the members how various commissions set up for the furthering of sportsmen's aims by the New York association of which he is past president, were organized and how they operated to the benefit of the fishermen themselves and in addition to the different parties which club members' activities brought them in cpntact with.

Promises Demonstration

Mr. Baker kindly offered to come back to the city sometime in May and give demonstrations on the arts of fly-casting and bait-casting.

Among those present at the meeting were Stanley and Vernal Windsor, game wardens.

As was to be expected in view of all the publicity which has attended the subject since it was first broached some months back, the question of a provincial park for Peterborough County came up for renewed discussion at Wednesday's meeting. The advisability of establishing one, and the pros and cons as between the federal and provincial variety of park, were taken up by members in an open forum debate. It was asked whether either the city council or the county council had as yet gone on record in regard to support of the park proposal in one shape or another. The whole tenor of the association's discussion of the vexed matter last night, however, was solely one of inquiry and information-seeking.

Wartime Group Bank Balance Given To Fund

Coming events often cast their shadows before them and if in this particular instance, the closing or folding up of one purely wartime group has any significance in presaging a not too distant end of the war, then millions of people will look forward with great eagerness to the day of its consummation.

A previous announcement having been made that the Staff House under Wartime Housing had been closed, found the House Committee composed of L. H. Jackman, president, H. Stein, vice-president, G. W. Siddall, secretary-treasurer, R. Shears social chairman, H. Moss grievance chairman, and E. Morrisey sports chairman, all out of a job as far as their duties in this connection were concerned, and having acted in such a capacity as an assist to those who were staying there, they sure wound up their tenure of office in an admirable way, by giving the bank balance amounting to $28.51 to help those stricken through enemy air raids over Britain, through the local and district fund which operates for that purpose.

This final act on their part is one which would undoubtedly receive the hearty endorsation of all who had anything to do in a contributory way to the bank balance being on hand at the time of dissolution, and in the days to come will bring back pleasant memories of their association together, through this final good work.

Set Dormant Funds Working

Another feature that might be of inspiration to others is suggested by this gift, for there are perhaps many groups who have ceased to function, and their bank balances just left to lie dormant against a future use which never materializes. In times such as exist today, such money could be used to most profitable account in helping restore people who have lost their homes through the exigencies of war, back to some semblance of their former life, which would certainly be preferable to burying their talent for good like the unprofitable servant, who took his talent and hid it in the ground, rather than set it to work.

London Sleeps in Shelters

A shelter signifies something that is comforting, and to a certain degree it has meant such to huge numbers of the civilian population in Britain, and particularly London. But when one considers that in the case of the latter this means passing the night in a subway or tunnel in the earth, such a prospect would not be at all comforting to people living in this secure part of the Globe.

Owing to the renewed bombings that have been taking place in recent months, London people have again taken to this safer, although not altogether secure method of passing their sleeping hours. Recent figures released show that there has been a total of 109,101 civilian casualties in the British Isles, of which 49,730 had been killed, and 59,371 wounded sufficiently to be detained in hospitals, and the toll still mounts with others being added as recently as this Tuesday just past.

Sarnia Follows Peterboro Ideas In Peace Plans

Headings on the front page of the Sarnia Observer a few days ago were objectively reminiscent of some recent issues of the Examiner.

The "banner line" across the eight columns at the top of the page was "City Planning Scheme and Hospital Discussed By Council."

In the separate columns the headings were "Project (City planning) is to cover a generation; Front and George streets property key to civic centre; urge purchase; business section will be directed away from the river."

Sarnia has a town planning commission, and one of their proposed courses includes such familiar paragraphs as this: "The plan prepared by Norman D. Wilson of Toronto, town planning consultant, visualizes a civic centre with new city hall, arena, and open park space in this area."

Explore Costs

On the other side of the page is a hospital story, reporting that the city council suggested that Sarnia General Hospital Commission "prepare details of the expenditure necessary for converting the present hospital into a Grade A institution.

Here's another paragraph: "The general opinion of the aldermen was that with the coming of the new hopital proposed by the Sisters of St. Joseph it was essential that the civic hospital must be put in a position where it could compete fully with the more modern institution."

That means Sarnia has a civic hospital administered by a commission, and apparently the community did not have the easy benefits of such a benefaction as the endowment of Charlotte Nicholls to Peterborough.

And having less advantage left on their doorstep they seem to have acquired a great deal of substance in their own name with a hospital which they wish to enlarge to the scale that qualify the institution for the assistance announced by Hon. Dr. Vivian, provincial Minister of Health, in his new health plans for Ontario.

6th Victory Loan Committees Are Organized

As chairman for the city and county of Peterborough in Canada's Sixth Victory Loan campaign under the Department of National War Finance, Gordon S. Matthews announced today the personnel of committees who are undertaking another Spring's drive on the home front.

The interest of Vincent Eastwood is retained in the position of honorary chairman, and the structure of the organization branches out through various sales, and advisory and publicity channels to reach every last resident of the city and county of Peterborough for their financial support to this 1944 appeal to the Canadian people.

The challenging mark above the 6th Victory Loan Committee's objective, as it prepares in these bright Spring days for the new campaign, is the succession of accomplishment in surpassing the goals that were set in the other five. This challenge extends only vicariously to the committee, for after all they simply represent the people of Peterborough, county and city, except that in addition they are assuming the responsibility of carrying this new appeal to every person whose will for victory remains strong and ardent.

These citizens who form the general staff are as follows:—

Honorary chairman — Vincent Eastwood.

Chairman—Gordon S. Matthews.

Vice-chairmen—Gordon K. Fraser, M.P.; Robert Abbott; W. C. Hughes; Ian F. McRae.

Geo. A. MacKey Takes Over W.P.T.B. Duties

Newly appointed to head the Peterborough branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is George A. MacKey, who comes here from Toronto where he has been engaged in special work handling investigations. Mr. MacKey succeeds to the post vacated by the recent resignation of W. E. Foley.

With WPTB for the past two years, the new branch manager was first appointed to the Board to look after the bakery interests in Toronto and the surrounding area. Most of his time prior to coming here was spent in Toronto, though for a period of two months he was stationed at Orillia.

Mr. MacKey has been retired from active business interests for some years, having sold his business, the MacKey Bread Bread Co., to the Dominion Bakeries in 1933. A branch store of his company was operated in Peterborough between 1919 and 1926, Mr. MacKey having purchased the business of Lush and Sons Bakery. When the branch here was dropped, the store was purchased by Mark Bredin.

Holstein Shipments Increase To States

Hugh Stewart loaded a car of grade Holstein cows, ranging from three to seven years, for delivery to Richmond, Vermont; and has another car of the same breed and grade ready to be forwarded to Newfoundland as soon as a freighting and shipment permit is received from Ottawa.

A dairy in St. John's, Newfoundland, milking 190 cows, placed an order for one hundred head with Mr. Stewart, and the present car of grade Holsteins is part of that order.

"We have been loading every week to ten days for consignment to buyers in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Vermont," Mr. Stewart told the Examiner today.

"The market is active, and we are buying as many as we can from farmers of Peterborough county."

Smashing Windows Doesn't Pay Dividends Four Youths In City On Spree Learn

The arrival in town Wednesday of four youths who have been working in the Lakehurst district was rather a costly development all around. It led to the shattering of a large window in the Loblaw store on Charlotte Street Wednesday night and to liquor charges against the quartette in police court today.

Robert Richmond, 19, Nogie's Creek; Sidney Henry, 18, of Haliburton, and William Coulter, 18, of Bobcaygeon, all pleaded guilty in police court this morning to charges of illegal consumption and were fined $10 and $2.50 costs, and a fourth youth, N. Simpson, also of Bobcaygeon, will be similarly charged this afternoon.

The four were arrested last night after one of them had staggered and fallen against the Loblaw window, breaking the glass. Constables Ernest Beatty and Gordon Trennum who investigated arrested Coulter and Henry in the beverage room of the Hotel Champlain, and later in company with Provincial Constable L. A. McClure picked up the other two three miles from the city on the Lindsay highway.

Women At Cross Subject Of WMS Address

St. James' W.M.S. Auxiliary carried out an impressive Easter service at their meeting Tuesday when Mrs. H. F. Doig was hostess to 23 members and guests.

Mrs. E. M. Davis presided. Mrs. George Wallace reported for Christian Stewardship with a reading, while Mrs. W. R. Moncrief gave the temperance talk, stressing the evils of the present beverage rooms. The financial standing of the Auxiliary was presented in the quarterly report read by the treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English.

Arrangements were completed for the program of the annual W.M.S. Sunday, to be held April 23, with Mrs. S. J. Gray, president of Cobourg Presbyterial as speaker. An invitation has been extended to all St. James ladies to attend.

Mrs. Doig and her group took charge of the special Easter program, which followed. The guest speaker, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, Peterborough Presbyterial president spoke on the subject of the Women of the Cross. She talked especially of the four women who followed Christ to the Cross and told how each in her different way found inspiration and comfort. Mrs. Harris closed her address with prayer.

Mrs. Carl Dorrington in her group of Easter solos sang "The Christ of the Cross" and "Eastertide," and was accompanied by Mrs. Doig at the piano.

An address of loving appreciation to the retiring pianist of 1943, Mrs. H. F. Doig, was read by Mrs. English, who spoke of her untiring and faithful service for six years in this capacity. On behalf of her Auxiliary a certificate of life membership in the W.M.S. was presented by Mrs. E. L. Woodley, vice president.

After the meeting a social half hour was enjoyed and dainty refreshments served by the hostess.

Women's Auxiliary Prepares for Tea

Plans for the spring tea and sale of cooking to be held Tuesday, April 18, in the Parish Hall, were discussed by the Afternoon Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church at a meeting held in the Parish Hall. A committee of four, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Mrs. C. Sootheran, Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. H. Kelsey, are in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. H. Kelsey was appointed as the delegate to represent the Afternoon Branch at the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, to be held in Toronto in May.

In place of the usual study book period, Mrs. Sootheran briefly outlined the highlights from the "Living Message," the official Women's Auxiliary magazine. Plans were made for a meeting of the mothers of the "Little Helpers," to be held May 2, in order to give them a chance to know one another better, and to interest them in the aims and objects of W. A. work.

Flower Ballet Features Dance Recital

The dancing classes of Leon Comstock Northrop provided a very lovely recital in the Club Trocadero, Wednesday afternoon. In spite of the inclement weather there was a very good audience. In a brief speech of welcome, Mrs. Northrop stressed that while the children make many mistakes, the main purpose of the classes is to teach rhythm, grace and self-confidence.

This reviewer had attended rehearsals and felt that while the children had a very good time during their class work, perhaps were a little over-awed by the audience, and did not enjoy themselves as much as they ordinarily would. This, however, was not true of the senior class, who danced the ballet "Love's Dream After The Ball." This is a form of pure dance, in which a coreographer tried to reflect the meaning of the Czibulka's music. In traditional ballet dress, of short fluffy skirts, the girls danced with grace and poise. Three prizes were awarded for attendance at the regular classes, to Jean Haley of the baby class, Lola Buckland of the beginners, and to Joe Ann Curtis of the senior class.

The dances were chosen to suit the talents of each group, and a flower ballet featured the program.

The lively music of the polka was used in the dance of the black-eyed susans, the little dancers unconsciously acting the parts as gay wild flowers. The blue bells were dainty and delicate, seeming to sway in a light summer breeze, while stately tiger lilies, with their bright colors were represented by quick, vivacious steps. The effect was particularly charming, and drew a picture in the mind of laughing groups of wild flowers laughing and dancing together. The children in their parts expressed the character of the flowers they represented.

The dancers were: Cat-tail, Kathryn Lewis, Jane and Ann Thompson, and Stephanie Stuart; Black-eyed Susans, Jessie Blackwell, Joe Ann Curtis, Margaret Strickland, Katherine Canning; Blue Bells, Jean Haley, Ann Smith, Daphne Welch, and David Comstock; Clover, Judy Hardill, Bubbles Mitchell, Lola Buckland, Mary Eleanor Smart, and Mary Elizabeth Hunter; Tiger Lilies, Mary Craw, Connie Keiley, and Shirley Garner.

The dance of the wild rose was presented by Leone Northrop, who showed that she had lost none of the artistry which has delighted Peterborough audiences in the past. A "Pas de Deux," danced by Connie Keiley and Leone Northrop, was featured by many slow, graceful movements.

The melody for the sailor's hornpipe was the music which has been steps, which included the polka, heel associated with this dance for over 150 years. The jaunty, nautical and toe, rocking, and hauling in the anchor, were done with precision which bespoke long hours of practice. Lola Buckland, Judy Hardill, Mary Elizabeth Hunter, Bubbles Mitchell and Mary Eleanor Smart were the jaunty sailors.

Another feature was a group of nursery rhymes, sung and danced by the smaller children. The first, "Mr. Frog," told the story of a frog who jumped out of his pond to sun himself on a flat rock. However, finding that it was raining, and fearing that he would get wet, the frog jumped back into the safety of his pond. The smiling faces and easy actions of the children showed that this was one of their favorites, and they told the story realistically, with just a tinge of laughter at the end, because the silly frog didn't realize that he would get wet in his pond too. Jean Haley, Daphne Welch, Ann Smith and David Comstock were the dancers.

The children also enjoyed presenting other nursery rhymes, "Humpty Dumpty," "Little Miss Muffett," and "Goosey Gander," expressing in their voices and actions the feelings of the characters in the stories. Those taking part were Jane and Ann Thompson, Stephanie Stuart, Eleanora and Diane Standish, Kathryn Lewis, Marica Worton and Daphne Miller.

The older girls showed the poise and assurance they had learned, in the slow, graceful "Love's Dream After the Ball." It was a Vestoff dance, and the melody was in waltz time. The dreamy intricate steps required a great deal of practice to make them perfect, and the girls reflected the training and care given them. Jessie Blackwell, Mary Craw, Joe Ann Curtis, Shirley Garner, Connie Keiley, Margaret Strickland, and Katherine Canning presented this number.

Gwen Craw was accompanist for the dances, and Mrs. Northrop and Mrs. Craw were presented with bouquets of spring flowers by Jane and Ann Thompson, on behalf of all the students.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the recital, from a tea table daintily set with pink and white. Mrs. John Comstock poured tea, and Mrs. Harold Worton, Mrs. John Stuart, Jr., Mrs. Jack Comstock, Jr., and Mrs. Andrew Rutter served.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-noted for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON
(Society Editor of The Examiner)

GLOVE STRETCHERS

If strained wartime budgets do not permit the purchase of a brand-new pair of gloves to match every ensemble, why not try to make use of old faded fabric gloves put away in dresser drawers, or make over seldom-worn elbow-length evening gloves?

It's really quite simple to make an old pair serviceable and smart again. For last season's faded fabrics, try tinting or dyeing in a new and exciting shade. An impracticable, easily spotted pair of pale beige, for instance, can be changed into a smart brown shade, which will wear another complete season.

If a color to match a pastel suit or dress is needed, light blues and mauves are excellent, and will go with more than one ensemble. Another simple trick to transform a plain glove into a chic accessory is to sew a large colored button on the cuff. Or, if the gloves are to be worn with a sports dress or suit, a fancy button—one of the new kind, made in the shape of a little man, or animal—would be ideal. For "making over" evening gloves, a pair of pinking or plain scissors is all that is needed. The pinking scissors leave a neat, but decorative edge, but, if they are not available, a straight edge, finished with overcast stitches is just as smart.

FINE ART OF BEING A WOMAN

Mother Should Teach Girl Resourcefulness, Tact, "Truths of Life," Sympathy

A mother asks: "If you had a little daughter, what would you teach her?"

I should begin by trying to teach her the fine art of being a woman, for the only women who really succeed in life are those who turn out a first-class job of woman. So I would try to put into her hands the weapons with which she can best fight her battle with the world. These are sweetness and graciousness and tact, with them a woman is invincible.

From her infancy up I should drill her in charm and good manners. I should teach her how to smile; how to meet people; how to be cordial and make the little gestures that win friends at sight; how to show people the little attentions that they value so much beyond their worth.

Girl Should Learn Tact

Then I should begin in the kindergarten to teach her how to be tactful. To think before she spoke and never say the blundering things that wound vanity, or turns the search light on old shames. I should teach her how to walk around a stone wall, instead of butting her brains out against it. I should teach her how to sidestep arguments; how to apply soft soap, and how to handle people with gloves. And when I had taught my daughter to be charming and sweet and gracious, I would know that I had given her a magic that would work wherever she went and that nothing could prevail against it.

I should teach her that no woman can afford to be ugly or uncouth, I should teach her how to develop her body until she had a good figure, and how to carry herself so that she looked fifty percent prettier than she was, instead of forty percent less good-looking. I should teach her how to dress, because beauty is in the eye of the beholder and is just as often a chiffon scarf as a peaches-and-cream complexion.

I would teach my daughter some way of making a living because that is the best way in which I could safeguard her future. There is no certainty nowadays that a girl will get a husband, or, if she does, that he will be able to support her. Nor has a wife any assurance that her husband will not grow tired of her and leave her.

Prepare Woman For Any Situation

So I would see to it that my daughter had the protection that being able to stand on her own feet and make her own way in the world gives a woman, for thereby I should save her from the despair that a woman feels when her husband dies and leaves her without money, or when he is taken sick, or deserts her, and she hears the wolf at the door and has no way of fighting it off. Also, I would save her from the degradation of having to live with a brute who mistreated her and abused her because he was her only meal ticket.

I should teach my little girl what we call the "truths of life" and the sort of place the world is and make her wise to its dangers and temptations. Ignorance is not innocence, and no girl of mine would wander by accident down the primrose path. I would have hung too many red lanterns before her. And, above all, I should teach my girl that the greatest temptation that she will ever have to resist will come from within, and that the one person against whom she must be most on her guard is herself.

I should teach my daughter to be a good woman and a good sport. Clean in life, broad-minded and charitable in thought and deed, sweet and gentle, loving and sympathetic, for that is the kind of woman the world needs.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Spring casuals are ready to take you anywhere. Wise the woman who chooses a casual as the backbone of her spring wardrobe. They are so easy fitting, simple, good styles, without any fuss, and the best of all is you can put one on in the morning, wear it all day, any day, anywhere. If you choose one of these for Easter you will count it your best friend all spring.

For a spring dress, choose one of the very smart printed rayon jerseys, it is one of the bright successes of spring. Made with the new high cross-over bodice, the skirt with just enough fullness to emphasize the soft drapery quality of the fabric, decorative pockets in braid-like coils, giving it that dressmaker touch that all smart fashion have this spring. This style of dress in red, blue or green gives a very smart and charming effect for the young miss.

There is a style in the spring coats for all figures and ages. Start with the youthful belted reefer, called forth by the officer's coat, and go on to the coats with collars or tuxedo fronts of very choice fox furs. All are very much in the fashion's highlights.

Vary your suit appeal with a bevy of smart blousettes. There will be many an occasion when you will feel like adding a flick of vivacity to the womanlike simplicity of your spring suit. A new-fashioned neckline, a frisk of frilling, a blob of color, or a flirtatious bow on one of your new blousettes makes them into such little charmers that you will be looking for an excuse to take off your jacket. These different trimmings are made of eyelet embroidery, checked taffeta, cotton pique, val lace. When worn with a very plain blouse, they give that smart dressmaker touch that adds so much to the tailored suit.

The hats are also being trimmed with these same trimmings. A nifty small sailor, with rather high crown banded in the checked taffeta, the bumper beret with a narrow bow of the pique on top or the wide sailor with the band and bow of the eyelet embroidery, all to match the blouse trimming. These styles given above are not only very chic, but they are plain and may be worn so well by the lady of leisure as the business girl; it is the smartness of style that has the appeal.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Friday, April 14

CONFLICTING astral conditions are noted in this day's forecast, beset with many contradictions, reversals and subtleties. There are signs of sinister intrigues and undercover attacks, which may be ruthlessly and passionately dragged into the open, with disastrous and regrettable consequences. While business and finance may be side issues, it is probable that affectional, domestic, social or romantic affiliations may be more disturbed and seriously concerned. While these sinister undercurrents may be cleverly manipulated there may be subsequent joys or accomplishments affecting the inner life and its aspirations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of conflicting and distressing circumstances, yet with prudence, sagacity and exceptional grasp of subtle and sinister situations there may eventually be a happy and gratifying culmination, restoring peace of mind, and all inner or emotional satisfactions. Although business and financial affairs are under signs of intrigue, fraud and duplicity, yet the personal life seems particularly stressed. Love affairs, domestic, social or artistic associations may be involved, or inner spiritual values may be disturbed. With firm discipline of impulses and emotions there may be benefits.

A child born on this day while tempestuous and impulsive, with many vagaries or subtleties, yet may have an artistic, romantic and spiritual nature.

REAL HOME-BAKED BEANS ready to your own taste in only 30 minutes!

You can have real home-baked beans, with the same appetizing flavor, the same enticing aroma, and glorious ruddy brown color as the beans Grandmother used to bake, when you use Van Camp's Quick-Serve Beans! But—there's no overnight soaking, no fussing, or hours of baking now. Quick-Serve Beans are ready to enjoy—fast!

Van Camp's Quick-Serve Beans are not a substitute for canned pork and beans. They are an entirely new product, developed to give you the most delicious baked beans you ever tasted—but without all the time of old style home-baked beans. Easy recipes come with every package. Try Quick-Serve Beans tomorrow. Ask your grocer for a couple of packages next time you go shopping.

QUICK-SERVE BEANS . . . Clip these NEW recipes

★ BOSTON-STYLE BAKED BEANS

½ pound salt pork
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ to 1 teaspoon dry mustard
Few grains cayenne
¼ cup molasses
3¼ cups boiling water
1—12-oz. pkg. Van Camp's Quick-Serve Beans

METHOD: Cut salt pork in ¼" slices. Fry until brown. Blend salt, pepper, mustard and cayenne with molasses. Add boiling water and 2 tablespoons dripping from salt pork. Bring to the boiling point. Pour beans into a baking dish, add salt pork and hot mixture. Stir. Cover and bake in a slow oven, 300° F., for 25 minutes. Remove cover and cook an additional 5 minutes. (Remove cover earlier if the beans are preferred with less sauce.)

★ QUICK-SERVE CHILI CON CARNE

3½ cups boiling water
2 teaspoons salt
1—12-oz. pkg. Van Camp's Quick-Serve Beans
½ pound minced beef
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons dripping
¼ teaspoon pepper
Few grains cayenne
1 cup Van Camp's Canned Tomatoes
1 to 2 teaspoons chili powder
1 tablespoon cold water

METHOD: Add water and 1 teaspoon salt to Quick-Serve Beans. Bring to the boil, cover, and simmer gently 15 minutes. While Beans are cooking, brown beef and onion in dripping. Add remaining salt, pepper, cayenne and tomatoes. Blend chili powder in cold water and add to meat. Simmer 5 minutes. Add to beans, cover and simmer 15 minutes longer. Note. If you have not any chili powder, make your own by powdering a few dried chili peppers. Any leftover beans can be mashed and used as a hearty sandwich filling.

Made only by Van Camp's, in Essex, Ontario.

Case Dismissed Against Farmer

A charge against John Yelland, R.R. 3, Peterborough, of driving with inadequate brakes was dismissed in police court this morning after Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had heard the evidence. The charge followed a recent traffic accident at Aylmer and McDonnel Streets in which Yelland's car had been involved.

Officer C. J. McGillen told of testing the brakes in Yelland's car on the day following the accident and of finding them defective. He said that on a dry road surface at 20 miles an hour it took 80 feet to stop the vehicle.

Yelland swore that his brakes were all right before his car was in a collision on the night of March 29. Driving to the police station after the accident he had noticed that they were not working properly and he said that the damage done to his automobile by the impact had been responsible for the condition of the brakes.

Howard Sholer, motor mechanic at the Wilson Garage, said that he had inspected Yelland's car after the accident and was satisfied that the damage caused by the accident put the brakes in the condition in which they had been found to be after the crash. He said the brake rods had been pushed back and out of line by the impact.

Magistrate O. A. Langley dismissed the case without any comment and without any argument from Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who prosecuted. Capt. Ralph Standish appeared on behalf of the accused.

Plan New "Ad" Signs On Port Hope Highway

Replacement of the signs advertising Peterborough, at both sides of Port Hope, on No. 2 Highway, was recently authorized by the City Council and Alderman Bradburn, as chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, was authorized to look after the details. He submitted new designs to the committee of the whole on Monday night, and their completion was left to the chairman with Alderman Swanston and City Clerk Outram.

Alderman Bradburn was also left with the responsibility of having published one thousand copies of a tourist booklet. The supply which had been printed by the local Tourist Bureau is almost run out, but inquiries are being received, and Alderman Bradburn advised the Council that the city should at least maintain its tourist information facilities during these war years.

Obituary

MRS. R. H. OSBORNE.

The funeral of the late Mrs. R. H. Osborne was held recently from her home at 124 Lansdowne street to Oakwood United church, and interment was made in East Oakwood cemetery. A short service was also held for Peterborough friends at her residence in the city the evening before the service in Oakwood, Mrs. Osborne's home for many years. Rev. F. W. Craik, of St. James' United church, of which Mrs. Osborne was an ardent member, officiated.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband; one daughter, Mrs. Roy Moynes of Peterborough; one son, Flt. Sgt. W. S. Osborne, of Toronto, now stationed at Mountain View; two brothers, Albert Trethewey, of Peterborough, and Elkanah Trethewey, of Kinmount; and a sister, Mrs. A. Crago, of Kinmount.

International Labor Office Plans World Economic Policy

TORONTO, April 13 — (CP) — The war has reached a stage where "we can no longer afford to delay the preparation of detailed plans for the action whcih must be taken immediately victory has been won," C. Wilfred Jenks, legal adviser of the International Labor office, said here today.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Empire club, Mr. Jenks said that "statesmanship is essentially the art of making adequate provision for the day after tomorrow" and added that "the challenge which will then confront us will be as matchless as that of global and total war, and will require an effort no less tense and arduous."

Outlining the work of the I.L.O. and what it hopes to accomplish at the International Labor Conference opening in Philadelphia next week, Mr. Jenks said, that a proposed declaration of policy "envisages that the International Labor Organization should act as the social conscience of the complex of world institutions which the United Nations are endeavouring to create."

Many Aims

The work of the I.L.O. in the post-war period would be to scrutinize all international economic and financial measures in the light of fundamental social objectives—full employment, fair play, better nutrition, housing, medical care, adequate family allowances, more ample provision for old age, sickness and disability.

Mr. Jenks outlined suggestions to be put forward at the Philadelphia conference. If adopted by the delegates, for submission to I.L.O member-countries, these resolutions would:

1. Welcome the action being taken to establish a food and agriculture organization of the United Nations to promote internatio al co-operation in raising nutrition levels and improving production and distribution of farm products.
2. Underline the need for effective international machinery for maintaining stability in rates of exchange;
3. Envisage an international development bank to promote the movement of capital needed for reconstruction, development, and the raising of living standards in many countries;
4. Contemplate the establishment of machinery to facilitate the co-ordination of the commercial policies of all countries to promote a steady expansion of world trade;
5. Call for concerted action by the United Nations to ensure more stable and adequate incomes to primary producers and afford protection against violent swings in supply and demand;
6. Recommend that the United Nations institute international arrangements for the development, conservation and equitable distribution of the world's oil resources in the interests of all;
7. Suggest that the United Nations should initiate measures to facilitate, by the provision of necessary technical and financial assistance, regulated migration of labor and settlers under adequate guarantees for all concerned;
8. Urge that the "full searchlight of publicity" be directed on the existence and operation of cartels, and that the United Nations, as a first step in that direction, initiate arrangements for the registration of all cartel agreements.

FDR And Dewey Are Favorites

NEW YORK, April 13 — (AP) — Swiftly-paced political events in New York, Illinois and Nebraska pointed more convincingly than ever today toward President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as the probable entrants in November's Presidential race.

Despite top-heavy victories for Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Illinois primary and for Lt.-Cmdr. Harold E. Stassen in Nebraska, Governor Dewey remained firmly installed as the pace-setting favorite in the contest for the Republican nomination with 153 pledged and claimed delegates out of 351 thus far chosen for the party's convention, where 1,059 votes will be cast.

A fourth-term endorsement by the New York State Democratic committee demonstrated anew the party's demand that Mr. Roosevelt again be a candidate. Mr. Roosevelt was assured the support of nearly all of the 96 New York delegates, 50 elected yesterday's Illinois primary and 12 chosen in the Nebraska primary.

New York Democrats unanimously re-elected Chairman James A. Farley, who has told friends he is opposed to a fourth term, but National Committee leaders had worked for this result to avoid a threatened split in the ranks there. Mr. Farley will be a convention delegate.

Bowlers Given Season's Prizes

COBOURG, April 13.—(ENS). — Prizes won during the season were presented at a banquet of the men's bowling league at Baltimore Hotel on Tuesday night. Judge J. C. M. German, guest speaker, told his listeners that he knew nothing of bowling and as he could not speak with authority on the subject he chose another. Judge German accordingly selected a subject, that of the correct drawing of wills.

The toast to the bowlers in the armed forces was proposed by R. Rorabeck. The winners of the various prizes were as follows:

League cup by the Cobourg Dye, presented to Ed. Campbell by vice-president Reg. Jackson; winners' cheque presented to Wilfred Campbell, representing the Dye works team, by Gene Conlin; cheque to runners-up by Vern Johnston to M. Eves of Scougales'; cheque for high single by William Booth to Jack Kewin; cheque for high average by Jim Tracey to Walter Allcott; cheque for high three games by Gene Conlin to Austin Hill; cheque for 2nd high single by William Booth to Dr. W. E. Wilkins; cheque for 2nd high average by Jim Tracey to Harry Landymore; cheque for 2nd high three by Vern Johnston to Gene Conlin. The consolation cup was presented by Reg Jackson to Reuben Freeman of the Cleaners' team. Gene Conlin presented the Scougales' prize for high single in play-offs to S. Ovens.

Chess King Dies

BUENOS AIRES, April 13—(AP).—Roberto Grau, 44, internationally-known chess player who had been captain of the Argentine team since 1934, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He participated in 40 major national and international chess tournaments since 1924, taking first place in 16.

FLYS AGAIN

AMERSHAM, England — (CP) — Flt. Lt. T. R. Burne, A.F.C., who lost a leg in the Far Eastern fighting, is flying again in defence of England. The 23-year-old flier's leg was amputated early in 1943 after his aircraft had been bombed by the Japanese at Sumatra.

Nazis Become More Aggressive

NAPLES, April 13.—(AP).—German forces in the Garigliano sector southwest of Cassino have begun to assume a more aggressive spirit.

There are indications the Nazis are continuing to regroup their forces and German engineers seem to be mining the Garigliano river.

Enemy trucks moving up to Cassino along the highway six miles south of the town were shelled by Allied artillery. There was little activity in Cassino itself.

Quiet reigned on the Anzio beachhead front south of Rome, although there was some artillery duelling.

There were a number of patrol clashes yesterday on the Adriatic sector, with Canadian and German patrols active during Tuesday night. The Germans made attacks on several houses southwest of Crecchio, six miles southwest of Ortona, but the front generally remained quiet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T ALWAYS SUPPORT

ORDINARILY when you have a fine bunch of trumps fitting your partner's pre-emptive major suit bid of three, the best thing to do, if the intervening opponent has shown strength, is to support your partner's call at the game level of four. In some situations, however, it is better to bid another good suit, especially if it is one which you would prefer to have him lead in case the other side gains the contract.

North: ♠ A Q J 8 4 3 2 ♥ 10 ♦ 8 ♣ 10 7 6 3
West: ♠ 7 ♥ A Q 9 7 3 2 ♦ Q 10 4 3 ♣ J 8

Bidding started differently from that at some tables of a big duplicate, but there you have the sequences where 3-Spades opened it. Each East used 3-No Trumps in the artificial sense to force a bid out of his partner Great differences followed.

At Table 1, North led his spade 8, desiring his partner to win the trick and then be in position to select the suit for the next lead. To win this, South had to use his K over the dummy's 10. With the lead in his hand, it was impossible to beat the contract. After studying, he returned a diamond. West won, dropped trumps and discarded a club on a diamond, losing only one trick in clubs in addition to the opening spade.

At Table 2, South's club bid on the first round was remembered by North, who led that suit. So two club tricks followed by one in spades beat the 5-Hearts.

At Table 3, after South's club bid, North decided to pass West's 4-Hearts to see what South wanted to do. When South then supported spades, North realized that fits in both black suits and singletons in the others offered a good play for 5-Spades, which he tried and made, losing only one trick in each red suit.

Nazis Conscript Greeks, Italians

BARI, Italy, April 13—(AP)—Confirmation of Germany's dire need for manpower for bomb-ravaged industries was received to-day with word that 3,000 Italian prisoners have been sent from Athens already this month to fill jobs in the Reich.

With them went 180 Greek workers, and reports reaching Allied authorities said 600 Greek hostages, meanwhile, were leaving a concentration camp at Salonika for Germany and an additional 800 were arriving at Salonika from Yanina bound for the same destination.

Germany's scraping of the barrel for labor helps to swell the ranks of guerilla forces. Strong bands on Mytilene Island are offering armed resistance to Germans seeking to conscript them.

ROMANCE—Mrs. Orde C. Wingate, wife of the famous British general killed recently in Burma. This Scotch girl first saw Wingate when she was 15 and he was 30. He was standing at the rail of a liner. The girl approached and told him "You are the man I am going to marry." Wingate looked at her in amused surprise. "Right," he said, "When?" Two years later he received a letter with the one word "Now." And so they were married.

MacArthur Gains Across Illinois

CHICAGO, April 13 — (CP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur emerged today with a smashing demonstration of strength in Illinois' Presidential Preference primary, leading all other Republican State candidates on the ticket except Gov. Dwight H. Green.

Gen. MacArthur, whose name was entered as a Republican Presidential candidate without his authorization, had only the nominal opposition of Riley Bender, Chicago Real Estate man and political unknown.

MacArthur polled 438,592 votes in 7,308 of the State's 8,728 precincts to 30,043 votes for his opponent.

The "MacArthur for President" clubs, which entered the General's name in the contest, looked upon his strong showing as the start of a possible "draft MacArthur" boom in the midwest. The vote, however, is not binding on the State's Republican Convention Delegation.

The General won three of the 24 delegates elected in Wisconin's primary a week ago yesterday.

550 Babies Born

BRIGHTON, England, April 13—(CP).—The Canadian Red Cross presented a cheque for $5,000 to the Sussex Maternity Hospital here in appreciation of the hospital's services to 550 British wives of Canadian soldiers whose babies were born there in the last 15 months.

Expressing thanks for the gift, Mayor Dutton Briant said the Red Cross had come to the town's aid after every raid there.

Power Politics Finds Opposition

OTTAWA, April 13 — (CP) — Available spokesmen for Canada's political parties yesterday expressed approval of the suggestion made by Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner for Canada, that the old policy of the balance of power as between the major nations would mean the way to "ruin" if revived.

A spokesman for Prime Minister Mackenzie King's office declined to comment immediately on Mr. MacDonald's address, but it was recalled here that Mr. King rejected suggestions for seeking a balance of power among great nations after the war in a speech in the House of Commons in February.

Mr. King told the Commons that Canada would not support suggestions of Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, and Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa that balance of power among great nations be sought after the war.

"What we must strive for is close co-operation among these great states themselves and all other like-minded countries," Mr. King said.

John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said he felt Mr. MacDonald had rendered a "very good service" in drawing attention to the dangers of the balance of power doctrine.

At Elrose, Sask., M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F., said he was in "complete accord" with views of Mr. MacDonald. Mr. Coldwell said "I am very glad Mr. MacDonald, as a Britisher, has expressed that view so clearly at this time, particularly because there is a school of thought in Canada advocating the formation of a British commonwealth power block."

David Lewis, national secretary for the C.C.F. party, said the C.C.F. was in agreement with Mr. MacDonald that a return to balance of power politics would be "disastrous."

"That was one of the reasons for our rejection of the Halifax proposals some weeks ago," asid Mr. Lewis.

"We also agree," said Mr. Lewis, "that consultation between the four great powers is an essential step towards international co-operation. We insist, however, that the smaller powers must also be brought into the discussions about post-war arrangements."

320 Aircraft Are Salvaged

SCOUDOUC, N.B., April 12—(CP).—Three hundred and twenty aircraft worth $50,000,000 were recovered last year by the 130 airmen of the salvage section of the R.C.A.F. depot here.

Of the total 229 were repaired and returned to service, while the other 91, damaged beyond repair, were broken down for spare parts, and more than 50 per cent. of their cost was retrieved.

From the shores of the Saguenay River, the St. Lawrence, the Magdalen Islands and the borders of Maine men of the R.C.A.F. salvage unit have hacked and plodded their way to reach aircraft forced down in lonely lakes or frozen muskeg, and hauled or flown them to civilization at the rate of nearly one a day.

Group Capt. M. L. Colp, air veteran of two wars and commanding officer of the repair depot, said that not only had the salvage section saved vast sums for the R.C.A.F. but it had kept operational squadrons on the Atlantic coast in the air before production of aircraft and parts had reached its present peak.

Plan Experiment On Tooth Decay

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 13 (CP)—Plans for experiments in mass control of tooth decay in Brantford and Newburgh, N.Y., through introduction of fluorine into the public water supply were outlined in an interview here by Dr. William L. Hutton, medical officer of health for Brantford.

The experiments in the two cities will begin as soon as final authorization is obtained and equipment is available, said Dr. Hutton, who explained that the experiment may take up to 10 years to complete. He recalled that recent research has shown that incidence of tooth decay is less where water contains fluorine than where it doesn't.

"We consider a city the size of Brantford ideal for our experiment," he said. "Brantford has no fluorine in its water. By introduction of this element to water supply, in the ratio of one part of fluorine to 1,000,000 parts of water we hope to cut dental caries (tooth decay) considerably.'

The city's 5,000 school children will be used as a research check.

Brantford and Newburgh each has a population of about 36,000.

Japs Trying To Surround Imphal Plain

Allies Inflict Heavy Losses At Other Points

NEW DELHI, April 14.—(AP). — Japanese invasion parties have been encountered in the vicinity of the Bishenpore-Silchar jungle track southwest of Imphal, further threatening the isolation of both the Manipur Plain and advanced Allied bases in Assam, a communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia Command said today.

(A Domei broadcast from Tokyo said the "last remaining escape gap out of the Imphal basin" for the British-Indian 4th Army Corps had been cut by a flying Japanese column which took a height on the Imphal-Haochong highway 20 miles northwest of Imphal.

The "flower of Mountbatten's command is facing annihilation or capture," declared another broadcast from Berlin which quoted Tokyo dispatches).

Elsewhere on the Assam front, however, Japanese invasion forces were reported making no progress. One attack in the Palel-Tamu sector southeast of Imphal was repulsed with 100 of the enemy killed.

To the north, around Kohima, the communique said, Allied operations to clear the road between Imphal and Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam rail lifeline were progressing.

The Japanese previously had been reported penetrating west of the road north and south of Imphal but had not been encountered before on the trail leading to Silchar, 70 miles west of Imphal and the terminus of a spur line from the Bengal-Assam railway. Bishenpur is 17 miles southwest of Imphal.

Admiral Mountbatten himself was disclosed to have paid a visit to the Imphal front to get a first-hand view of the confused situation where the British are fighting the infiltration tactics of the enemy. The commander-in-chief visited the Manipur capital Saturday and held a conference with the local commander.

Police Check On Catholic Youths

BARCELONA, April 14 — (AP) — Joseph Darnand, secretary general for maintenance of order in the Viche Regime, has put all Roman Catholic youth and other organizations in France under strict police supervision, advices reaching here said today.

Backed by his militia forces, Darnand was reported to have put in active practice the anti-religious philosophy of Marcel Deat, Minister of Labor and Secretary of State who is now called by Frenchmen "the brains of Vichy".

Darnand was said to have advised the Clergy that henceforth government representatives would attend every religious service.

Reports from France said the action was taken as a result of a meeting in Paris last month of French Cardinals and Archbishops who condemned Vichy's policy of sending French youths to German labor battalions and persecuting patriots resisting Germans.

The church Hierarchy also was said to have attacked Vichy's attempts to persuade French women to work in Germany.

Miners Vote Unanimous On Wage Plan

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 14 (CP Cable)—The long-sought objective of peace in Britain's coalfields seemed nearer achievement today following miners' acceptance today of a government proposal for a four-year plan of wage increase and stabilization.

The Porter plan—handed down by Lord Porter's tribunal in January—with its £5 (about $22.50) weekly minimum wage was accepted by a majority of the country's 700,000 miners who voted through delegates meeting here yesterday.

Result of the vote was announced while the miners themselves were back at work at virtually full strength. Five hundred and twelve thousand favored the acceptance through card votes and 97,000 opposed the proposal. The vote was finally made unanimous on a further ballot.

Cost 70 Millions

Altogether, the Porter plan and additional terms designed to eliminate dissatisfaction leading to recent coal-strikes will cost about $70,000,000 a year, it is estimated. Ultimately this will be paid by the consumer, although it hoped that increased output will have the effect of reducing production cost and automatically reduce—or possibly wipe out—the price increase to the coal-buyer.

Labor Minister Ernest Bevin addressing the meeting of miners' representatives here is reported to have told them that their failure to control the men of their districts in recent unauthorized strikes had placed the entire structure of the collective bargaining system in danger.

Jim Bowman, leader of the Northumberland Miners, provided the dramatic highlight of the meeting in a quiet speech in which he told other representatives prolongation of mining discord by failure to accept the wage plan would place upon the miners "a stigma they would never be able to live down."

The impending signature of the agreement has been hailed as the opening of a new era for British miners, although a large number of miners who originally voted against its acceptance believe it may prove

Finns Fear Nazi Coup If Armistice Signed

STOCKHOLM, April 14 — (AP) — The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyneter declared today the Finnish government had been handicapped in its negotiations for an armistice with Russia because it "feared a coup" by the Germans and certain French extremists.

The paper declared the Germans dominate most of the vital airports in Finland, that they have supply depot at key points and are generally in position to take over the country in an emergency.

It asserted it had obtained documentary proof of collaboration between highly-placed Germans and certain Finnish elements who were ready to take a hand in overturning the government.

Dolan Warns Plan Now For Tourists

Ontario Facing Keen Trade Competition

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP) — The development of Canada's travel industry is the duty of everyone who desires to see progress and prosperity throughout the Dominion, D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian Government's Travel Bureau, said in an address here today.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting in conjunction with the Ontario government's two-day conference on post-war tourist planning, Mr. Dolan said such national planning is imperative.

"The old hit and miss method of the past will find no place in the tourist future of Canada" he said. If we are to be successful in the development of an industry so vital to the economic welfare of this nation, then we must unite, as Canadians, in what I think is a stupendous effort."

He appealed to organizations in all parts of Canada to prepare for the post-war travel world with an intensity, aggressiveness and vigor never before approached by Canadians.

"So far as the Canadian government is concerned, we shall approach our task now with the full support of all the provincial governments, of the transportation interests—railway, steamship, bus and air line—and I hope with due recognition from those Allied interests who benefit so materially from a prosperous tourist trade."

He referred to the recent Canadian federal-sponsored tourist conference in Quebec and said out of that conference came "what I think may be characterized as the Magna Charta of Canada's travel industry."

"The representation here to-day is ample testimony for me that Ontario has at last come to realize the potentiality of the tourist industry in this province," Mr. Dolan said. "Nature has been most prolific in the bounty she has given to the Province of Ontario. Geographically this province has been placed at the very front door of the greatest travel market known to the history of civilization.

"The tourist resources of this province are of tremendous magnitude here, within the boundaries of Ontario, we find a tourist empire richly endowed by a kind Providence and awaiting only the enthusiastic and vigorous development by its citizens."

It was wise and prudent to lay plans at present for the post-war tourist interests of Canada. Tourist leaders in other parts of the continent were "up and doing" and it was "right and proper" that Canada also at the present time should consider some of the competitive features which lie before Canada's tourist industry in post-war days.

"The task before us is a prodigious one," he said. "We have to register Canada's position in the travel market because — make no mistake about it — we have been too busy with war work to maintain a position which Canada had achieved in the travel market prior to 1939, You can't cease advertising a product, no matter how good it may be, and still hope to keep the public clamoring for that product."

Air Toll Heavy

LONDON, April 14 (AP).—United States forces have lost 203 bombers and 70 other planes in the six-day offensive which began last Saturday, communiques showed today. In the same period U.S. gunners and pilots, flying from Britain and Italy, have destroyed an officially announced total of 555 German planes.

U.S. Tourists Are Freed Of Ration Coupons

TORONTO, April 14.—(Special to The Examiner.)—The summer resort owners and proprietors of tourists who are spending not more than 5 days in their hotels, it was announced by F. C. Butt, Wartime Prices and Trade Board official, here to-day. The official was speaking to a group representing the tourist industry, called into conference by Douglas Oliver, director of the Ontario Bureau. 138 German Planes One-Day Toll

Allies Lose 64 52 Bombers And 14 Fighters

LONDON, April 14—(CP)—R.A.F. Mosquito bombers struck Berlin and Western Germany last night in climax to double-header daylight assaults yesterday upon aircraft and rail targets by nearly 3,000 U.S. bombers and fighters that bagged 138 German planes.

It was the first blow against the Nazi capital since a Mosquito attack the night of March 25 and a 2,800-ton R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raid the night of March 24. All planes returned.

R.A.F. planes and aircraft of the R.C.A.F. bomber group laid mines in enemy waters last night without loss.

Forty-four American planes, 36 of them bombers, were lost in raids from British bases Thursday, and the Allied Mediterranean forces lost 19, 16 of them heavy bombers, in flying 1,800 sorties.

1,100 Fighters Out

A record fleet of more than 1,100 fighters of the United States 8th and 9th air forces accompanied the 500 to 750 British-based heavy bombers that hit the Messerschmitt plant at Augsburg, the ballbearing factories at Schweinfurt, the Dornier factories and hangars of Oberpfaffenhopen and hangars at Lechfeld.

Those fighters knocked 51 Nazi planes out of the air and at least 27 on the ground, while bomber gunners sent down 25 more.

The other 35 planes in the day's bag of 138 fell to U.S. 15th air force gunners and pilots winging from Italy to hammer a Messerschmitt plant at Gyor, 70 miles northwest of Budapest, at nearby railway car shops and machine shops, the airfield and assembly plant at Tokol 11 miles southwest of Budapest, and another airdrome 10 miles from the capital. Railway targets in Yugoslavia also were bombed. Probably 500 bombers and as many fighters flew from Italian bases on these raids.

The Germans sent "a small number" of planes over southeast England, Essex and the home counties, with some penetrating to London, it was announced authoritatively, and "a small number of casualties were reported." At least two planes were downed. Several high explosives were dropped on the edges of London.

Madoc Man Hides In House Far Behind German Lines

By DOUGLAS AMARON—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, April 14 (CP).—Forty-eight hours' leave was welcome to four Canadian soldiers who spent 27 hours observing the Germans from a house a half-mile behind the enemy lines.

A patrol from the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment went out into the German lines one night, with Lieut. Jim Fraser of Toronto in charge. They probed far behind the enemy positions, without encountering opposition, then returned.

Lusk, and Ptes. Bernie Crawford, Madoc, Ont.; J. N. Billings, Winchester, Ont., and John Mayer, Timmins, Ont., remained behind, in the top floor of a house. They had gone prepared to stay for 24 hours, with a tin of bully beef each, several tins of cheese and a bottle of water.

Guarded Doors.

When daylight came two of the soldiers took up positions at the doors, to guard against any intruding Germans, and the other two, one of them Lusk, observed from the windows. The Germans were all around them.

For security reasons, the results of the observation can't be recorded, but Lusk watched the enemy coming and going, observed Germans run from their trenches to better shelter when Canadian mortar bombs fell nearby, and saw one casualty being evacuated.

One tense moment came when Germans from a house about 200 yards away came almost up to the building where the Canadians were hiding in search of wood. No one, however, entered the house itself.

When night came, Lusk decided it was time to return. He formed a bold plan of escape and when German carts with supplies for forward outposts moved up a road he and the three privates walked out and followed in the rear.

"We stayed far enough back so they wouldn't challenge us, and hoped they would think we were Germans," said Lusk. The plan worked and the Canadians walked along unbothered until they came to a dip where they cut off from the road and crawled back to their own lines.

Allies Destroy 36 Hun Planes

NAPLES, April 14—(AP)—Thirty-six Nazi planes were shot down yesterday by the Allied Mediterranean air forces at a cost of 19 aircraft, including 16 heavy bombers, in widespread operations including attacks on airplane plants and fields in Hungary, Allied Headquarters announced today.

On the land front, patrols and artillery were active on all sectors, the communique said.

Besides the toll of enemy planes in the air, heavy bombers dumped explosives on large concentrations of grounded aircraft in the raids into Hungary. The prime targets were aircraft plants at Gyor and Duna, and airfields at Vecses and Tokol near Budapest.

Other fleets hit railway yards at Brod in Yugoslavia, harbor installations at Corfu and objectives on the Dalmatian coast, and ranged wide over Italy to blast at railroad bridges on lines feeding the German front. In all, 1,800 sorties were flown, the communique said.

The attacks on airfields and the factories producing German fighter planes all within 70 miles radius of Budapest were reported to have been successful. The entire factory area at Gyor was reported well covered and hits were seen on the airdrome hangars, and many installations were left burning.

20,000 Nazis Captured In Big Push

Russian Bombers Tear Gaps In Retreating Columns

LONDON, April 14—(AP).—Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 4th Ukrainian Army rolled through the southern Crimea today toward Sevastopol, less than 25 miles south, and Moscow declared German and Romanian troops were fleeing before the Russian drive to reconquer the peninsula. Stormovik dive-bombers were reported bombing and strafing disorganized enemy columns racing toward coastal evacuation ports.

Already more than 20,000 Axis prisoners have been captured, a Russian communique said, but there was no information available on the total number of enemy dead, outside of the 5,000 listed on Wednesday and Thursday.

Yesterday Gen. Tolbukhin's forces stormed the capital city of Simeropol, 35 miles north of Sevastopol on the central Crimean railway, and captured the west coast port of Yevpatoriya. In the eastern part of the peninsula troops of Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's maritime army swept through the port of Feodosiya to Koktebel, eight miles further along the southern coast. A second column thrust west to capture the town of Krim, 11 miles away, to cut off the enemy units which had fled there from Feodosiya.

7-Day Old Push.

Today, the seventh of the great offensive to clear the Crimea, Russian forces had liberated more than three-fourths of its 10,000-square-mile area, had isolated German forces in the western wedge of the peninsula from their groups in the south and east by capturing Yevpatoriya.

"Special German field gendarmerie tried to stop the German soldiers retreating in panic and shot them on the spot," the bulletin said, "but these drastic measures did not help. The German command was unable to restore order and organize any kind of prolonged resistance."

With the seizure of Ovidiopol, southwest of Odessa, the Russians drove all but a few isolated groups of the Odessa garrison across the Dnepr estuary, and these were rapidly being exterminated by Soviet mopping-up forces.

Jungle Troops Break Jap Ring

WITH CHINESE AND AMERICAN FORCES IN THE MOGAUNG VALLEY, Burma, April 14—(AP).—Encircled units of Brig.-Gen. Frank Merrill's marauders have been relieved by other American jungle fighters, and last night Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell declared it was a "damned good job—damned good all the way 'round."

The unit, surrounded by the Japanese for eight days, was commanded by Lt.-Col. George McGee of Denver, Colo., while the relieving force was under Lt.-Col. Charles Beach of Cincinnati, O.

Beach's men had to fight their way up a series of slopes, each of which led to narrow hogbanks which at no place were wider than 200 yards. The Japanese had dug themselves in at each place where the trail came onto a moderately level hogbank.

In clearing out half of the Japanese ring and holding the gap against a series of infantry attacks, McGee's men counted 210 Japanese bodies.

The enemy remnants then withdrew in the direction of Mogaung.

Papers Demand True Picture Jap Invasion Claim Reverses In India Serious Blow

NEW DELHI, April 14.—(AP).—The British-owned Bombay Times declared yesterday it appeared the "publicity side of the Japanese offensive against Imphal has not been happily handled" and urged Allied military leaders to give the public a realistic picture of the enemy invasion of India.

"It is true that one Southeast Asia Command communique described it (the invasion) as a major offensive," the Times said, "but since then the tendency has been to treat the attack as a rather irresponsible operation."

The new Moslem organ, Dawn, declared the "enemy advances in Assam are a confession of weakness and the Japanese are offering further tokens of invasion."

Allied military leaders, Dawn said, "cannot ignore the recent reverses in Assam, which must offer a disquieting picture against assurances of Allied might in the east."

Hitler Launches Subtle Peace Campaign

Enlists Spanish Aid To Sell Idea Russia A Menace To Allies

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitler's desparate military situation has driven him to start another peace campaign in which he is trying to bamboozle Britain and the United States into throwing over Russia and making a bargain with the Reich.

The Fuehrer has enlisted the aid of Dictator Franco of Spain to persuade the Western Allies that Russia is a greater danger to them than a victorious Germany could ever be. The General Falange Party newspaper Arriba in making this claim declares that hostilities must cease immediately—that's how acute the position is. The paper adds:

"Russia on the Dardanelles and Mediterranean, Russia on the north Atlantic, Russia on the Pacific with a territorial community only she possesses, would not be a pleasant experience. Russia's inexhaustible human resources would permit her to place in operation military and naval forces greater than all others in the world."

No Flash in the Pan

This propaganda is no flash in the pan, for Hitler's own newspaper wheels turning the other day. It declared British and American forces must invade Western Europe, since otherwise the war might end with Stalin the sole conquerer of Europe. The intimation is, of course, that such an ending would raise hell.

Well, if that happened it certainly would create a mountainous predicament. However, it can't happen, because the Anglo-American Allies are playing a major part in the war. Russia doesn't claim to be winning alone. On the contrary Marshal Stalin made this neat little toast at the Teheran conference:

"Wihout American production the United Nations never could have won the war." And production is only one phase of vital Allied participation.

Obviously the post-war wheels will turn a lot easier if the Allies march into Germany together. Still, while we must accept the porability that the Soviet Union will emerge as the dominant power of the eastern hemisphere, there need be no war over that. What we have to remember is that co-operation among the major Allies is the essential for peace.

One too often encounters repetition of the Hitlerian propaganda that we must some day fight Russia. Frequently this is based vaguely on the idea that we can't ward off communism otherwise. That's a fallacious notion. There's no reason why we can't be allied to Russia, or any other country, and at the same time bar its politicalism from our own domains.

Mine Baltic

STOCKHOLM, April 14 (CP-Reuters)—Allied bombers have begun extensive mining of the Baltic outside Swedish territorial waters, according to a usually reliable source. It is considered in Stockholm that the operation is intended to block shipping routes to German ports and prevent Swedish war material shipments from arriving.

Sweden Gets Direct Request

Expect Allies To Take Counter Measures

STOCKHOLM, April 14.—(AP).—The newspaper Aftonbladet expressed the editorial opinion to-day that Sweden would say no to the British and American demarche asking her to stop exporting ball bearings to Germany. The editorial said the Allies, as a result probably would cut off safe conduct traffic to Sweden.

The government made no official statement to the Allied written request handed to the foreign minister, by U. S. minister Herschel V. Johnson and the British minister, V. A. L. Mallett yesterday.

The editorial asserted any break in Sweden's safe conduct traffic would constitute a "flagrant breaking of Allied promises" under which Sweden had consent of the belligerents to make certain exports to Germany, as well as to bring shipping through the blockade.

Stopping exports to the south, Aftonbladet declared, would break trade with Germany and mean markets in Spain, Switzerland and Portugal also would be cut off.

The Allied request contended there was considerable Allied public opinion opposed to any act by neutrals which aids the enemy to Allied war was Sweden's war as Allied war was Swelen's war as wel.

War Losses In France Heavy

Shipping, Trains, Buildings, Hard Hit

LONDON, April 14.— (CP-Reuters)—Losses and destruction suffered by France have been far greater since the armistice than they were during the six months of her participation in the war Robert de Beauplan, political commentator on the German-controlled Paris radio said to-day.

Nothing remained of the army of 100,000 men left to Metropolitan France, of the 150,000 colonial forces, 1,000 trains and 700,000 tons of naval shiping he said.

Of 2,200,000 tons of merchant shipping which he said France had after the armistice Beauplan said: "To-day she owns 65,000 tons, of which 15,000 tons are in Indo China.

"The rest have either been sunk or seized, or are blocked in neutral ports," he added.

Referring to air raids he said: "At least 15,000 persons have been killed, 20,000 injured; 200,000 have had their homes destroyed, 800,000 have been evacuated and some 60 towns heavily hit, with 160,000 houses and public buildings destroyed."

Beauplan's "balance sheet" also included assassinations.

"Civil war has resulted in 905 persons assassinated, of whom 750 belonged to security services, thousands of wounded and innumerable armed assaults, plundering and thefts," he said.

Double Job Lies Ahead Knox Reports

War Far From Won Navy Secretary Warns Canadians

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP) — United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox said last night "the hour of our trial at home and abroad is at hand and now is the time, as never before, when we must not alone provide the sinews of war but forge the weapons of peace."

Addressing the inaugural dinner meeting of Toronto's Sixth Victory Loan Committee, Col. Knox said that while there is great encouragement in the military and production achievements of the Allied nations "the truth is that the period of greatest sacrifices lies ahead."

"The war," he stated, "while progressing favorably with the initiative firmly in our hands, is still far from won."

The two major enemies still hold their main fortresses intact, the Navy Secretary continued, and "to bridge their walls will call for greater effort than any we have made thus far."

Stating that "we have our enemies on the defensive," he said "now is the time to put forth our utmost effort."

Best Necessary

"We can do no less than our best," he told the gathering of more than 600 men who shortly will begin their task of raising a $250,000,000 objective in the forthcoming $1,200,000,000 national drive.

He said as a result of the activities of the Royal Canadian Navy in co-operation with the Navies of Great Britain and the United States the German submarines "which started out to hunt" now are the hunted.

The Canadian Navy, he said, had provided convoy protection for 50,000 ships so far in this war as well as participating in the landing of troops in the invasions of the Aleutians, North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

"Canadian destroyers have also seen service on the convoy route to Russia—and there's no tougher route than that," he said.

He told of the building up of the Canadian Navy, which in 1939 had six combatant ships, seven auxiliary vessels and patrol craft and 1,800 men, to the present-day total of approximately 80,000 men and women, 250 fighting ships, and 450 auxiliaries and patrol craft.

European Invasion Rumors Exploded By Official Source

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP). — European invasion rumors started by three Ontario reports that a German radio station had broadcast about an Allied landing on the French coast apparently were run down today to a German propaganda program which described how invasion forces MIGHT land and mentioned the Dieppe attack in 1942.

(The rumors were described authoritatively by British sources in London as "entirely untrue from beginning to end."

From these sources — in Toronto, London, Ont., and Malton, Ont.—the story of the purported invasion reached newspaper offices here. The gist of the reports was that Allied troops, including a large body of Canadian soldiers, had struck at or near Calais, on the French side of the English Channel.

As the settlement was achieved, there was no mention made of subversive influences believed to have had a hand in provoking some of the trouble. Scotland Yard is still pursuing investigation into the activities of such organizations as the "Trotskyists" described as being "anti-Churchill, anti-Hitler and anti-Stalin" and as promoters of anarchy as opposed to Communism or Socialism in the accepted sense.

Canadian Crew Mans Destroyer

OTTAWA, April 14—(CP).—H.M.C.S. Algonquin, one of the most modern destroyers in the world, has been commissioned by the Royal Canadian Navy in a Clyde shipyard and her all-Canadian crew is expecting to see action in the invasion, the Navy announced today.

A Navy press release said that at the commissioning ceremony, the men were promised by Vice-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, senior Canadian flag officer overseas: "I shall do what I can to ensure that this ship will take part in the major operations which are to come."

Seventh destroyer to be given to Canada by Britain in the past year in a mutual-aid-in-reverse policy, the Algonquin is the first ship of her type in the Canadian Navy.

Captain of the new destroyer is Lt.-Cmdr. D. M. Piers, D.S.C., of Halifax.

A fleet class destroyer, built to operate with capital ships, cruisers and aircraft carriers, the Algonquin has a long operational range.

The naval release did not say but there was a possibility she would be used with ships of the same type to escort the two new cruisers Canada is getting from Britain or perhaps the two new Canadian-manned flat-tops of the Royal Navy.

Two thousand tons and more than 360 feet in length, the Algonquin has a speed of more than 36 knots.

Officers include Lieut. John Rhodes Sturdy of Montreal author of the R.C.N. film, Corvette K-225, Lieut. W. H. Toller of Ottawa, and Lieut. Neil Henry Chapman of Pembroke, Ont., signals officer.

control of the Mayu range for an attack on Akyab was announced. The communique said the Japanese attacked both southwest and north of Buthedaung and made a slight penetration, but were counter-attacked.

Steady, but slow progress was made by the Chinese-American force in North Burma, with Brig.-Gen. Frank Merrill's marauders pushing south of captured Nhpum Ga in the mountains east of the Mogaung Valley 34 miles north of the Mandalay-Myitkyina railway against bitterly resisting Japanese. To the west of the valley Chinese drove forward six miles from Pumsin and took Kora Gahtawng.

Heavy bombers made a concentrated attack on barracks and transport at Nagorn Sawarn and medium bombers struck the railway bridges on the Pyu and Matmauk lines as part of a widespread aerial activity in which a record 1,006 sorties were flown aganst the enemy.

In one fighter-bomber attack considerable damage was done to 40 to 50 motor transports in the Thaungdut area, and in another raid oil storage tanks at Magwe were set burning.

Moot MacArthur As New War Secretary

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (AP) —The appointment of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Secretary of War was proposed by a Republican and Democratic senator today as politicians calculated the effect of correspondence which most of them interpreted as indicating Gen. MacArthur is receptive to a Republican presidential nomination.

In an exchange of letters made public by representative A. L. Miller (Rep., Neb.), the Allied Southwest Pacific Commander apparently left the way open for a draft movement. Supporters declared they would canvass convention delegates in an effort to persuade them to nominate the General.

Replying to suggestions by Mr. Miller that the General hold himself ready for a nomination with which the Nebraskan predicted Gen. MacArthur could carry every state, the General wrote that he did not anticipate fulfillment of these "flattering predictions". He did not say he would not accept such a nomination.

Practical politicians though this had come too late to overcome the lead Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has acquired for Republican convention delegates. The draft movement thus far has given Gen. MacArthur only three, as against 148 pledged and claimed for Gov. Dewey. (needed to nominate: 530.)

Senator John Thomas (Rep., Idaho), one of those who thinks it will be Mr. Dewey on the first ballot, said he would like to see the party's nominee announce that he would ask Gen. MacArthur to return home to replace Secretary of War Henry Stimson, himself a Republican.

50,000 Plates Being Issued

TORONTO, April 14 (CP)—Officials of the Department of Highways said today about 50,000 new 1944 motor vehicle licence plates are being issued this year to three types of vehicles that cannot carry the windshield stickers issued to passenger and commercial carriers.

The three are trailers, motorcycles and dealers' cars or trucks, which will carry one plate on the rear. Colors of the plate are yellow background and black figures. Officials explained these types of vehicles could not be issued stickers for lack of space to locate them.

After tomorrow those who drive without obtaining the 1944 permits will be liable to prosecution.

He reported and was told to forget the order, that he was over 26 and not wanted.

Last night he made arrangements to join his family and bought an extra shirt.

He called his draft board today to tell of his change of address.

The freeze on men over 26 is off, the board informed him, and now Kleinfeld must report for induction tomorrow.

He announced he had an extra shirt to give away.

Woman Age 74 Sues City For Damages

The city of Peterborough was defendant today in a Supreme Court action before Mr. Justice Greene for $10,000 damages by Mrs. John C. Schweier, 516 Wolfe street, for injuries suffered in a fall on George street Saturday afternoon, January 30, 1943, in which she suffered a broken left hip and bruises on her head and back.

The accident occurred on the west side of George street in front of the Lincoln Shoe Store and the premises previously occupied by Tip Top Tailors, north of Charlotte street.

Mrs. Schweier, 74, examined by her counsel, T. J. Carley, K.C., testified at the opening of the case Thursday afternoon that she was walking south with her husband in the Saturday afternoon pedestrian crowd about 3 o'clock. With them were her brother, Ben Muma and his wife who were here on a visit from Prince Rupert, B.C.

Plaintiff said she stepped into a "ditch" or shallow about two feet wide and 6 to 8 inches deep, and fell partly backward in a twisting manner that caused a fracture of her hip.

Sidewalk Icy

The late Rev. Mr. Bousfield carried Mrs. Schweier into the Lincoln Shoe Store.

The sidewalk was icy all the way down from Kresge's, and mostly the ice was removed almost down to the sidewalk," said the plaintiff as she stood with the help of crutches on the witness stand. Dr. J. M. McCulloch was called and Mrs. Schweier was removed to Nicholls Hospital where she was a patient ten and a half weeks until April 13.

Plaintiff said her son's wife, Mrs. Wilfred Schweier, had been working "and for board and looking after her two children she had been paying me $10 a week. After I was hurt she had to stay home and kept house, and did not pay me the $10 a week."

Lorne McDonald, employed on Saturdays at the Lincoln store, told the court that he had seen a depression or hollow in the ice on the sidewalk in front of the wall between the Tip Top and Lincoln stores, or a little to the Tip Top side. Mr. McDonald said "there was a six, inch rise of ice just south of the Lincoln store, a ridge that was there most of the winter, as if it was an accumulation. There was no indication of recent shovelling on the Tip Top side."

Wilfred Schweier, son of the plaintiff, testified that he and his wife looked that Saturday night at the place where his mother had fallen. His observation was to the effect that there was "a sudden drop" from the ice that was around six inches deep near the Tip Top side of the Lincoln store. It looked as if the Tip Top sidewalk was not cleared of snow all winter.

Street Was Sanded

Bruce Livingstone, 28, Perry street, truck driver for the Board of Works, was the first witness called for the defence by E. L. Haines, representing the insurance company with whom the municipality is insured against public liability claims. Witness said the west side of George street, both sides, was sanded after 8 a.m. Saturday January 30 from McDonnel to Townsend street. His helpers were Robert Asling, Charlie Barton and the late Albert Cox.

Mr. Livingstone said the sanding job was repeated in the afternoon from King street north. Salt was used in the sand to cut the ice. The block north of Charlotte street was sanded in the afternoon some time between 2 and 2.30 o'clock.

The case is continuing this afternoon.

Lull Descends On Burma Front

NEW DELHI, April 14 —(CP)—A lull on the Assam front where the Japanese have invaded India was reported by the southeast Asia command today which said nothing but patrol activity had taken place either around the Imphal Plain or in the mountainous Kohima area, 60 miles to the north.

In the Palel-Tamu sector southeast of Imphal, the communique said a Japanese attack was repulsed and 100 of the enemy killed.

A new outbreak of fighting was reported in the Arakan sector of southern Burma where the Britian are attempting to get control of the Mayu peninsula for an attack on Akyab, and it was said 700 Japanese had been killed in a week of fighting in this area. The Japanese made a determined attack southwest of Buthedaung and made a slight penetration, but were counter-attacked, the communique said. The Japanese also attacked north of Buthedaung.

Mother Seeks Return Of Farm

Affirming that she did not understand "the nature and character" of the document which she signed with her husband conveying their Douro farm, valued at $8,000, to their son, Mrs. William Henry McCall brought an action in the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario before Mr. Justice Greene to nullify the deed.

Mrs. McCall was the executrix of her husband's will and his sole beneficiary. The defendant in this case was their son, Donald Henry McCall.

The will was dated October 12, 1932, by which the late Mr. McCall bequeathed all his estate to his wife. The date of the deed of the farm to the defendant was February 20, 1941, and by its effect Mrs. McCall lost possession of property to the extent of $8,000. At the same time the farm was leased to Donald H. McCall on terms that provided in present effect for a payment to the plaintiff of $75 every six months.

Judgment by consent directed the defendant to pay to his mother $30 a month beginning April 1, placing the money to her credit at the Bank of Commerce, and to pay any debts incurred by his father up to February 20, 1941, hospital, medical and funeral expenses, but the defendent "shall not be liable for any debts or expenses of the plaintiff."

G. N. Gordon, K.C., was counsel for Mrs. McCall and B. D. Hall for the defendant.

Scientists Favor New Rations

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—United States Navy scientists disclosed today development of new "candy-type," tablet-form emergency rations for lifeboats and rafts, and declared a day's allotment weighed half as much as present shipwreck rations.

The new ration consists of three different types of tablets:

One of sucrose (sugar) and citric acid to provide fruity components and promote the flow of saliva;

One of surcose, corn syrup, and citric acid, containing a butterscotch-like material to provide buttery fat;

One of sucrose corn syrup and malted milk.

A daily ration consists of tablets totalling about a third of a pound in weight.

The present ration of the Navy—consisting of biscuit, malted milk tablets, pemmican (the old Indian trail food) and chocolate—weighs about two-thirds of a pound.

3-Power Group To Govern All Germany

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 14—(AP).—Defeated Germany will be governed by a joint British-American-Russian "allied military government with teeth in it," a reliable source said today.

And, he added, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander of the Allied western front forces will be given the greatest authority of any military leader in history. Besides commanding all Allied land, sea and air forces, he will exercise direct and indirect control over the civilian life of most of liberated Europe.

The plan for Germany was broadly outlined by this source after it was learned last night that no Allied military government was intended for France. Instead Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Committee of National Liberation is to be given control of the civil administration of liberated France, receiving "military recognition" as the official authority but not being granted diplomatic recognition as the French "government."

An informant gave this picture of Allied plans:

For some time after the armistice, as well as before, Gen. Eisenhower as chief of the military government forces will have direct control over all parts of Germany occupied by British, American or other Allied troops except the Russians. A Soviet military government will control German territory occupied by the Red Army.

He will be the man through whom the French, Netherlanders, Norwegians, Belgians and other Allied governments must deal until normal peacetime diplomatic and trade channels can be resumed.

All countries except Germany and her satellites who stay with her to the end will be allowed to choose their own governments.

There is no question of self-government for Germany immediately after the war, it was stressed.

"There has been no indication that any counter-Nazi movement is growing in Germany which might seize power, such as displaced the Kaiser in the last war," one high official explained, "so we must be prepared for a completely disorganized and decentralized Germany."

Phone Service Enters Enquiry

MONTREAL, April 14 (CP)—Mr. Justice Lucien Cannon today refused to allow a statement from the Bell Telephone Company to be written into the records of a Commission inquiry into activities of the Provincial Police in the Montreal district. The one-man commission said, however, that the question was one of "extreme importance" and would be dealt with later in the inquiry.

Counsel for the Company had sought to have written into the records a statement of the Company's viewpoint regarding statements made earlier in the probe in connection with the providing of telephone service to racing bookies.

Louis Jargailles, provincial police assistant director, had testified that the Company had attempted to disconnect illegal establishments" but had to resume service when the subscribers involved appealed to the Board of Transport at Ottawa.

Mr. Justice Cannon had said that he found it "strange" that the Company continued to supply telephone service to "illegal establishments" when "legitimate subscribers" had difficulty obtaining new telephone service.

(In a subsequent public statement, the Company said that it is obliged" by its charter to furnish telephone service to all who require it for lawful purposes.

("We cannot under British law assume that an applicant, whatever we may know about him, intends to act unlawfully," the statement added.)

Inflation Block May Die Before Congress

BY C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 14 — (CP) — Fate of the "little steel" formula, embattled salient of the Roosevelt Administration's Wage Control Policy, may be in the balance when Congress desidec its forthcoming battle over subsidies and price control.

The administration price control authority, administered by the office of price administration, must be renewed by next June 30 and there is a strong lobby to put through amendments and changes which may seriously handicap or end its usefulness as a bar to inflation.

Meanwhile the little steel formula which has been under constant fire from labor organizations seeking to break through the wage ceiling it imposes, stands in grave peril if the cost of living cannot be kept down.

One of the major campaigns aimed to totter the United States price control system is that to end the payment of food subsidies by which prices to consumers remain at what is considered the safe level. The anti-subsidy forces are supported by a large block of congressmen.

If that campaign succeeds administration officials claim there could be no hope of maintaining both prices and wages would go skyrocketing in a spiral of disastrous inflation.

Labor bodies claim the cost of living has soared away beyond the May 1, 1942 level, and that once overtime and capacity employment in industry is ended, workers will be on a poverty level at the present rates of remuneration.

Coal Supplies To Be Adequate

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—Munitions Minister Howe said last night that a new order affecting coal consumers and dealers in the central and eastern Provinces will be announced within a few days, and added that sufficient coal will be available for every Canadian home next winter if householders repeat their "splendid" co-operation of this winter.

"In the meantime, sufficient advance information has been obtained by Coal Controller E. J. Brunning to permit a tentative forecast of the prospects for the heating season of 1944-45," said Mr. Howe.

He said Canada probably will receive about the same amount of United States anthracite as in the past coal year.

Receipts of Welsh coal, however, will be substantially reduced, and it may be necessary to divert some United States anthracite, which would normally be used in Ontario and Quebec, to the Maritime Provinces to supply consumers whose quipment is not suitable for burning Maritime coal.

The supply of Canadian and United States coke will be approximately the same as last year, but the receipts of low volatile bituminous coal (Pocahontas type) in household sizes will be lower because of increased war demands.

In New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, sufficient Maritime coal will be available for all householders using bituminous, and it is expected that sufficient anthracite and coke will be made available to carry the consumers of such fuels over the colder months of the winter.

YMCA Activity Grows Apace Among Mexicans

Bringing the Peterborough Y.'s Men's Club greetings from many of its fellow clubs throughout the Dominion and in the United States, J. Hartley Fowler, world service secretary, National Council, Y.M.C.A., addressed the members Thursday evening in an inspiring talk concerned mainly wth the work of the Y.M.C.A. in Mexico and the growth of social service and economic progress there.

Mr. Fowler, recently appointed to his post to succeed Dr. Brace, spent two months in the fall of last year studying the existing work of the "Y" in Mexico and reviewing the possibilities of forming new associations in various cities. He had been associated for some years previously with the Y.M.C.A. in Detroit, and has travelled in many parts of the world, having spent five years in India, two of them at Travancore and three in Calcutta.

Like India

Prefacing his remarks on the work of the "Y" in Mexico, Mr. Fowler spoke briefly of the land and its people. He had found it fascinating, he said, and was surprised how little is generally known about the country considering its proximity to the United States and Canada. One-quarter the size of Canada, it was inhabited by 20,000,000 people, who among them spoke 50 different dialects. "I was struck by the fact that Mexico is primarily a country of villages," Mr. Fowler stated, "and in this respect it resembles no other land so much as India."

"A poor and depressed individual" expressed the down trodden and ignorant state of the native Mexican Indians, who comprised 25 per cent of the population, the Speaker said; but the other 75 per cent made up of Mestizos, with mixed Indian and Spanish blood, and the pure whites, he found a happy race. "When they have money they know how to spend it, and they are a truly vivacious people," Mr. Fowler said.

Touring the cities and the countryside of Mexico, he has come across many things which impressed him deeply, especially ruins and other evidences of the country's ancient roots in history, and the vigorous and amazing abundant flora. He visited pyramids and excavations dating from the days of Aztec and Toltec civilization, and saw a university which is the oldest educational institution in North America. The wealth of flowers and trees could hardly be believed, and included in a wide number were azalea trees that grew 15 feet high, double nasturtiums, and gardenias and orchids in profusion.

Growing Popular

Turning to a description of the result of his finding, Mr. Fowler recounted the enthusiasm marking the steady growth of interest in the Y. M. C. A. in Mexico. The "Y" building in Mexico City, he said, was comparable in size to the central "Y" in Montreal, and it was "one of the busiest I have run across anywhere in the world."

Mr. Fowler paid extended tribute to the work of Dr. D. S. Hatch, associated with the Y.M.C.A. in Mexico for nearly 30 years, who has exemplified the kind of things this international group is undertaking in the never-ceasing effort to promote social and economic progress and the futherance of friendly relations between nations. Dr. Hatch, working on the introduction of crops not cultivated in Mexico before, has brought as many as 70 new crops to the attention of Mexican farmers, the speaker related; and he has shown the natives how better crops may be produced through proper fertilization.

"His work," Mr. Fowler said, "has attracted widespread attention and the visitors at his settlement have been many. Vice-President Wallace has sent Dr. Hatch seeds for experimental projects, and his daughter, Joan Wallace, has stayed there frequently. Another famous visitor was Walt Disney, who came to Dr. Hatch to learn how he reaches the people with his educational methods in preparation for films he is making for the Mexican government. "This movement," Mr. Fowler added, "has in it the seeds of a new economic order for Mexico, and it is meeting with the approval and appreciation of the country's leaders".

Well Treated

In concluding, the speaker turned for a moment to a consideration of the Y.M.C.A. the world over, and its very intimate connection with the providing of edutcational opportunities and amusements for prisoners of war. His own contacts with representatives who have visited German prioner-of-war camps enabled him to pass along to his listeners the assurance that Canadian soldiers are receiving very decent treatment at the hands of their captors; and some 100 Y secretaries, covering over 900 prisoner camps were zealous in their efforts to supply the prisoners with plenty of athletic equipment and facilities for educational training courses. "It is a most humanitarian and Christ-like work," the speaker declared.

The challenge of war service to the Y.M.C.A. and the invaluable chance it offered of promoting goodwill abroad were stressed by Mr. Fowler as well. Request for the experienced leadership of its representatives in working with the 8,000,000 troops of China had recently been made by Chiang-Kai-Shek; and a similar appeal was at hand from Viscount Wavell in the interests of the 2,000,000 men under arms in India.

"The efforts put into good works like this will return to us many times over in future year," Mr. Fowler stated.

Hungry Spaniard Tosses Century Notes

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—New York waiters and waitresses rather hoped a mysterious man known only as "The Hungry Spaniard" would drop around for a little snack today.

First he showed up at Eddie Davis's lunch wagon on Third avenue. The famished stranger ate clam chowder, hamburger, baked ham, beets, three big helpings of mashed potatoes, toast and two cups of coffee.

Under his plate he left a $100 tip for Eddie.

Next he went into a chain restaurant, ate 55 cents worth, gave a surprised cashier $120 and insisted he keep the change.

Then he entered a third place, got a sandwich and soft drink, and—

"He pulled out a bankroll as big as a house," reported Manager Sidnew Soshnick, "and tried to give everybody a $100 bill."

Soshnick said he wouldn't let anyone take the money.

Light Department Has $300 Increase

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14. — (ENS).—A slight increase in revenues was revealed in the monthly statement presented to members of the Water and Light Commission at their April meeting Thursday night. According to the statement the greater gains were made in the light department, which was up approximately $300 over the same three-month period in 1943.

Chairman J. O. Benor, who presided for the session, paid fitting tribute to the late Charles Davidson, a member of the Commission at the time of his death two weeks ago. Said he: "There is little that remains to be said, but I am sure there is no one in Campbellford who will miss him more than the members of this Board will." He made a motion that the secretary send a letter of sympathy to the family.

Pointing out that there had been disapproval voiced by some councillors regarding the Commission's $25,000 post war nest egg, Mayor Long questioned the chairman on the matter. Mr. Benor declared he had received "legal advice" regarding the money, which the commission had invested in Victory Bonds, and had been advised they were quite within their powers to set aside money for post war maintenance and repair work.

The manager read a communication outlining the program that will be presgented in connection with the annual convention of the Canadian section of the American Waterworks Association to be held at Niagara Falls April 19, 20, 21. Due to the inability of the chairman to attend the mayor and manager were named as a committee to appoint a delegate.

"I'll Be Good" Wails 78-Year-Old Thief When House Of Refuge Looms As Residence

COBOURG, April 14 (ENS) — William Russell, 78-year-old pensioner who appeared in police court Thursday on a charge of stealing $10 on April 9 from Albert Couchman, caused court officials to chuckle as they listened to his story.

Russell, whose ability to hear seemed to vary according to the nature of the question, was charged with taking $10 from the greatcoat pocket of Couchman, a soldier who was spending his leave at the same house in Haldimand township where the accused resided. Provincial Constable Alex McLeod, of Cobourg, testified that he located the accused in Port Hope and that he still had $6.05 of the original ten when arrested.

He Was Sorry

Russell was very apologetic.

"Give me another chance and I'll pay him back as soon as I get home," begged the old man.

"You were up before me last year for taking a watch?" the magistrate reminded him.

"That's right, that's right. I did that. I am getting too old to be doing such things. I'll never take another thing as long as I live," he promised.

Russell mistook Constable McLeod in court, possibly because he was in uniform, for the soldier from whom he took the money, until the magistrate put him right on that score.

Out of the Question

"If you don't behave yourself you'll end up in jail. How would you like to be sent to the House of Refuge?" Magistrate Baxter asked.

"Oh, no! I don't want to go there. I get $28 a month old age pension and it costs me $20 a month to live where I am and I have $8 for myself besides what I get for the odd job I do. Up there in the House of Refuge they take your old age pension and just give you about $2 a month to spend. No, sir, I'll be good—I want to stay where I am," Russell replied.

"You get right back to your place and see that you pay back the money you stole and if you haven't straightened things up by tomorrow night, back you'll come. I am placing you on suspended sentence for one year so keep out of trouble," advised the magistrate.

As the old man walked out of the court room he paused in front of Constable McLeod.

"Say you couldn't lend me fifteen cents to go down home on the bus, could you," he asked the constable.

He didn't make the touch but police arranged a ride down for him.

Students Sold $2,155 In Stamps

Attendance at the Collegiate and Vocational School appears to have picked up slightly, according to the report given at the meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night, while Public school attendance remains about the same.

The Academic section of the school has an average attendance of 95.56 percent; and the the Vocational school was registered at 95.17 per cent. The grand total was listed as 95.43 per cent. The Public school has a total of 2,903 on the roll and an average attendance of 2,640 or 90.73 per cent.

Since the schools have undertaken to sell war savings stamps, the Public school pupils have set up and maintained a high record. This month, Inspector K. Wightman reports that the stamps they sold are valued at $2,155 for the month of March.

The medical and dental officers have been kept busy too. Dr. S. J. Graham, dental officer, examined 499 pupils at Central School, of whom 111 were treated at the school clinic. He made 79 extractions and attended to 346 fillings. Dr. R. F. Nott, medical officer, reports 80 complete physical examinations and 38 special examinations. The school nurses made 436 classroom inspections; cared for 13 minor accidents and dressings, gave 470 vision tests and paid 272 visits to homes.

The school attendance officer, F. R. Revoy, reported 42 absent through illness; 8 absent due to parental neglect; 7 transfers and 28 absent for home help.

Montreal Boy Given 3 Months' Sentence

COBOURG, April 146—(ENS).—Remanded for sentence from last Monday, 17-year-old Phillip Bouthillette of Montreal was sentenced to three months in jail by Magistrate R. B. Baxter on Thursday.

Bouthillette pleaded guilty to the theft of $150 from Stanley Muldrew of Newcastle on March 23. Evidence revealed that the youth accompanied Muldrew to Port Hope on March 23, where Muldrew drew out $302 and gave $150 to Bouthillette on the understanding that the latter would go down to Montreal with him. The accused didn't accompany him, and Muldrew was picked up some days later in Ottawa and taken to the Ontario Hospital at Whitby.

"You saw a victim in Muldrew, and acted accordingly," said the Magistrate in sentencing the accused to three months in jail. All but $40 of the money was recovered.

Sgt. Stan Kerr Meets Friend In Nazi Camp

MARMORA, April 14—(ENS)—Cheery letters written Dec. 2 and Dec. 18 respectively were received by Mr. and Mrs. G. Kerr on Wednesday from their son, Sgt. W. S. (Stanley) Kerr, R.C.A.F., who has been a prisoner of war for some months in Germany.

In the first letter Stan refers to the receipt of clothes from the Red Cross and to the meeting with another Peterborough boy on the day previous. In the second letter he writes:

"Just one week until Christmas and it won't be too bad. I am with a fellow named Shorty Long from Tweed. He has just been captured. He was with Bob Gray (Sergt. R. C. Gray of Marmora). I am hoping for a letter by Christmas as some of the boys have received them. You have no idea of its value, since it will sure be the greatest present I have ever had. I am so anxious to hear from home. News that I can mention is scarce, but will be seeing you before long as the war is drawing near an end. Remember me to all my friends."

A King As Scapegoat

It is difficult to judge at this distance, and with the information available from dispatches, but it looks as though King Victor Emanuel of Italy were being made a scapegoat for the folly and weakness of the Italian people. It has been demanded in many quarters that the King abdicate, and he has now said that he will retire in favour of his son, the Prince of Piedmont, when the Allies enter Rome. As there is no immediate prospect of the Allies reaching Rome, this cannot be interpreted as a victory for the forces which seek to overthrow the King.

◆ ◆ ◆

It is said that Victor Emanuel accepted Mussolini after the last war, and thus was guilty of foisting Fascism on the Italian people. This is a dangerous simplification of the facts. In the elections of 1921 not only Mussolini but 35 other Fascists were elected to the governing body of the country, and between that time and 1922 he gained great numbers of followers. It was on September 29, 1922, that he declared himself as an upholder of the Italian monarchy, and this naturally disposed the King in his favour; the opposition forces were bitten by the republican bug, and thought that the banishment of Victor Emanuel would set everything right that was wrong in Italian trade, agriculture and industry. Now when, in 1922, Mussolini marched on Rome at the head of his black-shirted band, the King sent first for Signor Salandra, and asked him to form a coalition Cabinet to replace the Facta Cabinet, which had resigned; Salandra tried to comply, failed, and the only man in Italy who could form a Cabinet was Mussolini, and the King asked him to do so. To say that Victor Emanuel forced Mussolini on the Italians is quite contrary to fact.

• • •

Mussolini was the choice of a majority of the Italian people; they put him in power, and they adored him as long as he could do things for them; when he failed and his bluff was called, they turned against him, as mobs always do. Now the Italian people are trying to shift the blame for their own stupidity to the shoulders of their King who, as a constitutional monarch, had comparatively little to do with Mussolini's rise, and, as we saw a few months ago, was only able to bring about his fall when the people willed it.

The destruction of the Italian monarchy would work strongly against good government in Italy after the war. The Italian national genius does not incline toward stable and rational government; the Italian people lack that doggedness of purpose which is necessary to successful parliamentary rule. Count Sforza and Benedetto Croce are ardent republicans now, but when Mussolini came to power Croce was one of his principal supporters; the drama of overthrowing a throne seems to have taken hold of certain Italian leaders, and they are quite blind to the value of what they would destroy. If the Italian monarchy were overthrown it would not be ten years before another party, full of men like Sforza and Croce, would be clamouring to restore it again.

A constitutional monarchy is a splendid balance-wheel to a country governed on parliamentary principles. Italy needs a balance-wheel more than most countries. It will be a great pity if the desire of the unstable Italian people to find a scapegoat results in the destruction of its best ballast—its monarchy.

On Being a Servant

A dispatch from London tells us that Mr. Ernest Bevin has great plans for domestic servants when the war is over; he is quoted as saying, "I want to produce a scheme which will after the war put domestic service on a real service basis and create an avenue of employment with a proper status". This is splendid, and we hope that Mr. Bevin suceeds. And as the matter of domestic service is one which is also of concern in Canada, we propose to discuss it briefly here.

First of all, let it be established that domestic servants are necessary; in many households there is too much work for the housewife to do alone, or it may be that she is in ill-health and cannot do what work there is, or it may be that she has occupations outside her home which do not leave her time for domestic work. There is also the fact that many women do not like domestic work, are not good at it, and hire a servant if they can afford to do so; and why not? No man thinks himself disgraced if he pays a man to shine his shoes instead of doing it himself; why think it wrong for a woman to hire another woman to wash her dishes?

Second, domestic service is an honourable employment, and good servants have always commanded high wages and good treatment from their employers. The trouble with domestic service in this country in recent years has been that too many people have looked on it as a last refuge of those who can do nothing else. As a result a great number of girls, wholly untrained, have gone to work for low wages in houses where servants are not respected, and are slighted and badly used; many women do not know how to treat an employee properly, and as a result they always have trouble with their maids.

We could learn much about domestic service from the Scandinavian countries, for many of the best domestic workers in Canada have come from them. They are well-trained, well-educated, self-respecting people, ready to do a good day's work, and expecting a good day's pay in return. Their aim is not, as with the untrained servant, to get as much as possible for doing as little as possible; they know what to do, and they know what their services are worth.

It takes more brains, tact and initiative to be a good domestic servant than it does to sell goods in a shop or to mind a machine in a factory. A good servant need never lack a position, for the demand always exceeds the supply. But being a servant is a business, and it must be treated as one. The job of a servant is to serve. Someone in England suggests that in future servants be called "domestic assistants"; that is nonsense; who would dare to ask a "domestic assistant" to do a bit of scrubbing? Yet scrubbing must be done, and scrubbing is honest and honourable work. No, the servant's job is to make the household run smoothly, to take certain burdens off her employers and to give and get as much pleasure by her work as possible; that is a highly responsible job, and deserves good wages and a good place in the social scale. There is more real happiness and satisfaction in good domestic work than in most of the jobs open to women, and it is an excellent training for marriage.

There is nothing wrong with being a servant, but there is disgrace and humiliation in being a bad servant. As Leo Tolstoy said, "We are all brothers—but every morning my brother or my sister carries out my dishes". That seems to sum up the situation better than a long paragraph on the place of domestic service in the scheme of things.

Bombing Our Friends

Among those flyers who will not boast of their exploits after the war we must count the members of that American squadron which recently bombed the Swiss town of Schaffhausen. At least fifty people were killed and six factories were completely destroyed; it was a good raid, but it happened in the wrong country.

It has been explained that the squadron of Liberators was blown off its course by high winds, and mistook Schaffhausen for a town eleven miles away in Germany. The inhabitants of the town, thinking no harm, gathered in great numbers in a public square to watch the planes go overhead; thus they offered a tempting target to the bombers. But how could the bombers have mistaken one town for another, in broad daylight if they had been adequately prepared for their raid? We have been given to understand that the preparations for a raid are complete, and of the most complex nature; but when a group of planes does not know one country from another and one town from another in daylight, but is able to drop bombs with great accuracy, something is wrong.

The Swiss people have shown the greatest generosity and understanding in this affair. But we are sure that they hope that some means can be found of preventing any more such gratuitous horrors.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Allied troops in the South Pacific have met natives who use shells for money. Imagine trying to work out payroll deductions in shells!

The village of Gruer, Iowa, with a population of 126 has elected women to all its local offices, and has been doing this for some time. Can that be the reason why nobody ever heard of it before?

The Trek To Germany

By
FLOSSIE F. TINKER

HE had grown up, about half a century ago, among what Browning calls "the gaudy melon flowers" of a distant Italy where every summer "day boils o'er night's brim." Tony, I shall call him; he refused to let me use his name. Besides having a lean and hungry look, there was something in his face that was new to me, something indefinable. You are aware in the faces you meet of various expressions—friendliness, intelligence, dissipation, worry or unhappiness. But his was different. By the time he had finished his story, I had analyzed his expression as the indelible stamp of the ravages and horrors of starvation and the hell of warfare. Is it possible we will see that in the faces of our boys when they return?

Tony began his story. "In 1917 I was fighting at the front in the north of Italy. Our line was in the shape of a horseshoe, which is a weak line. Very quietly one night we were captured. It was a pitch-black night when, suddenly, there towered before me a giant figure—you see I am not tall—"as he spoke he looked up as if at a phantom figure, and his muscles tensed. During the telling of this, I could see he was living again those times. "I turn cold when I think of him plumping his pistol against my chest. It stunned me to know the Germans had crept up and taken us by surprise. Soon I was disarmed and a group of us was convoyed to a barn close by.

"NEXT morning we were all herded together, tens of thousands of us, for the trek north to the German Border. All that way we marched, and probably covered more ground than on any day following."

His answer to my query as to how the prisoners reacted was, "None of our faces beamed. We all realized we were in a corner. Some jested at first—probably they relaxed from being in the firing line, others talked excitedly; most were sullen, and as the day wore on all became silent. My mind, and maybe others too, flashed to other phases of my life—the even tenure of life at home, then in the army and fighting; then this, heading toward the unknown. I'm sure we all felt far from confident of the future, knowing the scarcity of food in Germany. But we each determined to play the game, even against odds.

"BY the end of the first day the jesting was over. And what did the night bring us? Weariness and hunger. Naturally our tempers were hard to control. In such large numbers of men, temperaments are as different as steel from silk. Physiques likewise.

"Around the soup cauldron we gathered for food. Lacking cups, we dipped our helmets. Greedily I dipped mine twice. As I tilted it to drink, it was knocked from my hands, and the scalding liquid burnt my neck and soaked into my coat. Someone was teaching me to take no more than my share." His hands stopped their flourishing and dropped to his knees; he was picturing those men jostling for their supper—their dirty unshaven faces and dishevelled hair—men at their work, physically low and spiritually low.

"Why had I been tempted to take more of that vile soup?" he continued. "They made it of anything they found along the route. Old decayed bones, horseflesh and pumpkins were boiled together. Before many days we were glad to eat human flesh." This he said with a wide sweep of his arm. "We turned into Fridays; no gastronomic snobbish Robinson Crusoes among us."

"That night we slept the sleep of hungry, exhausted men. Day brought us more soup. The most that can be said of it is that it was hot and wet. With our faces again turned from our homeland we plodded on again.

"It's hard to describe the horrors of that trek north to Germany. It took the best part of three months and tried the strength of us all. One day differed little from another. The further we went the weaker we became and the slower we went. Older men about forty could not stand the strain; they staggered along for a time and slumped to the ground. The guard following shot them. I do not know that I would call it merciless; you see there was no nursing aid within reach or no food; it shortened their suffering.

"Often we cut across country to shorten our route and had to wade through marshes. There the going was heavy; the weaker ones sank into the mud, never to rise.

"THE nights often chilled us. Some men were unable to drag themselves up in the morning to follow us. Some lay there with ashen-grey faces; others had high fever showing in their thin cheeks. They, too, were shot. Daily our ranks became thinner. Our route was marked by the bodies of our fallen comrades—those that were not needed for food.

"At night when the rain poured it was almost unheeded. We lay there limp and took it. Another discomfort did not mean much in our misery. Only by force of will we managed to pull ourselves up in the morning for that watery soup which served to tease our appetites, and which was far from repairing the wear and tear of plodding day after day, week after week, month after month.

"As all things come to an end so did that weary grind. We were just a band of shuffling skeletons," and he gave his hands an extra flourish here. "At the German Border we had to strip and bathe while our clothes were being disinfected. We were also given hypos in our arms. Afterward in the scramble for clothes, many of us could find only one boot or no belt, but belts did not matter. After the cleaning process box-cars picked us up. In those lordly conveyances we rode in state to Concentration Camp at Stuttgart. But we were far from scorning any transportation."

HOW did he fare in Camp was next asked. "Naturally what we appreciated most there was rest. The sawdust beds on the floor of the barracks felt to us like luxurious down. To lie there day and night was the essence of comfort. But we did not loll like stuffed pythons. Little of the bread of the enemy did we have a chance to eat.

"Heat was another comfort. A huge stove, always red-hot—there was no scarity of fuel—was used for our meagre cooking.

"There were about 500 prisoners on the two floors of our barracks. They looked rather gaunt, although they received Red Cross parcels from home. As we were listed as "missing" for four months we had only the camp food. And not all of that for the guards sold part of our rations to civilians.

"Every morning small sections of black bread were given to us. A solution of burnt grain was our coffee. At night our first and last course was a soup, like dirty water, with seeds of pepper floating in it. We were tempted to wish for such meats as we had on our trek. Far be it from me to long for a cannibal's life.

"After the fatigue of the long march and the small amount of food given to us, we recovered little strength. When we lay on one side, that side would become numb, and it would take a half-hour's rubbing to bring any sensation to it. Below our knees there was no feeling; they were as white as chalk. We were so hungry that when we saw anyone eating, our stomachs cramped. We acted like famished wolves and rushed anyone who had food. As our main food—if such a name could be given to it—was watery soup, our kidneys were in a wretchedly weak condition, and the stench in the barracks was appaling.

"WE were given chances of working outside the Camp. We tried it occasionally, but there was nothing to be gained by working too hard in our weakened condition, for we became sick, and no medicine was ever given to us. It was customary to work in lots of fifteen; if, in grain-fields, we ate the grain raw by the handful. If we worked in potato or beet fields we ate them too when there, and secreted several in our clothes to carry to Camp to supplement the black bread and soup diet. There we would slice them, stick them on the red-hot stove where they sizzled and burnt, and where we burnt our fingers trying to retrieve them. Search patrols came through the Barracks and would find hidden in our sawdust beds cart-loads of vegetables. Gone was tomorrow's dinner!"

"WE would steal anything, edible or not. A knife, horse-brush or any small tool could be traded for biscuits with the French or American prisoners who were confined in the next Camp across the barbed wire. Six times I traded my boots for an older pair and some food. Finally I possessed a pair of wooden clogs which I stuffed with straw to keep my feet warm. This trading in the black market was done secretly when we knew the patrol to be at a distance. It was dangerous to be near the barbed wire fence for they might easily think we were trying to escape, and no questions were asked before they shot us.

"Every morning we were lined up and counted. If one of our exhausted men slumped to the ground he was called a "hospital case," and he was carried away to a rough-box where other bodies lay and where he lay grunting until they buried them." Tony was silent for a time.

"After four months when I was reported a prisoner of war parcels began to arrive from Italy through the Red Cross. It would be hard for you to understand what it meant to have extra food. I began to gain a little strength—enough to warrant my asking to be employed in a monumental works about two hours from Stuttgart.

"I WAS very fortunate to be employed by a kind German family. Besides giving me three meals a day they served an extra ration of bread, marmalade and tea in the afternoon. They saw my strength was low. Knowing I disliked horsemeat, which they ate, they bought pork for me. Of my small wages the Government took 50 cents a day, which was repaid me when I returned to Italy. When I left there in February, 1919, after fifteen months in Germany, nearly fifty people came to the station to bid me goodbye.

"How our hearts warmed as the train entered our native Italy. Tears streamed down many faces. When I set foot at my home-town, and shuffled along the platform, my family let down and cried. It was not joy that overwhelmed them; it was compassion at my dejected appearance.

"The following year I brought my little family to Canada; my dream had materialized. Now in '44 our two sons are in the Canadian army fighting against Tyranny as I did."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OLD AGE PENSION

Sir,—I would like to ask through your column for some information regarding "Old Age Pensions."

1. Is it possible to receive a pension if one owns property? If so, is there any fixed maximum value which property may have and not disqualify the applicant?

2. May one have money in the bank and still receive a pension? If so, how much?

3. Does paid-up insurance affect in any way one's eligibility to the pension?

4. What amount of pension is received by persons over seventy?

I will be anxious to see an answer to the above questions in your paper as soon as possible.

AN INTERESTED READER OF YOUR PAPER FOR 20 YEARS.

Editor's Note: The answers to these questions are: (1) Yes. (2) This depends on the amount, and must be decided by the Pensions Board. (3) No. (4) The sum depends on the assets of the recipient; the full pension is $28 a month.

MORE DRINKING

Sir,—There is considerable protest about our present drinking habits. Some are seeking earnestly for a goat on which may be loaded all the blame. What happens to the goat afterwards is not a matter of present consideration. Who really wants to bother with a goat after it has served its purpose?

The simple fact is that we are drinking more, because, for some peculiar reason, we like it and besides we have the money to spend. I would hesitate to say that we indulge more ardently merely because there are more restrictions. Nor would I attribute much of it to an effort to celebrate our joys or drown our sorrows. In essence it comes from fuller than normal employment and consequently greater purchasing power for booze and other things.

Let us look at the record of consumption of spirits over a very brief period—1929, a boom year, 1933, the trough of the depression, 1940, a war boom. We may then put alongside of this an index of consumption taking 1929 as the base, also an index of national income for the same years and see how they compare. There seems to be some relationship.

1929	3,669,300 gals.	100	$1.00
1933	1,497,600 gals.	41	.56
1940	3,818,700 gals.	104	.94

The relationship between the two indexes is not perfect—but it is fairly close. There are also other forms of intoxicating beverages. It seems to indicate that as our income increases, so also does our consumption of these products.

With the facts we may now face the problem. Prohibition is out; nobody wants it. Poverty is more or less gone, at least for the moment. The figures seem to indicate that we cannot be sober and wealthy—we have to make our choice. The prophets tell us (I don't believe them) that we shall enter a new era after the war, an era of great abundance and a much higher national income—then apparently we shall drink more. I feel a good deal of sympathy for my friends of the Church and all the social reformers. They have an awkward choice before them—poverty and sobriety or wealth and inebriation? There is only one other course which seems open—after all drinking is a personal matter, the appeal may be to the individual and not to the law. This also may be true of other things—it is indeed difficult to frame legislation which will change the heart and mind of men.

R. J. DEACHMAN.

A LOCAL KITE-MAKER

Sir,—Re your item "Kite-Flying in Spring," congratulations!

But did you know that the large majority of kites without tails that you see around the city are built by Jack Todd of 29 Brown street, Peterborough?

Well, Jack is building and selling kits each kite season. His ready smile and uncomplaining attitude towards life are really commendable.

I pay Jack a visit on occasion. The other day I drove down with my two boys and they purchased two kites. They lost them in a tree a short time later. It is time and money well spent just to meet Jack.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor.

DAVID HUMBER.

"I get wonderful recipes over the radio," gushed the bride, who was entertaining her family for the first time. "I got one for Egyptian stew, and one for a never-fail stain-remover this morning."

"Which is this?" asked little Willie, tasting the stew with which he had just been served.

A Bible Message

Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds. Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin.

And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him; for whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth. . . .

Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby. (Heb. 12: 1-6, 11.)

Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. (I Pet. 4: 12, 13.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Yes, thank you," replied the other. "I took it to the chemist and had it made up, and I feel much better already."

Two With Rat Poison

If the Austrian soldiers in the German army declare themselves as being Austrians, they are quite certain of being treated in occupied Czechoslovakia in a way that is different from that which would result if they declared themselves as being Germans; nor do they miss an opportunity of doing so. The story is told of how three soldiers in German uniforms ordered coffee at some small place in occupied Czechoslovakia. The waiter, passing the order of the kitchen, shouted in Czech: "Three coffees with rat poison." At that one of the soldiers arose and in plain Czech shouted: "Only two coffees with rat poison, please, I am an Austrian."—News of Czechoslovakia.

Sharks On Our Side

Sharks are repelled by certain colours, Australian naval officers have found out, so they have evolved a formula for painting life rafts so the man-eaters will stay away from them. The formula has been passed on to United Nations Governments for adoption by their navies.

This information is contained in "Indian Information," a fortnightly review issued by the Government of India.

You'd like to know the colour?

So would we—but the magazine doesn't tell; it's a military secret.

Until the war is over, at least, we want the sharks on our side!—Minneapolis Star Journal.

Coincidence

Odd things sometimes happen in the literary world. A little small thing has been happening just recently. Mr. X, a well-known literary critic, receives a very nicely printed card of invitation to a party at an aristocratic address from a Mr. and Mrs. Y, of whom he has never heard. He wonders why. A few minutes later, as it happens, his eye falls on a large advertisement of the new novel which the world is about to receive from Mr. Y's pen—on the very day of the party, indeed. Only a coincidence. Odd things do sometimes happen in the literary world.—London Spectator.

Child Vagrancy Not At '27 Peak

LINDSAY, April 14 — (ENS) — Although juvenile delinquency has increased since 1939, it is still much less than was experienced in the period before 1927, stated Judge H. F. Mott of Toronto, addressing a joint meeting of the Lindsay Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs here. In abnormal times and especially in periods of prosperity there is a marked tendency for juvenile crimes to increase, Judge Mott said, and the fact that there has been such an increase in the last four years is due to unsettled conditions and disrupted home life.

The speaker stated that there were far more juvenile cases in the court now involving youngsters less than ten years of age. There is no doubt, he remarked, that in many cases it is due to both the father and mother working, making it impossible for them to exercise the proper control over their children. In speaking of his own experience in the Toronto Juvenile Court, Judge Mott advised that children could be influenced greatly by appealing to their sense of honor in regard to their family ties and name. He stressed the importance of parents making every attempt to understand their children especially at the adolescent age and to treat them with confidence and faith.

Judge Mott appealed to service clubs to do whatever they could to aid families where fathers were in military service. It is the duty of every community, he said, towards its absent soldiers to provide a feeling of trust and goodwill towards their families. In commenting upon the court of family relations he stated that despite new cases every day the average number remains the same due to the re-uniting of families. "It is a great relief for many of these people, troubled by family problems, to confide their innermost thoughts and by so doing gain a sense of relief and understanding that their problems can be remedied."

The speaker was introduced by George Blackwell of Lindsay, who taught Judge Mott in High School over forty years ago, and the thanks of both clubs was expressed by Kiwanian J. E. Anderson.

CWAC Requires 300 Recruits

KINGSTON, April 14—Changes in the schedule of the C.W.A.C. recruiting campaign being held throughout Military District No. 3 were announced today by Lieutenant Margaret Lundon, district C.W.A.C. recruiting officer.

Miss Lundon said that during the period April 12 to April 26 the C.W.A.C. The rest of the campaign period, up to and including May 31, will take in communities in the eastern and northern part of the district.

In charge of the mobile unit is Sgt. Muriel Robertson, daughter of Rev. Canon and Mrs. P. Robertson of Peterborough, and former librarian with the Toronto libraries. Sgt. Assisting Sgt. Robertson are L.-Cpl. Sally Prete and Pte. Patricia Rooney. Chosen C.W.A.C. "Pin-Up Girl for 1944," Cpl. Prete is from Peterborough. Her husband and brother are presently serving overseas. Pte. Rooney, whose home is in Ottawa, has a brother serving overseas.

The C.W.A.C. recruiting campaign in M.D. 3 is part of a large-scale campaign taking place throughout Canada. Five thousand women are urgently needed to release a corresponding number of men for active service overseas. The district's quota of 300 girls must be reached before the middle of June.

Following is the revised schedule for the C.W.A.C. Mobile Recruiting Unit as of April 27:

Prisoners Get Newspaper From Canada

TORONTO, April 14 (CP)—Dr. F. W. Routley, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross, Wednesday announced receipt of confirmation that Canadian prisoners-of-war in Germany are receiving a weekly newspaper containing Canadian news dispatched by cable from Canada through the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva.

"The first issue of the paper was cabled to Europe last December but announcement of the project was withheld pending a report on distribution in the prisoner camps," Dr. Routley said. "Confirmation of circulation has been received today."

German censorship restricts the type of news for the paper and emphasis is laid on hometowns and sport items. Instructions to those preparing the material in Canada state it must contain no war news, no political or election news, no propaganda matter and nothing on contentious questions.

Dr. Routley stated the newspaper is prepared through united effort by the Canadian Red Cross, the Department of War Services and The Canadian Press. Services of the chief press censor's office in Ottawa were placed at disposal of the Red Cross to expedite transmission of the news to Switzerland and The Canadian Press supplies its news free.

The news is assembled and prepared for cabling at head office of the CP in Toronto. It is then turned over to the Red Cross for transmission to Geneva where arrangements have been made by the International Red Cross for printing and distribution.

The 2,000-word news budget cabled each week contains about 1,200 words of hometown items, about 300 words of general Canadian news not subject to censorship, and about 500 words of sport. The idea is to make the newspaper a letter from home for each man.

Premium Plan On Hogs Now Convenient

The premium of .1 per carcass on A grade hogs which packers have been paying to producers in the past, has now been abandoned, and is instead being paid as an increase in the dressed weight price of both A and B1 grade carcasses. The new schedule of prices went into effect in the packing plants throughout Canada on Monday, April 10.

The amount of increase in the dressed weight price of A grade hogs amounts to about 50 cents per hundred, and on B1 grade carcasses to about 10 cents per hundred. Thus, at Toronto, on Monday, the new carcass price for A grade hogs was quoted at $17.65 per hundred, and for B1 carcasses at $17.25 per hundred, which represents an increase of 50 cents and 10 cents per hundred respectively over prices previously prevailing at Toronto.

When the Federal Department of Agriculture some time ago announced that it would pay a premium of $3 per hog on A grade hogs and $2 on B1 grade hogs, it was stated that the packers would discontinue paying their premium of $1 per hog on A grade hogs, but that this would be paid instead as part of the price. Since then negotiations have been in progress between the packers and the Meat Board as to how the packers' premium was to be distributed in the price.

The announcement of the new schedule of prices on Monday indicated that it had been decided not to put the full equivalent of the $1 per head premium in price per 100 lbs. on the A grade, but place part of it on B1 carcass prices. Thus 50 cents per hundred has been put on the A carcasses and 10 cents on the B1 carcasses. About 28 per cent of the hogs being marketed to-day grade into the top grade, but the percentage of hogs grading into both A and B1 grades is as high as 75 per cent.

Discounts previously made for "heavies" and other off-grade hogs have also been discontinued, and this is reflected in the new price schedules, as well as the new arrangement of hog grading, by which the three C grades and the three D grades have been consolidated into one grade each, and whereby the weight range of "heavies' has been narrowed by ten pounds and the weight range of "extra heavies" widened by the same amount.

Federal premiums of $3 and $2 on the two top grades of hogs are now being paid on officially-graded hogs direct to producers. Certain of the provinces are also paying premiums on top grade hogs, all of which is additional to the increase added to the two grades by the packers as described above.

Witness Sees Sailor Companion Stabbed Knife Only Clue To Yard's Baffling Crime

LONDON, April 14—(CP Cable)—Scotland Yard was confronted today with one of its most mysterious slayings—the stabbing of George Gilbey in "Charlie Brown's" pub near the Limehouse docks.

The pub, famed rendezvous of seamen the world over, had been forced to close Tuesday night because of a drunken brawl between the motley clients. Gilbey lingered inside the door, talking with the landlord.

Suddenly the cardboard, replacing the glass blown by bombs from the door's panels, was burst open and a long-bladed ebony-handled knife plunged into Gilbey's back. No one saw the wielder, who had disappeared before the door could be opened.

"It was just a usual night," said the landlord's daughter, Rosie. "People of all kinds were here, mostly sailors from all parts of the world."

Council Plans Salvage Work

LINDSAY, April 14 — (ENS) — The Lindsay town council voted a grant of $50 to the Victory Loan committee for advertising purposes at their regular meeting.

When informed that the salvage committee was operating in the red the council appointed a committee composed of Councillors W. Heslop, S. Pitts and Mayor C. Lamb to negotiate for the sale of salvage rights to second hand dealers. M. Connolly of the Provincial Salvage Department informed the council that a net profit of $1,200 should be realized each year if the salvage was collected properly. He stated there was a serious paper shortage and that all Lindsay school children were being organized in an extensive drive after the holidays to collect all the available waste paper in Lindsay. The council agreed to donate the expense of the school drive.

A delegation consisting of Mayor Lamb, Town Clerk W. Allely and Councillors S. Pitts and A. H. Hick was appointed to attend the National Air Conference in Toronto. Bruce McNevin, M.P., informed the councillors that surveys had been made of three sites in the Lindsay area for an air port.

The relief report revealed that there were only seven pensons now receiving aid as compared with 22 this time last year.

It was decided to widen the streets by removing the boulevards on Lindsay street between Kent and Russel streets and also on Kent street between Victoria avenue and Sussex street.

HAMILTON, April 13—(CP)—City merchants want at least partial lifting of the ban on store display lighting effected as a power-conserving measure almost two years ago. The retail section of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce will ask directors to seek 50 per cent of pre-ban consumption for store window lighting from the power controller.

Capt. R. Bong U.S.A. Top Air Ace

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 14—(AP)—Capt. Richard I. Bong, Poplar, Wis., has shot down 27 enemy planes in aerial combat to become the highest ranking United States ace in this or the last war.

Headquarters announced today Bong's 26th and 27th victories were achieved in raids over the Japanese base at Hollandia, New Guinea.

Group Capt. A. G. (Sailor) Malan is the highest-scoring living R.A.F. ace, with 32 planes, but now is off operations. The leading ace on operations is Flt. Lt. George (Buzz) Beurling, R.C.A.F. fighter pilot from Verdun, Quebec.

However, these fliers still have a long way to go to reach the mark of 72 planes downed by the Canadian, Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., from 1915 to 1918.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP).—Dick Irvin will be remembered as the individual who did such a smooth job with Montreal Les Canadiens this year, but the grey-topped hockey coach has a few ideas up his sleeve about baseball as well. Talking with Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's high commissioner, at Chicago, Dick opened up to tell what was wrong with the diamond game.

Baseball is too hidebound and unprogressive, in Dick's opinion, and he thought a few changes would give it a boost. He suggested changing the rules so a pitcher could have a pinch-hitter sub for him at the plate in a crucial spot, and then go back on the mound to continue his regular chores.

"Let a pitcher do what he can do, pitch, and let a hitter do what he can do, which is hit," Dick summed up.

That would open up the game and allow for more runs, the thing every red-blooded fan wants. It would have much the same effect as hockey's new red-line rule, one of the progressive, though hotly-disputed, changes Dick was talking about.

Still, with the calibre of the ball players, including pitchers, that will be showing this year, there should be plenty of runs as it is.

The patient died:

The Canadian Lacrosse Association is about 6 years too late offering aid to boost the game's popularity in Manitoba, Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning says. He explains: "Six years ago the C.L.A. was the party principally responsible for the slump of local lacrosse into obscurity. Then the C.L.A. told the Winnipeg team to post a guarantee of $300 for an Eastern club to stop over here.... Struggling along on a pinch-penny basis, the local people didn't have $300....The C.L.A. at that time had a trust fund of $12,000 which might have been used to encourage development of interest in the game."

Incidentally:

Sgt. Gerard Cote will run in the Boston Marathon this year after all. It was reported earlier the Army wouldn't give him leave to make the trip, but things seem to have been straightened out...... Lloyd Evans and Pat Boulton of Montreal have entered the Bunion Derby....On the train back to Montreal after Canadiens took the three straight from Chicago, Goalie Bill Durnan started toying with a softball (he's a crackerjack ballplayer). Team-mates asked why he didn't wait until the hockey season was over. Retorts Bill, "They tell me it's over now." That's the Canadiens' confidence.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Promoter Frank Tunney will give Peterborough fans a chance next Tuesday night to see one of the greatest and most colorful wrestlers in the game today when he will send Monsieur Yvon Robert, famous Montreal mat star and the idol of French-Canadian enthusiasts into action in the main bout of next week's show at the Brock St. Arena with Strangler Bob Wagner of Portland, Oregon, as his opponent. Tunney had other plans for next week's card but when he got an opportunity to book Robert for a Peterborough appearance he did not hesitate a moment. "Your fans have been turning out well to our shows," the Toronto impressario said yesterday in announcing the bout, "and so I think they are entitled to the best talent we can book. Robert is a head-liner and I think he will prove a sensation in his Peterborough showing. He has been a stand-out all over the continent and with the tough Wagner as his opponent should be seen at his best next Tuesday night." And so it is Montreal vs. Portland or Robert vs. Wagner as the main attraction next week.

* * * * * *

The Montrealer who was a claimant for the world's title and has been wrestling for nine years and is still only 30. His first had some justification too until Wild Bill Longson defeated him professional bout incidentally was when he was only 21 years old and he battled Earl McCready two hours to a draw. He has learned a lot since then and his cleverness and speed have made him a prominent figure in the mat game. Probably the explosive nature of the handsome French-Canadian has helped a lot too in making him famous. His tendency to "blow his top' under pressure is notorious. Impetus and excitable, Robert goes haywire sometimes when things are not going to suit him and one of his explosions is not soon forgotten. With the rough-and-ready Strangler Bob Wagner opposing him in his Peterborough bout the Montrealer will have plenty of reason to stage one of his blow-ups for the Pacific Coast tornado knows a hundred ways of making things miserable for his opponents and he is likely to try most of them against Robert. The latter is much the same temperament as was Aurel Joliat when the little left-winger first started to play professional hockey. Opposing players soon learned they could get Joliat's goat by merely knocking his cap off his head and that once that happened he would forget all about hockey. Robert acts in exactly the same way and the wrestling fraternity know it so that Wagner is likely to give him the works.

Six of One Etc.

"All this criticism about the prevailing Memorial Cup set-up can be summed up in the famous remark of the late Mark Twain in referring to the weather, which goes something like this: 'Everybody complains about the weather but nobody does anything about it,'" says Chick Appel in the Stratford Beacon-Herald. "If there is any criticism warranted, and who will say there isn't, then it should be directed strictly in the direction of the men responsible for O.H.A. and C.A.H.A. competitions, because they are the ones who sanctioned military replacements in association games and the addition of four outside players once the Dominion playdowns were entered. Certainly the clubs would never have taken such liberties without the blessing of the hockey fathers, and it cannot be denied that the way matters stand at present would lead the average fan to the belief that the original aim of the O.H.A. and C.A.H.A. to foster the game among our athletes has been forgotten in favor of the monetary angle."

* * * * * *

"Oshawa Generals are no worse than the Montreal Royals, or vice versa," continues the Stratford scribe. "Oshawa was granted permission during the O.H.A. playoffs to use Shewchuck of the Marlboros, once his original team was shoved into the discard. Since the Generals entered the Memorial Cup playdowns they were allowed to add four more players, Johnny Marois, Gus Mortson, Dave Bauer, and Ted Lindsay, all members of St. Mike's, who were eliminated for O.H.A. honors by Oshawa. But that doesn't appear to be any worse than the Royals, who are reported to have only four of their original club now on the roster for the series with Oshawa. The other eight players formerly played with Concordias, Canadiens and Verdun in the same Montreal junior group in which the Royals competed. It would appear the less said about the subject the better for hockey, because such shifting and juggling of players only serves to give the grand old sport a black eye."

Canadiens Dood It

For some time Thursday night it looked as if the experts who had called Canadiens to take the Stanley Cup final series in four straight games had missed the target. Taking full advantage of Canadien penalties in the second period of the fourth game at Montreal the Chicago Black Hawks rapped home three fast goals and at the end of the session were in front 4 to 1 and looking very likely to stay there and force a fifth battle. But the Blake-Lach-Richard line of Canadiens had other ideas and in the third period they broke through the stubborn Chicago defence for three goals to tie up the game. Toe Blake's marker after nine minutes overtime settled the argument, the game and the series. The Flying Frenchmen, the best team by miles during the regular series remained that during the playoffs and their capture of the N.H.L. championship and of the Stanley Cup was one of the most convincing and decisive in the long history of competition for the battered old mug.

The City Five Pin League wound up its schedule last night with a double-header and when it was all over it was found that the Cleanrites had won the tight battle for second place. The standing of the leaders was Jays first with 66 points, Cleanrites second with 61, Knights of Columbus third with 58, Outlaws fourth with 52, Fractional Motors fifth with 49 and Ramblers sixth with 48. The individual champion for the season is Doug Abraham of Cleanrites who cinched the honors last night by rolling two fine totals of 879 and 821. Abraham started out last night with a 357 score and never let up. As a result he finished the season with an average of 248.3 for 87 games and nosed out Bud Weese of Jays who had 247.6 for 79 games. Weese had a bout with the flu this week and attempted to bowl last night in spite of his condition. He found the job too much for him and retired after rolling only 156 in his first game, a score that cut into his season average and dropped him from 248.8 to 247.7 and cost him the individual honors.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: The resignation of H. L. Bamforth from the teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute to go into private business means that the P.C.V.S. has lost the services of an athletic coach who especially in football had made glorious history at the school in recent years....Coach Bamforth's razzle-dazzle type of rugby pleased the fans and made Collegiate teams fast-moving squads whose open style of football enabled them to pile up big scores....He will be missed around the P.C.V.S.....Toe Blake has set a new scoring record for Stanley Cup playoffs by piling up a total of 18 points....The veteran has had a great season and the Blake-Lach-Richard line has been a big factor in the sweeping triumph of the Canadiens....The finals in the Badminton Club's schedule will be played on Saturday night in the Market Hall and some lively battles are expected before the winners are decided.

Derail 16 Trains

LONDON, April 14— (CP Cable) —Derailing of 16 German trains by Polish undergound between March 7 and Mar. 9 was announced Thursday by the Polish Telegraph Agency. The announcement said destruction of four trains hampered the German evacuation of Tarnopol, menaced by the advancing Russians. In Tarnopol the underground forces fought skirmishes with the Nazis.

Two Black Spots

TORONTO, April 14 (CP) — Florence Horsbrugh, parliamentary secretary to the British Ministry of Health, in an address to the Toronto Branch of the Health League of Canada, last night said that in Britain, "even in the most difficult times, we have kept fit and healthy." She said two "black spots" on Britain's wartime health record have been increases in tuberculosis and venereal diseases.

Cleanrites Take Second Spot In City League

The Cleanrites with two clean sweeps to their credit were the outstanding team in last night's City League bowling double header. They whitewashed the Westclox 3 to 0 in the first match, hitting 3498 and duplicated their performance in the second match by rolling off 3584 pins to blank the Old Timers. They wound up a successful season in second place.

K. of C. finished in third and Outlaws in fourth. The tension was high all over the alleys with the result that a number of bowlers fell down badly in trying too hard. Gimblett's team hit 1,272 and Cleanrites 1,324 to take the high single team games while Abraham hit 357 and Holly Mowry 380 to nail the evening's prizes for individual singles.

Doug Abraham, anchor man of the Cleanrites, was outstanding, hitting 879 and 821 score, which was enough to give him high average honors for the year. He finished with a 248 mark for 87 games, nosing out Bud Weese of Jays by one point.

Bucky Harris Confident Bisons Can Win

By CY KRITZER
Buffalo Evening News.

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 14—(AP).—In his first whirl at managing outside the major leagues, Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris, the "Boy Wonder" of 1924 and 1925, is confident his Buffalo Bisons will be right in the thick of the pennant fight from the start of the International League campaign April 20.

From the outset of spring training at Hershey, Pa., more than a month ago, Harris has been high on three young pitchers from Hagerstown—Walter Wilson, Charley Miller and Southpaw Bill Angstadt—and two prize rookies, Bobby Maier and Shortstop Billy Schaeffer.

Maier, who led the minor leagues last season in doubles with 52, and batted 365 for Hagerstown, is playing second base, but will go to third if the Bisons can land the second-sacker they're seeking.

This switch will transfer the veteran Jim Levey, an army discharge, back to shortstop.

The Bisons got Schaeffer as a free agent after a court fight with the St. Louis Cardinals. Harris says the youngster is a "ringer" for Max Bishop.

Otto Denning and Bob Garbark, ex-major leaguers, eliminate any catching worries. Frank Heller is back at first base.

Shovels Kobesky, the league's 1943 home run champ, is riding the ball high and appears due to deliver 110 per cent. in right field for Bucky. Mayo Smith and Hank Nowak are patrolling the centre pasture, and Tom Davis, who hit 345 for Hagerstown, is in left field.

Prince Henry Oana, Jack Tising and Mike Roscoe are the veterans of the mound corps, with Coach Earl Whitehill ready for relief duty.

Canadiens Take Stanley Cup In Four Straight

MONTREAL, April 14 (CP) — Montreal Canadiens held the Stanley Cup for the first time in 13 years today, and Montreal fans were singing the praises of veteran Toe Blake, Canadiens' captain-winger who came through in the clutch to spark his team to a 5-4 overtime victory over Chicago Black Hawks last night.

The win before a capacity 12,860 fans gave Canadiens the final series in four straight games, but they had to come from behind a three-goal deficit with a smashing third-period assault to gain it.

And it was Blake who figured in every Canadien goal, setting up the plays for the four his line bagged in the regular play, and scoring the winner himself after nine minutes of overtime.

His five points on the night's work gave Blake a new play-off point record of 18, breaking the mark of 15 set up by his line-mate Maurice Richard in Chicago Sunday night. Richard bagged two of last night's goals, and Elmer Lach, centre of the same line, collected the other two.

The win climaxed the most successful season in the history of the Canadiens. In addition to their play-off record, in which they eliminated Toronto Maple Leafs and the Hawks in eight games after dropping the first play-off contest to the Leafs, they piled up a variety of records during the season.

New Scoring Mark

They set a new scoring mark of 234 goals, and a new point-record of 83 besides going through the entire regular schedule without defeat on home ice. The 3-1 decision they dropped to Leafs to start the play-offs was their only defeat in 30 games at the Forum this season.

George Allen led the Hawk attack with two goals and an assist. Doug Bentley bagged a goal and an assist, and Clint Smith and Cully Dahlstrom had two assists apiece. Rookie Johnny Harms collected the other Chicago goal.

Canadiens looked like a beaten team after the second period when the Hawks took advantage of two successive penalties to their opponents and rammed home three goals in less than three minutes to jump into a 4-1 lead. Harms, Allen and Bentley bagged the counters, after Allen's open goal of the game had been offset by Lach in the first period.

Lach put the Canucks back in the running mid-way through the third, and Richard followed with two quick ones to tie up the game and set the stage for Blake's game-winner in overtime. Richard's first goal was the picture counter of the night, coming from a back-hand flip after he had been spun completely around near the goal.

Chicago—Goal, Karakas; defence, Siebert, Cooper; centre Smith; wings Mosienko, Bentley; subs, Wiebe, Purpur, Allen, Harms, Dahlstrom, Johnson, Toupin.

Montreal—Goal, Durnan; defence, Lamoureux, Bouchard; centre, Lach; wings, Richard, Blake; subs, Harmon, McMahon, Getliffe, Chamberlain, Watson, Filion, Majeau.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 14 — (AP).—Officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association are slightly perturbed because they've been able to dispose of only about 400 copies of their tennis lessons for boys and girls....A query as to whether organized baseball offered any such service to beginners brought the reply from W. G. Branham, the minor league headman, that many fine books on how to play baseball have been published, but to purchase them for general distribution throughout the country will be prohibitive from a cost standpoint.

One-minute sports page:
Al Schacht has quit the job of broadcasting the Yanks and Giants baseball games after less than two weeks — the competition on the field must have been pretty strong.

A rookie a day:
Emil Verban, St. Louis Cardinals second baseman — the Cards lost Lou Klein, but training camp reports say Verban will make the fans forget Lou....Emil was only a .257 hitter at Columbus, O., last season but played every inning of every game and showed plenty of speed.

Service Dept.:
Lieut. Bob Shurilla, former Marquette U. hurdler, is reported a prisoner in Germany after the bomber on which he was bombardier was brought down.....Unless they have high fences around the camp, you probably can expect him back any day.

CORSET HIDE-ALLS

BELFAST — (CP) — The police thought there was something odd about two men wearing women's corsets—and they were right. Beneath the corsets they found spark plugs. The men were fined $300 each for attempting to evade export prohibition to Eire.

Says Joe Louis Has Not Lost Any Speed

LONDON, April 14.—(AP).—Has army life cost Sgt. Joe Louis Barrow, in private life heavyweight champion Joe Louis, any of his fistic ability?

George Nicholson, who probably has survived more of the Brown Bomber's explosives than any other person, doesn't think so and is of the opinion that Louis is getting better and better.

Nicholson, from Yonkers, N.Y., is part of the six-man troupe that reached London with Louis Thursday for a morale-building tour of United States service camps in the British Isles.

In prewar days, Nicholson was a regular spar-mate in the champion's training camps and has fought thousands of rounds with Louis. In addition, he has just finished a tour of 118 army camps in the United States where he and Joe entertained troops with ring exhibitions.

"Right now Joe is moving better than ever," insisted Nicholson, who also is a sergeant. Nicholson said he enjoyed the trans-atlantic trip because it gave him a few days' rest to heal the bumps picked up in the United States' jaunt.

"Joe is getting cute now and can move an opponent around and spin him. I guess he is thinking of Billy Conn—and he is not going to let Billy outstep him the next time they meet."

This "next time" with the Pittsburg pretty boy who came within 7 minutes of taking Louis' crown away from him in 1941 is the first item of business on Louis' calendar after the war.

At a press interview Thursday, during which Louis made a big hit with British reporters, the Brown Bomber said he did not plan to meet Freddie Mills, holder of the British Empire light-heavyweight crown, while here as had been hoped by British sportsmen.

Louis, who weighed 215 pounds Thursday, said he thought the first crack at his title belonged to Conn.

"Since all titles are frozen for the duration, I think all positions as leading challengers should be frozen and Billy is No. 1," Louis concluded before hopping into the ring for a two-minute show with Tommy Ireland, 48-year-old local heavyweight.

The champ and Nicholson, who has expanded to 230 pounds, then followed with a two-round exhibition that brought cheers from some 300 soldiers.

Dodgers Beat Phillies In Exhibition

NEW YORK, April 14 — (AP).—The Dodgers are always the Dodgers. Take for example, the doings of yesterday's Red Cross benefit game at Ebbets Field, in which Brooklyn triumphed over the Phillies 13-11.

Ex-Dodger Fred Fitzsimmons held his old team hitless for the first two innings in his first mound task since he became manager of the Phillies.

In the fifth Bill Hart and Stretch Schultz tried to occupy third base at the same time, with the result that they both were run down for a double play. Dixie Walker, third baseman, rushed in for a pop fly in the sixth, then pulled up and let it fall for a hit. And in the same inning, with two on base, Louis Olmo made a brilliant catch of a fly and then stood holding the ball, evidently thinking it was the third out, while two Phillies scampered home.

Olmo redeemed himself in the eighth when he belted a triple with two on base to tie the score and then stole home with the deciding run. And, as an added feature, Augie Galan, a switch hitter for more than 10 years, batted left-handed against southpaw Wilbur Reeser in the fourth and clouted a home run.

Other developments yesterday:

Philadelphia — Phillies purchased First-Baseman Ulysses (Tony) Lupien from Red Sox as "insurance" at first in case it is necessary for Jimmy Wasdell to play in the outfield.

Chicago — Thornton Lee, trying to regain his winning form after two years of arm trouble, yielded only three hits in five innings for Sox yesterday as American Leaguers won 2-0 in 10 innings.

Pittsburg Pirates—Virgin (Spud) Davis, veteran coach, given a new contract restoring him to active catching duty.

Detroit Tigers — Gloom over the loss of J. P. Wood dispelled in part by news that Shortstop Joe Hoovers draft status unsettled and he will be on hand for Tuesday's opener.

By HYE BOSSIN

A very important gentleman in our screen world of whom you have never heard retired the other day. He is Col. John A. Cooper, for 23 years head of Canadian motion picture distributors. A journalist of distinction before entering the film field, Col. Cooper has been prominent in many activities for the public welfare... Alice Fay, whose second child will arrive in April, wants to be done with films and will only appear when she must... Screen cowboys take their chances too. Once Wallace Beery was supposed to draw and shoot. The pistol got tangled and he shot himself in the leg. It bothers him on damp days... Signe Hasso, who plays in "Dr. Wassell," is a glamor girl with a son ten years old... Hollywood is making few mobster films because the USA doesn't want foreign countries to think American life is like that... The matinee idol of 40 years ago, Francis X. Bushman, will be seen acting his age in "Woodrow Wilson." Bushman lost his great fortune in the crash of 1929 and has been an extra ever since. Now he gets an important role.

* * *

Book readers will be glad to hear that the screen will present "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," "Bell for Adano," "Dragonwyck" and "The Gay Illiterate"... Mimosa should become a popular fragrance after all the boosting it gets. It is referred to by Ingrid Bergman in "Intermezzo" and plays quite a part in "The Uninvited"... Irene Manning and Dennis Morgan, who made such a hit in "Desert Song," will be together again in "Henrietta the Eighth"... Discovery: In Cleveland recently some youngsters were parading with signs reading "Down with Sinatra, Up With Hunter." A studio talent scout thought Hunter was a local entertainer and sought him out. He turned out to be their teacher with no talent but plenty of looks. So he was signed and will play the male lead in "Louisiana Hayride."

* * *

Greta Garbo will return to the screen to play a Norwegian sailor at the request of the Norwegian ambassador. Many women of that conquered country are serving in the Merchant Marine... The swellest Technicolor musical in many a moon is "Cover Girl," which stars Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly... The passing of Susan Peters' grandmother won the young star much sympathy. She was raised by her grandmother... Marriages may be made in heaven but Hollywood engagements are made in the gossip columns. One such reported Alan Curtis engaged to Marilyn Maxwell, whom he hardly knows... The Liverpool Waterfront will occupy considerable footage in "Two Years Before the Mast," which is being directed by John Farrow, formerly of the Royal Canadian Navy... Director Sam Wood just celebrated his thirtieth anniversary in films. His first directorial job was for the late Wallace Reid and he has directed 65 films since which have totalled 88 millions at the box-office. He's busy on "Casanova Brown" right now. His daughter, K. T. Stevens, will be seen soon with Paul Lukas in "Address Unknown."

Jim Jeffries Wins Tribute

BURBANK, Calif., April 14. — (AP).—Nine hundred spectators in Jim Jeffries' boxing arena paid him tribute last night, his 69th birthday.

The former heavyweight champion of the world, from 1899 until his retirement in 1906, accepted a golden boxing glove mounted on a pedestal.

Jim also received a birthday cake on which was inscribed a big "69." Ole Olsen, stage and screen comedian, made the presentation, and Grace McDonald of the films, placed a jewel-studded crown atop the former ring warrior's bald head, then kissed him.

Jim was visibly moved.

Lord Lonsdale, Great Sportsman Beloved By Poor Dies At 87

LONDON, April 14 — (CP) — The Earl of Lonsdale, prominent sportsman who once fought John L. Sullivan five rounds under an assumed name and won, died today at Oakham, Rutland. He was 87 years old.

For more than a half century Lord Lonsdale was an outstanding personality in Britain's sporting life and the greatest all-round sportsman that British aristocracy ever produced.

He was a picturesque figure, invariably clad in a grey frock coat and grey top hat, and attended every big sporting event.

Lord Lonsdale, a fine all-round athlete in his earlier days, was one of the country's greatest authorities on bloodstock and the St. Leger was among the many famous races won by his horses.

Though accustomed to mix with kings and nobility, he was amazingly popular among the poorer classes.

He came near to being a traditional John Bull figure and clung to old-world British customs and he and his guests drove to famous race meetings in old-time coaches with outsiders.

The affection in which the masses held him was illustrated some years ago when two pickpockets stole his gold watch. When the crooks learned who the owner of the watch was, they immediately returned it.

Helped a Crook.

Years afterwards, when one of the crooks, wanting to earn an honest living, appealed to Lord Lonsdale for help, the Earl sent him 50 pounds to start as a barber.

Born Hugh Cecil Lowther, Lord Lonsdale was an adventurous traveller, and after his marriage in 1878 to Lady Grace Cecilie Gordon, daughter of the 10th Marquis of Huntly, he took his bride on an extended tour of the Rocky Mountains. Later he went to the Canadian North-West.

Long afterwards, he used to claim, half seriously, that credit for discovering the Klondike really belonged to him. He had been in the Yukon years before the gold rush at the end of the last century, he said.

Lord Lonsdale, who succeeded to the title in 1882 on the death of his brother, had a sports career ranging from walking to yachting. As a young man he undertook to walk 100 miles on the great north road out of London, in 24 hours and actually covered the distance in 18 hours.

Won 36 Events.

With his own mare, the Queen, he won the Rutland Welter Drag Hunt Club at Newmarket, longest race in England. In one yachting season he won 36 events out of 46.

Boxing, however, was one of his greatest interests. Largely through his efforts the famed National Sporting Club was founded, with the Lonsdale belt as chief trophy for annual competition.

Lord Lonsdale's association with sport was formally recognized in 1928 when he and the Countess celebrated their golden wedding. Before 10,000 spectators at the International Horse Show, the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VIII, presented him with a gold casket, bought with subscriptions from sportsmen throughout the world.

On the panels of the casket were depicted the sports with which he had been closely identified—hunting, flat-racing, steeple-chasing, coursing, boxing, shooting, stalking and yachting. The subscriptions more than paid for the casket and Lord Lonsdale placed the balance in the hands of trustees to be administered for the benefit of sportsmen who had been incapacitated or had fallen on bad days.

"I have always maintained, and maintain now, that the greatest friendships, national as well as individual, are made on the fields of sport," he once said.

Boys Overseas Debate Post-War Plan

LINDSAY, April 14 — (ENS) — "Perhaps you do not realize it, but the boys overseas, in their spare time, meet together, read with keen interest the newspapers from home and letters received and then form themselves into discussion groups and talk about the problems on the home front, discuss what people are doing, debate post-war plans—they know what you have done in past Victory Loan campaigns and what your objectives are; they have a great pride (not particularly in the nation, Canada, or Ontario) in what is actually happening and what people are doing right in their home town, village or municipality," said Major Arthur Welch, D.S.O., of Sunderland, who has just returned from the 8th Army in Italy, when addressing a meeting of Victory Loan officials and salesmen held in the Benson Hotel Wednesday afternoon.

T. H. Stinson, K.C., general chairman, gave an inspiring address and D. Copus, organizer, told the audience that in the past five loans the people of Victoria and Haliburton have raised the magnificent sum of over nine million dollars and would be well over ten milions of dollars when the Sixth Victory Loan is competed.

Major Welch was introduced by Rev. R. M. Patterson, formerly of Sunderland, who told the gathering of Major Welch's record in two wars.

Major Welch said "the Canadians have been doing a wonderful job and they are thought very highly of in England and in Italy and I am sure the Canadians are held in high respect by Hitler and the Huns, following their fighting in Italy and especially at Ortona. That was a wonderful show, but the Canadians were finally able to blast the Germans right out of the place, causing them many casualties. We were in there for several days, under heavy fire, but the morale of the men did not flicker. In Ortona the houses were all of stone, with walls three feet thick and finally to get the Huns out, we had to blow up every house; we had to despatch soldiers with explosives under their arms, to the individual homes, but we covered them all the way with machine gun fire. They dropped their explosives in the buildings and the entire structure would blow up."

The speaker paid a high compliment to the bravery of the Canadians and declared the equipment used, made-in-Canada, was the very best; even superior to the American equipment, rated as the best in the world. "And the boys took a great pride in showing off this equipment to visitors and pointing out that it was made in Canada."

'We are trying to do our bit over there, but you people here cannot let the boys down. They need more equipment and they need the very best. It is costly, but if one of the largest pieces of artillery is lost, if one Canadian life is saved, then it is worth while—and that's the way the Canadians over there feel. You people over here provide the finances for the equipment and the boys promise they will never let you down."

Major Welch decried the optimism of the press in Canada and the States, and even in England. "I think the war is far from being over and far from being won," he said.

TORONTO, April 14 — The dressed poultry market remains in about the same position as last week, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports. Receipts of fresh chicken are practically nil, but fresh fowl continues to arrive. The demand is generally good locally and out of town and is being taken care of from storage stocks. There is great activity at the present time in assembly carlots for export.

Refugee Wins Oratory Contest

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—A 12-year-old refugee from Czechoslovakia told more eloquently than native-born Canadians why children should buy War Savings certificates and thus won the public speaking contest at Convocation Hall, University of Toronto, in connection with the Ontario Educational Association Convention.

The winner was Alex Polak who lives at Millgrove in the Hamilton district and who came to this country with his parents after the Munich pact and the occupation of their Sudeten homeland by the Germans.

In his speech, he said that he learned as a boy of seven when the Germans took over the Sudetenland what it means to lose freedom and he appealed to Canadians to do all possible to preserve the freedom they enjoy.

Second prize was won by Dennis White of London, Ont., with Joyce Dibbley, who lives in the Toronto area, third.

Subject for all speakers was: "Why I should buy War Savings certificates."

Cattle Prices Down 15-25 On All Grades

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP). — Cattle prices were down 15 to 25 cent cwt. on all grades, in trade on the livestock market here this week. Hogs were on a new basis of sale. Veal calves were from 50 cents to $3 cwt. lower. Sheep and lambs were unchanged.

Local packing houses reported again being overloaded with direct receipts of beef from Ontario and western Canada. Although the local market run of cattle was light, trading was very dull with a holdover of 1,200 head from Monday reduced to around 300 head by the close. Prices were down 15 to 25 cents cwt. A top load of weighty steers sold at $12.60. Other steers were from $12.25 downward to $10.50. Butcher cows closed at $7.25 to $9. Canners and cutters were $5 to $7. Bulls ranged from $7 to $8.50 with two at $9. Fed yearlings were mostly $11.50 to $13, with some a little higher. Stockers moved slowly at $9 to $10.75 for fair to good quality and about 150 head were unsold. Milkers and springers continued dull around $130 for tops.

Good and choice veal calves dropped 50 cents cwt., to close at $14.50 to $15.50. A liberal supply of common to medium calves dropped $2 to $3, closing at from $6 to $13.

The sheep and lamb receipts were mostly from Western Canada. Lambs were steady at $14.25 for good Westerns, with some culls at $11. Local lambs of common to medium quality sold at $8.50 to $14. Sheep trade was dull at $2 to $6, with a few Western ewes at $6.50 cwt.

Hogs were sold off track at yards and at local packing plants at $17.15 to $17.25 for Grade B1 and $17.55 to $17.75 for Grade A. Other prices were $17 for B2 and B3, $16 for Grade C, $15.75 for the Grade D, lights and heavies. Other grades were at sow value or $13.25 dressed. Government premiums were in addition.

18-Year-Old Boy Buys Beer Book

WINDSOR, April 13—(CP)—Provincial Constable Harry Ramsbottom of Kingsville testified in court today that an 18-year-old Colchester South youth had told him he found no difficulty in obtaining a beer ration book through regular Liquor Control Board channels.

The youth, Joseph Berish, was convicted before Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan today of purchasing liquor under the age of 21 and was fined $10 and costs.

Constable Ramsbottom testified the youth made a verbal statement to him after being warned of the charge being laid against him.

"He told me all the other young fellows had beer ration books and he didn't see why he shouldn't have one, too. He said he had no difficulty in getting his book and was asked few questions.

"The officer did not say whether Berish had told him the official giving him the book had asked his age.

official confirmation and strong indications the rumors were a false alarm. There was no sign of unusual activity in War Department offices at Ottawa or Washington.

The fact none of the big radio Monitor stations had heard any invasion broadcast and that only Ontario listeners had told of hearing the emission raised belief the whole thing was a hoax.

Then, early to-day, the British Broadcasting Corporation said in a broadcast recorded by U. S. Government Monitors that it had the answer. The BBC said:

The report apparently stemmed from a garbled version of a German propaganda broadcast which described ways an invasion force might strike and mentioned Dieppe in which Canadian troops formed the main attacking force.

The broadcast was made at 8.10 p.m. E.D.T. by one Don Juan Ibeson, who discussed Allied propaganda concerning the invasion, and the support that would be given troops as they came ashore.

Then Ibeson added: "I don't think that any of you believe the German High Command is so silly as to expect Anglo-Americans to try invasion along the lines put into practice at Dieppe in the summer of 1942. Too much has happened since. Too many new weapons have been put into use and too many new tactics have been developed."

That seemed to be a logical answer to the question: "Where did the invasion report originate?"

Officials in Ottawa dismissed the rumors lightly when they were first asked for comment. Any statement on an Allied landing—if it had been made— would have to come from the United Kingdom, they said. They suggested an enemy broadcast reporting a landing at Calais might well be a "kite" flown by the Germans.

The first Ontario report that an invasion had been made came from Malton. Then a similar report, but with a bit more detail, came from London, Ont.

Within a few minutes the third report came in: A message sent to the Dominion Meteorological Office here from a northern weather station quoted a purported German broadcast as saying a landing had been made on the French coast by Allied troops, including a large number of Canadians.

The report to the Meteorological Office said the German broadcast had been received on a wavelength of 27.64 megacycles. While that wavelength is not a Berlin frequency, there is a German station in that range.

The Toronto report spread quickly around the world. Radio stations throughout United States broke into commercial programs or carried it in their regular news summaries. All stations, however, qualified the report by saying it should be taken with reserve, pointing out it could be a German trick to lure French patriots into the open prematurely; or, possibly, an Allied broadcast aimed at confusing the enemy.

The Associated Press and other news and radio-service agencies carried the report in full. The Associated Press, Ltd., British affiliate of A.P., Reuters News Agency and other agencies cabled the story to Britain and elsewhere.

Not until early to-day did the BBC carry its version of what happened, apparently spiking the rumor definitely.

Genelco Plant Employees Built Anti-Tank Guns For China's Army

Smiling Major Y. L. Chen of the Chinese Ordnance Corps was Thursday one of the most welcome visitors the Genelco plant has had since its opening. He brought them good news and an added incentive for Peterborough people to keep up their war effort with the assurance that the first anti-tank guns sent from Canada to be put into use by the gallant Chinese Army, came from the Genelco plant.

For many months, the fate of these important weapons has been veiled in mystery. Plant officials knew when they left Canada, but after that silence prevailed. Then Rangoon fell, and it was feared that the equipment had either been destroyed or had fallen into the hands of the enemy. Because of the need, the guns reached their destination and have been teaching the Japanese to have a healthy respect for Allied firing power.

At present time, the young Major is stationed in Ottawa, attache to the Chinese Government's War Supplies Agency to which he came eight months ago from Washington. He hails from North China, which has been noted in history for its rugged fighters, and his people are still in China, near Chungking. Although he speaks exceedingly good English, with only a slight hesitation as he occasionally searches for a word, Major Chen received his education in China.

Equal To Task

Asked what his opinion was about the Japanese Army as a fighting unit, the officer said quietly:

"They are good fighters, but our experience has shown that we can take care of them. But make no mistake, I think it will be a long time before the war is won. We do not consider the Japanese a particular hazard in jungle warfare. They have difficulties and so do our men, but the odds are practically equal."

China faced a difficult problem after the Japanese prongs stretched down from Manchuria. Most of her heavy industry was threatened by the invasion and in some cases was destroyed by bombs. If China was to continue the struggle she had to have the means of manufacturing arms and tools and so plants and equipment were moved wholesale in smaller units. Transportation was difficult as thousands of refugees crowded the roads, but somehow, they reached safety far behind the Chinese lines. The organization of these new factories was carried on under a plan known to the Western World as "Indusco."

While Indusco appeared to mean nothing to Major Chen, he readily acquiesced to its truth when it was explained. He declared that before the Chinese war, China was making rapid strides in industrialization, and for that reason, in his opinion, the Japanese military authorities felt it impossible to remain inactive any longer. To be successful, they had to strike quickly.

Steady Flow of Supplies

"When the Army retreated from the East Coast, we tried to move our factories to the safety of the interior. You can understand how vital it was and is that China be able to keep on producing necessary supplies. In the safety of the interior, production has increased and now we ourselves produce almost all of the ammunition used by our fighters and much of their equipment."

Although it is only a little over a year ago that the Allied program of mutual aid really got down to business, Major Chen complimented Canadians on the splendid way in which they have answered the call He pointed out that while supplies are increasing gradually, a steady flow is being maintained which means renewed life to the people of Asia's vast land.

The capture of the Burma Road, added a great deal to the difficulties of the Chinese people. Air transport is playing an important role, and for the Chinese Army, fighting in Burma, supplies are getting through. This is the Army which with Stilwell's forces had to retreat from Burma to India, but is now back, this time in an offensive backed by strong fighting power, he asserted.

The Chinese Army has little difficulty is using Western weapons, Major Chen declared positively in answer to a question about special training. The weapons are along the same lines manufactured by the Chinese and it is only something very new, which makes it necessary to establish a training school. For the units in India receiving new equipment, American instructors are loaned until the necessary training is completed.

Post-war plans are a matter of discussion in China, as in every other country. China's problem though, will be vastly different from that of Canada or the United States. Before any diversified plans can be undertaken, the people must build up what has been destroyed by so many years of ruthless conflict, Major Chen said sadly. Once that is done, then far reaching plans for internal advancement can be brought forward and carried out.

The blockade which has wound its tentacles around China's pulsating supply line in an ever tightening grip, has imposed many hardships. There is a shortage of nearly every commodity, and at the present time medical supplies are being given an important place on the priority list, the Chinese officer reported. The greatest trouble the Army encounters with illness, is that of malaria. It is a constant menace, although many new drugs are helping.

"Field hospitals travel along with the Army, but civilians do not fare as well. Bombs have pretty well levelled buildings, including civilian hospitals, and doctors have always been a rarity in China, as compared with the tremendous number of people, each has been expected to care for.

"Civilian casualties have been very high since the outbreak of the war, that is over an accumulatde period, but recently there has been a noticeable drop. Dependable, strong shelters, have given as a distinct advantage against the enemy bombings, even though homes and other buildings have become rubble."

Major Chen explained that China is concentrating all her efforts at the present time on winning the war. In order to achieve the greatest success, it calls for co-operation on the part of all the Allies and good timing, the soldier declared. There can be no slip ups.

Children Suffer

Children have been greatly affected by the war. Families have been separated, epidemics have swept through overcrowded refugee towns, and schooling has been at times, non-existant. Free China now has many schools, which are attempting to educate the leaders of tomorrow, but school facilities cannot be compared with those of pre-war China, the Major related. Perhaps one of the greatest hardships for the children has been the absence of proper nutrition. It is not only the Army which fights, he said sadly.

Prices in China are notoriously high, but the government official said that the Chinese government has established a price ceiling for food, clothes and farm products, everything that can be produced there. But he said it was an impossible task to control costs for outside goods sifting in, which can no longer be obtained on Chinese market. The outside transportation prices are terrific, Major Chen remarked.

Before leaving the city Thursday afternoon, Major Chen expressed the hope that he might return again soon for a more extended visit. He praised the effort of Peterborough's war workers, and urged that they continue until victory is won.

Sea, Air Cadets By New Order

Receipt of Howard L. Bamforth's resignation from the Collegiate staff, effective at the end of the June term, added another burden Thursday night for the back of the Board of Education which is already faced with the problem of procuring several additions to its public and high school staffs, because of retirements, resignations and increases.

In referring to Mr. Bamforth's resignation, C. S. Browne praised his work as a director of Physical Education, science teacher and his prowess as a rugby coach, and said he would be a hard man to replace. On a motion by T. J. Carley and D. V. Canning, it was decided to advertise for a boys P.T. Specialist with salary schedule.

The retirement of L. J. Pettit, has necessitated securing someone to act as head of the history department, and the Board decided to advertise for a history specialist. A specialist in commercial subjects, is also to be secured in place of Miss Mary O'Connell, who is retiring. She has been granted an allowance of $160 a year on a motion by Mr. Canning and Mr. H. G. Walker.

Tutoring Teacher

At the suggestion of Public School Inspector G. Wightman, the Board is going to appoint a teacher to the position of visiting tutor. This job will include giving regular instruction to home pupils, who for health reasons are unable to attend school. These pupils will get two periods of instruction a week. In addition the teacher's time would be spent tutoring students who needed a little extra help to push them over the examination line.

The Inspector indicated however, that he felt this position should be handled by a teacher on the city staff who was acquainted with the city and methods in use here. He plans to transfer a member of the city staff. In addition other men teachers will be needed and members were convinced of the need to get in on the ground floor with their advertising.

Want Fair Plany

Discussion of the statement issued by the Chief Director of Education about the reinstatement of cadet training in the schools, aroused a storm of protest. The new ruling makes this training compulsory in every high school, irregardless of commitments with Air and Sea Cadet Corps'. To make matters worse the authorities have requested these groups not to keep the students out at nights.

Mr. Carley was emphatic in his denunciation of the program and moved that a resolution be sent direct to the Chief Director. In his resolution he pointed out that the new ruling meant termination of these other units which have been doing such a wonderful job in meeting the needs of the community.

"Service clubs in this city have spent a lot of money and there is much valuable equipment stored here. This can't be allowed to go to waste. In addition the boys are giving training which shortens up their courses when they enlist. "There is too much dictation from above, oil controllers are spreading into the education department."

The resolution also pointed out that these two groups in Peterborough were functioning with the full approval of the Air Force and Navy authorities.

Want Free Hand

Plans for the victory loan canvass also added to the hot discussion. National War Finance Headquarters that the Board of Education put its staff under the Group Payroll Plan and authorize their trained salesmen to go in and do the job.

A. Sollitt made a motion, seconded by Dr. C. Scott, that the Board adopt the plan in its entirety.

"I object strenuously," Mr. Walker declared. "I am not in favor of high pressure salesmanship and if any of our teacher want to walk down to the Bank and pay cash for a bond then they have that right."

Mr. Browne volunteered his services to act as collecting agency at the Collegiate and arrangements were promised by the principal or his representative by Inspector Wightman. The original motion was withdrawn and Mr. Canning and Mr. Carley moved that the Board approve the Payroll plan and operate it as in the past loans.

In his report, the Collegiate Principal outlined some of the important topics discussed at the Toronto Educational convention this week. One of the most debated questions was that of religious instruction. In addition to the opening exercises, students are to receive two periods of this a week. A government manual will be issued to teachers, who must not let their personal view color the instruction, he declared. With 27 classes that meant 54 periods a week for an already overburdened staff to take care of. For pupils whose parents had objections to religion being taught, other classes will be arranged. No teachers have received training and special courses will not be available for several months. The importance of vocational guidance courses and summer courses for teachers was also put forward in resolution at the Convention.

New Medical Officer

After consideration, the Board of Education has decided to terminate its contract with Dr. R. Nott, medical officer whose private practice is making increasing demands upon his time. Mr. Canning and F. Reed made a motion that Dr. Nott be advised according to the terms of his contract that his engagement with the Board terminated 1 month from April 15.

A temporary substitute has been appointed to carry on till the end of June. She is Dr. Olive Rea, formerly M.O.H. at Bancroft, who is now residing in the Peterborough district. She is to receive a straight salary of $200 a month for full-time work.

A temporary nurse has also been named. Miss Eleanor Morrison has been appointed until the end of June with the approval of the Department of Education. Her salary will be $100 a month without cost of living bonus.

Two teachers due for retirement have been granted a one-year extension at their request. Albert Hope, manual training teacher, and A. S. Zavitz, of the Collegiate staff, will continue in their present capacities. Miss Margaret Whittaker, now Mrs. John Londerville, has been granted permission to continue on the staff as long as her husband is away on military service.

A complaint was received from the Community Concert Association about lack of heat in the auditorium at their final concert. Board members expressed their concern that such a situation should occur and authorized the secretary to extend their regret and a promise to try and prevent its reoccurrence.

Put To Use

Valuable museum collections which could be used for history and science, studies, and which are at present in the basement of the Public Library through lack of space are to be requested for school use. The Board undertakes to guarantee their preservation as they did with a bird collection.

The division of the money from Wartime Housing between the Board of Education and the Separate School Board has been left over for the present along with the agreement with North Monaghan over the school annexation.

G. W. Craw, chairman of the Board of Education, gave a brief report on the Ontario Education Asocation which he attended in Toronto this week. He stated that all representatives agreed on the necessity of sex education, but could not get together on the methods to be used. They also discussed religious education and the closing date for schools, which has been left to the discretion of the local boards.

Trapper In North Used Wolves' Teeth Till Dentist Could Replace Two Lost

WINNIPEG, April 14 — (CP).—Lieut. George A. Benstock, United States Army dental surgeon, said in an interview on Thursday he had met some odd patients during recent duty tours in the Canadian Northland, with the prize a trapper who wore two wolves' teeth fitted into a bridge with glue.

"He had a bridge for two front teeth, made years ago," said Lieut. Benstock, who is attached to the Army's Central Canada Command. "The teeth, however, fell out, and the trapper took two wolves' teeth, filled them, and fitted them into the bridge with glue."

However, the glue didn't hold very well, and the trapper trekked 300 miles to see the dentist when he learned Lieut. Benstock was in the North.

Villiers School Makes $17 For War Victims

When most people get a taste of a good thing they want more of it, and this in the case of young children seems to prevail to a fairly large degree. If the good thing happens to be something that is of benefit to others rather than themselves, a repetition stands all the more to their credit, and this has often proved the case in the work of school children to give assistance to the victims of air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund.

In this instance, a happy combination of school trustees, Messrs. William Steele, Thomas Hope and Harry Garnett, the teacher, Miss Vera Bradshaw, and the pupils of Villiers School, No. 1, Otonabee, gives a fine example of what industry can accomplish in the realm of doing good for others, through an event on behalf of the war effort held in the schoolhouse on April 6.

The trustees sponsored a bingo, for which prizes were donated by residents of that section, which included bags of flour, pyrex casseroles, various other household commodities and a number of mystery packages cleverly wrapped so as to conceal their identity among which was a dressed chicken which was won by Dora Robertson, one of the pupils attending that school.

Prior to this, the children of the school, both boys and girls had knitted blocks of various colors, many of them for their first experience at such a task, and the teacher had joined them all together to form an afghan, which was made the prize for a draw for which the children made a thorough canvas to sell tickets for, their efforts netting the fine sum of $27.42.

During the course of the evening, the draw was made for this by Agnes Dickson, also a pupil of the school, with the result that Miss Margaret Edwards of Keene was declared the winner, and the fund profits to the extent of $17.00 credited in their name today, the balance together with the door receipts of $26.55 going to the Villiers' Red Cross unit, who have been very active in sending in their quota of knitted goods, etc., on a regular basis to the Red Cross headquarters.

Another former pupil, Mrs. James Thompson of Westwood, assisted in the program by giving an interesting talk on wild flowers, and this marks the second time in a short period that the school has assisted in helping the fund, for their last contribution appeared at the Christmas season to help with the special gifts being raised at that time.

Bridgenorth Primary Class

In a class almost all their own, the tiny tots of the Primary Class at Bridgenorth United church Sunday School, taught by Mrs. W. J. Robinson, have shown over a long period of time how good they consider this work of helping others to be, by their repeated donations, reflecting a kindness of heart that has all the earmarks of a real endeavor to fully follow out the tenets of their instruction in the Christian Faith.

These children also are represented once again in help to the fund, this marking the second time this year, previous to which they had also given for the children's gift at Christmas time.

Dr. T. W. H. Young Dies In 81st Year

Dr. Thomas William Herbert Young, one of Peterborough's oldest physicians, former medical officer of health, coroner and veteran of the first World War, died Thursday afternoon at the family residence, 305 Stewart street. Death came in his 81st year after an illness of six months.

Long a practising physician in this city, Dr. Young came here 47 years ago, having first lived in Toronto after his arrival in Canada from England as a young man. Born in London, England, he received his education at Bradford, England, and took his medical degrees at the universities of Glasgow and Edinburgh.

Medical officer of health for the city for 14 years, Dr. Young held the position until 1933. He was also coroner for the city and county for a period of 20 years.

Active In Militia

Prominently connected with the militia nearly all his life, Dr. Young was associated before the Great War with the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, with the 57th Regiment and with the 24th Field Battery, of which he was commanding officer for some years. When the war began, he offered his services as a combatant officer, but was transferred to the Medical Corps and went overseas in May, 1915, with the 2nd Divisional Engineers.

Becoming OC. of a Canadian Casualty Clearing Station in France, he later took command of the Canadian Convalescent Hospital, Folkestone, England, and returned to Canada in December, 1917. Dr. Young was mentioned in despatches for dressing wounds under fire and was awarded the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. He held the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Ellen A. Mcougall, three sons and a daughter. They are Dr. Herbert N. Young of this city; Dr. Howard M. Young of Camden, N.Y.; Douglas M. Young of Erie, Pa.; and Dr. Phyllis Black of Port Colborne. A sister, Mrs. Minnie Kirchhoffer, resides in Santa Monica, Cal.

Dr. Young was a member of St. John's Anglican church, of the Sons of England, and of the Kingston Lodge of Perfection, A. & A.S.R.

Driver's License Suspended For 3 Months

Declaring that he accepted the evidence of the crown witnesses and that offered by the defence had failed to set up a reasonable doubt Magistrate O. A. Langley in police court Thursday afternoon convicted John Joseph Allen, Bethune street guilty of drunken driving.

The brewery traveller was sentecd to ten days imprisonment in the county jail and Magistrate Langley suspended his driving license for a period of three months.

As the car Allen was driving when he became involved in an accident at Aylmer and McDonnel streets on the night of March 30 was not registered in his name there was no order for its being impounded.

When the session opened Thursday afternoon Constable John Stevenson was called by the crown and swore that Allen was drunk when he was brought into the police station after the accident.

To Mr. Bradshaw the officer said that he had not noticed any sign of injury on the accused and that Allen had not complained of having been hurt.

William L. Clark, Brown Street was the first defence witness. He swore that Allen had driven him home around 8.30 o'clock on the night of the accident and remained at his place until a few minutes after 9 o'clock and that he was perfectly normal when he left there.

Vernon Donaghue who had accompanied Allen to the Clark home corroborated the evidence of the previous witness. He added that after Allen and himself had left Clark's they had visited the Grand Hotel and each had three glasses of beer. Allen had driven the witness to where Donaghue's car was parked on Simcoe St. That was about 10 o'clock and there was nothing wrong with Allen's driving then Donaghue stated.

Dr. Robt. Young testified that he saw Allen five days after the accident and the accused had an abrasion on the left side of his forehead. To Mr. Bradshaw the witness said that an injury of that kind might accentuate the effects of drinking several glasses of beer.

Noticed Bruise on Head

John J. Ahern, 541 Aylmer street, testified that he had seen Allen in the police station the morning after the accident and noticed a bruise on his forehead.

Edward Allen, brother of the accused swore that Yelland, driver of the other car involved in the accident had told him that he had two other men in his automobile at the time of the collision.

John J. Allen, the accused, corroborated the evidence of other defence witnesses as to his movements before the accident. He swore that the three glasses of beer he had at the Grand Hotel that night was all the liquor he had consumed with the exception of a possible drink before noon that day. The two empty beer bottles found in his car had been there since the previous Sunday, he stated.

As to the accident Allen testified that he had stopped at Aylmer street before entering the intersection.

Sherwood Collins and Constable C. J. McGillen were called by the defence in regard to the condition of the brakes on Yelland's car. The former said that in his opinion the accident had nothing to do with the shape in which the brakes were found afterward.

After being convicted on the drunk driving charge Allen faced a second charge of having illegal possession of loose gasoline coupons and on that count there was an adjournment until Monday.

A shop which provides fashions for both mother and daughter generally has a sound family following. And we don't mean twin sets of mother and daughter styles, but separate departments where a woman can outfit self and family in one shopping spree. Junior Choir of St. Paul's Presents Second Operetta

A very large and appreciative audience greeted the youthful performers of the delightful fairy tale Little Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs in the St. Paul's Sunday school auditorium on Thursday night. This was the second operetta to be presented by the junior choir of the congregation. This choir was organized in 1942 by Martin B. Chenhall A. R. C. O. with a membership of 21 and now has 32 members.

This pretty little operetta was treated with a spontaneous, light, deft touch. However the young actors were perhaps a little overawed by the first night audience and all spoke too quickly spoiling some of the continuity of the story; but the principals were all very good in their respective roles with Nancy Leith excelling as the Queen of Poppyland (Snow White's stepmother).

The operetta was in two acts and four scenes opening in the Queen's apartment in the royal palace of poppyland with all the pomp attending a royal court. The queen does not like Snow White who is the princess of the Court and decides to get rid of her. Snow White becomes aware of this and wanders off into the forest and finds shelter in the home of the dwarfs. The dwarfs come home and discover the child and instead of being angry with her they treat her very reverently and ask her to stay as their housekeeper. The queen who has dressed herself as a peasant finds where Snow White has been hiding and offers her a poisoned apple. Snow White eats it and falls into a deep sleep.

The dwarfs who have heard that the prince is passing that way decorate their cottage in his honor and the Prince comes by and finds Snow White in this deep sleep and falls in love with her. The final scene shows the castle of Arcadee where Snow White with the aid of the Prince has overthrown her enemies and is crowned queen of Poppyland.

The music was very singable and the youthful singers were obviously desirious of doing full justice to it. An outstanding characteristic of the singing was the sweet quality.

Mrs. F. Board and Mrs. A. Bennett added a touch of comedy with the very humorous song, "The Head of the House is the Cook". The seven little boys who took the part of the dwarfs, captured the hearts of the audience and received prolonged applause on every appearance.

All the characters appeared in very lovely costumes which were made by several members of the Ladies Aid.

Dr. J. D. Smart minister of the congregation expressed the thanks of the audience to Mr. Chenhall and the choir for their able performance. During intermission Jack Smith sang "Bless This House" and an encore.

Members of the cast were:

Knox Comedy Presentation Proves Good Entertainment

The story of an unfortunate victim of circumstance, and his subsequent mastery of his destiny, was told in John Nash's play, "The Hot Water Hero," presented Thursday evening by the Young People's Union of Knox United Church. The scene was set in the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Williams, and covered a space of about two weeks, during which Alfred Hinsdom, the "hero," managed to be in hot water most of the time.

The part of the timid, bashful Alfred, who surprisingly found, in the third act, a forcefulness and physical prowess he did not know he possessed, was difficult to portray, since most of the action and a great deal of the dialogue fell to him. Norman Hughes, who played Alfred, turned in an excellent performance, and deftly handled the difficult role which was the focal point for the action of the play.

Although he was quite shy and bashful, Alfred was quite taken by the charms of Ida, the maid, and, to his own and everyone else's surprise, proposed to her. Ida, a pretty, bright girl who came from a good family which had suffered misfortune, was portrayed by Velma Stewart. The part called for a clever presentation, because Ida was proud and independent, and wanted no favors. Miss Stewart caught the spirit of her part, and maintained her characterization throughout the performance.

The other parts were equally well presented. Glenn French and Claude Brunson were Tom Williams and Joe Harper, two nonchalantly cocky young men-about-town. Betty Watson and Dorothy Agnew were Avis and Mary, girls with minds of their own, and very definite ideas about their affections for certain gentlemen. The young people handled their comedy roles with sureness, and kept the audience's interest at all times.

Marjorie Lewis and Robert Edwards, as Tom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, provided a steadying influence for the young hotheads, and their friendly advice, and humorous stories of events during their courtship, often relieved strained situations. These portrayals were excellent, and reflected careful directing, and study of the parts.

Parkhurst, the butler, was in love with, and dominated by, Rowena, the quick-tempered, vivacious cook. He was still not completely cowed, however, and managed to "break over the traces" once more before surrendering completely and marrying her. Warren Trotter, as Parkhurst, and Helen Ward, as Rowena, presented their parts well, and served to keep the scene lively at all times.

The action opened when Tom and Joe explained to Alfred that they had switched affections for the two girls, and that Tom was now in love with Mary, and Joe with Avis. They pressed Alfred into service to persuade the girls to switch their affections also. The girls, however, were completely satisfied with things as they were, and got the bright idea of pretending affection for Alfred, to make the boys jealous, and thus bring them back to their senses.

Ida, however, when she discovered that Alfred was "carrying on" with the two girls, begged Parkhurst to pretend love for her, to make Alfred jealous, to which Parkhurst, eager to shake Rowena's authority, agreed. Rowena, nothing daunted, promptly thought up an affair with Alfred, which she presented to the already bewildered group.

However, in spite of being engaged to one girl, and being chased by three others, Alfred managed to straighten everything out before the conclusion of the play.

Norman Hughes directed the presentation and Miss Loretta McDougall was prompter. Rev. H. J. Mahoney welcomed the audience, and introduced play. In the intermissions, Audrey and Marjorie Clarke sang two duets, accompanying themselves on the guitar.

The draw for the afghan and pillow which Mrs. Hurry donated was also made, and Mrs. G. R. Coleman, 198 London Street, and Mrs. McArthur, of Flint, Michigan, Mrs. Hurry's daughter, were the lucky winners. Two cash door prizes were awarded.

The next regular meeting of the Kinettes will be held at the home of Mrs W. Langan, 280 King Sreet, on Tuesday.

Hastings Girl Bride Of W. A. Stevenson

A pretty wedding was solemnized recently in St. George's Church, Hastings, when Doris Madeline Pulfer, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pulfer, Hastings, became the bride of Wesley Arnold Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevenson, Norwood. The rector, Rev. W. Lennox, officiated, and Mrs. Stanley Fife, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white silk sheer, and a finger-tip veil of white net, caught to a sweetheart halo. She wore the groom's gift, a necklet of pearls, and carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses.

Mrs. Harold Mouncey, Roseneath, was matron of honor in a floor-length gown of pink sheer, with a headdress of pink flowers, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Rae Pulfer, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and Earl Deen, Indian River, and Fred Stillman, Peterborough, were ushers.

A buffet luncheon was served at the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received in a two-piece dress of navy sheer, and the groom's mother received in turquoise blue sheer. Each wore a corsage of pink carnations. Those assisting in the serving were Mrs. William Whitred, Mrs. Francis Parker, Miss Wynifred Beamish and Miss Pauline Humphries.

For a motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride chose a lime green wool suit, white blouse, and dark brown accessories. On their return, the couple will live on the groom's farm, near Norwood.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—My daughter has reached the age where she thinks a great change should take place in her life. She has just turned 18 and says she is of age. Just what does that mean? Does it mean that she should have her own way in everything? I know it doesn't, but would like your opinion on the subject.

MOTHER.

More Freedom For Girl

ANSWER—Coming of age is a legal term that means that the law rates a girl or boy as an adult instead of a child, and makes him or her responsible for his or her acts. After a girl comes of age she can marry without her parents' consent, hold property in her own name, etc., etc. She has a right to her own wages, if she works, and if she leaves home her parents cannot force her to come back unless she so desires.

Of course, having her eighteenth birthday doesn't make a girl any wiser than she was the day before, or give her any more judgment, but it does give her more freedom of action. And this is something that her parents should have been preparing for ever since she began to stand alone. For parents can only control their children by force so long as they are physically afraid of them, but they can manage them by love and tenderness and consideration as long as they live.

Many letters come to this column from fathers and mothers who complain of rebellious and what they consider undutiful children. "I can't do a thing with Sally," they wail. "I can't manage John." And nearly always when you sift these cases down to the bottom you will find that the parents are to blame.

The children have been spoiled to death. They have never been controlled. They have never been taught to respect authority or to know any law except their own. Or else they have been tyrannized over. They have never had any personal liberty. They have been nothing but little slaves.

And in both cases the result has been disastrous. The girl, who, from her childhood up, has done as she pleased isn't going to turn suddenly obedient and amenable to discipline when she grows up, and the girl who has been kept in bondage all her life isn't going to stay tied to Mother's apron strings. She is going to break them as soon as she has the strength to, and run wild.

If parents expect to have any authority over their grown children, they have to establish in their youngsters' minds respect for their opinions, a reliance on their sense of justice, and faith in their parents' desire for their pleasure and happiness. Nowadays you can't rear children by the old formulas by which their fathers and mothers were brought up, for times have changed, customs have changed, and youth has changed with them.

If parents would remember that and deal with their children on a 1944 platform, instead of the one they were brought up on, we should have fewer mothers and fathers complaining that they can't do a thing with Annabelle or Tommy. You have to drive children with a strong rein, but a loose one, if you don't want them to bolt nowadays.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — I am 23. Have no children. My husband is overseas and I am very lonely and bored. My job doesn't interest me and I am not content in having gone back to live with my parents. The only thing I want to do is join the WAC's. I feel that it would give me something to do, something interesting to occupy my mind, and would not only benefit me physically and mentally, but would give me more in common with my husband after the war and, in addition, I would be serving my country.

But when I asked my husband about it he vetoed the idea quite definitely. Under the circumstances would you advise me joining the WAC's in spite of my husband's objections

RESTLESS.

Where War Service Helpful To Woman

ANSWER—I certainly would not advise you to go against your husband's wishes in the matter, but I think he is entirely wrong in his objection to your doing so. No woman who has children should do any kind of war work that takes her outside of her home, because she can best serve her country by keeping the home fires burning and rearing decent citizens. But I think that every able-bodied woman, who has no family obligations, is just as much called upon to do war work as the men are to fight.

And it is a fine thing for young wives whose homes have been broken up by their husbands going to the front and who are restless, lonesome and longing for action of some sort, to join up with some of the organizations, where they will have discipline and restraint and something worth while to do, on which to expend their energies.

Try to persuade your husband to let you join the WAC's or the WAVES or some other one of the women's outfits that are doing such grand work not only at home, but at the front.

VITAMIN CONTENT

The nutrition-conscious housewife is beginning to realize the nutritive value of watercress, and to use it as a regular part of her meals, in addition to salads. Among the salad greens, watercress has been proven high in vitamin content.

To store it, and keep it fresh for several days, select it when it is bright in color, with no yellowed or damaged leaves. Untie the bunch and wash the cress in cold water, discarding any unsuitable leaves.

After draining it well, place in a quart jar or container, with a tight fitting cover, and store in the refrigerator until needed.

FAHION FLASHES

Two-piece suits—just the thing to wear under a spring coat, and for summerwear, without a coat—are really in the fashion limelight these days. They are being shown in every conceivable shade and material, so that, no matter what her taste, the fashion-wise lady can find the one she wants.

These suits also provide another bit of purchasing persuasion. They can be worn with or without blouses, the skirt and jacket worn separately. However, blouses are smart, and feature cute weskit styles, made with cutaway fronts and a tied neckline.

One fashionable style is showing white accessories with suits. That is, white blouse, gloves and hat. The latter, however, can be decorated with either white or bright-hued flowers, to give a spring-like touch.

Honey and Saccharin Used To Sweeten Rhubarb Pie

By MARY MOORE

Spring's here because we've been on a hike and had our supper over a camp fire.

My niece of fourteen said on our return "We're muddy but uncowed"—the meaning of that being that about ten cows stared us out of countenance for we had built our fire near where they were in the habit of drinking and they didn't like it at all. We moved.

I know it isn't camping fare but we took a rhubarb pie with us. I'd made it in the morning using seven tablespoons honey to sweeten it. Four tablespoons honey and 6 saccharin tablets will sweeten this pie if you don't care to use so much of your precious honey this way. Four of us ate the whole 9-inch pie so you can see the cows didn't take away our appetites.

Emem's Sugarless Rhubarb Pie

(This rule is for an 8-inch pie. For a 9-inch pie increase rhubarb to 4 cups and honey to 9½ tablespoons.)

Rich plain pastry, 3 cups rhubarb, cut in half-inch pieces, 7 tablespoons honey, 2 tablespoons flour or minute tapioca. Line pie plate with good plain pastry. Dredge the uncooked rhubarb with flour if you use it and arrange in pie plate. Pour honey over it. If tapioca is used, mix it through the cut rhubarb and let it stand to become soaked with the rhubarb juice for 15 minutes, then put in pie plate. Criss-cross top with one-inch strips of pastry pinched to bottom crust edge. Bake at 475 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. to bake until rhubarb is tender.

Broiled Lamb Patties (with Minted Currant Jelly Sause)

Order minced lamb and make it up into patties (some butchers sell these made up). Place on broiler, sprinkled with a little salt and flour, and broil under high heat until one side is golden brown then turn over, sear well, and move broiler 2 inches away from heat, to finish cooking through — never under cook lamb. Serve with a jar of your currant jelly whipped to a froth with your rotary beater. If you are lucky enough to find mint at your green grocers chop some fine and add; if not add 3 drops oil of peppermint. It's good, but you will have to try it to be convinced.

One of these days I am going to give you some recipes from a Czechoslovakian friend of mine. But now want to give you a recipe for eggs she learned from an English chef in Switzerland!

She made

Eggs A La Buckingham

for our brunch one Sunday morning.

Make 5 slices milk toast or French toast—(she made French toast) and arrange on platter and keep hot. Beat 5 eggs (for 4 or 5 people) and to them add ⅓ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. In hot frying pan melt 2 tablespoons butter and heat until it is light brown. Pour in eggs immediately and with egg turner stir and scrape mixture from bottom and sides of pan constantly. Fire should be hot, and egg mixture should be layered with golden brown surfaces. Arrange over French toast, garnish with parsley and wedges of ripe tomato.

I had a request for the following and even though maple syrup is scarce here it is.

Maple Parfait

Four eggs, 1 cup hot maple syrup, 1 pint whipping cream—use tops from 4 bottles Jersey milk. Beat eggs slightly, pour on slowly maple syrup. Cook, stirring until thick. Cool, fold in whipped cream. Freeze.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Small cakes, cookies, macaroons and any one of a number of other small cakes are so nice to have on hand if some friends drop in unexpectedly in the afternoon or evening. Serve any one of these with a cup of coffee and all will enjoy it. Yet it is so little trouble for you because you can keep the small cakes always on hand. I have a few recipes which I am going to give you today. Try them, you will be glad you did.

Lemon Biscuits

1 egg, 1⅓ cups shortening, 5 cents worth oil of lemon, 1⅓ cups sugar, 5 cents worth baking ammonia, flour enough to make a stiff batter, 2 cups of milk. Heat the milk to lukewarm, then dissolve ammonia in the milk. Roll out and bake.

Venetian Cakes

½ cup butter, ½ cup pulverized sugar, 1 cup nuts chopped, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring, yolks of two eggs well beaten. Cream butter, sugar, nuts, flavoring and eggs. Stir in flour gradually. Make into small balls. Roll in pulverized sugar. Cook on buttered sheets till light yellow-brown, not too much.

Oatmeal Macaroons

2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 3/4 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 3 cups rolled oats, 1 cup flour, flavoring and salt. Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg and other ingredients. Drop in buttered pan and bake in moderate oven.

Curly Peters

2 eggs, 1⅓ cups sugar, 1 cup butter, 3 tablespoons syrup heated with 1 teaspoon soda, 4 cups flour, 1 cup chopped raisins, 3/4 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg each. Mix, drop on greased cookie sheet, bake in moderate oven for 10 minutes.

Peanut Drop Cookies

¼ cup butter, ½ cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and grated rind, ½ tablespoon salt, 1 cup flour, 4 tablespoons finely chopped peanuts. Cream butter and sugar, add egg well beaten, then the dry ingredients sifted together, lemon juice and peanuts. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered pan and cook about 15 minutes.

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have been meaning to write to you for a long time to thank you for printing that marvellous recipe, which is called "Horry's Mayonnaise" (called "Hot Water Mayonnaise by EmEm—Ed's. note). I have been making it for quite some time and think it is superlative. I flavor mine almost entirely with lemon. What a marvellous texture it has too. More expensive though up here (Fort St. John—Ed's note) A bottle of oil containing 2⅓ cups costs the best part of a dollar. The last time I went to try to buy oil I was offered a little bottle which could not have contained a cup of oil for .85. That is all that has been available. I was wanting salad dressing so badly so decided to take your tip and make "Slimmer's Mayonnaise". It made the mayonnaise perfectly — it tastes marvellous, but oh! the disastrous results. I think you should mention this point in future when saying one can make mayonnaise with mineral oil—for I felt more dead than alive. But what a marvellous solution for the many people who have to take oil and complain that it nauseates them—also for expectant mothers. I think I shall take my two bottles I have made up to the local hospital and ask one of the Sisters to give it to someone who has to take oil and who hates it. It is quite out of the question for me to eat any more, and I find it hard to leave it alone I like it so.

So many of your recipes use things impossible to get up here. For instance I don't know how long it is since we could get any tapioca. I do miss that and the peanut butter and so many other things which do not seem procurable according to the papers. I must compliment you on your articles—they are really very good and your recipes are super. I am sprouting some of those Cinese salad beans to make Chow Mein as per your instructions.

Some time ago we had some correspondence about Schwarzbrot. I looked for a long while in the paper but never did see the recipe, I suppose you were unable to procure it. Well I at last found someone here who had made it in Russia before they came out here. According to her directions I made it just as you make wholemeal bread, using the same proportion of rye flour as it says in the Royal book. It turned out just fine and exactly as I remember it from my schooldays. When you take the loaves out of the oven you brush them with warm water to stop the crust being hard. Also in handling the dough you moisten your hands instead of greasing them. I thought you might care to try this bread yourself, sometime, the recipe which makes four loaves of ordinary bread just makes two of the schwarzbrot, but it goes a long way I used rye flour which was procured for me at the local store.

I see you had an enquiry for sweet desserts for a sweet tooth family. My family is like that,—we use our D. coupons for sugar instead of jam,—one can do so much more with it. One o fthe desserts I make takes 2 teaspoons sugar. Make cream puffs according to the recipe in the Swansdown Cake Book, then frost by melting 2 plain york chocolate bars, adding some milk or cream to thin, and when cool and beaten to a nice consistency spread over the cream puffs, fill with whipped cream taken off the milk bottles as per your valuable hint,—by the way it doesn't need Jersey milk, ordinary milk works too. In England these are called Cream Buns and it always was my dish in childhood to be able to eat an unlimited amount,—I never was allowed to do so of course, and now I find 2 is about the limit one can manage at one sitting.

Many thanks for all the wonderful recipes you print,—I follow your page every week, it is the best thing I read. By the way another thing we can't get up here is cheese. You printed some such interesting recipes calling for cheese recently, I hope to try them sometime.

Your family seems to be very accommodating what they will eat. Mine is just the opposite,—I am the only member that will eat anything (I learned that at boarding school). My husband for instance will not eat any salad. Margaret D.

ANSWER: I was delighted to hear from you.

I sent the Schwarsbrot recipe to you by private letter to insure you receiving it—maybe it will turn out to be one of those pieces of mail that turns up 25 years later.

There is a sly idea in making the mayonnaise from mineral oil—it's effect besides being non-fattening are apparent before most slimmers use it, but it makes them feel so good (allegedly) that it has a double value. Sorry it had such devastating effect on you.

Thanks for the cream buns method.

I am writing you privately again. I showed your letter to the "Mountie husband of a friend of mine and his remarks were interesting. He said some people call your country God's Country; others God-forsaken. He said if it were God-forsaken nothing would survive. But he believes it is grocery - salesmen-forsaken. He said any grocer's saleman that would accept the territory would be in grocer's heaven.

Hoping some suggestions in my letter will help and that you will "come again sooner".

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 15

AN EXTREMELY lively and enterprising day is based on interesting sidereal operations, which stress the unusual if not the spectacular. All pertaining to writings, correspondence, communications, agencies and travelling, are likely to be promoted under high pressure and with lucrative and gratifying returns. Nevertheless all pertaining to youthful and romantic enjoyments or celebrations are stressed, with all sorts of novelty and ingenuity in the public eye. A playtime of unusual adventure is probable.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect an unusually lively and productive year, with business, publicity, promotions and all pertaining to writings and agencies to the fore. This may involve travel and new contracts or agreements. At the same time the affairs of youth and romance are conspicuous with much enjoyment and festivity. Popularity and prestige are happily enhanced by quick moves.

A child born on this day should have exceptional versatility and talents, which will help in a variety of business or professional activities.

Secret Weapon Brings Chuckle

LONDON, April 14— (CP)— The Germans came up today with a new story about the "secret weapon" they are saving for use against the Allies. This time it is a projectile containing a chemical which freezes everything within a radius of 500 yards by a temperature of 332 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

"Radio National," the German station purporting to operate from Britain, said the effect of the projectile is to "kill every living creature within range and make steel and concrete structures so brittle they collapse at a touch."

The broadcast declared Britons had been mystified by large icebergs in the Channel and North Sea between the Thames estuary and the Dutch coast, and said they had been created by the new "weapon."

This assertion brought a derisive chuckle from British naval official,s one of whom asserted:

"There hasn't been an iceberg seen in the Channel or that part of the North Sea since the ice age."

Discuss Evacuation

ZURICH, April 14 (CP-Reuters)—Hitler and Mussolini have met at Hitler's headquarters to discuss evacuation of German troops from North Italy, the Lugano newspaper, Corriere Del Ticino, said yesterday.

Border Inspector Held By Police

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 14—(AP) — Three persons, including a Canadian Immigration Inspector, have been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of smuggling and conspiracy to smuggle silver fox furs from Canada to the United States.

One of the defendants, William Siegel, 28, Buffalo, pleaded guilty. He was continued at liberty in bail pending trial of Harry Friefeld, 48 of Brooklyn, who landed innocent. The third, Harvey A. Milne, 37, Fort Erie, Ont., Immigration Inspector, will be arraigned Tuesday.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Goodman A. Sarachan said the government has dropped a smuggling charge against Mrs. Ferne Milne, wife of the Inspector.

U. S. Customs agents reported they found 130 fox pelts, valued at $6,000, in the rear compartment of Milne's automobile after it had crossed the Peace Bridge, Jan. 10.

Higher Salaries Urged For Judges

OTTAWA, April 14—(CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor in a statement issued today urged higher salaries for Canadian judges, and a parliamentary investigation of salaries now being paid the Canadian judiciary.

"The issue has been raised because of a measure introduced in Parliament under which judges may be retired at the age of 70," A. R. Mosher, president of the Congress, said in the statement. "While no objection can be taken to this procedure in ordinary circumstances, it has been pointed out that at present salary levels judges are unwilling to retire because they are in many cases unable to maintain themselves and their dependents after retirement."

clothes. If the scent is heavy, try spraying some into the air, and walking through it. It leave a faint, lingering fragrance.

Another good idea, to give an illusion of sweetness, is to spray perfume on your hair, or touch lightly behind the ears, neck, wrist and palms of the hands.

KEEPS THEM SOFT

Housewives sometimes find it difficult ot keep dried apples, raisins and figs. If they have a tendency to develop mould, and dry out as hard as rocks, try keeping them in glass jars, with the lids screwed on tightly. This method is good for crystallized peel, cherries, and prunes.

✦ ✦ ✦

When a seam pulls out, the garment usually is already too close fitting to allow for deeper seams. However, with a little trouble, it can generally be reinforced or mended, to give longer wear.

On a tailored dress with outside stitching, the pulled-out seams can be mended with an outside-stitched seam. First, reseam the garment, even though there is scarcely any seam. Then, on the underside of the seam, lay a piece of matching tape. Stick on the outside, along both sides of the seam, so that the finished effect looks right with the rest of the dress.

Extra scraps of material often help a great deal, because broken seams can be mended with insets. Put the insets in to look as though they were part of the original dress design. This may require a little ingenuity, but the dressmaker often likes to try new ideas of her own. An added advantage of insets, is that the garment can be enlarged when the seams are being mended.

Chose 14 Legmen To Aid Reporters

NEW YORK, April 14 — (AP) — Fourteen United States infantry correspondents have shoved off for the battlefront—to act as legmen for civilian newsmen and photographers.

Time Magazine said today the correspondents were the first members of a ground-force news corps which eventually will cover each active division in the United States Army.

Unlike Marine corps correspondents, the Army men will not file news. They will dig in with combat troops to help get the story of infantrymen in action and aid civilian correspondents.

All members of the first contingent are experienced newspapermen and all but one have received combat training.

Americans Flay Daylight Saving Congress Gets Flood Of Letters

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 14—(CP)—Salty, pungent condemnation of daylight saving or "war time" as a new-deal instrument for the benefit of golfers and for the bedevilment of school-children and workers, was contained in a flood of letters praising the resolution of Rept. Clarence Cannon (D.-Missouri) asking Congress to end this tinkering with the nation's clocks.

Cannon said, in effect, this war had revolutionized strategical procedure and had proven that daylight saving, as a war aid, was as outmoded as the bow and arrow.

"On the contrary," he said, "it wastes (electric) power, is deleterious to the health of young and old, and is one of the prime factors in absenteeism."

To indicate how the nation felt about it he placed on the record a selection of 166 of the letters he had received from all parts of the country approving his resolution.

These letters, many of them from doctors, clergyman and educators filled 24 columns of the Congressional Record.

They applied various epithets to the system, such as—"senseless, asinine, idiotic, accursed, crazy, ungodly, damnable, inconvenient and wasteful."

They said daylight saving was bad because:

Children must grope their way to school in pitch darkness much of the year—and go to bed long before dark.

Farm animals cannot adjust themselves to man's tinkering with time, nor can the farmers' ally — nature.

Industrial workers in hot weather areas need cool morning hours for sleep and cannot get proper rest when forced to bed in the heat of the late afternoon.

Electric power is wasted instead of saved; war industries work around the clock anyway.

Daylight saving helps only those who play golf and other sports in the late afternoons.

Lauds Canada

Canada Ahead: Canadian foresight was praised when Congress adjourned for Easter without having disposed of the "GI Bill of Rights" —the measure to provide for ex-service personnel. Rep Edith Nourse Rogers (Rep.-Mass.) said the bill was modelled after the Canadian legislation already enacted and "I think it is humiliating that this or similar legislation has not been passed before."

Taxi pundit: Taxi drivers are always ready to explain any problem. "Russians won't bomb German cities or let us do it from Russian air fields because they know they're going to take Germany and they don't want it all smashed up," one of them triumphantly explained the other night.

Washington spring: Easter brought spring and a flood of flowering beauty with temperatures around 80 and higher . . . Japanese cherry trees like soft drifts of pink and white snow watching their reflection in the tidal basin . . . soldiers and sailors with their girl friends strolling hand in hand in a fairyland of color . . . and (darn it) the screech of lawn mowers echoing through suburbia.

MULTIPLY YOUR CHANCES

PLAY FOR many a contract offers you a choice among several finesses, and first glance may make it seem you should choose one of them. Further reckoning, however, may disclose still another method, such as trying to set up a suit for a discard, which will perhaps enable you to do without any finessing at all. And, if you work it just right, you may still preserve a finessing opportunity in case the suit does not establish properly.

Several pairs in a duplicate game reached that contract, not a hard one to bid, and the declarers gave it different kinds of play, following the spade J lead, which each South won. Some tried a finesse of the heart Q, losing to the K. Some finessed the club Q on a lead toward the A, and they, too, were beaten. Two made their contracts with a sounder finesse, a heart lead to the A, then the Q back, letting it go through for a club discard when East played low. That was a little sounder than the others, because it would win if the hand played for the K, East, had a singleton K.

The soundest play, however, was found by a blind man, J. P. (Pat) Dunne, famous player of Miami, Fla. He discarded a club on the spade lead, led to the heart A, ruffed the heart 4 with an honor, led to the diamond 9, ruffed the heart 6 with an honor, led to the diamond 10, eliminating the last rival trump, and ruffed the heart Q, which took out the K. That set up the heart J. He led to the diamond 7 and used that last heart to discard his club 3, assuring his contract.

If West had held a string of five hearts to the K, the declarer could still have had the club finesse left as a try for his contract.

What is the one correct card for East to return after West leads the spade K to his A against South's 3-No Trumps on this deal?

700 German Planes Lost In One Week

Fighter Armadas Take Over Pre-Invasion Raids

BY W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 15 — (AP) — Formations of Allied fighters fanned out over Germany today, the Berlin radio said. Taking over the pre-invasion offensive from heavy bomber fleets which had closed out a week of shattering blows at Hitler's Air Arm and Transport.

Waves of broadcast warnings from German stations traced the fighter's progress into northwest, north and central Germany, indicating an ambitious series of thrusts from British bases.

Swift fighters have been increasingly used by the Allies to strafe airfields, shoot up trains and canal shipping and coax German aircraft into combat.

No Heavy Bombers

There were no signs of a major heavy bomber mission, apparently the second day American heavyweights have remained grounded after the week-long Allied offensive begun last Saturday during which blows were dealt at least 13 German aircraft factories, 17 airfields and 14 railroads linking anti-invasion fortifications. British-based bombers also remained grounded last night.

More than 15,000 tons of explosives and incendiaries were dropped by the heavy Allied fleets during which more than 700 enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged. Latest tallies showed British and American aerial guns had blasted at least 56. planes from the skies over Europe, an average of almost 100 a day.

Two Canadian pilots maintained the blazing pace of the city of Edmonton Mosquito Squadron by shooting down four enemy planes on long-range patrols which they took them over the Kattegat, separating Denmark and Sweden. They also destroyed several planes on the ground near Copenhagen.

The Canadian sharp-shooters were Sqdn. Ldr. R. Kipp of Kamloops, B.C., and F.O. J. Caine of Edmonton.

Polish People Renew Battles

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — Through secret underground channels, these are some recent incidents reported to the Polish government here.—

A hundred Gestapo men surrounded a Warsaw flat where a man they wanted was with his wife and baby. But the man and his wife had a machine-gun and hand grenades and they opened fire. The battle raged for three hours until the couples ammunition ran out when they, and the baby, were shot.

In the forests near Skarzysko in central Poland the Germans surrounded the camp of Polish underground Army forces with 4,000 men of a SS. Brigade. They attacked with tanks, 12 bombers and nine fighter planes and the battle raged for six hours. The Poles finally broke through and withdrew into the forests.

They had to leave their wounded behind and the Germans treated them mercilessly. But 100 Germans had been killed and 300 wounded.

BUCHAREST BOMBED

NAPLES—American heavy bombers again smashed targets in Bucharest today, a headquarters announcement said.

Would Ration Jobs

PHILADELPHIA, April 15 —(AP).—Rationing of jobs after the war—with shorter work days and work weeks for all—was proposed today by Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. "We must ration available employment; in other words shorten the hours of work until we reach a balance," Mr. Bengough said in an address prepared for delivery before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

2 Million Tons Jap Shipping Sent To Bottom

WASHINGTON, April 15—(AP).—Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States Navy, said today Japan's war fleet is already damaged "so that she can never hope to make up losses" and new blows at it may be expected in the "next few months."

"We are seeking opportunities to strike whenever we can get within range of their warships or bases," he said, "and I think you will find, within the next few months to come, that we shall create these opportunities."

Admiral King added: "We have reduced Japan's merchant fleet to not more than two-thirds of what it was when we were attacked. We have sunk well over 2,000,000 tons of her cargo tonnage, and have so seriously damaged her fleet of warships that she can never hope to make up losses by building new fighting ships or repairing those that we have damaged....

"To date, we have sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action at least 600 Japanese merchant vessels.

"She cannot stand such a rate of loss for any length of time and keep her empire together. The dissolution of that empire, of course, is one of the primary objectives of this war."

Such dissolution of the Japanese empire, he told the graduating class of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Police Academy, is the minimum requirement for victory in the Pacific.

He described Japanese reasoning as holding that by retaining possession of the "inner portion" of seized territory, Japan has "won the war," and continued:

"The outer ring of islands which they occupy serves chiefly as their fighting front. Through their persistence in holding these islands they hope to make our advance so costly that we will give up the effort to break into their inner defence.

"But, whatever the cost, we know that we cannot regard victory in the Pacific as anything short of the dissolution of the Japanese empire as a military power."

Discussing the European war briefly, he reiterated the statement of Navy Secretary Frank Knox that Germany now is concentrating on construction of submarines to the exclusion of all other ships, "but it is unlikely that Hitler will be able to terrorize Atlantic shipping lanes again as he did two years ago."

Call City Riders

BRINGHAM, UTAH, April 15 — (AP) — With many of the regular cowboys gone to war, city riders will lend a hand this year in the wild horse roundup. John Adams, cattleman-rancher disclosed he has engaged the Webber County mounted Sheriff's posse, a riding organization, to participate in the spring roundup at his ranch. More than 20,000 acres of ranch land will be covered.

Jap Patrols Hold Key Indian Trail

New Allied Force Moves Up To Clear Naga Hills

BY CHARLES A GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, April 15 — (AP) — An Allied force apparently was moving eastward from Dimapur today in an effort to clear the Naga hills road to Kohima and the Manipur valley of Japanese road blocks.

The road is one of two jungle communication route to the threatened Imphal valley of Eastern India.

Today's communique from the southeast Asia command said small Japanese parties were still holding fast on the Bishenpur-Silchar trail, the other route southwest of Imphal, although the enemy was meeting with heavy casualties in his attempts to choke off this important supply base.

Although progress was reported in clearing the enemy from the road running northwest of Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal, the communique said no important change had taken place around Kohima itself in the sectors south and east of Imphal.

Front dispatches yesterday said the Japanese had reached the Bishenpur-Silchar trail leading into the Bengal flatlands and Allied communications lines.

The jungle trail leading from Bishenpur, 17 miles southwest of Imphal, to Silchar, terminal of a spur line connecting with the Bengal-Assam railway, is 70 miles airline, but nearer 150 miles long for coolie and mulepack parties making the tortuous hike. Silchar is Imphal's nearest railroad.

Front line dispatches indicated the Japanese infiltration was small, and said just a dozen casualties had been inflicted on the enemy in the first brush along the trail.

Snipers Active

Japanese snipers were still active along Imphal's other outlet, the road through Kohima to Diampur on the Bengal-Assam railway, but the communique said offensive operations against enemy road blocks on the Kohima-Dimapur stretch of the road were making progress.

In this connection, a front line account confirmed previous reports that small Japanese parties at one time did penetrate the outskirts of the defended area of Kohima, but said the enemy party was liquidated. Forty-nine Japanese dead were counted and some prisoners taken. The rest withdrew into the hills of the northeast.

In his surprise visit to Imphal last Saturday, it was disclosed, Admiral Lord Louis Mounbatten, the southeast Asia commander, had a five-minute talk with a Japanese deserter, a 24-year-old gunner, who left his unit to go native and ran into a British patrol.

"I've seen Japanese prisoners before but never one who was a deserter," said Lord Louis.

The communique said the Chinese-American offensive in Northern Burma was continuing to make progress southward toward Myitkyina and the Mandalay railway, and indicated patrols had penetrated close to Kamaing, the next important objective Kamaing is about 20 miles south of the last announced Allied position.

He Never Returned

DELHI, Ia., April 15 (AP). — For 25 years Mrs. Margaret McConnell kept a light glowing in a window of her home—fulfilling a promise she made to her son, Claude Nelson, when he joined up in the First Great War. The light was to guide him home some day. Although the son died in 1918, Mrs. McConnell kept the light shining. It remained a-glow until Thursday, when Mrs. McConnell died at the age of 81.

Labor Member Angry Over U.S. Domination

KILMARNOCK, Scotland, April 15.—(CP).—Emanuel Shinwell, Labor Member of Parliament, asked the question in a speech here today whether Great Britain was becoming an "economic vassal of America," and declared in answer that there will never be a real friendship between the two countres if Britain is "placed in the position of a junior partner and what is worse, a poor relation."

"Consultations between our government and representatives of the United States government on civil aviation, foreign affairs and commercial matters are making many people ask what is being arranged for the future of this country behind our backs." Mr. Shinwell said.

Already we have been informed by Lord Beaverbrook (Lord Privy Seal) that he as made concessions to America on the subject of civil aviation although Parliament has never been consulted. There are rumors that a commercial and monetary agreement is likely to be reached and we do not know that Mr. Stettinius (Edward R. Stettinius, United States Undersecretary of State) is here to discuss foreign affairs, which no doubt include our relations with Europe.

'Does it mean that we are to become the economic vassal of America and that our future foreign and economic policy will be determined by the United States?"

Mr. Shinwell urged the government to inform the people what is being done now and not wait until the deals are concluded and then announce them.

Heavy Air Toll

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — A Romanian communique today declared 3,204 persons were killed and 2,477 wounded in Allied air attacks on Bucharest and Ploesti, April 4 and 5.

The broadcast bulletin said 905 houses were destroyed in the capital and that 197 were wrecked or damaged in Ploesti.

Hun Barrage Rakes Anzio Front

Allied Units Block Nazi Patrols Probing For Opening

By LYN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, April 15—(AP). — The Germans, intensifying their activity in the upper Garigliano sector of the main Italian 5th Army front, shelled one area for more than two hours yesterday and attempted infiltrations of the Allied lines but the attacks were frustrated and other sorties broken up after some fighting, headquarters announced today.

The two-hour barrage was concentrated in a sector south of Sant' Andrea, about eight miles south of rubbled Cassino, and the infiltrations were attempted north and east of Sant' Ambrogio, which lies about seven miles south of Cassino.

Allied patrols were active on all fronts, inflicting casualties, a communique said.

Allied planes hitting at German bases in Italy flew 1,400 sorties yesterday, climaxed by heavy and medium bomber blows against the west coast ports of Piombino and Santo Stefano last night, headquarters announced.

Medium bombers plastered an airfield at Viterbo, north of Rome, and also blasted the rail yards at Livorno (Leghorn) and rail bridges at Certaldo, Bucine, Arezzo and Cecina.

Fighter-bombers attacked other bridges and fighters maintained patrols over the battle area.

Five Allied planes were lost during the day, the communique said, and four enemy craft were destroyed. More than 40 enemy planes were active over the battlefront during the daylight hours.

The assaults on the port of Livorno, Piombino and Santo Stefano by Wellingtons and Liberators lasted four hours. The Germans have been making use of the sea lanes for bringing supplies southward because of the sustained Allied attack on their rail communications.

WILKESBORO, N.C., April 15—(AP). — Farmer Glenn Williams doesn't care much for the current song that tells about the diet of mares and lambs. He bought a flock of lambs and ewes. Six of them died after they ate ivy.

Expect Giraud Will Accept Changes

ALGIERS, April 15 — (AP) — Friends of Gen. Henri Giraud said today it was virtually certain he would bow to the action of the French committee of National liberation removing him as an Active Commander and giving Charles de Gaulle complete authority over French armed forces.

Gen. Giraud, who once was co-President of the committee with Gen. de Gaulle but gradually has lost all his authority, plans to leave North Africa, probably for Britain, they added.

The 65-year-old General had refused to accept what he termed was the "honorary" post of Inspector-General after the committee had bolished his position of Cammander-in-Chief. In yesterday's action he was put on the "Reserve Command list," thus technically remaining on the active list in accordance with French tradition that "a Commander against the enemy cannot be retired."

English Women Stand Alone Handling Man-size War Jobs

By MARGARET ECKER—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 15—(CP).—You may hate her in the guise of a bus clippie when she shoves you around and insults you. You may hate her when she pushes past you to snatch the last loaf of bread in the shop.

You may hate her when she gets a gleam in her eye and launches a full-scale assault on every Canadian male in sight.

You may think the average English woman one of the rudest people you've met, be she shop clerk or socialite.

But figures don't lie and you've got to hand it to her for doing a bigger than mansize job of work. Not all English women have been hardened and toughened in the machine of war, and maybe anyone would have been if they'd taken on the chins the blows pounded at women on this side of the Atlantic.

There's hardly a woman on the island without an ache in her heart. Their menfolk have been away for long years.

Nearly everyone has lost someone —husband, father, lover, brother—in the Battle of Britain.

But today 7,750,000 of them are in the armed services, in civilian defence or vital war work.

More than 90 per cent of all single women between 18 and 40 years are doing essential work as are more than 80 per cent of the married women with no children in the same group. More than 1,600,000 women between 40 and 60 years are working.

These are not mere token jobs. Any woman who works less than 55 hours a week has to do an additional 12 hours a week national service, civil defence, fire watching or first aid.

Britain is the only country in the world that conscripts its women for the uniformed services. More than 200,000 service in the Auxiliary Territorial Service. The WAAF gave no figures but the service has grown to 79 times its size at the outbreak of war.

More than 114,000 women work on the British railways overburdened with troop and freight movements. One shipyard is entirely manned by women.

Women in civilian defence work 60 hours a week for a salary of under $14. In the National Fire Service they handle all types of fire fighting.

On the English countryside, 80,000 women in the Women's Land Army do all types of work in dairy farms.

Axis Leaders Voice Confidence

LONDON, April 15 — (AP). — An Axis "three-power" parley has been held in Tokyo on the eve of the Allied invasion of Western Europe, the Berlin radio disclosed today.

The broadcast said a technical committee of Germany, Japan and the Italian puppet Fascist regime had reached "complete agreement" on war plans and quoted Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo as telling the delegates that the Nazis would smash any invasion attempt.

"I am firmly convinced that the German Wehrmacht not only will smash such an Anglo-Saxon attack, but moreover will deal such a devastating counter-blow as will accelerate the final victory of our three nations," Tojo was represented as saying.

The broadcast added that Tojo declared Japan was "absolutely confident" she would remain supreme in the East Asia co-prosperity sphere and that her position was growing stronger every day through utilization of rich raw materials and resources."

Red Navy Gunners Slaughter Fleeing Germans

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 15.—(AP).— A powerful Red army land force has pinned the Germans to a narrow strip of coast around Sevastopol, the Crimean naval base, and has converged to within sight of hills on the outskirts, while Soviet planes and warships are pouring fire into the enemy at the docks, Russian correspondents reported to-day.

The huge port was assuming the aspect of a giant exploding ammunition dump as Soviet airmen "paralyzed the traffic of enemy ships" and Soviet torpedo boats and guns from the Black Sea fleet blasted directly at embarkation points, a Pravda dispatch declared.

(This dispatch, saying that ammunition stores were being destroyed, indicated the Germans were attempting a Crimean Dunkerque, and that Soviet forces were striking powerfully to break it up.)

Moscow declared 500 more towns fell and 11,000 prisoners were taken in swift punches Friday with an entire division of perhaps 15,000 men destroyed. The six-day offensive has netted 31,000 captives and torn all but one-tenth of the entire Crimea from the Nazi grasp, the Soviets asserted.

Vanguards of Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukin's 4th Ukrainian Army were within 18 miles of the outskirts of historic Sevastopol after seizing Bakhchisarai in a 17-mile drive down the Central Crimean railway from Simferopol, dispatches said.

Another 4th Army force drove 25 miles through the southern Crimean hill country and captured the port of Alushta, 46 airline miles across the south end of the peninsula from Sevastopol, and only 16 miles northeast of the strongly fortified port of Yalta, the Russian communique said.

Force Cut Off

Seizure of Alushta cut off a German force retreating down the coastal road from Feodosiya to the northeast and closed the trap on the German and Romanian troops herded into the Sevastopol sector. The other end of the trap was anchored on the west coast 20 miles south of Yevpatoriya, dispatches reported.

Yugoslavs Kill 1,100 Germans

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — In widespread operations from Slovenia, south of Montengro, Partisan troops of Marshal Josip Bros (Tito) have killed more than 1,100 Germans and puppet troops, a communique broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio said last night.

The Partisans also repulsed a plane-supported Axis thrust from Jajce, Tito's former headquarters in central Bosnia, killing 252 enemy troops, wounding 117 and capturing 12, the bulletin reported.

Continuing their harassing offensive against Axis communications, and supply routes, Tito's forces were said to have cut the important railway line between Ljubljana, in northwestern Slovenia, and Trieste, across the Italian frontier. Ljubljana is 30 miles south of the Austrian border.

Battle for Balkans Next Phase of War

Basic Strategy Of Germans Calls For Holding Galati Pass Open

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The tense drama of the Red Army's cyclonic conquest of the Crimean peninsula—long Hitler's strategic shield for the powerful right flank of his now shattered fighting line in Russia—represents the final phase before the Battle of the Balkans bursts into full flame.

All lines of endeavor in this southern theatre, both of the Muscovites and of the retreating Hitlerites, lead directly to nature's gateway into the Balkan peninsula. That focal point is the 50-mile-wide Galati gap which lies between the towering Carpathians and the marshy estuary of the Danube on the Black Sea in Romania.

The basic strategy which the German command is trying to work out is fascinating. It's divided into two parts, like this:

First, the Nazis must keep the Galati gap open long enough so that those defeated and weary troops which escape from the Odessa trap by land, and from the Crimea by sea (if any), can pass through to safety for rest and reorganization. Secondly, having thus provided haven for these remnants of a once mighty fighting machine, Hitler must be prepared to fling a big army of fresh reserves into the gap to hold it closed against the pursuing Russians.

That will be one of the decisive engagements of the war.

The Nazis are fighting holding actions to delay the Red advance on Galati. Tactics may change rapidly as the Russian pressure increases, but at the moment the Germans are trying to hold a line running from the Carpathians in the Iasi sector eastward to the Tiraspol area on the Dnestr River (you need your maps here). This line, some 125 miles north of the Galati Gap, is delaying the Russian approach to the Gap from the north and is facilitating the withdrawal of the Nazi troops retreating from the Southern Ukraine into Romania.

There seems to be a temporary lull on the southern Polish front just north of the Balkan show. However, we may expect a resumption of the Red drive shortly in the sector just east of the German key position of Lwow. The capture of that railway junction will throw the way open for a fresh advance into Poland.

It also should permit of penetration into Czecho-Slovakia. This theatre in South Poland interlocks with the Romanian front.

German-Jew Takes 3 Nazis

Serves With Mixed Force In Italy

WITH THE 5TH ARMY ON THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, April 13. — (Delayed)—(CP Cable).—When Cpl. H. Monash of the Bronx, New York, who fights with the combined American-Canadian combat group, impersonated an officer he ended by capturing three Germans SS (Schutzstaffel) men who are the elite of the German war machine.

The story of his recent exploit was told me by Cpl. G. O. Comstock of Oakland, Calif.

"Monash is a German-Jewish refugee, 30 years old, who volunteers for every patrol," said Comstock. "On this particular night he was out himself when he saw three dim shapes ahead.

"He told them to come towards him. They didn't move so he snarled: 'Obey when an officer orders.' Sure enough they obeyed. Monash pointed a Tommy-gun at them and they were his."

I visited a forward detachment of a unit of this company, commanded by a former regimental sergeant-major of the Toronto Scottish regiment.

In the command post I met a number of Canadian non-commissioned officers who regularly lead patrols into enemy territory. They included Sgt. J. Pressel and Sgt. W. M. Porchak of Ingersoll, Ont., Sgt. G. P. Smith of St. Catharines, Ont., and Sgt. D. N Martin of Colborne, Ont.

Connally Wants Large Army

Strength Needed To Ensure Peace

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP).—Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the influential Foreign Relations committee, to-day added his voice to those of the State Deparment and the Selective Service administration with the assertion that the United States must maintain a strong post-war military force.

The State Department is reported to have decided to discard plans for international police and work instead on an arrangement for policing against aggressors of forces to be maintained by individual nations, and Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, in a speech reviewed and approved by the State Department, declared last week that the voice of the United States at the peace table will be heard only if it is backed up by men ready to fight.

Connally said regardless of whether the United States joins other countries in establishing an international agency to preserve peace, it must maintan a strong, independent post-war navy and air force.

Senator Connally said that it was his personal belief the proposed peace organization should follow the general outline of the League of Nations, except that it would be equipped to direct the use or force against aggressors.

Japs Abandon Bogadyim Near Madang

Seesaw Air Punches Litter Area With Enemy Wreckage

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 15—(AP)—The Allied push along the jungle and mountain-fringed coast of North New Guinea has forced the Japanese out of Bogadjim, 18 miles south of Madang.

The unopposed occupation Thursday of Bogadjim, on Astrolabe Day and linked with Madang by a fine highway, by Australian troops was announced today.

On the same day heavy bombers raked Wewak, 200 miles northwest along the coast, with 250 tons of bombs in another of those see-saw punches which have littered the shoreline for 500 miles between Madang and Hollandia with wrecked airfields and supplies.

Patrols of the Aussie force which overran Bogadjim, seizing abandoned equipment, now are probing enemy outposts south of Madang along the road that Chinese coolies were forced to build for Nippon's warriors when the enemy held hopes of converting the Ramu Valley into air bases.

Allied Units Meet

American forces advancing from Saidor on the coastal approach to Bogadjim joined the inland Aussies several days ago but there was no report that Americans had entered Bogadjim.

Wewak was hit by 1,000-pound bombs which wiped out 60 buildings, exploded two ammunition dumps, blasted gun positions and set fire to fuel stores. There was no mention of air opposition from Wewak's four airfields.

Four attacks Thursday on the Kurile Island chain northeast of Japan were reported in a Pearl Harbor announcement yesterday, making a total of 13 raids on the enemy's farthest north strongpoints in four successive days.

The Kuriles raids included blows on Paramushiro, Japanese Navy base, and Shaskiotan and Matsuwa Islands.

Ponape, enemy base 440 miles east of Truk in the Caroline Islands, and Ulul, Pakin and Kusaie Islands in the eastern part of the Caroline group, also were hit Thursday.

Another Pearl Harbor announcement yesterday told of an air attack on Truk Wednesday night in which the base suffered one of the heaviest aerial drubbings of the war. Five islands of the atoll were pounded. There was no air interception.

Scotch Comes High

LOS ANGELES, April 15—(AP).—Bidders set their own ceilings with no thought of the office of price administration when the collector of customs auctioned several cases of Scotch whisky for non-payment of taxes or duty. The first case went for $79.50. An army captain paid $97 for each of the next two, and $107 for the third.

8th Army Front Fairly Quiet

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, April 16 — (CP-Cable) — Hours-long German artillery fire along the Ortona-Orsagna road near the Adriatic sector of the 8th Army front and normal harassing fire from Canadian guns broke over the heads of Canadian infantrymen holding front-line positions or probing near those of the enemy Thursday night.

Guns and mortars sporadically and infrequently shelled the enemy lines.

During Thursday night an Ontario Regiment beat off enemy patrols and Westerners did the same to Germans who neared their positions early Friday morning, killing or wounding some of the enemy.

For the first time in a long while the troops are coming to appreciate the phrase Sunny Italy. Hardly a cloud has marred the sky for days and sun is warm and bright.

Boy Confesses Setting Fire

TILLAMOOK, ORE., April 15 — Officers said today 15-year-old Robert Earl Griffith had confessed setting a fire in which a brother and two sisters were burned to death at the family home near Roseburg, Oct. 5, 1942.

Sheriff Allen Birch and State Police Sgt. R. W. Raney said the boy told them he kindled the fire in the kitchen because he was angry at his stepfather, Richard Earl Moore, for sending him to bed.

The youth went back upstairs to bed and intended to be burned with the rest of the family, but fled down a stairway when smoke became unbearable, the officers said Griffith related.

Arrested Feb. 29 on an auto theft charge, the young lad pleaded guilty and was being held pending sentence.

Trapper Bailed For $500 On Assault Charge

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 (ENS)—Harry Dunsford, 27, of Seymour West, was bailed for $500 and released for trial at the General Sessions of the Peace in Cobourg. He appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., for a preliminary hearing on a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm here, Friday afternoon. What the Crown described as "serious injuries" to the plaintiff coupled with the fact that a title to land entered the question, causing the laying over of the trial.

Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, of Havelock, was the first witness called by Crown Attorney Deyman, and he told of having treated Clifford Chapman of Trent River, the plaintiff, at about 9 p.m. on the evening of April 10. He described Chapman's injuries as a badly swollen and broken nose, two blackened eyes, small lacerations on the nose and left thumb which was also swollen considerably. In addition were several scratches on the face.

Chapman, who gave his occupation as decorator and trapper, was the Crown's second witness, and appeared with a large bandage over the nose and bore out the doctor's description of his injuries. He stated he had first seen Dunsford at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of April 10 when he had been in friendly conversation with him. Later, at about 7 o'clock in the evening he (Chapman) had just completed inspection of his traps on a marsh which adjoined the Dunsford farm on the Trent River when he again saw Dunsford approaching in a canoe.

Blows Exchanged

In answer to questioning by the Crown, Chapman declared his traps were 200 yards from the main shore line from which it was separated by a "floating bog." Though it was possible to navigate this marsh land on foot the day he was there, in the Spring it was possible to paddle entirely around it, he said. As Dunsford approached he allegedly told Chapman that it was his property and that he (Chapman) had no right to set his traps there. Chapman told the court his reply had been he had trapped in that area for 16 years. It was at this stage that the altercation, of which Chapman bore such telling evidence, took place. Chapman based his claim that the property did not belong to Dunsford on the fact that two years ago Dunsford was hailed into Court for trapping without a license on this same Marsh and on that occasion the Court had ruled he was guilty of trapping on land other than that of his own farm.

Under cross examination by J. F. R. Douglas, who appeared for the accused, Chapman claimed that other trappers were trapping in the questioned area and he admitted having set "6 or 7 traps." Though he admitted carrying a pike pole, he denied having threatened Dunsford with it. Dunsford did not take the stand.

Invasion Scare Stirs Defenders

LONDON, April 16— (CP Cable) —The Daily Mail in a Madrid dispatch said to-day that a three-hour general invasion alert had sounded on Wednesday night along the Brittany coast of France.

"Coastal batteries over a stretch of miles blazed away while a number of armored units moved out of their encampments," the dispatch said.

European invasion rumors spread through North America Thursday night, stirred by three Ontario reports that a German radio station had broadcast about an Allied landing on the French coast. The reports, which said the landing force included a large body of Canadians, were quickly dispelled, however.

An authoritative sourse in London branded the broadcast "entirely untrue." The reports were attributed to a German propaganda broadcast describing how invasion forces might land.

Recent Bride Guest At Shower

MILLBROOK, April 15 (ENS)—Mrs. H. D. Bigelow and the Misses Eleanor Bigelow, of Toronto, and Bernice Smith, of Omemee, were hostesses for a linen shower on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Reeve Harold Bigelow, in honor of a bride of recent date, Mrs. Reginald R. Edmunds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. McDowell, of Millbrook.

As the guest of honor entered the living-room, Barbara Argue played the wedding march, the younger hostesses conducting her to a specially decorated chair under a large white wedding bell which centred the archway, and from which were twined streamers of pink and white. Guests read verses, and presented cards, done in pink and white, with silver wedding bells, to the guest of the evening.

The shower was arranged on a line, strung across the living-room, each tiny clothes pin having a pink bow at its top. The lovely gifts, including linen tea towels, lunch sets, vanity sets, dainty aprons, and other articles, which were passed around.

Tea was served from the lace-covered table in the adjoining dining-room, being centred with a silver basket of pussy willows, and carrying out the prevailing color scheme of pink and white. Mrs. F. J. Smith assisted the younger hostesses and Mrs. Bigelow in the service of the meal, the bride's mother, Mrs. M. McDowell, being among the more than twenty guests present for the occasion.

The bride and groom left on Friday for his training centre in Quebec province. A closing item for the tea on Wednesday was a square wedding cake, with "Best wishes to Marjorie" outlined in pink on the white icing, the gift of Bobbie Bigelow, elder son of the senior hostess.

Jolliffe Calm, Precise As A Speaker

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP). — Ottawa this week turned an experienced and speculative eye on a couple of young fellows in their 30's— Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta and Ed Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. Leader.

Both have been in the news—Mr. Manning as a leading Social Credit spokesman at the national convention in Toronto which formed the Social Credit Association of Canada, and Mr. Jolliffe at the first Ontario C.C.F. section convention also in Toronto, since this Party captured 34 provincial seats in the election in August.

Both are youthful as political leaders go, but there the resemblance ends.

Mr. Manning, who still preaches at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute founded by the late Premier William Aberhart, has a touch of the evangelist in speaking of Social Credit. He gestures, thumps his desk, raises his voice, and chortles over some joke he repeats at the appropriate time.

Mr. Jolliffe is calm, precise and unhurried. He makes no emotional appeal, and, like the lawyer he is, likes to collect formidable arrays of facts in his speeches.

Another contrast: The C.C.F members in convention call each other "comrade," and then sing "God Save the King" loud enough to make the convention hall shake. The Social Crediters don't give each other titles, but talk of being members of a brotherhood to tear out the tentacles of high finance. T too, like singing the National Anthem.

Linguists: Hon. Solon Low of Edmonton, elected National Social Credit Leader last week, made a deft speech in French. Mr. Jolliffe also in the conventin spirit, did the same at the C.C.F. Ontario meeting.

Speakers: Talking of language, Speaker J. A. Glen in the Commons says "Carried—Adopte" when some measure is approved. In the Senate, Speaker Thomas Vien says "Adopte—Carried."

Which brings to mind the stalwart Ontario member of long ago who said he didn't mind English or French, but "I can't stand this bilingualism."

And, further, the stumbling House official who was supposed to say a few words in French after some ceremony, forgot at the last minute, and came through nobly but ineffectively with:

"Honi soit qui mal y pense."

Pronunciation puzzle: Col. J. J. Astor, British member of Parliament and publisher of the London Times, on a visit to Ottawa brought with him some stories illustrating the complications resulting from wartime readjustments in the life of the British people.

One that got a particularly good reception was of the early days of evacuation when Chichester was awaiting 40 expectant mothers and received instead 40 mental defectives who should have gone to Cirencester.

"Foreigners always say our spelling and pronunciation are confusing,' said Col. Astor.

14-Year-Olds Up For Theft

LINDSAY, April 15 (ENS)—Two boys, 14 years of age, hailing from London, Ont., were apprehended by the police here and charged with theft before Magistrate Gee in the juvenile court.

John Maiers, a farmer at Dunsford, stated that one of the lads purloined a rifle, a half dozen bullets and 76 cents from his home while he and Mrs. Maiers were in the village. He gave the boy an excellent character reference otherwise.

The second youth, who was employed at the farm of William Thompson, at Woodville, had a holiday. He carried away an air-rifle and a $10 bill, walked to Woodville, hitch-hiked to the village of Cannington, spent the night in a cement tile factory, entrained for the town of Beaverton, met in with another lad, bought himself trousers, boots and stockings, bought two tickets for the picture show and the bus for Orillia. Having no place to sleep the two boys parked themselves in a car and were discovered by the police next morning sound asleep. They had 21 cents left.

Both boys were returned to the Boys Training School at Bowmanville, after pleading guilty to theft.

Shipping Men Forecast Boom Season

By The Canadian Press

Shipping men today looked for one of the busiest navigation seasons in Great Lakes history, traffic already approaching mid-season tempo with giant freighters busy carrying vast cargoes of iron ore and wheat from Lake Superior ports to feed the great steel furnaces and war workers of the industrial east.

More than 100 carriers already have headed through the opening smashed in the last major ice barrier on the Upper Lakes—Whitefish Bay at the lower end of Lake Superior— and some have already started their downward journeys with their war-vital cargoes.

Officials at Windsor and Detroit estimate that a record total of more than 165,000,000 tons of cargo will be carried through the Detroit river this season. They look for 90,000,000 tons of iron ore, 50,000,000 tons of coal, 18,000,000 tons of limestone and 25,000,000 bushels of grain as well as package and other freight.

At Sault Ste. Marie where the world's busiest canal carries traffic past the whitecapped St. Mary's river rapids, shipping men predict a season fully as busy as in 1943 when locks on both the United States and Canadian sides of the river handled an unannounced amount of traffic which has been estimated at 100,000,000 tons. Censorship has prevented publication of the exact figures.

Elevators Bulging

The huge grain elevators at the Lakehead cities of Port Arthur and Fort William—which were practically empty at the close of the 1943 shipping season—now are bulging with 65,000,000 bushels of grain from the prairies and it is expected that all this and more will be carried to lower lake ports.

At Port Colborne, shipping men anticipated that most Canadian freighters will carry grain for the first 30 days of the season although an early demand for iron ore and coal cargoes is anticipated. Some of the Port Colborne winter fleet

Salvage Collection Brings $47 To I.O.D.E.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — (ENS). — That considerable success had attended the collection of salvage here on March 27 was revealed in a report by the salvage convener, Mrs. A. D. Bennett, at the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter on Thursday evening. In a report to members, Mrs. Bennett reported approximately six tons of paper and cardboard had been picked up and sold at a profit of about $47. With regard to the next collection, to be made on April 24, she pointed out that it was essential that newspaper, wrapping paper and cardboard each be bundled separately.

For the birthday bingo which the Chapter plans to hold at the Masonic Temple on April 26, the Regent, Miss Eleanor Ferris, revealed that some twelve prizes had been donated and that further contributions would be welcomed. Arrangements for the bingo were left with a committee comprising Mrs. S. A. Anderson, Mrs. J. M. Ferris, Mrs J. D. McEachern, Mrs. William Nelson, Mrs. Edison Wynn, Mrs. George Free. The committee decided that two quilts and a knitted rug would form three special prizes.

At the request of the Regent a number of members volunteered their assistance in cutting cotton linings from Cadet uniforms recently turned over to the Chapter from the High School as salvage to be made into blankets. A number of letters of thanks from members of the armed services for Christmas parcels were read.

Priests Turn On Pupil Paul When He Becomes Christian

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 16 is Acts 9:19-30; 11;19-26, the Golden Text being Romans 1:16, "I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.")

◇ ◇ ◇

AFTER SAUL had received his sight from Ananias, he ate, and gained his strength. He stayed with the disciples for several days after this, and then went to the synagogue to preach. How amazed the people must have been to hear this Saul preach the Christ. He who had come to the city to capture the Christians and take them—men and women alike—back to Jerusalem to be tried and probably put to death.

"Is not this he that destroyed them which called on this name in Jerusalem and came hither for that intent, that he might bring them bound unto the chief priests?" they asked one another.

"But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damascus, proving that this is very Christ."

Saul was a well educated and very able man. He was unusually well versed in the Old Testament and trained to argue. He was a very great addition to the group of disciples, as he was a man well used to meeting all sorts of people, especially those who were highly educated. He was able to answer their questions and disprove their arguments better than less well-trained men.

Rulers Are Enraged

Of course, as was to be expected, the rulers and high priests of the synagogue were enraged that this one of their number had turned traitor to them. They sought to kill him, lying in wait at the city gates day and night to take his life. Knowing this, the disciples found a way to get him out of the city. They took him by night, and let him down by the wall in a great basket.

Getting to Jerusalem, Saul sought the disciples there, but they were afraid of him. They did not know that his conversion was sincere, and they doubted it.

Barnabas, however, believed in him and took him to the apostles, telling them how Paul had seen the Lord on the way, and how Jesus had spoken to him; also how Paul had preached in Damascus.

So Paul was accepted and "spake out boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus, and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him."

When the brethren knew of this, added unto the Lord" while he was sent him to his old home, Tarsus.

Barnabas, by the way, is one of the most lovable men of the early Christian church. He is first mentioned at the end of the fourth chapter of Acts, where it is told that he sold some land and laid the money at the apostles' feet. He was a man of wealth and character, and it meant everything to Saul to have him sponsor him.

Apostles Go to Far Cities

Our story now goes back to the dispersion of the disciples after the martyrdom of Stephen. Some traveled as far as Phenice, Cyprus and Antioch. The latter city was a very important one, the third city in the world of the first century. There were two Antiochs, one in Pisidia, Asia Minor, which Paul had visited on his first missionary journey and which is described in Acts 13, and this one which was located far north in Syria, on the Orontes river. Antioch not only was a very important city, but it was considered a very rich, wicked and luxurious place.

The preaching of these disciples was successful—the "hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord."

When these tidings reached those in Jerusalem, they sent Barnabas to Antioch, because he was a kindly, tactful man who would further the work that had been begun there.

When Barnabas arrived in Antioch and saw the work that had been done he was glad, "and exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would cleave unto the Lord." And "much people was addel unto the Lord" while he was there. However, he felt another man was needed, so he went to Tarsus to seek Paul.

"And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to pass, that a whole year they assembled themselves with the church, and taught much people. And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch."

Possibly, indeed some think surely, the name Christian was first applied to the followers of Jesus in mockery. But here in Antioch it was given them because they saw these people had been with Christ in spirit, if not in actuality, and had learned of Him. They talked Christ, lived for Him, worked for Him.

Christianity World-wide Missionary Society Told

HAVELOCK, April 15 (ENS) — An Easter program was carried out by the members of the Women's Missionary Society of the United church at the home of Mrs. Edward Fennell, on Thursday afternoon.

The theme was "Christ is Risen, the Church is Born." Mrs. Herbert Williams read the scripture lesson, dealing with the resurrection as found in the gospel of Luke, and Mrs. T. Easterbrook read the passage from Acts relating to the Church is Born. Mrs. Samuel Southward sang a solo, "Jesus, Stand Among Us." Articles for the bale, consisting of new and used clothing, are to be left at the home of the president and forwarded before the end of May. The Easter thankoffering service will be held Sunday evening, April 23, when a set of slides will be shown, dealing with the ministry of healing, through the W.M.S. across Canada.

The temperance secretary, Miss Annie Young, read two articles, "Open the Flood Gates" and "The Pew Speaks Out."

The study lesson "They Found the Christ There," told of a great many places around the world, where people with strange languages, strange customs, strange costumes and strange religions exist, but always there were a few Christians, too. The Allied and American forces have been sent to islands scattered throughout the Atlantic, Pacific, Arctic and Antarctic oceans, it was said, but in every case, they found the Christian religion already there. The islands were pointed out on a globe by Mrs. C. Price. Other stories from foreign lands were read by Mrs. C. Spencer, Mrs. S. A. Kemp, Mrs. E. Fennell, Mrs. Edith Gall, Mrs. H. Hoard and Mrs. J. Cochrone.

God's Character Vindicated In Resurrection of Christ

REV. E. R. JAMES.

God raised His Son, even Jesus, from the dead.—I. Thess. 1, 10.

It is important to remember that this is the earliest account in Christian literature of the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

These Epistles to Thessalonians were written by Paul to the first generation of Christians. These Christians were expecting the immediate second coming of the Lord and they held the resurrection as a fundamental truth. They had no doubts that He had risen from the dead. "Christ is risen indeed" was their creed.

The Gospels were written very much later for the second generation of Christians who desired to know the facts of our Lord's life, death, resurrection and ascension. "Forasmuch as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us" is St. Luke's introduction to his Gospel.

It is helpful to keep in mind that during these twenty years after the death of Our Lord, St. Paul, a man of the highest intellectual and spiritual ability, went up and down the Roman Empire preaching the Gospel of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus. "Jesus and the resurrection" was his text and the central thought of his teaching.

Our Lord's death on the cross was a fearful blow to the Apostles. Naturally the rulers of the Jews believed when the Shepherd was smitten the sheep would be scattered. The Apostles had been with him for nearly three years. They had been fascinated by His Personality and they slowly and surely began to give Him the value of God, as Bishop Gore reminds us. They could not have defined it in so many words.

Their Master, Teacher and Rabbi is dead on the cross. As Jews they had been saturated from childhood with the hope of the political Empire of the Jews—the Kingdom. When our Lord went up and down the land crying: "Repent, for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand," they naturally placed the temporal kingdom as the hope of their nation. Even after His resurrection we find this is the uppermost thought: "Wilt Thou, Lord, at this time, restore again the Kingdom to Israel?"

The Jewish authorities recognized the political danger of such a rising against Rome: "If we let Him alone all men will believe on Him and the Romans shall come and take away our place and nation." St. John 11, 48. It is easy to recognize the pressure the chief priests brought upon Pilate when they warned him: "If thou let this Man go thou art not Caesar's friend. Whosoever maketh himself a King speaketh against Caesar." St. John 19, 12. So they crucified Him on Good Friday. His death spelled complete failure to the political hopes.

A more terrible blow fell upon the Apostles. It was a blow which shocked their mental and spiritual ideals. They knew that He put His whole trust and confidence in God. Both friend and foe recognized this "He trusted in God." Would God now deliver Him? They had received from Him a new revelation of the character of Jehovah—that He is merciful and tender-hearted — an ideal which was quite new to them.

Yet to their horror the pure and sinless One went to His death on the cross. He went down into the very depths of darkness when He cried with His dying breath: "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" There was no answer from God. He died commending His Spirit into the hands of a merciful Father.

The purest of Men had gone down to defeat, trusting in God Imagine those two nights and day of mental and spiritual horror as the quiet hours of the Sabbath slowly passed. "Does God care?" is the burning question in their minds. Then on the first day of the week God raised Him from the dead, even Jesus. God's character is cleared, vindicated.

It uplifts us to remember that through all the torture of the Lord's passion God Himself was suffering, and caring and loving. He is God. He is also Man. God became Man in Christ Jesus. God desired to suffer and sympathize with man in every way.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Saul's Early Preaching — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 9:19b-30; 11:19-26

After Saul received his sight after his vision of Jesus and had eaten, he was strengthened, and for certain days he stayed with the disciples in Damascus.

When he had preached in the synagogue, all that heard him were amazed, and asked one another if he was not the man who had persecuted Christians.

The Jews sought to kill Paul, but his friends helped him away to Jerusalem, but when he would have joined the disciples they were afraid of him.

Barnabas took Paul to the apostles, telling how he had seen Jesus, had spoken to Him and had preached boldly.

Educational Problems Of Ontario

After four days of strenuous debate and keen discussion the educational leaders of Ontario have through the Ontario Educational Association passed on to the Department of Education a number of resolutions which it is hoped will do much to provide a more adequate education for the youth of this Province.

◆ ◆ ◆

The new course in religious education came in for more discussion than any other topic on the agenda in all sections of the O.E.A. The plan as announced by Dr. J. C. Althouse, Provincial Director of Education, calls for two periods of instruction each week; and while he has promised that very little will be left to the individual teacher in handling the religious courses, many teachers and trustees feel that the course had been rushed into the school curriculum. The necessary manuals and text books are not yet available and few teachers are prepared to teach the course. Bible study should be of a great moral benefit to the children but to be given this benefit more than a few weeks will be required by teachers to prepare the course.

• • •

Great restrictions are going to be placed on the teacher. Apparently the department fears that there may be creeping into the course of a spirit of denominationalism. For our part we think that this can hardly be helped. Canadian history teachers, especially those of the senior classes in many of our collegiates, have always found it difficult to keep a political bias from creeping into class discussions, and for the most part the students usually knew the political faith of the teacher. This did not hurt the students and we do not believe that if a little of John Knox or Wesley or Whitfield slips in it will affect the pupils. There will be no need of it becoming controversal or a moral issue.

• • •

Schools all over the Province are now more aware of the need of proper sex education but here again our educational leaders are as far apart as the poles. Some maintained that this subject should be taught by the regular teachers while others hold that the department should provide a kind of a "flying squad" whose duty it would be to visit the schools every year and give a course in sex education. Schools of the urban areas should be able to look after the teaching of this subject by their own staffs but it is highly probable that in many High Schools and Continuation Schools outside assistance would have to be supplied.

• • •

Creation of a Federal Bureau of Education was a live subject. This bureau would set minimum standards of education on a national scale in order to create a greater uniformity of Canada's educational system in the interests of national unity. Educational leaders feel that there is a danger of Canada becoming a collection of isolated, independent provinces, suspicious of each other, and if democracy is to function we must develop a sense of Canadian unity. The Fathers of Confederation placed education under the provinces but the proposal of a Federal Bureau should go part of the way in solving some of these problems.

At present there is much overlapping of authority between Department of Education and local municipal bodies. Municipal boards feel that they are becoming more and more rubber stamps for the Department, a condition much to be deplored in any educational system. Some local authorities suspect that the "controllers" have already moved right into the education department. This is resulting in good men and women refusing to sit on these municipal boards.

Much is expected from the survey being made in education in Ontario and unless this is complete and thorough many of the problems now facing our system are not going to be solved.

A man in South Bend, Indiana, says that he has lived to be 100 by dodging hard work. From our experience of life, we would say that this exercise kept him pretty supple.

Who Was Sherlock Holmes?

There are many people to whom the adventures of Sherlock Holmes are a cult, a never-failing subject for contemplation and admiration. They know the stories inside out and backwards. They know exactly where Dr. Watson was wounded; they know the colour of his wife's hair; they know the amount of cocaine which Holmes was wont to take at a dose; they know what compositions Holmes used to play on the violin; they know where Holmes bought the false whiskers which he used so skilfully in his disguises; they know the make of carpet from which his carpet-slippers were fashioned; they know where he bought his magnifying lenses and those curious fore-and-aft caps which he wore when he was at work on a case. But there is one thing which they do not know: they don't know who the prototype of Sherlock Holmes was.

This knotty problem has been revived this year because it is just fifty years since Holmes returned from an encounter with his deadly enemy, Professor Moriarty, in which Holmes was thought to have been killed. The book-market has been flooded with new editions of the Holmes stories, and books of commentary on them by enthusiasts. But who was Holmes?

Conan Doyle himself was content to let it be thought that he derived some aspects of Holmes' character — and particularly his uncanny powers of deduction—from Dr. Joseph Bell of Edinburgh, a physician under whom he had studied. But now the author's son, Mr. Adrian Conan Doyle, asserts that his father was Sherlock Holmes, and that he himself possessed the deductive powers which he attributed to the great detective. Furthermore, he says that his father often helped the police in solving crimes by using the methods of Sherlock Holmes!

We would like to believe this. But frankly we think that the Holmes method of deduction works better between the covers of a book than anywhere else. It may have been that Holmes added remarkable powers of intuition to his powers of observation; otherwise he would have made glaring mistakes. For if you will attempt to apply Holmes' methods — which he so often assured Watson were 'elementary' — to almost any problem which confronts you in daily life, you will find that the margin for error is appallingly wide and comprehensive. Holmes, we feel, is better when he is not too closely investigated; like many a great character in fiction, he is not improved when he is picked to pieces, and subjected to tests of reality.

Compulsory Cadet Training

It has now been decided to make cadet training compulsory in Ontario schools, in order that every boy may learn the elementary duties and skills of a soldier. We wonder how this is going to affect the Sea Cadets and the Air Cadets, two organizations which have flourishing branches in this city; the Sea Cadets have been encouraged and fostered by the Kiwanis Club, and the Air Cadets by the Rotary Club. The boys in these cadet organizations spend four hours a week in training; will they also be expected to spend two hours a week drilling with the school cadet corps, which is presumably an Army offshoot?

The object of cadet drill, we assume, is to give the boys a grounding of discipline and a certain amount of useful knowledge which would hasten their training if they were needed in the armed services. The Sea Cadets and the Air Cadets give discipline and training on Navy and Air Force lines. What is more, the boys have chosen to join these groups themselves, presumably because they feel drawn either to navy life or to flying.

As we understand the matter, it has not yet been made perfectly clear how the Sea and Air Cadets will stand in relation to the school cadet corps. We hope, however, that all three corps will be put on an equal footing and that membership in any one of them will be considered a sufficient training. It would clearly be unjust if boys who had chosen to join the Sea or Air cadets were compelled to join an Army cadet corps also.

NOTE AND COMMENT

This year the early bird catches, not the worm, but cold feet.

Now and again we see a connection between the red face and the black market.

Nothing will crush your laurels so quickly as resting on them.

Says the Brockville Recorder: "Clean-cut young Canadians back from overseas service ought to be distinctly preferable to movie 'queens' with tarnished reputations as Victory Loan campaign drawing cards". Which shows a pleasing optimism, but a faulty understanding of human nature.

Diary Of Winter's End

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Listened for a time this evening to Jack Benny and Fred Allen, the celebrated radio wags. Said A. to B. "Jack, do you file your nails?" to which B. rejoined, "No, I just cut 'em off and throw 'em away." This seemed to reduce the studio audience to howls of laughter, but I thought to myself, if I were to make such a silly joke, people would treat me as a nuisance. If you want to be known as a funny-man, you do well to establish your reputation firmly, and then anything you care to say will bring a laugh. As Jack Point put it: "An acknowledged wit hath but to say 'Pass the mustard' and they split their sides with laughing"....Tonight a lady complained to me of the shortage of sitters, or baby-minders, those responsible girls who will stay with children while their parents go out at night. I have often thought that there was a fortune in the baby-minder racket, if I only had time to organize it. A central agency is needed, which would send out good girls as required. The agency takes a third of the girl's earnings. Anyone who profits by this idea may acknowledge their debt to me by a suitable money gift.

MONDAY: Re-read some portions of "Oliver Twist" today, after not having looked at the book for many years. It is an astonishingly brutal work. I wonder how people can possibly condemn Dickens as a sentimentalist; there is power and starkness in this book which He-Man Hemingway could never equal. Of course there is some sentimental muck also, but not enough to spoil the sweep and drive of the story. Detractors of Dickens too often forget that the Russian novelists learned almost everything they knew about terror and brooding menace from him; Tolstoy used to read Dickens aloud to his children, constantly interjecting cries of delight and envy. The figures in Dickens whom shallow critics dismiss as caricatures are very often carefully drawn portrait of neurotics. And as for guts—to use the word which Mr. Churchill has brought back into literary English — Dickens makes the moderns look like filletted herrings.

TUESDAY: A report in the paper tells me that two wretched old fortune-tellers in England have been condemned at Old Bailey on witchcraft charges. One Canadian paper seizes the chance to say that superstition is dying. What a laugh! Superstition is blazing away with all its guns today, just as it has been doing since the dawn of time. Superstition changes its dress, but not its substance, and the worst superstitions are rarely branded as such. We are apt to forget that the people who burned witches were the sober, scientific citizens of their day, and could prove that they were right in a hundred perfectly satisfactory ways.

◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: The stores are beginning to show packages of seeds for those enthusiasts who plant their vegetables indoors, and then put them out when the time is ripe. I have always intended to keep a careful account of my garden some year to discover whether it costs me more than it would if I bought my vegetables in a store. If I reckoned in my labour it most certainly would....A man confided to me today that his secret dream was to own a motor-bike. This was a horrible revelation, for he seemed a reserved and amiable fellow; but apparently he yearns to plunge through the country, slaying dogs and hens, with a fixed grin on his face, and leaving a vile stink in his wake. What wild passions seethe in outwardly calm breasts....The yearly performance of Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" took place in Toronto last night; this is probably the peak of Canada's musical year, and it is a pity that so few people can hear it. I have never been able to discover why more of it is not broadcast.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: Was looking through some old newspapers today of the 1910-14 period. How indelicate the advertisements were! We should blush to see some of them in print today. And that was supposed to be an era of reticence and refinement, too....I see that Russia is moving more and more toward the Right in her economic thinking. If the C.C.F. should come to power here all the capitalists will have to seize their jewels and flee to Russia; it is the only safe place for a man with monetary ambitions nowadays....This evening heard the broadcast of Dorothy Sayers' "The Man Born To Be King," a dramatization of the life of Christ, recorded by the BBC and shipped out here. It was very good, and had a splendid variety of voices. But the Daughters of Jerusalem, for my taste, sounded a little too much like the Daughters of Kensington.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRIDAY: Lay in bed this morning and looked at the ceiling. G. K. Chesterton always wanted to paint ceiling with immensely long brushes while in bed; I do not, for I cannot paint, but I should like to be able to buy suitable paintings in strips, like wall-paper, and have them on my ceilings....Speaking of home-arts, like ceiling-painting, I read recently about a man whose hobby it was to make furniture out of the horns of cattle. Chairs, sofas and tables he made, and put them in his drawing-room; they were the ugliest things you could imagine. ....I have a desperate, fag-end of the winter feeling, as though I might not live to see the spring; I will though; I always do....A man complained to me today about the difficulty of getting good cutlery since the outbreak of war; in his kitchen they are reduced to one broken paring-knife.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: The opera this afternoon was "Tosca," and I did not hear it, because every three minutes or so there was a blast of static which lifted me out of my chair. So I sat for a while, plotting ways of making my stock of coal (about one thirtysecond of a ton) last until the warm weather. These are the problems which age a man. Not loss of money, nor unfaithfulness of consort, nor disappointment in a beloved child can shrivel the flesh and turn the chestnut mane to straggling, snowy locks. But yearly grappling with coal, and fretting about bills brings us to the graveside and finally pushes us in.

RECEIVED HIS MEDICINE

A fellow drew a lucky elephant in a sweepstake. He had three wishes, so he rubbed the elephant once and asked for a thousand pounds. The money dropped right into his hand.

He rubbed it again and asked for something that money cannot buy — a crate of bananas. They duly appeared.

Then he thought he had better ask for something that would benefit the whole of humanity, so he said: "I'd like to kill Hitler."

Next day he got his calling-up papers.

"GROUND CREW"

Mr. Coldwell Missed the Point

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

IN a letter to The Journal (published on this page yesterday) M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, objected to an editorial in which we criticized a C.C.F. advertisement depicting capitalists in silk hats throwing mud at the C.C.F. party. He said:

"The advertisement....was designed to warn the public against deliberate attempts to smear the C.C.F. with such contemptible epithets as 'National Socialist' and so on. That this campaign against us has been financed by certain big business executives is beyond dispute."

The C.C.F. advertisement implied much more than that. It sought to give the impression, and none too subtly, that the C.C.F., on the march for the common people, was being attacked chiefly or solely by "capitalists," by rich, silk-hatted monopolists who, desperate to retain their privileges, were bespattering the movement with "mud." In other words, the advertisement said: We are the people; all who attack us are against the people.

Now Mr. Coldwell, who has a keen intelligence, plus the sense of humour which tells a sense of proportion, knows better than that. He knows that the C.C.F. is opposed by millions of Canadians who are not "capitalists" in the sense that the C.C.F. speaks of capitalism; that their number includes workers and farmers and small business people—the sort of people who hold among them some $5,000,000,000 worth of life insurance, and who own their own homes and farms, or who through toil and thrift have built up a backlog of some kind for themselves or their families.

These people, and understandably, are doubtful, if not fearful, of some C.C.F. policies; policies which, in their philosophy and aim, would uproot private initiative and enterprise and substitute for it ownership and control by a bureaucratic State. They have, as a consequence, and completely within their rights as citizens, tended to examine and to criticize the C.C.F. aim. For the C.C.F. to attempt distortion of this into a picture of capitalists throwing mud at it is to resort to poor sportsmanship, to say the least.

Mr. Coldwell writes of "attempts to smear the C.C.F. with such contemptible epithets as 'National Socialist'." We hope he remembers that The Journal, only a few months ago, condemned such tactics. We said then, and we repeat now, that anybody or any party applying the label "National Socialist" to the C.C.F. in attempt to imply that it had some tie-up with Hitler's National Socialism was playing a poor game; though we added, as we add now, that C.C.F. policies do lead logically to what is the essence of Hitler's National Socialism, namely, complete compulsion by the State.

To conclude: It will be better for the C.C.F., and better for all our parties, if at this time and in days ahead, they seek to avoid this business of name-calling, or the assumption that all the angels are on one side, all the devils on the other. This country, in its democratic and political life, needs discussion and debate, can be vigorous in its blessed heritage of speech, but it stands to gain nothing at all by one section of its people abusing another section, nor by the incitement of one class against another, nor by hateful practices of name-calling and suspicion. Honest differences of opinion provide no cause for hatred; and if this war has taught one lesson more than another it is the need among men of decency and fraternity and fair dealing. These things are possible under fair political debate—the sort of debate, incidentally, which was in the C.C.F. second advertisement (appearing in The Journal yesterday) discussing ends to which all of our parties aspire.

Much Ado About Little

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

AUSTRALIA'S decision, under stress of circumstances, to release 90,000 men from the army to industry, has aroused an "outcry" in Washington. We do not believe that this "outcry" will last long or that it will have serious or lasting ill-effects on the relations between the United States and her British allies.

In the first place, Australia stands high in the regard of Americans. Her prodigious emergency mobilization under the threat of the Japanese invasion aroused the admiration of the United States, which likes to think that Australia has some of her own characteristics. The Australian fighting man has done enough in this war to quash any thought that he is pulling out of it, and there are not many Americans who will believe it. The fact is, Australia has gone into the business of supply for the mighty American forces in the Southwest Pacific, and if she fell down on that supply job the "outcry" in Washington would be just as loud.

Secondly, we should never forget who is making the "outcry." There is a great body of opposition opinion in the United States that will seize on every opportunity such as this. They believe that the American army is already too large, that America has done enough in the European theatre, that lend-lease is draining the United States of its resources, that the country will get nothing in return, and they deplore what they think is the tendency of the present administration to hand over to the British, or to the Russians as the case may be, whatever is asked for in the way of men, or supplies, or weapons.

For these elements, this Australian decision to return men to industry was made to order. They will use it to belabour the administration, to demand another accounting of lend-lease, to call for a halt in the draft, and for every other political purpose that suits their tastes. The isolationist and anti-British press will light on it with whoops of joy, and the incident will be portrayed as showing the perfidy of America's allies.

Let us not be discouraged. Australia still has friends in the United States, millions of them. Next week, no doubt, there will be another international incident for the professional haters to sharpen their teeth on.

Judges and Their Salaries

Apropos of a proposal in Parliament to retire high court judges at the age of 70, a number of newspapers have been pointing out that if this is done it should be preceded or accompanied by steps to make it possible for judges to retire at 70. To retire, that is, in dignity and decency.

Under the existing scale of judges' salaries, plus the income tax, that is not possible. Judges' salaries in this country are not only too low; they are the lowest in the English-speaking world. The chief justice of a province in Canada receives $10,000 a year. A judge in a comparable appointment in England gets $30,000 with $18,750 pension after 15 years of service; in Scotland, $18,000; in Eire, $15,000; in Northern Ireland, $20,000; in Australia, $13,000 to $15,000, and in a typical state of the United States, $22,500.

Why should we in Canada be so niggardly? Surely if we are to recruit to the bench men of ability, ensuring at the same time that they are financially independent while administering justice, we should do more. Also, if we are to retire judges at 70, shouldn't we see to it that while on the bench they are able to lay aside something for their retirement? One reason why judges want to stay on the bench after they are 70 is that they can't afford to get off the bench. Also, one reason why it is so hard to get men of outstanding legal ability to go on the bench is that they know they can't afford it.

It is a situation this country can't afford to have continue.—Ottawa Journal.

Bug or Boog?

Letter to New York Times

Sir,—Apparently British radio announcers have been experiencing difficulties with the pronunciation of the River Bug. Major George Cornwallis-West, according to a copy of the Daily Telegraph received today by air-mail, has provided readers of that newspaper with the following handy guide:

"Do I call it the Bug or the Boog?
Is Hitler a Thug or a Thoog?
Once I borrowed a tenner
From a man in Vienna.
Do I call him a Mug or a Moog?"

A Bible Message

O Lord, righteousness belongeth unto thee, but unto us confusion of faces, as at this day; to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and unto all Israel, that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries whither thou hast driven them, because of their trespass that they have trespassed against thee.

O Lord, to us belongeth confusion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against thee.... Neither have we obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his laws, which he set before us by his servants the prophets....

As it is written in the law of Moses, all this evil is come upon us: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and understand thy truth. (Dan. 9: 7, 8, 10, 13.)

For God speaketh once, yea twice, yet man perceiveth it not.... Yea, his soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers.

If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto man his uprightness: then he is gracious unto him, and saith, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ransom.

His flesh shall be fresher than a child's: he shall return to the days of his youth: he shall pray unto God, and he will be favourable unto him: and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render unto man his righteousness. (Job 33: 14, 22-26.)

Letter To The Editor

VOTES FOR ALL RESIDENTS

Sir,—A short time ago your paper reported that the City Council had discussed a suggestion from another city that all adults be given a vote in municipal elections. There are many residents of this city who are boarding or rooming and who are very much interested in this matter. We feel we have a stake in Peterborough and we are concerned about civic affairs. Why should we not have the opportunity to make our voices heard by the usual method of a democratic country—the ballot? There are other Canadian cities where all adults have a vote. Why not Peterborough?

It would be unwise, perhaps, to have a large vote cast by a transient group who have no real interest in the city. This problem could be easily overcome, however, by a clause insisting on one or two years' residence.

Those who dislike change of any sort will immediately raise the cry that the boarding population of the city, composed as it is mainly of young people, would have no interest even in using their vote. Let these critics consider the percentage of votes cast by the home owners and tenants in the last few elections. The young people should at least be given an incentive for acquiring an interest in and a knowledge about the government of their city.

It would seem to me that a civic election is the proper place for young people to learn the value of the franchise and how to exercise it. As the city by-laws stand, however, many people have no opportunity to vote until a provincial or federal election takes place which may not be until they are 23 or 24. Coming of age does not give them any tangible civic responsibilities. If our more able and energetic citizens would see that all adults have the same privileges as far as voting goes and then stir up a real interest in the civic campaigns, they would be doing a great service to the young citizens of Peterborough and Canada. We are interested in our city and we want a voice in its affairs.

Let other non-voters express their views on this subject as this is the only way in which any change will take place.—Yours truly,

BOARDER.

Unconsidered Trifles

Last night I met a chap with a black eye, so I said, "That's a beauty! Who gave it to you?"

"Nobody gave it to me," he said. "I had to fight for it."

In the ironmonger's shop Tomkins noticed a shilling lying on the floor. Glancing around cautiously, to see that no one was looking, he dropped his glove on top of it, stooped casually and tried to pick them up together, but in vain. Even at the third attempt he failed to get the shilling. Then the ironmonger appeared.

"Ah, good morning, sir," he beamed. "Allow me to introduce to you my special brand of glue. I believe you are already acquainted with its marvellous sticking powers."

Lottery Tickets Bring $500 Fine

OTTAWA, April 15 (CP)—Ernest Girouard, 48, Ottawa, today was fined $500 and costs or six months in jail when convicted on a charge of assisting and aiding in the sale of lottery tickets based on play-off games of the National Hockey League.

Girouard, described by police as the Ottawa agent for a lottery known as the "world's hockey series," paid the fine.

Police witnesses told court the lottery tickets sold for 25 cents each and that as a result of investigation a box was found containing 10 winning tickets and two money orders, valued at $180.

The box, produced as evidence, was addressed to G. Bishop, Montreal, which police said they believed was a fictitious name. Police added that apparently the prizes were distributed from a central office in Montreal and the two money orders comprised the monies received from the sale of tickets in Ottawa.

Exceeds War Toll

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP). — Accidents on the United States home front are killing and injuring many more persons than the war, Business Week reports in its current issue. Industrial accidents, the magazine says, killed 7,500 more Americans in the period from the United States entry into the war in December, 1941, to January of this year than died in the war. Permanently and temporarily disabled industrial workers outnumbered war casualties 60 to 1.

Groups Oppose Sunday Pleasure

TORONTO, April 15—(CP)—A statement issued yesterday over the signatures of Rev. W. J. Gallagher, general secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, and Rev. George W. Webber, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, said extension of commercial amusements in Toronto on Sundays would not help solve the venereal disease problem.

"The V. D. problem is fundamentally a moral and spiritual problem," said the statement, issued after conference between Social Service leaders of the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United churches. "It is our conviction that moral and spiritual health will not be advanced by undermining the observance of the Lord's Day."

The statement asked why Montreal, where wide open Sunday conditions prevail to a greater extent than in any other Canadian city, has the unenviable distinction (according to the statement of the Department of National Defence) of being the worst centre of V.D. infection in Canada?"

PATRIOTISM PLUS

YORK, England — (CP) — Because he felt he must still do "his bit" in the war effort, Dennis Knowles, 35-year-old disabled soldier, volunteered to become a miner to produce the coal which, he said, "will help to save so many lives."

OTTAWA, April 15—(CP)—Brig. H. W. Foster, 41, of Picton, Ont., serving with the Canadian Army Overseas, has been awarded the American Legion of Merit by the United States government, national defence headquarters announced yesterday.

Kiska now is garrisoned solely by United States troops, the Canadians having been withdrawn. The citation accompanying Brig. Foster's award said:

"His leadership and unselfish devotion to the success of the project were outstanding and set a high mark for unreserved co-operation between two Allied powers."

Brig. Foster is the son of the late Maj-Gen. G. L. Foster, director general of the medical services for the Canadian forces overseas in the first Great War. He was born in Halifax.

Big doings around the Y.M.C.A. today when the final volleyball games for the Lillico Trophy will be played this afternoon, followed by a supper at which the members of the local Y.M.C.A. team Ontario senior volleyball champions, and also of the Algerines basketball squad, winners of the Dominion Life Trophy as House League champions and of the C.G.E. cage squad, champions of the City Basketball League and winners of the Chester Kemp Memorial Trophy will be guests of honor and will be presented with crests. As a fitting climax to a big program the Kitchener-Waterloo volleyball team, champions of Ontario for a dozen years, until dethroned by the Peterborough team, will meet the Petes in an exhibition contest at 8 o'clock. The Lillico Cup finals will be staged at 3.30 o'clock between teams captained by J. Hardill and George Scott and that contest will have as a curtain raiser a match between teams led by Eric Vincent and Ab Dryland. It looks like a lot of fun around the Y.M.C.A. and the banquet will be a fitting windup to a very successful volleyball season.

Sunday school executives throughout the city and all other folk interested in promoting softball among the youngsters are reminded that there will be a meeting of the Church Softball League at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 o'clock on Monday night. The fate of 'teen age softball for the season will probably depend upon the outcome of this gathering so that it is essential that all friends of the game who believed that the youngsters of the city should be given a chance to play organized ball should attend. Officers of the Church League had practically decided some time ago, after the difficulties experienced last season, not to attempt to operate a loop this summer but as the opening of the playing season draws nearer they have resolved to re-organize if there is enough preliminary interest shown to warrant going ahead. It is vitally important therefore that clubs who wish to play should be represented at Monday's meeting. Obviously if there is not a fair attendance and some tangible indications that enough teams are interested to make it worth while organizing the whole project will be dropped and 'teen age softball will have to sit it out for this season and in all probability until the war is over.

Here's A Real Card

Promoter Frank Tunney has excelled himself in drawing up next week's wrestling bill. The fans who visit Brock St. Rink on Tuesday night are going to see one of the outstanding cards of the season for not satisfied with bringing the famous Yvon Robert here as a main bout attraction with Strangler Bob Wagner as his opponent Tunney has arranged a semi-final that is classy enough to head any bill in the country. He has matched Earl Moose McCready against the unscrupulous Tom Zaharias, the garrulous Greek from Pueblo. That battle is liable to steal the show from the top-of-the-bill brawl. Zaharias has caused more riots than any grappler in the game today and while his opponent of next Tuesday night, Earl McCready, is usually calm and collected fans know that the Moose can be aroused to anger and when he gets that way there is trouble ahead for his opposition. Zaharias may wonder what hit him if he starts any of his funny stuff against the big Aurora farmer. The preliminary bout, too, offers distinct possibilities or it introduces a new mat celebrity in the person of Tony Leoni, an Italian-American battler from Hollywood, Cal., who will be tossed in against Jan Gotch. The Pole seems to have drawn the role of policeman for the Tunney melange. Every time they want to try out a new athlete they match him against Gotch and give the latter credit, he usually gives the new arrival a real going over.

* * * * * *

Announcement that Yvon Robert is coming for the main bout has made a hit with local fans. The big French-Canadian who is the idol of Montreal has never shown his wares here but wrestling enthusiasts know of his reputation and they are expecting a worthwhile show from the handsome Robert. With Wagner as his opponent this will be a big-time bout. It is predicted that Peterborough followers of the game will like Yvon. The starry Montrealer can wrestle, moves like the wind and has a hair-trigger temper that bodes ill for the rough-and-ready Wagner of the Pacific Coast rowdy starts any of his shady tactics. And he will for Wagner fights only one way. The explosive Robert has been nudging his way about wrestling's throne-room for several years and in fact was recognized by the Montreal Athletic Commission as world's champion. He hopes to get back on the top rung again and is pressing Champion Bill Longson for a title match. In view of that he cannot afford to take any chances on being beaten by Wagner here so that the Strangler is evidently in for a rough passage. Explosive is the word for Robert and Peterborough fans will understand why after seeing him in action next week.

The Season's Tidbit

The series that is regarded by many hockey fans as the tidbit of the whole season gets under way in Toronto tonight when the Trail Smoke Eaters, Western junior champions will meet the Oshawa Generals perennial Eastern Canada title-holders in the first of the best-of-seven round for the Canadian junior championship and the Memorial Cup. Most fans seem to believe that Oshawa will take the series but they are praying that they won't. It is a safe prediction that the bulk of Eastern fans will be rooting strongly for a Western victory. They have nothing particular against the Generals but Oshawa's monopoly of junior honors has brought a demand for a change and even the fact that the Western representatives did the trick last year has not changed the general sentiment in Ontario. What commends the Trail team to the liking of fans in the East is the announcement that they are standing pat with the team with which they started the season and have not taken advantage of the replacement rule joker and packed their team for the final shot at the Memorial Cup. Fans, outside of Oshawa, admire that decision, even if it puts the Trail kids under a disadvantage in meeting the bolstered Generals.

* * * * * *

The Generals' publicity man George Campbell admits that sentiment will be against his team. Here is what he says about it: "Oshawa hockey fans really support their Generals. Already of course, Toronto scribes and the Toronto firms have taken the Trail lads to their hearts, even bought them brand new uniforms. That's an "old gag" that new uniform business, because their old ones are in rags and tatters. Just some more of that "poor little orphan" business. Actually the Generals buy only one set of sweaters and socks in a year, too, and after the campaigning they do, a helluva lot more games than any Western Junior team ever plays, well Oshawa's uniforms would not only be in rags and tatters, they'd be dropping off by now—except that the uniforms are repaired, socks and sweaters darned, etc., after every game. Cleverly worked out. Trail Smoke Eaters will have 90 per cent of the Toronto hockey fans cheering for them in this series, because they have travelled so far, are so young, are just a poor little Junior club, have five "homebrews," etc. etc. The fact that Oshawa Generals will be trying to bring the Memorial Cup back to Ontario and the "Toronto O.H.A. group" will be entirely forgotten by the Toronto fans. However, the Oshawa fans will be there in huge numbers, with that "Toronto can't do this to us" attitude. That's what fills Maple Leaf Gardens and make the shareholders, as well as the C.A.H.A. officials happy. BUT, we are giving the Toronto hockey fans fair warning right now—this time it's going to be different!"

NEW YORK, April 15—(AP)—A rookie a day:

Emery Hresko, Detroit pitcher—when Scout Wish Egan signed this 17-year-old, "Jim" (that's the English version of Hungarian "Emery") took part of the bonus and paid off a mortgage on the family bungalow in Flint (that's his home town, not the landlord's name)...When Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers tried him out, Steve said:

"I caught Feller and when I first caught Hresko I couldn't help but think of the day Bob fanned eight Cardinals in three innings. Hresko isn't as fast, but he's got plenty of speed and a better curve than Feller had when he first came up."... Enough said.

Dead Eye Ed

During a swimming meet at Yale, Starter Ed Kennedy gave the usual warning about firing a recall shot in case of a poor start in the 220... The start was bad but the six swimmers failed to heed the second shot. Ed fired three more and all but one of the swimmers halted...A spectator, awakened by the barrage, turned to Dan Mulvey of the New Haven Register and asked why the sixth man kept on splashing ahead.. "Heck," replied Dan without cracking a smile, "Kennedy must have missed him."

Jitterbug Coal Case Baffles Police

BISMARCK, N.D., April 15 (AP)—A series of threatening notes pinned to the door of a lonely one-room rural school house at the edge of Western North Dakota's bad lands and reports of a mysterious armed masked man have entered "the case of the jitterbug coal."

The Special Assistant State Attorney-General, James Austin, and State Fire Marshal Charles Schwartz said tonight that Mrs. Pauline Rebel, teacher of the Wild Plum Rural School in Stark County, told them she found the first note in mid-January.

That was two months before the first of a series of mysterious explosions and smouldering bursts of smoke led school children and their parents to charge that the school was "bewitched."

Austin said the notes, nearly a dozen in all, are in his and Schwartz' possession and are alternately threatening and obscene. At least one of the series threatened Mrs. Rebel to "leave or be shot."

Mrs. Rebel also related that an armed man, about six feet tall and a red bandana handkerchief masking the lower half of his face, came to the school early in March, kicked the door several times, and when Mrs. Rebel investigated, ran into hiding.

The notes, the report of the masked man, an innocuous coal bucket, some lumps of ordinary-looking lignite coal, a charred map, a charred mail order catalogue, and some charred inside pages of a dictionary, are the clues Schwartz and Austin have on the mysterious goings-on at the Plum Creek School.

A pail of lignite coal near the school stove began to shake and pieces of coal popped around the school like Mexican jumping beans it was said. The school has been closed pending an investigation.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Sweden's middle-distance celebrities, Gunder Haegg and Arne Andersson, were reported yesterday in Stockholm to have accepted the invitation of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States to compete in the national track and field championships at New York June 17 and 18. The only conditions imposed by the record-breaking runners was that they would require air transportation to the United States and return. Both were prepared to leave Stockholm June 10 and would return a month later.

Haegg's appearance at the A.A.U. meet last year netted $105,000 for the Army Air Forces Society, and profits this year are to be turned over to the National Fund for Infantile Paralysis. Andersson lowered Haegg's world record for the mile by 2 seconds to 4:02.6 at Stockholm July 1, 1943.

The Newark Bears of the International League are being bolstered to-morrow by the arrival of two right-handed twirlers and an outfielder in time to take part in the exhibition tilt with Philadelphia Athletics. Pitcher Pete Kunis and Frank Dunlap are reporting from Binghampton and Hurler Mel Queen is on his way from Kansas City.

After Stan Hack retired from the team after an 11-year stretch to remain on his Oregon ranch, First-baseman Phil Cavarretta became the dean of the Chicago Cubs' squad although only 26 years of age. With the Cubs 10 years, Cavarretta will be the only regular infielder on the line-up when the season opens.

Cincinnati Reds Blank Cleveland 4-0

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP).—Bob Katz, a 4-F Dayton, O., semi-pro pitcher, chucked a $102-a-week job to try and win a berth with Cincinnati Reds.

He made the grade yesterday before a hometown crowd by helping the Reds shut out Cleveland 4-0. After Elmer Riddle set the Indians down with three hits in six innings, Katz came in and won himself a steady post by twirling three hitless frames.

With the opening of the season only three days away, Skipper Bill McKechnie, of the Reds, probably is glad to have Katz as insurance should his more experienced twirlers falter.

Other major league tidbits:

New York Yankees — Veteran catcher Rollie Hemsley announced he would join club at Boston for opening game.

Boston Red Sox — Veteran outfielder Bob Johnson slashed out a two-bagger with two out in ninth to beat Braves.

St. Louis Browns—George McQuinn and Vern Stephens hit successive home runs off Cardinals' star pitcher, big Mort Cooper.

Brooklyn Dodgers— Curt Davis was beaten by Yanks in 10-inning game when Don Savage singled and Oscar Grimes followed with 420-foot homer.

New York Giants— Bill Voiselle picked to hurl opening day game against Braves.

Battle With Malaria Brings Ross Discharge

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Sgt. Barney Ross, former lightweight boxing champion, received his honorable medical discharge from the United States Marine Corps at the Brooklyn Navy Yard Friday.

Ross contracted malaria while on Guadalcanal where his feat of killing seven Japanese snipers during an all-night vigil protecting a trio of wounded buddies earned him the Silver Star and Presidential citation.

He has been on the rolls of St. Albans Hospital for the past year, although making numerous appearances at bond-selling shows between attacks of malaria.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — A sport column may be a strange place to break the news, but the Canadian West has been invaded. We're talking about the sport front, where United States teams are establishing spearheads in several directions. First it was the U.S. Army Engineers from Edmonton, who cleaned up in the Prairie Province, and now the Americans have entered two teams in the five-squad Edmonton Baseball League for this summer.

Besides the regular frontal attacks by the two teams the Americans also will adopt some infiltration tactics, sending their surplus talent to bolster the "Canadian" teams in the loop. That's the latest war news from the Western front.

Coach confesses:

Squaring his broad shoulders, Coach Eddie Lauzon of Port Arthur Flyers takes the blame for his team's defeat by Trail Smoke Eaters in the Western junior finals. Fred (Fort William Times-Journal) Edwards quotes him as saying: "I am proud of the boys. Individually we had a better club than Trail, and I can only assume the reason for our defeat lay in the coaching."

Incidentally:

Bill Durnan gained three pounds during the current N.H.L. puck season. Dick Irvin had a reason for that, contending it showed "Durnan had practically nothing to do all season. He just loafed along and fattened up." He usually handled fewer pucks than opposing goalies at that....The best hockey teams in Canada are on the sidelines, watching lesser outfits struggle for the Allan and Memorial Cups, Herb Manning says in the Winnipeg Tribune. That includes Winnipeg Army, "still intact although the Army removed its personnel from hockey competition three months ago." Spring is here and fishermen are getting ideas. The Grey and Bruce County (Ontario) speckled trout fishing competition gets under way April 29 to start off the season....Bill Cook has his eye on some of the Quebec Aces, but Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara opines it's no use, the boys all are "tied down to essential war jobs." That answers questions many fans have been asking.

Port Arthur Ties Series

PORT ARTHUR, April 15—(AP).—A fight-to-the-finish will take place here tonight between Port Arthur Shipbuilders and New Westminster Lodestars for the Western Canada Senior hockey championship and the right to meet Quebec Aces for the Allan Cup.

Shipbuilders climaxed a best-of-seven series last night by outchecking, outskating and capitalizing on the breaks to defeat the British Columbia champions 7-2 and force the eighth game.

To date Shipbuilders with three wins and a tie, have outscored the British Columbians 30-28.

A near free-for-all developed as the game ended when frayed tempers resulted in two penalties to Walter McIntyre of New Westminster and another to Norm Wright of Port Arthur.

After bottling up Shipbuilders' ace line of Stan Robertson-Norm. Larson and Waikko Koivisto for the greater part of the game, Lodestars had nothing left to stop winger Don Eaton who blasted home two goals and assisted in another in the first 33 minutes of play.

Robertson, Larson, Pete Backor, Wright and Bill McKenzie netted the other Port Arthur markers.

Maurice Duffy scored for New Westminster while Port Arthur were shorthanded early in the second period and Johnny Urski got the second.

Deny Rumor

VANCOUVER—(CP)—Denial that the Regina Weston Vits, Saskatchewan champions, had been squeezed out of the Canadian Women's basketball championship playoffs was made last night by E. W. Bowering of the C.A.B.A., who said the Regina girls had been invited several times to participate. Vancouver Hedlunds defeated Winnipeg recently for the title.

A Severe Penalty

MONTREAL—(CP)—The question of suspension for one year for a player who strikes a referee has been left to the individual branches of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, President Frank Sargent of Port Arthur said here last night. He explained the penalty proposed by the Quebec branch had been considered at the annual meeting but has been passed on to the district organizations.

Jersey Giants Show Strength

By RAY R. ROCHE
Sports Editor, The Jersey Journal

JERSEY CITY, April 15.—(AP).—Manager Gabby Hartnett of Jersey City Giants of the International League finds himsef in a far better position than this time a year ago.

About the only holdover sure of starting when the Jerseys and Toronto Maple Leafs open the International League season at Roosevelt Stadium April 20 is Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, not yet 18 years old, but a certainty in centre field. His mates appear likely to be Leon Treadway, and Saul Rogovin. Steve Filipowicz, the former Fordham Ram, is among those expected from the Giants.

At first base will be Mickey Schemer. The infield, besides Schemer, is made up of Johnny Hudson, a veteran, or Dick Lajeskie, at second base, George Sauter at shortstop and Larry Miggins at third base. Roy Nichols, who has been with the Giants, is expected to supplant either Sauter or Miggins.

Andres Fleitas, another of last year's holdovers; Sam Demma, Bob Comiskey and Andres Pascual are the catching prospects.

All of last year's hulers, with the exception of Walter Dyche and Dick Kenworthy, are gone. In addition, Hartnett has Harry Palmer, Don Brennan, Johnny Tramelli, Bob Henry and Bob Barthelson.

Smokies Seek Junior Crown For First Time

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — Oshawa Generals and Trail Smoke Eaters, hockey champions of Eastern and Western Canada, prepared to-day for the opener of the best-in-seven Memorial Cup finals series that gets under way to-night in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Coach Charlie Conacher of the heavier, older Generals, probably will start his line of Bob Love, Bill Ezenicki, and Ted Lindsay on the strength of its showing in the series with Montreal Royals.

Smoke Eaters, riding the crest of a seven-game winning streak against Regina Commandos and Port Arthur Flyers, will go into battle with the same lineup they used against Flyers at Winnipeg, with one exception. Coach Gerry Thompson said he would send in young Jackie Miller in place of Hartley McLeod as extra winger. Miller played with the club in British Columbia, but this will be his first appearance in a play-off fixture.

Second game of the series is carded for Monday night, with the third and fourth on Wednesday and Saturday, and others, if necessary, billed for April 24, 26 and 29.

Smokies are seeking the first Memorial Cup in history for British Columbia, while Generals are out to get their third.

Church Heads Favor Talks On Unity

TORONTO, April 15—(CP)—The heads of the United Church and the Church of England Friday announced that "conversations on unity" have been held by the two organizations with the ultimate aim of making possible "a re-united Christendom."

The statement was issued by Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen of the Anglican Church, Primate of all Canada and Rt. Rev. Dr. J. R. P. Sclater, Moderator of the General Council of the United Church.

The talks were held as a result of the general invitation extended last September to "the Christians Communions of Canada" by the General Synod of the Church of England to see what steps might be taken in the direction of unity.

Archbishop Owen stated he believed such "conversations" would clear away difficulties and misunderstandings "and the proper atmosphere be created in which we can come to the discussion of our real difficulties and differences. We have made a beginning," he added. "No action is contemplated by either communion without every opportunity being given for free discussion."

Dr. Sclater said there had been no opportunity yet for official action on behalf of the United Church but added: "Our people may be assured of two things—first, the atmosphere is vital; second, neither communion proposed for a moment to disregard the principles nor the heritage of the other."

St. Andrew's W.M.S. Hears Rev. Honey

MILLBROOK, April 15—(ENS)—Mrs. H. R. Edmunds was hostess for the Easter thankoffering meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's church, held at her home on Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. M. McDowell's group in charge, the president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco, taking the business period, and Rev. W. E. Honey, of Cavan, as guest speaker.

The worship theme was: "Christ is risen, the church is born", the hostess reading the resurrection story from St. Luke's gospel, the leader gave the illustrative talk, and the prayers were offered by Rev. A. L. Sisco for the boys in the Services. Mrs. J. H. George prayed for those who are suffering because of war, and Miss E. L. Hetherington for the church in wartime.

Mrs. McDowell introduced Rev. Mr. Honey, who gave an inspirational address based on the text found in Isaiah 54:2. The key word, "Expand", was emphasized from three angles: extension, co-operation, and consecration. Last year the W.M.S., with its 100,000 members in Canada, raised $692,000, an increase of $40,000, and still aims to enlarge the scope of its work. "Consecration is the motive that inspires all its effort, and in these times of danger the workers depend on the fact that wherever duty calls, their safety is God's care."

Mrs. J. McKnight moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Honey for his helpful address, and during the business period appeal was made for contributions to the annual bale good used, or new, clothing being required for men, women, and children of school, and pre-school ages.

Letters in reply to cards of sympathy sent to bereaved members were read, one from Mrs. George McCullough, whose sister, Margaret Luxon, passed away recently after a long and trying illness, with particulars of the health of her mother, Mrs. Thomas Luxon, still a member of St. Andrew's Auxiliary, being especially interesting.

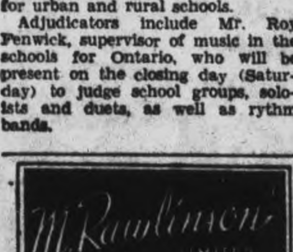
At the close, lunch was served, and a social hour enjoyed. The Eater thankoffering was received, but is incomplete as many were prevented from attending.

Entries Pouring In For Yearly Festival

LINDSAY, April 15 — (ENS) — Miss Dorothea Gee, secretary of the Lindsay Musical Festival Association, reported to the executive committee that entries literally "poured in" on the closing day and that everything augurs well for the success of the annual event, which will be held in Cambridge Street United church on May 3, 4, 5 and 6.

This year classes have been added for urban and rural schools.

Adjudicators include Mr. Roy Fenwick, supervisor of music in the schools for Ontario, who will be present on the closing day (Saturday) to judge school groups, soloists and duets, as well as rythm bands.



CHURCHILL GREETS AN OLD COMRADE—Touring army camps in Yorkshire, Prime Minister Winston Churchill meets an old comrade in arms and stops to chat. The comrade is Colonel Wormald who was a fellow-officer of Churchill's in the famous 12th Lancers.

Italian Women Show Courage Aplenty

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY ON THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Italy, April 15 — (AP) — Two British Army officers, engaged in evacuating the last few thousand refugees from this war-wrecked beachhead, said Friday the Italian people here "have stood up to something worse than the London blitz with more courage and hope than the world could imagine."

Five trucks were pulled up to the scarred entrance of Nettuno's Sacred Heart Church and 200 men, women and children, were climbing aboard for a dash to the harbour to take passage to Naples in the cramped hold of LCI's (Landing Craft Infantry).

Inside the church, the walls of which have been holed through by German shells, scores of Italian families patiently lined up under the pulpit while Caribinieri officers read out their names on a list for American "C" rations which would tide them over until the next boat sails, possibly tomorrow.

"These are very brave people—no grumbling," said Capt. Leslie Tompkins, former Police Inspector of Shirehall, Bedford, England.

Lieut. Norman MacKenzie of Edinburgh looked proudly at the refugees as if they might have been his own clan.

"The Italians here have suffered more severely than the population of East End London in the worst of the blitz," he asserted. "They are going into something like exile, having lost their homes and almost all their possessions except what they can carry in their hands, but they are not dispirited. Their hope is amazing. We've had nursing mothers come in with shrapnel wounds as big as a fist. But they never complain. Their fortitude is incredible."

Nearly 15,000 civilians were trapped by the war in the beachhead. Almost a month went by before Allied authorities were able to start the slow process of evacuation by sea. There have been hundreds of casualties from artillery shelling and air raids.

Win Euchre Prizes

TRENT RIVER, April 15—(ENS)—Trent River War Workers held a progressive euchre at their rooms on Tuesday evening. Six tables of cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Eric Little, first; G. Wannamaker, second, and Roy Longmuir of Havelock, third. Lunch was served at the close by the ladies.

Prayer Needed If Victory To Be Gained

TORONTO, April 15—(CP)—Col. Frank Knox, United States Secretary of the Navy, last night issued a plea to more than 600 men at the inaugural dinner meeting of Toronto's sixth Victory Loan committee to pray now "as you never prayed before" for victory.

Col. Knox said the night before the Sicilian invasion when an expected storm threatened to block the attempt "God then brought calm to the seas and every ship landed."

One night when he couldn't sleep because he had received secret information submarines were concentrating on the path of a transport convoy, his wife decided to read him a psalm from the Bible.

"Men," said Col. Knox, "I went to sleep in a hurry and I think God saved that invasion force."

"We're fighting God's war," the navy secretary said. "That we should lose it is unthinkable....Let's pray to God and work and fight."

ORDER WITH A CATCH

LONDON — (CP) — Nazis are advising the Dutch people that a blanket soaked in water and wrapped around the body will "offer protection in escaping through flames caused by Allied bombing raids." But all blankets in Holland were requisitioned a long time ago.

It's backed by expert service

IN SPITE OF SHELL AND BOMB DAMAGE, in spite of cruel overloading and the wracking punishment of mine-blasted roads, motorized columns have continued to roll forward carrying United Nations troops and supplies. Ford mobile workshops, equipped with welding equipment, lathe, drill press, and other tools, and manned by skilled mechanics are playing a real part in keeping motorized equipment moving in the war zones.

Here in Canada, Ford trucks are bearing a heavy share of the load in keeping materials and equipment moving to and from the production lines. 700 Ford dealers right across Canada are doing a thorough job in supplying expert service for car and truck owners.

Though many of their skilled mechanics are serving with the armed forces, Ford dealers have done a magnificent job in keeping essential transportation operating efficiently.

A GREAT POWER PLANT

Over there, and here at home, the famous Ford V-8 engine keeps the loads rolling along the road to victory. In stamina, in smoothness, in economy, it's today's outstanding engine. It's noted everywhere for its trouble-free performance. But when it does need tuning up or overhauling, it's backed over there by skilled army mechanics, and here in Canada by the service of 700 Ford dealers.

Personal Gifts Give Support For War Victims

The footprints that any individual may leave upon the sands of time are to a large extent of his or her own making. Everyone is capable of giving expression by their own acts to the real type of personality they may be.

When the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund first commenced operations, it was in itself an act of faith in the goodness of heart it was felt that large numbers of the people of this city and district had for people who had suffered much, which would demonstrate itself through their being good enough to extend whatever aid they could to alleviate their distress, and give them a fresh impetus towards overcoming the handicaps which ruthless warfare had forced on them.

That this faith has been fully justified may be shown from the fact that well over $75,000.00 has already been voluntarily given so far, and coming back to the personality question, it demonstrates how widespread has been the personal interest of people living hereabouts in the humanitarian work the fund endeavours to carry on for otherwise it could never have reached such creditable proportions.

From the same standpoint, in an individual sense, many people have expresed their own individual personality in this respect, by making personal gifts to the fund, and in quite a number of instances their interest has been deep seated sufficiently to give them the urge to keep on at the good work, for time and again their contribution has appeared in this column to carry further aid to those who till continue to become the victims of enemy raids over Britain.

To-day's list of receipts for the fund are entirely made up of gifts of a personal nature, a number of whom have appeared on quite a number of occasions previously, and there is something very encouraging in this, which really warms the heart of those reponsible for keeping the good work going.

Two Youthful Contributors

Among these appear the name of Jamie Craig, a very young boy whose Dad has been on active service since the early days of the war, and a note accompanying the gift expressed goodwill for the British war victims which was amply reflected in the $10.50 now credited to his name, while William Fortye of Honolulu, who is now a student at the Grove Preparatory School, Lakefield, was grateful for a monetary gift at Easter, and decided to give a little of it to help others in distress.

Members Meet Union Committee

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and Harold Scott, M.P.P., met Friday night members of the political action committees of Locals 524 and 527 of United Electric, Radio and Machine Workers' Association in their quarters on George street.

Topics included housing, health, income tax, postwar rehabilitation, the approaching Sixth Victory Loan and other questions projecting themselves before public attention.

Union members had invited the local Members of Parliament and of the Legislature to meet them at some convenient time, and the discussions provided the occasion for a general exchange of opinion and outlook. Ellis Blair was chairman.

Of the problems that are predominant at the present time, the success of the Victory Loan was mentioned as an undertaking in which United Electrical members said they wished to do anything that was required of them. It was stated that they had offered their services to the county and city general committee for this campaign, even to the extent of speaking at any of the shop meetings or elsewhere.

A U.E. social evening Thursday night reported the following euchre prize winners: Ladies prizes—Mrs. Trotter, Mrs. Harry O'Neil and Miss Devolin; Men's — C. McCullough, Frank Lundy and P. Allen. Door prize was won by Miss Helen Devolin.

The U.E. hall was crowded and the women served refreshments at the close.

Must Avoid Friction

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 15 — (CP) — Attorney-general Leslie Blackwell of Ontario, speaking at a civic banquet here last night, warned that unless the people of Canada settle their problems in a Democratic way after the war "those elements who wish to introduce bureaucracy and state socialism in this country will have their way."

Metcalfe, 868 George Street, reported to the R.C.A.F. at Manning Depot, Toronto, Monday. This young fledgling aviator is eighteen years and six months old, and is the first recruit from the Peterborough Air Cadet Corps to the senior and active branch of the service. Tardy Reserve Army Soldier Fined $15 Claims Couldn't Parade After Day's Work

James P. Chalmers, Douro street, who had previously pleaded guilty to three charges of failing to attend drills of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve, was fined $5 and $1 costs on each count this morning by Magistrate R. B. Baxter who had reserved sentence until today. The alternative was five days in jail on each charge to run consecutively.

In the meanwhile Chalmers had been examined by Major Ray Scott, medical officer of the Rangers and produced a report which was handed to Magistrate Baxter this morning. The contents were not read out.

The accused repeated his statement of previous hearings that he had turned in his uniform at his company orderly room last May and that he had heard nothing more about the matter until the present charges.

Magistrate Baxter pointed out that Chalmers could not expect, after taking the oath, that he could get rid of his obligations by simply handing in his uniform and saying that he was through.

The accused intimated that he was going to seek his release as physically unfit. "I cannot stand the drilling after working ten hours a day," he said. "I used to be lame the day after drill."

Objectives Set For Peterboro In Victory Loan

The objective in the Sixth Victory Loan for the City and County of Peterborough has been set at $3,100,000. This objective which does not include special names is the same as in the Fifth Victory loan last fall.

In breaking down the objective the general canvass in the City will be asked to raise $1,550,000 the same as last time but which there was raised only $1,315,200 or 84.85. The payroll Savings section is being asked for $900,000. The employees of these 23 companies in the last loan raised $1,047,550 or 110.27 per cent of their objective. However since that time there is over 1,000 less employed in industry in Peterborough and many of these employed are on much shorter hours.

The county again is asking for $600,000 the same as last loan and of which it raised $670,000 or 111.67 per cent.

The county objective is broken down as follows: North Monaghan $40,000., Otonabee $130,000, Asphodel $38,000, Norwood $58,000., Smith $90,000, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos $45,000. Lakefield $55,000, Ennismore $12,000, Douro $35,000. Dummer $30,000, Belmont and Methuen $25,000 and Havelock $42,000. Havelock and North Monaghan have been given small increases in their objective while Dummer and Lakefield decreases. The other objectives remain the same as in the Fifth Loan.

In this loan an objective of $50,000 is set for the civil servants and the armed forces while in the last loan they had no objective set and $41,100 was raised.

Damage Action Is Adjourned

Completion of defense testimony in the $10,000 damage suit by Mrs. J. C. Schweier, 516 Wolfe street, against the city was adjourned indefinitely by Mr. Justice Greene late Friday afternoon. No present arrangement was made for its continuance. His Lordship returned to Toronto on the evening C.P.R. train, and his assize duties take him to Port Arthur next week.

Mrs. Schweier fell on the sidewalk on the west side of George street near 329, the store formerly occupied by Tip Top Tailors, on January 30, 1943, and suffered a broken hip and other injuries.

Evidence for the city was presented Friday afternoon by Bruce Livingstone, Perry street, truck driver for Board of Works, Police Constables Stevenson and McGillen, M. Martino and City Engineer Parsons.

Mr. Martino, janitor and window cleaner, said he was employed by Ben Chesler, owner of the former Tip Top store, to keep the sidewalk in front of the premises clear of snow.

"I am paid a monthly flat rate," Mr. Martino said. "I remove the snow after every storm. I did not know anything of the accident until I was called here today."

Constable Stevenson examined the sidewalk about an hour after the accident, said there was some difference in the depth of snow and ice in front of the Lincoln Shoe store and Tip Top, probably three or four inches. "If it had been anything like 6 to 8 inches in front of Tip Top store it would have been reported to the office of the city engineer."

Mrs. Schweier, represented by T. J. Carley, K.C., had told the court she had stepped into a trench about eight inches deep and a foot or more wide in front of the adjoinment of the two stores.

Children Needed To Make Salvage Success

Peterborough Women's War Services Committee, sponsoring the city's second salvage drive, are financing a collection of paper by the school children next week which is designed to raise the level of what has admittedly been a rather poor response on the part of householders, and merchants to date

By the details of the plan, school children who bring a total of 20 pounds of salvage paper to their class rooms during next week will receive a free theatre ticket to any of the city's three movie houses for a week from Saturday, April 22. Those whose efforts net them an extra bundle of salvage will also get a chance on a lucky draw, in which the prizes are to be 50-cent pieces.

This drive, the first to be conducted since the initial campaign in February, has got off to a discouraging start. Through a slip-up, the ads announcing the areas for collections on different days were late getting into the paper, and hence the fact that the drive was not as widely advertised as it would otherwise have been.

Collection Days.

To start next week, a collection covering the area south of Charlotte to Lansdowne and Park Street west to the Highway, including the Wartime Housing, will be made on Monday; and the following day south of Charlotte to Lansdowne, east of Park to the River, including Crescent and Haggart Streets, will be the district covered. Depending on the scale of the response to these colections, plans will be made for the collection in the downtown business district, which will follow

Rags and papers are the items most urgently needed in the salvage drive and recent bulletins from the headquarters have stressed the acute shortage of them above the need for any other types of salvage.

Poor as Peterborough's showing has been, it is not, as a matter of fact, in a unique position, and there are towns where sponsoring committees are much worse off "At least," said Mrs. R. Whalon, who heads the local committee, "we are holding our heads above water, and that is more than everyone can say. In Lindsay they have run $1,000 into debt, and have had to get the support of the City Council."

This is yet one more version of the bare-back frock which has been staging a wide revival through this particular designer. Y.W.C.A. Club Doings

Club programs are still in the variety stage since the holidays and all its attractions are still with us.

Y.W.C.A.

Girls' Council held their regular monthly supper meeting last week in the club room. Betty Detcher, president was in the chair. The meeting opened with an "after supper sing" led by Roberta Kiefer, followed by the Invocation on the Holy Week theme—Wednesday the day of silence.

The Business Girls' Banquet was most successful and was not a financial project. The report on the work of the local committee of the Youth Commission was given by Jean Carew. A general meeting has not been held for some weeks but one is anticipated shortly. "Y" clubs are co-operating with the following programs; '38 Club — Citizenship; Gym - Swim — Minority Groups; Tuesday Business Girls'—Youth and Health; Friday Supper—Youth and Recreation.

The council has decided to hold a springtime dance during the latter part of May. The June conference dates have been set at June 24th and 25th. The conference to be held at Camp Inglestane on Stoney Lake.

The All Nations' Club met at the home of Mrs. Paige Rowell for an enjoyable meeting. After a program of games testing the physical and mental prowess of the members a discussion on "Canadian Organizations and World Friendship" was led by Miss Kiefer. It was interesting to discover that one of the club members had been a member of the Budapest Y.W.C.A. before coming to Canada six years ago. The next meeting on April 18th will be held at the Y.W.C.A.

The '38 Club meeting on Wednesday took the form of a Spring Musicale. The Tuesday Business Girls' Club were guests. The program opened with a biography on the life of Grieg read by Betty Detcher followed by the playing of the recording of Grieg's orchestral number "Spring" and "Nocturne" played by Eleanor Taylor. The second part of the program was devoted to Schubert, his biography being read by Elizabeth Elliott. The Ballet Music from Rosamunde was played by Eleanor Taylor and two Vienna waltzes were sung by Dorothy Mitchell accompanied by Roberta Kiefer. It is encouraging to discover talented artists among club members and their renderings were much appreciated. The "Carnival of the Animals" by Saint Saens, recorded by Stokowski and the Philadelphia orchestra, with program annotations by Miss Kiefer, proved to be a hilarious and interesting bit of programming. While lunch was being prepared the club members and their guests joined in an informal sing-song. The next meeting, April 26th, will take the form of a panel discussion on Political Partism. The panel will be made up of Leona McMillan, Betty Detcher and Margaret Edmison with Mr. Pettit as chairman.

The Gym-Swim Club on Thursday had planned a discussion on "Minority Groups" but since most of the members were practising late for the demonstration next week this program has been postponed to April 27th. Doris Royea presided over a brief business meeting. The Council report was given by Isobel McCamus. Lunch was served by Isobel Pearce, Doris Graham and Jean Carew. Next week's meeting is cancelled so that all may attend the gym demonstration.

DIVORCE NO CURE FOR FOLLY

Girls Rushed Into War Marriages With Boys They Know Slightly Due for Big Shock.

ONE of our famous jurists predicts that after the war divorce will reach an all time high in this country. It does not take a learned judge, or even a crystal gazer, to foretell that. Anyone with the slightest knowledge of human nature and a grain of common sense knows that thousands of the hurried up furlough marriages will not last as long as the bride's trousseau.

Undoubtedly a vast proportion of our young people do not regard marriage as a serious undertaking. They look upon it as an experiment, an adventure, something that they will try once, anyway, for the heck of the thing, but that they won't have to stick to if it gets too tough. To them the marriage bond is not the tie that binds, but a slip knot that they can undo with their tongues if it begins to gall them.

Marrying Stranger Called Romantic

I get innumerable letters from war brides frankly stating their position on the marry-at-sight proposition. "All the girls are doing it," they say. "It is so romantic and thrilling marrying a man you simply don't know at all, instead of a boy you have grown up with, and it is such fun rushing around buying a wedding dress in a hurry. And a military wedding is exciting, with so many men in uniform, and cutting the wedding cake with a sword, and your husband going off almost before you get a second look at him.

"And all the girls who haven't got 'em are envious of your wedding ring. And you get your allotment, which helps out on your salary and lets you buy the things you have never had the money for before. And after the duration when your husband comes back, if you don't like his looks, you can get a divorce. Everbody is going to be divorcing after the war."

And the boys who marry girls on a short acquaintance and without bothering to make any inquiries about their pasts or/their presents, are equally certain that all they have to do is to ask the divorce courts to correct their mistakes if they have guessed wrong about being in love with Sally or Susie, and it is really Mary or Jane they want.

Women Put Blind Faith in Divorce

In reality, there is nothing in the world more tragic than the blind faith that the unhappily married put in divorce. They seem to think that it works a miracle that not only frees them from the husband or wife with whom they cannot get along, but that it will remove every carping care and make them radiantly happy. Women, in especial, are obsessed by the hallucination that even if they are middle-aged and have a houseful of children that a decree absolute will turn them back into being young and beautiful girls again and make them fascinating to men.

But the sordid truth is that while divorce may deliver a wife from a philanderer and a husband from a nagger it has no magic that wipes out the past. It reaches out into the future with its disillusions, its bitterness, its tears and regrets, its wrecked homes and its half-orphaned children. So it is a saddening thought that after the war divorce is going to reach its all high peak. What a pity that the young cannot realize that it is not a cure-all, nor even an escape from the folly of a rash marriage, and so refrain from making the kind of marriages that are bound to end in divorce!

For Sunday, April 16

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows a most dramatic and exciting state of affairs, with all the emotional, romantic, creative and spiritual faculties and forces stimulated to probably spectacular denouements, There may be celebrations and festive occasions gratifying to the affectional, artistic or emotional aspirations, with subtle and peculiar aspects, not quite supported by superiors or elders.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of dramatic and thrilling adventures, in which there may be perplexing or complicated situations, running counter to the good will and substantial support of elders, superiors or those in influential positions, whose cooperations is required. With discretion and proper control of emotions there may be exceptional gains.

A child born on this day should have exceptional creative skills and talents, with much subtlety, sagacity and craft, although its strange ideals may not find approval from influential sources. It may be successful and adventurous.

For Monday, April 17

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is an adverse one, with dangers from misrepresentation, fraud, mistakes, and false moves which may put you in jeopardy not only in finances, credit and stability, but highly cherished objectives and ambitions. With thrift, prudence, vigilance and sagacity, there may be very promising prospects of promotion, appreciation and sound progress.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy many advantages and solid progress if they will keep alert to fraud, misrepresentation, distortion, and extravagance probably arising from careless writings or correspondence, agreements or financial obligations, imperiling worthwhile prospects. With discretion and precaution there may be promotion and strokes of good fortune. Sign all writings cautiously.

A child born on this day, while ambitious and talented, may suffer from imposition, fraud and suspicion, unless carefully directed. It may be lucky and possibly have extravagant and careless proclivities.

Mrs. J. Murrich Addresses St. Paul's Group

Guest speaker at the Easter Thankoffering meeting of St. Paul's Auxiliary was Mrs. J. McMurrich of Toronto, president of the Council Executive of the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. McMurrich, introduced by Mrs. J. D. Smart, used as the central thought of her address, "We should give thanks for to-day and hope for to-morrow—never slackening our effort."

The speaker explained various works of the society which required the co-operation of the Mission Board of the church, as well as those of other denominations. In Free China, she said, Miss H. Gibbs is serving with the church of Christ and preparing the way for further contacts after the war. In India the same co-operative spirit is shown where Rev. Smith and his wife (now a graduate doctor) are working among the Moslems.

Orphaned missions, the speaker explained, cut off from support of their home lands, have been assisted in every possible way. Grants to Miss M. Wong for Christian literature in Africa have been much appreciated and help has also been given to French Protestant missions in that continent.

In Canada, Mrs. McMurrich continued, the need for deaconesses to help among war workers in the larger cities was recognized and Miss L. McArthur, Miss M. Cunningham and Miss A. Read were selected to take charge of the Presbyterian share of the work. A Christian home for girls, under the auspices of Toronto Presbytery, is to be opened in the fall and a children's centre in Vancouver will open May 1. Mrs. McMurrich made a special appeal for new candidates to help with this work, which is fitting in with all types of Christian service and with the further aim of making permanent peace possible.

Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, accompanied by Miss M. Rannie, sang "The Stranger of Galilee." Mrs. A. Sollitt gave the Scripture reading and Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss the prayer. Appreciation of those present for the excellent program was expressed by Mrs. D. T. Diplock.

SMART SET—Hat and bag have teamed up to provide interest in the accessory field, with many designers contributing their own version of this twosome. Here's how Anitra Andra handles it, using translucent rose colored cellophane straw for the saucy little hat and for the impressive bag. Both are trimmed with narrow black velvet ribbon.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today I have a very novel recipe for meat balls, very different from the ordinary ones that we have all made so often, that the family is sick and tired of them. Try them, and see if you are not very pleased with the result, also the taste. Our second recipe is for desert and is both very nourishing and tastes, oh so good.

Porkies

1 pound ground steak, ½ cup raw rice, 1 egg, salt, pepper and dash of onion. Mix the above ingredients all together and when well mixed form into small balls. Put these in a baking dish and pour over them a can of tomato soup. Bake ½ hour in oven of 350 degrees.

Orange Snow Pudding

Soak one teaspoon uncolored gelatine in ¼ cup of cold water for five minutes, then add ¼ cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon orange rind, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir until gelatine is dissolved, then add 1 cup of orange juice. Cool. Add one cup of cream and chill until thick. Then beat with a rotary egg beater until fluffy. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and serve.

Prune Snow

1 cup prune pulp, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 egg whites beaten stifly. Whip all together, put in a dish and bake 30 minutes in a slow oven. Serve either with cream or custard.

Rice Custard

¼ cup rice, 1¼ cups milk, 1 egg, ¼ cup sugar, pinch of salt, vanilla. Cook rice in boiling water and drain. Add milk and bring to boil; add egg yolk and cook few minutes longer. When cool fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Serve with cream.

Pop Overs

2 cups flour, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted fat, 2 eggs, ¼ teaspoon salt. Beat eggs slightly. Sift flour and salt and add alternately with milk; add melted fat. Beat with egg beater until smooth and full of bubbles.

Fill well greased pan 2-3 full and bake at 450 degrees.

VERSATILE FISH

The climbing perch from Asia is a fish that can walk on dry land and climb trees.

FOR COUGHS COLDS- YOU CAN'T BEAT BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE

This is one in a series of messages explaining problems of electric supply to farm and hamlet consumers served direct by The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Why a Minimum Bill for Electric Service?

In our previous message, we indicated the two parts of the cost of supplying electric power to the Rural User. Let us consider the part covering distribution cost, and its relation to the MINIMUM BILL.

Electricity cannot be bought at a store and taken home for use. It has to be delivered to your home or farm over distribution lines built of poles, wires, insulators, transformers, meters, etc. These lines must be ready to deliver electricity day in and day out, when you turn the switch.

These pole lines, with related equipment, cost money to construct, and on this cost must be paid each year, interest and repayment of capital. In addition, these lines must be properly maintained, replaced when necessary, and kept in good operating condition, including costs of billing and collecting and superintendence. All of these distribution costs must be met each year, in addition to the actual cost of electricity at the substation.

Let us see what this distribution cost amounts to:

Cost to construct 20,000 miles of distribution lines to serve 135,000 rural users	$39,000,000.00
Yearly cost (1942) of operation, maintenance, interest, renewals, etc.	$ 2,991,400.00
Average cost per customer	$22.20 per year 1.85 per month

In hamlets where customers can be grouped and lines are shorter, this average cost per user is slightly less. In the case of farms where the users are spread along the line, the cost is somewhat greater.

Whether or not you use power in any month, the cost of this equipment to serve you still carries on. If you use less electricity than is covered by the minimum cost (on standard farms, 56 kilowatt hours a month), then you have a MINIMUM BILL to meet this distribution cost. If your use of electricity is greater, your bill at the Uniform Rate covers both distribution cost, plus the cost of electricity at the station. The Minimum Bill for a 2-wire Hamlet user is $1.50 net per month; for a standard Farm, it is $2.02 net per month.

These explanations are given to help you understand the new rate. In our next message, we will discuss, for your benefit, "Installing Services under War Conditions". In the meantime, if you need further information, please ask your Rural District Superintendent.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

In order to have a complete understanding of the new rural rates, we suggest you clip and keep these explanations.

Complete Airport Under Jap Fire

WITH THE CHINESE FORCES IN NORTHERN BURMA, Feb. 17. —(Delayed for Security Reasons)—(AP).—An American crew, which included a Canadian private, wrote a thrilling chapter in engineering history when it built an airport in northern Burma under shellfire in only 14 hours' working time.

The site for the airport was a series of old Kachin Paddy fields. Commanded by Maj. Verley Lewis, 45, Phoenix, Ariz., the crew started on the job while only a few hundred feet from the enemy.

The enemy cut loose with a salvo of artillery shells but the crew kept on working. Shell fragments hit the three bulldozers and the grader, but none of the men was injured.

The Canadian private was Edgar Cote of Sherbrooke, Que.

13,044 Donations Given At Clinic Make Only 2,610 Transfusions

Up to Wednesday night, 13,044 donations have been given at the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic since its opening on July 22, 1942. This imposing total is somewhat marred, when it is realized, that it takes five donations to make one serum transfusion and therefore, actually Peterborough people in that time have given enough blood for only 2,610 transfusions.

The local clinic aims at getting 200 donations a week, or enough blood for 40 transfusions. Since Christmas 3,015 donations have been made, or 603 transfusions. One transfusion is sufficient for a slightly wounded man, but a seriously wounded one might be given 10 transfusions, the equivalent of 50 donations. Plasma is used up rapidly at this rate.

The Dominion has been asked for a quota of 20,000 donations a week. This means enough serum is produced for 4,000 donations weekly. Every time Canadian troops have a heavy battle the plasma supplies drop quickly. At El Alamein, there were 8,000 transfusions in one week. That represented the generosity of 40,000 donors.

Industry Reborn

BARI, ITALY, April 16 — (AP) — Molten steel, first to flow in southern Italy for the Allied war effort, was poured Thursday night in an east coast plant almost four months from the day British engineers went to work to get it in shape after a long period of inactivity. The plant is expected to supply 50 per cent of the military requirements for some types of steel products. Another mill of approximately the same size is expected to be put into operation soon by American engineers.

RIGHT SUIT IS NOT ALL

PUTTING YOUR partner in the lead to run the suit which he already has set up against a No Trump game involves two problems. It is not merely a case of picking the correct suit to lead to him. It also is a question of the correct card of that suit. Using the wrong one may enable the declarer to block your partner's hand and shut out his long suit.

There were three variations of play for this contract in a duplicate, after West led the spade K to the A. In every case, East decided that the fate of the contract depended on West regaining the lead to run his spades. All saw also that an entry in diamonds was hopeless, also that, if West had the club K, South would be sure to lead them later and put West in. The only good use to be made of East's leading opportunity was in hearts, so they all returned hearts.

Two of them used the heart 2 for that lead on the second trick, South putting in the J. One West covered with the K and the A won. When a club was then lost to East, he led the heart 4, hoping West had the 10, but South did and ran enough tricks to give him his game plus an extra. At the other table where the heart 2 was returned, West ducked the J and it won. When East got in then with the club A, he led a second heart to the A, and that South made game plus an extra trick.

One East beat the contract, by returning the heart Q to the second trick. If the A had been used on that, a second heart following the club A would have given West the lead. That South strained to save himself, playing low from dummy and letting the heart Q win. But it did no good. A small heart knocked out the dummy's A. When East then won with his club A, he sent another heart to the K and West ran his spades, beating the contract five tricks, with six in spades, one in clubs and two in hearts—quite a reward for making a single play correctly.

What principle of valuation makes it sound to open the bidding in second hand position on some holdings which you would consider not quite strong enough for a dealer's bid?

of 26 vessels already have moved out into the lakes and all are expected to be carrying traffic by this week-end.

But while the lakes themselves are open for traffic, the St. Lawrence river route to Montreal still is icebound although it is expected in Kingston that the season there will probably open on April 17. At Kingston, where 64 lake vessels of all types spent the winter, an unusually busy season is anticipated especially with package freight.

Owen Sound reports that the Owen Sound and Dominion Transportation Co., whose boats serve the north shore of Lake Huron as well as Manitoulin Island points and Sault Ste. Marie, anticipates a record season both for passengers and freight.

100 Convicts Are Disciplined

OTTAWA, April 15 —(CP)— A spokesman for the Justice Department said last night that officials of the Stony Mountain penitentiary, 15 miles northwest of Winnipeg, have taken disciplinary action in accordance with regulations following disturbances among prisoners two weeks ago.

The spokesman was commenting on a Winnipeg dispatch which quoted the Winnipeg Tribune as saying that about 100 convicts were reported in close confinement following the disturbances.

Penitentiary regulations outline what action was to be taken in case of disturbances, the spokesman said. He did know exactly what action had been taken at Stony Mountain but felt certain it was in accordance with regulations.

He had heard of no new disturbances and believed that conditions were returning to normal at the penitentiary.

The disturbances occurred following the transfer of 150 men from Portsmouth penitentiary at Kingston, Ont.

"There are always some disturbances when men are shifted," the spokesman said. In this case the convicts from Kingston felt that they did not have the same privileges at Stony Mountain as they did at Kingston.

Institute Gives Money For Sugar

MARMORA, April 15 — (ENS) — The meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Kerr, with the attendance somewhat lower than usual.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. L. Green, occupying the chair. It was decided to donate the price of 100 pounds of sugar for the Jam Fund. It was also decided to write to the Federated Women's Institutes for a picture of the founder to be inserted in the branch's scrap book. Plans for the holding of the euchre party in the Town Hall on April 28 were further developed. A paper was then given on Home Economics by Mrs. R. E. Neal. After community singing had been enjoyed the pianist, Mrs. E. Belanger, played a piano solo; this was followed by a will contest and bingo.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Connor, and the annual election of officers will be carried out.

close watch on possible evacuation ports, and four boats jammed with Axis troops trying to escape across the Black Sea to Romania were sunk, the communique said, adding: "Soviet sailors and airmen are cutting short all enemy efforts to save at least some of his Crimean troops, which are condemned to destruction."

Abandon Everything

Soviet Stormovik divebombers maintained a ceaseless parade over the retreating Germans and Romanians who were "abandoning not only trucks, rifles and ammunition . . . but even their own personal clothing, overcoats, boots, steel helmets, kit bags and gas masks."

Moscow also announced the liberation of territory southwest of Odessa in the Oviodiopol area, which freed the entire Ukraine province from Axis troops with the exception of a few miles south of the Pripyat marshes.

The communique said that in pre-war Poland Marshal Gregory K. Khukov's 1st Army captured 40 towns south of German-held Tarnopol, under siege since March 26.

Col. Knox Urges People To Pray

TORONTO, April 15.— A plea to the 1,000 guests at Thursday's inaugural Victory Loan dinner for prayer "in winning God's war," was made by United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox in an impromptu talk following his formal address to the gathering.

Dropping the prepared manuscript of the speech which he had just delivered, Col. Knox almost startled his audience when he leaned forward amidst the applause, held up a hand, and said: "I always hate reading a speech. Now I'd like to say something personal."

Very simply he told three stories. One was about a young pilot whose plane was shot to pieces after he had shot down three Japs. He crashed into the sea, but survived, and wrote in his report, "It took a lot of prayer."

One was about the night before the Sicilian invasion when an unexpected storm threatened the whole attempt, and "God then brought calm and every ship landed."

And the third was about a night when secret information revealed that German subs were concentrating in the path of a transport convoy and his sleeplessness vanished when Mrs. Knox read "a Psalm about the old warrior who prayed to God for strength to lick his enemies."

"Men," said Col. Knox, leaning forward, "I think God saved that invasion force. I don't know. But I believe that we've got to pray as we've never prayed before. We're fighting God's war; that we should lose it is unthinkable. But we face the greatest test of all, far surpassing all we've seen before. And God helps those who help themselves. Let's pray to God and work and fight."

It was Vatutin who led Soviet troops back into Kiev, capital of his Ukraine.

It was announced March 5 that he had retired from his command because of illness, and was succeeded by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov.

Vatutin died during last night, said the announcement, which was issued by the Council of Peoples' Commissars for Defense of the U.S.S.R.

A monument will be erected to him in Kiev, the announcement added, praising him as "one of the most talented young army commanders who had developed during this war."

Vatutin, in his early 40's, was a short, thick-set man, with his broad head set so close to his shoulders that his troops called him "the man without a neck."

His rise was one of the most rapid of all Russian commanders. He first got into the news last year in the campaign on the upper Don, and took command of the 1st Ukrainian Army last September.

Jap Invaders Suffer Heavy Losses

British Counter Attack In Imphal Area Stops Japanese Drive

KANDY, CEYLON, April 17 — (AP) — "Very heavy" casualties have been inflicted on the enemy and important positions captured north of Imphal in counter-operation against the Japanese invasion of India, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten announced today in a communique issued from his new operational headquarters here.

The British also improved their positions in the hills northeast of Imphal, beyond the 10-mile rice paddy belt protecting the vital Allied storehouse and supply base.

Allied glider-borne forces have been set down 60 miles northeast of Mandalay in a deep southward penetration of Japanese-held territory in Burma; spotting these adventurous troops in a position to snap enemy supply lines to the north, including those feeding the invaders in eastern India.

Meanwhile, official silence fell over the operations of the glider-borne Chindits whose strategy of infiltration by air, as reported in yesterday's communique, appeared to have promised a new turn to the entire Burma-India campaign.

The Sunday communique said "medium bombers of the Air Commando Force of the Tactical Air Force continued the offensive against enemy communications and in support of ground positions in daylight on April 14 in Yeu, Shwero and Mawlu areas."

Yeu and Shwebo are approximately 60 miles north of Mandalay where the Chindits—British and Indians formerly commanded by the late Maj-Gen. Orde C. Wingate—would be in position to cut the enemy's supply lines to the north, including those to the India invasion front.

Today, however, an official explanation said this section of the communique had referred "erroneously and inadvertently," to ground positions in the Yeu and Shwebo areas.

In other offensive operations to the north Allied forces have made "satisfactory progress" in a campaign to drive the Japanese from the 35-mile road from Kohima to

Jail Lonergan For 35 Years

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP).—Wayne Lonergan was sentenced today to 35 years to life in prison for the bludgeon-strangulation slaying last Oct. 24 of his 23-year-old heiress wife, Patricia Burton Lonergan.

The 26-year-old former R.C.A.F. aircraftsman stood impassively in General Sessions Court as Judge James Garrett Wallace imposed the sentence.

The entire proceedings took less than a minute. Lonergan was convicted of second degree murder March 31 after a sensational trial before a special jury.

The tall prisoner's attorney, Edward V. Broderick, announced immediately that the conviction and sentence would be appealed.

Before pronouncing the sentence, Judge Wallace denied a motion by Broderick that the verdict be set aside as "contrary to weight of creditable or reasonable evidence."

Under law, Lonergan can apply for parole in 23 years and four months, providing his behaviour in prison is good. Had he been given the minimum 20-year-to-life penalty he would have been eligible for parole in 13 years.

3 Peterboro District Men Return From Overseas

Sgt. Robert Blair, 283 Lake Street, who arrived home from overseas Saturday, says that the Army life was the "best job I ever had." Repatriated aboard the hospital ship "Lady Nelson," this veteran of nearly three years' service in England is awaiting word from the Army authorities as to whether he will be discharged or continue in the service.

One of the original members of the 4th Anti-Tank Battery recruited here in Peterborough, Sgt. Blair enlisted in June, 1940, and went to England in October, 1941, after training at Lindsay, New Debert, N.S., and taking courses at Kingston. A gunfitter, he was in charge of the gunshed of his unit.

Made a sergeant in March, 1942, Sgt. Blair has been ill for the past year, and has spent a total of 23 weeks in hospital. In between he was able to return to his unit and resume his work.

Going overseas was something of a homecoming for Sgt. Blair, who was born in Scotland, and has four brothers and a sister over there. He himself came to Canada in 1923, and going back to the Old Country convinced him that there is no place like it. He would like to go back there to live, but most of all would like to go back still a member of His Majesty's forces.

At the point where he was stationed, Sgt. Blair had all too many opportunities to undergo the fearful experiences of air-raids; and the impression they invariably left with him was that the racket or the ack-ack and the danger of the shrapnel falling back down was more terrifying than the thought of the enemy bombs. "I was never away from the raids."

He saw some of the sad aftermath of the costly Dieppe show, the wounded returning Canadians being brought ashore.

Don't Like Italians.

In hospital Sgt. Blair had many opportunities to talk to disabled veterans of the Sicily and Italian campaigns, and without exception there were, he said, glad to be back on English soil. None of them apparently had any use for the Italian people.

In England, Sgt. Blair met many

Sedition Trial Starts For 28

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP).—Twenty-eight men and two women were called to trial in Federal District Court to-day on charges of conspiracy to aid in setting up a National Socialist form of government here in violation of the peace-time sedition act.

As the case opened, defence counsel asked that Attorney General Francis Biddle and F.B.I. director J. Edgar Hoover be required to produce all reports on any investigations made of potential jurors.

Selection of the jury, Justice Department attorneys estimate, will require a least two days.

The 30 defendants are charged in an indictment returned last January with having conspired together with officials of the German Reich and leaders and members of the Nazi party in the United States, Germany and elsewhere, with the intent to interfere with, impair and influence the loyalty, morale and discipline of the military and naval forces of the United States.

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 10 years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Defendants include Gerard Kunze of New oYrk, said by the Justice Department to be the leader of the American Soldier Is Charged With Treason

OMAHA, April 17 — (AP) — Pte. Dale H. Maple, accused of aiding the escape of two German prisoners of war and believed to be the first American soldier in history charged with the equivalent of treason, went on trial today at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

The 23-year-old Harvard graduate is charged with violation of the 58th article of war, which covers desertion, and the 81st, under which he is accused of helping two German war prisoners escape from Camp Hale, Colo., last February. The death penalty is possible under either.

The strict secrecy surrounded the trial, press and radio representatives being barred.

Mosquitoes Range Over France

30 U.S. Fighters Lost In Raid; Destroy 58 Huns

LONDON, April 17 — (CP) — Chief Allied aerial activity over the week-end was directed at targets in the Balkan's and eastern Europe from Italian bases, but R.C.A.F. Mosquitoes ranged deep into France to shoot down three German planes Sunday following Saturday's American fighter foray against German airfields.

Four crews of the crack City of Edmonton Mosquito Squadron figured in Sunday's sweep which took them within 40 miles of the Swiss frontier.

Flt. Lt. J. Harper of Rossland, B.C., destroyed two JU-34s in the air and F.O. Clarence Jasper of Long Beach, Calif., blew up another, in encounters over Luxeuil, France. Seven other aircraft were left flaming on the ground and another badly damaged.

The remainder of the bag was damaged by the guns of Sqdn. Ldr. H. Cleveland of Vancouver and Flt. Lt. J. D. Kerr, Trenton, Ont.

Gave Airdrome the Works

They joined forces to attack a JU87 parked in a field near an airdrome outside Metz. The airdrome apparently was used for teaching purposes because they were a number of Nazi Officers around it.

"We gave it the works," said Cleveland. "Kerr followed in on the attack just about 100 yards behind and you should have seen the Jerries scatter as we raked the aircraft with cannon and machine-gun fire. The 87 went up in smoke."

The Mosquitoes returned without loss and the tally brought the Squadron's score since the previous Sunday to 10 destroyed and several damaged in the air and at least 11 damaged, many beyond repair, on the ground.

Flames Engulf Huge Sea Port Hun Losses Near Half Million

LONDON, April 17 (AP) — The fall of burning Sevastopol, last major Axis bastion in Southern Russia, appeared imminent today as Russian troops were reported smashing through the suburbs two miles from the heart of the city, while Soviet bombers and warships lashed at thousands of Germans and Romanians trying to escape by sea. Field dispatches painted a scene of flaming chaos in the big Black Sea port bombarded incessantly by Russian siege guns commanding the nearby hills and hounded by swarms of planes pouncing on Axis troops streaming for the last ships in a harbor strewn with wreckage and bodies.

Rushing on the besieged city from southeast, a Soviet communique said, one Russian column last night swept up Yalta, once summer residence of the Czars 30 miles east of Sevastopol, and nine other towns along the Russian "Riviera."

Other troops were converging on Sevastopol from the mountains inland, moving along trails chosen to avoid elaborate German minefields and booby traps sowed along the roads in an attempt to gain time.

The Russians seized 3,000 prisoners in the Crimea yesterday, the Soviet communique said, boosting to 40,000 the total captured in the lightning eight-day conquest which has left the Germans holding only 150 square miles of the 9,000-square-mile peninsula.

The communique said that many German generals "left their soldiers to their fate and deserted the Crimea."

Finland Has Rejected New Peace Terms

LONDON, April 17 — (AP) — Finland has rejected revised Russian peace terms but in a note to Moscow has sought to keep open the door to future negotiations, it was learned today.

Both Britain and the United States were believed informed of the decision. The fact that some time has elapsed since the negotiations started, during which the Russian Army has initiated no offensive on the Finnish front, was interpreted here as meaning there still was some chance for peace.

Coal Rations For Canadians To Be Same As Last Year

OTTAWA, April 17—(CP).—Domestic consumers in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces will be allowed the same amount of coal next winter that they burned in the present season, Munitions Minister Howe announced today.

Announcing new regulations, effective at once, Mr. Howe urged consumers to continue the policy of saving one ton in five and said that if everyone would conserve and cooperate with his dealer in accepting delivery of whatever suitable fuel may be available, enough coal will be available to keep all homes adequately heated next winter.

As part of the conservation campaign the Minister suggested fuel should be saved this month by letting furnace fires out as early as possible.

Under the new coal order, issued by Coal Controller E. J. Brunning, the coal year began April 1 and will end March 31, 1945. The 100 per cent. allowance for that period will be based on the corresponding period of 1943-44. Included in the basic period just ended are April and May, 1943, when coal consumption was higher than average because of cold weather.

Allowed Four-Fifths.

Consumers of coke and of anthracite in household sizes will be allowed only four-fifths of their coal requirements in hard coal or coke, and will be permitted to make up the balance of their requirements in substitute fuels.

Owners of blowers or other automatic equipment will be allowed 100 per cent. of their requirements in blower-grade coals or whatever type or types their dealer may be able to

Surprise Raid Gains Ground

NAPLES, April 17 (AP) — The Anzio beachhead has been raided 277 times by a total of 2,472 planes since the Allies landed south of Rome on Jan. 22, headquarters revealed today as ground activity in Italy remained confined to aggressive patrol clashes on all fronts.

Allied troops seized nearly 4,000 prisoners during the 12 weeks and destroyed 200 tanks or self-propelled guns, headquarters added.

Belgrade Hit In Daylight For 1st Time

Balkan Crossroads Fired Before By Nazi Planes

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, April 17—(AP)—Allied air power smashed yesterday at the former Yugoslav capital of Belgrade, the Romanian rail centres of Brasov and Turnu-Severin and last night at Budapest, Hungarian capital, in a Balkan bombardment pattern plainly designed to block supplies to the German armies breasting the Russian advance.

Brasov, an industrial city also known as Kronstadt, is 50 miles north of the Romanian oil centre of Ploesti and only 100 miles from the Red Army front in Romania—the nearest Allied bombers have yet come to the Russian lines.

Brasov lies on the northern slope of the Transylvanian Alps, athwart the rail line used by the Germans to supply their troops fighting in Northern Romania.

Photographs taken during the attack showed between 75 and 100 bomb bursts on the northern sidings in the yards. Lines to the west were cut in several places, it was said, and the rail station, the warehouse area, the locomotive depot, and oil refinery were hit. A nearby airdrome also was given a few bombs and a number of hits were observed on the Schiel Metal Works.

R.A.F. Wellingtons struck at the Budapest rail yards and crewmen said new fires were started in the target area, bombed only four days ago by American four-engined planes.

Making the first Allied raid of the war on the Belgrade area, American heavy bombers struck the Zemum and Pancevo airdromes to the west and also dropped a few bombs on the Rogsarski aircraft factory. At the Zeum airfield, hits were scored on the runways, shops and barracks, it was announced.

Damage Extensive

Belgrade, German headquarters for all the Balkans since last October, was badly damaged by German bombers April 6, 1941, and 12,000 persons were reported killed.

Heavy damage was spread through the rail yards at Turnu-Severin, bottleneck on the Romanian side of the vital Danubian "Iron Gate," by the Sunday daylight attack. R.A.F. Wellingtons had hit similar targets there only the night before.

In a fourth daylight foray into the Balkans, other heavy bombers

Rum-Runner Seeks Pardon

BOSTON, April 17—(CP)—Federal officials here expressed the opinion that since the prohibition act has been repealed this may aid Capt. Moyle C. Randall, 48-year-old Lunenburg, N.S., skipper, charged with rum-running in 1931, in seeking revocation of sentence.

Randall was removed from his vessel, a Canadian freighter, at Gloucester last Friday and brought here as a fugitive from justice en-route to Brooklyn, N.Y., where he was convicted 13 years ago. He jumped $10,000 bail posted after being sentenced to 18 months in jail.

The captain said he hopes to win freedom through a presidential pardon, and his counsel was expected to appeal to the President to issue a pardon due to the repealed legislation and the fact Randall is following an essential occupation.

Ate Lizards To Survive In Jungle

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—(AP).—Worms, lizards and rats became the diet of Capt. Eugene Wallace and two companions, he says during the harrowing months in which "we crawled through the jungles like hunted animals."

"It was that or starve," the 24-year-old flier told an interviewer in describing his long, fever-wracked wanderings as a fugitive from the Japanese after the bomber in which he was co-pilot was shot down on the coast of New Britain.

"One village chief wanted to sell me a bride," he related. "I told him I had no money, but he replied: "You take the bride now — pay later."

"I had to hit the jungle path again. One native had 10 wives. He confided to me: "They too much trouble. I give six away."

After 10 months of tramping, begging food from natives, and suffering from weakness, exhaustion and fever, Capt. Wallace said, he managed to signal an Australian flier and, with his companions, was rescued by plane

Hitler Believed Shortening War Front

Defeats In Russia Forces Fuehrer To Withdraw Troops To New Stations

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The bloody exhibition of warfare at close quarters, now being staged in the environs of the great Crimean Naval base of Sevastopol as the Red Forces fling themselves upon the cornered Hitlerites, naturally claims the main attention of a world which never ceases to thrill over brave deeds.

This battle represents the climax of the brilliant Soviet campaign which has broken Hitler's hold on southern Russia. When historic Sevastopol falls—as fall it must—it will restore to the Muscovites the Crimean Peninsula, which has provided the Nazi Dictator with a powerful air, naval and military base that has been a mighty asset to him in three ways:—

It has shielded his right flank on the mainland. It long enabled him to continue his efforts (though ineffectually) to break into the Caucasian oil fields which he so badly needed. It has permitted him to control the northern waters of the Black Sea and the vital coasts of Romania and Bulgaria.

Still, despite the claim of Sevastopol to the limelight, there's another great Red victory upon the south-eastern Polish front which we must not overlook. That's the capture of the strategic railway junction of Tarnopol after 38 days of fierce fighting in which the German garrison of 16,000 was annihilated barring 2,400 who surrendered.

Some weeks ago I invited you to keep an eye on this battle as one of the highly important engagements of the war. Tarnopol has been the chief bulwark of the Hitlerian line between the Pripet marshes on the north and the Carpathians on the south. That line has been a barrier to the heart of Poland—on the road to Berlin.

The capture of Tarnopol uncovers another even bigger prize—the great railway junction of Lwow a little to the west. This will be the next main objecitve of the Muscovites in that sector.

The capture of Lwow should go far towards forcing the Germans to fall back to the line of the Vistula. It also certainly would expedite the Red drive through the Carpathians into Czechoslovakia at the southern end of the Nazi battleline.

An Important Point

The tenacity with which the Hitlerites have been clinging to Tarnopol and the rest of the line between the Pripet marshes and the Carpathians is clear indication of the importance they attach to this front. It means that if they have the reserves they will defend Lwow and other key points to the last ditch.

This question of reserves and material presents Hitler with a tough dilemma. Shall he take the chance of withdrawing troops from western Europe to meet the Russian menace on the eve of the invasion by the western Allies? It's a terrible gamble whichever way he plays it.

In this connection a Tass News agency dispatch, broadcast from Moscow last night, said a large scale

Seek New Empire Policy

Premiers Meeting In London Soon

LONDON, April 17—(CP Cable).—The Daily Mail said editorially today that "it is not expected that any hard-and-fast long term decisions will be reached" at the forthcoming conference of Dominion Prime Ministers.

After noting varying views of Australia and Canada regarding a common empire foreign policy, the newspaper added, "It is to be hoped that the varying views may be reconciled around the table and that some closer form of collaboration in defence and foreign affairs may be hammered out."

The Empire must speak with a "united voice" if it hopes to rank as an equal among the great powers in future, the Daily Mail said. "We must evolve a common empire policy," it said.

"Mr. Mackenzie King stands for 100 per cent. collaboration in Empire matters but he is opposed to the idea of making the Empire one entity. Canada's proximity to the United States explains this attitude—for if American foreign policy were out of tune with British Imperial foreign policy, the situation of Canada would be unfortunate. The French-Canadians also do not support the Australian Prime Minister Curtin's proposal for a common policy."

Badoglio Forms New Cabinet

New Ministry Suggested By King Victor

NAPLES, April 17—(CP-Reuters).—It was learned on good authority that Marshal Pietro Badoglio this morning tendered his cabinet's resignation to King Victor Emmanuel.

Although this not yet officially confirmed, it is understood the King instructed Badoglio to form a new government.

Negotiations for formation of the new government are proceeding behind the scenes. It is understood the Communists and Socialists, considering themselves jointly the most powerful combination, insist that they be given one of the key ministries.

It is believed that Marshal Badoglio will retain the Foreign Office and has another candidate for Defence. The only key ministry remaining would be the Interior. Likely candidate for this post would be Socialist Pietro Mancini, who is at present Prefect at Cosenza.

A semi-official statement issued by the Italian press ministry said the King had taken note of the resignation and had asked Badoglio to form a new Ministry "with a broad base taking account of wishes expressed by all parties."

Tornado Kills 38 Americans

ATLANTA, April 17. — (AP).— Weary rescue workers, digging into the wreckage left by a tornado that roared over a 100-mile strip in Northeastern Georgia and Western South Carolina early Sunday, fixed the death toll to-day at 38, with more than 300 persons injured.

Twenty-one deaths were reported in Georgia—12 in the Royston area and nine in the Nuburg community of Hart county. Seventeen persons were killed in South Carolina.

American Red Cross representatives said that at least 147 homes were destroyed and 103 homes damaged.

The storm was likened to many a gigantic, death-dealing ball, which bounded from one community to another, leaving untouched spaces between. Others said it "roared like an express train," and was accompanied by heavy rain and electrical display.

The first area hit was in the vicinity of Gainesville, Ga., where in 1936 another tornado killed 183 persons and injured more than 200. The storm then rushed on across the Georgia line into South Carolina, striking at least seven places.

Residents of Royston, a town of 1,400 in Franklin county, Ga., where 12 were killed, said the storm dipped into a row of houses three blocks from the business section, levelling eighth in line.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

DIVORCEE NEEDS MOTHER'S AID

If Frosty Welcome Home Were Realized by Girl, Court Actions Would Be Fewer.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 25 years of age, very attractive and earn my own living. But I have a problem with which many girls are faced in these times. I am divorced and have a 2-year-old daughter. I live with my parents, which should be an ideal arrangement, but it isn't, for my mother thinks that I should just be content to sit and let the world pass me by and devote myself to my baby when I am at home. But I can't see why I should let my baby ruin my life. I am still young. I want to have pleasure and go places like other girls of my age, and to marry again.

Won't you tell mothers of divorced daughters who have children to be more considerate of us? We know we have made a mess of our lives, but we only want a chance to be normal girls again and find another mate. There are four such cases in my office. Our mothers resent having to take care of our children. Mothers just don't seem like mothers anymore.

VERY WORRIED.

Divorced Daughter Needs Mother

ANSWER—I often think that if the young wives, who pack their bags and take the children and go back to their mothers when they lose their taste for their husbands, could foresee what a frosty welcome they would get when they returned to the old home, it would do more than anything else to cut down the divorce rate.

For, no matter how much Mother has "poor-Maryed" her daughter, nor how much she has mingled her tears with Mary's when Mary has complained that her husband is a brute who won't buy her a fur coat, or who raises ructions when the food would give an ostrich dyspepsia, she doesn't want a daughter returned to her like a bad package. Especially if daughter is accompanied by numerous small packages. She has worked and sacrificed to get daughter married and she wants her to stay married.

Mother wants her house to herself. She wants peace and quiet. She wants to be able to go to her clubs. And she emphatically doesn't want to be turned into a baby nurse and to have to listen to the whoops and yells of youngsters. And daughters should show more mercy than they do in offering Mother up as a sacrifice on the altar of their divorces.

And, of course, Mother should have sense enough to recognize the fact that a woman who has been married and borne children, and had her own house, and a husband, and who has gone through all the stress and strain incident to getting a divorce, is no longer an infant in leading strings who has to obey Mother and let Mama supervise her whole plan of life. She is a mature woman, and her bitter experiences often made her older and more worldly wise than her mother will ever be.

In reality, no family problem is ever solved, but it would ease the mother and divorced daughter situation if the daughter would realize that going back home with a divorce and a couple of babies isn't going to turn her into a debutante again, and if Mother could see that instead of opposing her divorced daughter's getting into circulation, she should encourage it, for along with daughter's dates she may get a Number Two husband.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of 17 who has no mother, but a father who has been mother and father both to me. But he doesn't understand a girl's love life. My problem is that I am desperately in love with a boy of 20 and for two years we have been wanting to get married, but although Dad loves this boy and treats him like a son, he refuses to let us marry until I am 18.

His reason for this is selfishness. He loves me and wants to keep me with him and he doesn't realize that he is interfering with a love that can't be held in check forever. Don't you think that if I am old enough to take care of Dad's house I could take care of a husband's?

Father Protects Daughter From Erring

ANSWER—It isn't because your father does not think that you do not know how to manage your ration points and make edible biscuits that he opposes your marrying at 17. It is because he is thinking of what is inside of your heart and mind, and he knows that no girl at that age knows what she is going to want in a husband when she is grown, and he is trying to keep you from making a mistake that may wreck your life.

You won't believe that, yet it is true. The divorce statistics show that the largest percentage of divorces are among those who married when they were young. Don't do it. Listen to your father. He knows. If your love isn't strong enough to stand a year's waiting, how can it last a lifetime?

ANSWER—I understand that Mr. Sinatra is a very decent married man with a wife and children, so I greatly fear that you will be compelled to drag out a miserable existence without his society, or having him croon to you. For Heaven's sake, either brace up and have some sense, or else get your family to have you committed to a Home for the Feeble-Minded.

The new order defines three types of fuel as follows:

Class "A" Fuel—U.S. anthracite larger than No. 1 buckwheat; Welsh anthracite larger than bower size; low volatile coal in screened sizes larger than pea; coke in sizes larger than pea; briquettes, and petroleum coke in household sizes.

The consumer of such fuels will be entitled to order and to receive if available, 80 per cent. his requirements in this class of fuel. He will be permitted to make up the balance of his requirements with Class "C" fuel.

Class "B" Fuel—U.S. No. 1 buckwheat anthracite, U.S. chestnut anthracite (for use in the Maritime provinces only); Welsh anthracite, in all blower sizes, and range size coke (for use in Quebec only).

Get Full Quota.

Such fuels must be supplied only for use in equipment which cannot satisfactorily burn other class of fuel. Such equipment includes blowers and magazine-type heaters. A consumer who depends on such equipment is entitled to purchase, if available, 100 per cent of his permitted requirement in Class "B" fuels.

Class "C" fuels comprise all other coals not included in Classes "A" or "B."

The rates of delivery of Class "A" and Class "B" fuel have been restricted so that all householders will have coal in their bins by the end of September.

Consumers of such coal will receive 40 per cent. of their requirements up to Sept. 1, 20 per cent. between Sept. 1 and Jan. 1 and the balance after January, 1945. It was explained that this arrangement was made because Canadian dealers now receive coal supplies from the United States on a monthly quota basis.

Aircrew Enlisted On Smaller Scale

OTTAWA, April 17.(CP).—Enlistment of aircrew, largely suspended in recent months, is being resumed on a reduced scale in line with the reduction of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced today.

The announcement said:

"Due to recent announcements regarding the closing of some schools, the impression seems to have got abroad that the Air Force is no longer in need of aircrew. This is not true. Although under prior agreement the B.C.A.T.P. would have closed in March, 1945, recent discussions resulted in the decision to continue the plan. There will be a continuous demand for aircrew, but definitely on a reduced scale."

Canada Seeks To Lead Small Nations

SYDNEY, Australia, April 17—(CP)—An Australian newspaperman, A. W. V. King, who stopped off in Canada on his way home from London, has concluded that the Dominion desires recognition as leader of the small nations.

King, former editor of the Sydney Morning Herald, instanced Canada's expanding foreign service and representation on such bodies as the combined production, food and shipping boards in Washington and the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration as showing how Canada is "reaching out into the world field."

"Some observers — Canadian as well as others—believe it denotes a Canadian ambition, he said. "Canada realizes she cannot be classed with the great powers. She therefore desires recognition as the leader of the small nations, including the Dominions.

"Mutual aid, Canada's version of lend-lease, is another example of Canada's expanding international interest."

Feels Her Strength

King said Canada feels her strength in this war and is giving it expression in many ways but "it must be emphasized that this spirit of national independence is not a desire to break from the Commonwealth."

It does, however, color Canada's attitude in Commonwealth relationships and her sentiments about Pan-Americanism, he said.

Official Canada sees little difference between Prime Minister John Curtin's recent proposals for improved Commonwealth consultations and co-operation and Canada's attitude, King said.

He quoted Prime Minister Mackenzie King as saying the Curtin proposals had been rather misunderstood in Canada.

"As I see it," the Canadian Prime Minister was quoted, "Mr. Curtin wants a better method of consultation. That is an objective with which I am entirely in sympathy. I am a little doubtful, however, about the desirability of regular conferences. It would be most difficult to get the people who really matter together all the time.... The idea of a secretariat is quite good but that is what the Dominions Office is doing, although it is not called by that name. I do not think Mr. Curtin and I are far apart."

The Australian correspondent said the Canadian Liberal party "intently watches the trend of opinion in French Canada, which, containing more than a third of the Dominion's population, wields an important political power and exerts a significant influence over the Liberal party's policy."

"The vociferous French-Canadians are chiefly responsible for the Government's growing activities in international affairs. This internationalism has been set up as a policy parallel to continued allegiance to the Commonwealth structure."

Calling the Canadian Prime Minister "one of the world's most astute politicians," the Australian writer added: "He does not sacrifice much support from the majority of voters by continuing his present policy on Commonwealth affairs.

"He appeals to many sections in all parts of Canada by parallel internationalism and to practically all Canadians by emphasizing the growing national independence, even if it is within the Commonwealth framework...."

'Co-operation but not consolidation is Canada's attitude towards commonwealth affairs and, apart from other reasons, she wants other nations to know that attitude. That is why Lord Halifax's (Toronto) speech, which has been interpreted rightly or wrongly by most Canadians as a plea for a more uniform and more rigid policy, caused so much discussion—most of it critical.

"Canada wants to make no commitments that would give the world the impression that she is "ganging up," with the rest of the British commonwealth as a bloc to preserve world balance of power."

King said the C.C.F. "has said little about its commonwealth policy but it is believed that it is practically the same as the Liberals."

The correspondent said Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative leader in the House of Commons, told him he would like to see the ties closer. Graydon told him, King wrote, that the party's executive would annunce its policy on commonwealth affairs when furnished with reports by groups studying the question.

Trent Valley I.O.D.E. Holds Dance

CAMBELLFORD, April 17 (ENS) — The Trent Valley Chapter, I.O.D.E. War Services Fund was substantially increased by proceeds of the dance they sponsored here on March 31. This was indicated in a complete report given members by the treasurer, Miss Pearl McComb at the regular meeting on Friday. The Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside, presided for the meeting and one new member was welcomed.

As a further part of their war services it was announced the Chapter would send cigarettes to the brothers and husbands of members (15 in all) and these would be sent at the rate of 300 each month so that it would take 15 months before each had received his quota. As a purely personal service they decided to also send greeting cards to all members of the services who are overseas.

For their meeting next month each member was urged to bring a book or magazine suitable for soldiers and during the evening a considerable amount of material for sewing and knitting was handed out to volunteers. This represented work in addition to the layettes which each of the 4 groups is making for shipment to England. The Regent announced the Chapter's next project would be the sponsoring of a recital to be presented by the senior pupils of Mrs. A. G. Watson during the latter part of May. The Empire Study period was taken by Miss Dianna Ironside who told the story of the I.O.D.E. badge.

The Propaganda Of Nostalgia

The Germans are using an interesting type of propaganda in their attempts to undermine the morale of the American troops who are fighting in Italy in the beachhead below Rome and on the Cassino front. They are dropping pamphlets which are designed to awaken the nostalgia of the soldiers for the home-life which they have left, for the girls whom they knew in the U.S., for the movies, for swing-bands, for big juicy steaks, and for everything which a soldier might be expected to associate with peace and pleasure.

The writer of the pamphlets puts himself in the place of the soldier's friend. Think, he urges, of the girl whom you left at home, and who may never see you again. Remember, this is a rich man's war but a poor man's fight. Your government and your President have broken promise after promise which they have made to other people; do you think that they will keep their promises to you? Don't be a sucker; be a wise guy and see now where your interest lies.

This propaganda is insidious, and the New York Times warns that it would be unrealistic to pretend that it fails 100 per cent. But it fails substantially. American soldiers are fond of girls and steaks and movies, it is true, but those are not the only things they are fond of. They have been in battle long enough to get a good idea of what the Germans are like, and how much their friendship is worth. This girl-and-steak propaganda doubtless appeals to something in every hungry and weary soldier, but his brain tells him that the only way to get back to the steaks and the movies is to win the war, irrevocably. American soldiers are fond of many soft things, but the Germans make a terrible mistake in imagining that they are themselves soft for that reason.

Problems Of Indian Thought

A great many well-meaning and humane people in the United States—and there are some of their kind in Canada also—appear to think that the problems of India could be solved if the British would give up their claim to that country and leave the Indians to rule themselves. These good folk seem to have picked up the idea somewhere that the Indian people are enamoured of western democratic institutions, and would hasten to turn India into a country something like the United States if only the British would free them from the imperial yoke.

People who hold such opinions cannot have even the most elementary knowledge of Indian life and thought; being simple people themselves, they imagine that the Indians are also simple. Nothing could be less true. The Indians are mentally and socially complex to a degree which we can hardly comprehend. Their civilization is a very old and very great one, somewhat degenerate in its present form, but mighty still. Many of their philosophical concepts are magnificent; certain phases of their many religions command our admiration. But they also believe things which make democracy in the western manner quite out of the question in India.

For example, Dr. R. B. Gullison recently published an article in the Narrator in which he dealt briefly with Indian sacred animals and their part in Indian life. In India man is not the lord of creation; he is inferior in importance to the sacred cows which roam at large and must be fed; there are estimated to be 60 of these beasts for every 100 of the population. The rat is sacred in India, as it is one of the forms of the god Gampati, and so may not be slain; it is said that what the rats eat would feed forty million people. The monkey is a member of the family of Hanuman, and may not be slain or hindered. And the snake is a form of the god Nag, and must be propitiated with gifts of butter and eggs; yet snakes kill 20,000 Indians every year.

The license of these Indian animals is difficult for us to understand. Even so a traveller from some cleaner part of the world might wonder why the English-speaking people permit dogs to void on the pavements and buildings of large cities, although human beings are forbidden to do so. The sacred cows of India—the sacred dogs of Canada—every country has its follies.

But a country where several groups of animals have superior rights, and where human life is held cheap will not be a democracy for a few thousand years. The Indians think in their own way, and are not anxious to change that way for ours.

Religion In The Schools

The proposal of the Ministry of Education to establish religious instruction in the schools of Ontario met with widespread support, and the opinion was expressed in many newspapers that a really satisfactory course of Bible study, or religious history, would be a valuable addition to the curriculum. But the warning was also given that an inadequate course of religious training would be worse than none at all. This latter expression of opinion comes to mind now, when the plans for religious instruction seem to be dwindling.

For a time, we understand, the religious course will be given only in the secondary schools. Is not that beginning at the wrong end of the scale? School work is lighter in the elementary schools, and if another subject is to be added to the curriculum, that is the place to do it, and not in the collegiate institutes, where the course of study is painfully crowded now.

We also understand that as yet there is no course of study outlined, no textbook chosen, and no manual prepared for this course, which will nevertheless begin in September. For a subject which requires such careful approach, this hardly seems adequate. It must be remembered that the teachers must acquaint themselves with the matter to be taught and the manner of teaching it, before they can begin work with their pupils. If the teachers are to be prepared hastily during the summer vacation they will certainly not have time to master a difficult new subject.

If the matter of religious instruction in the schools is bungled it will not be long before there is agitation to discontinue it. Unless the job is to be done thoroughly, it will be an unprofitable waste of time. It would be wiser to postpone the beginning of the course for a year, and to take time to prepare a good course, a good textbook, and to see that the teachers are themselves well-prepared for this new work.

Life Of C. F. Sise

An interesting biography of Charles Fleetwood Sise, the founder of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, has recently been written by R. C. Fetherstonhaugh of Montreal. Sise was a man of many talents and varied career. He was the son of a ship-owner of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and he went to sea when he was seventeen; by the time he was 21 he was master of a vessel. After four years of voyaging he settled in Mobile, and when the American Civil War broke out he was active in the Southern cause; he was, in fact, a member of the celebrated Crescent Regiment of New Orleans, and on one occasion he undertook an important mission to England on behalf of the South.

As a New Englander who had been on the Southern side in the war Mr. Sise occupied a curious position in the U.S. after it, and it was for this reason that he failed to receive the appointment to the presidency of a bank in Boston which he wanted. So he accepted an offer to go to Montreal and organize the Bell Telephone Company, and in this way Canada gained a distinguished resident.

The principles which C. F. Sise laid down for the governance of the company are substantially those which maintain today. A quotation from a letter which he wrote in 1887 is interesting.... "I can say with truth that this Company has never taken advantage of its practical monopoly, but has adopted every improvement as soon as known... and has endeavoured to give the public the best service at the lowest rate compatible with the interests of its shareholders". The Bell Telephone Company might say that with equal justice today, for it is perhaps the best example of an enlightened monopoly which exists in this country.

This life of the founder and second president of the Bell Telephone Company is an interesting addition to the history of the growth of commerce in Canada, and has more than usual point because the son of C. F. Sise, Charles F. Sise the younger, is the present and fourth president of that large organization.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In these mad, carefree days when money means nothing, we tend to talk of billions and millions as though there were no great difference between them. It is well to bear in mind that a billion bears the same relation to a million that a ten dollar bill does to a cent.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

LET us hope that before this is published we may be on the fields, and that the land is fit to get on. In any event wait for a dry surface. Sticky soil should not be much disturbed. Grass fields may offer an early opportunity for harrowing. A good seed bed, granular in its composition, is necessary, the best of selected seed testing high for germination and the earliest possible sowing under good condions will make for a fair harvest prosppect.

The Dominion Experimental Farms have been making tests as to the amount of seed to sow for the best results in barley. If barley is seeded before May 15 lighter seeding is recommended. If after that date larger amounts should be sown, thus the variation in the quantities per acre are made with this in view. With O.A.C.21, a popular variety in this province, the amounts per acre suggested are from 1¾ to 2 bushels, and the same amounts are suggested for Mensury, Wisconsin 38, Regal, Prospect and Titan. For Gartons one-quarter bushel less is suggested. Varieties known as Plush, Newal and Warrior require heavier seeding, 2 to 2¼ bushels per acre, and for Sanalta, Rex and Hauchen seeding from 2¼ to 2½ bushels are recommended. Local conditions and fertility of soil must be taken into account, these being the things which make it so important that the farmer must make many decisions for himself based upon the knowledge he has gained about his own land.

Following our short grain crop of last year every effort should be made to secure as large a yield of grain as possible in Ontario this year. We may not have an abundance of oats and barley to draw from during the following twelve months, and feed grains are going to be in keen demand in the immediate future so we should stimulate this crop with liberal, but judicious, applications of fertilizer. We should also use lime in greater quantities than we have been doing. A few tons of lime doesn't cost very much and it has a most improving effect, particularly on our clay land. This should be a year to use more lime than usual.

Before this year is out farmers will be needing feeds rich in protein and soybeans and field peas are useful crops for this purpose. A small quantity of peas sown in a field with oats will increase the yield and will enrich the feed to be harvested from it. Mixed grain crops usually, or almost always, give an increased yield per acre and this is the year to provide for such a possibility, but above everything, I wish to repeat again, sow nothing but the best seed you can get. When we remember that seed may multiply from twenty to forty fold we realize its primary importance to a crop.

THE session of the Ontario Legislature closed some days ago and a "packet" of legislation was put through. I am interested only in what is done about Agriculture. The whole world is alive to the necessity for something unusually progressive in Agricultural Education but in Ontario it would almost seem as though all three parties had agreed to do nothing. The Ontario Agricultural College was mentioned in a casual fashion by two or three members, one with a suggestion that it should have a Board of Governors, and another to the effect that there should be shorter courses. I wonder if the parties who mentioned the latter knew that there was no two-year course at the O.A.C. this year. The process of throttling the Farmers' Course has been going on for two or three years. The first action was, I believe, for the Department of Agriculture to refuse to allow any money to be spent to advertise this course and when the effort was made to strangle the College by turning it into a wireless school, all advertising of the College was dropped.

The killing of the Farmers' Course was then attempted in a more direct fashion. This course was not to be continued unless there were at least 10 students registered for it. That didn't quite accomplish the apparent objects in view, so this number was raised to 15 for the present term, opening last autumn, and as no effort was made to let farm boys know that his course was being given, the apparent end was achieved, and this two year course has been abandoned.

It is passing strange that no member took this up during the recent session. Their attention was given to the "Stock Yards" proposition which, I am told, will cost to purchase two and a half million dollars, and at best is only a feeding and sheltering place for meat animals as they pass through, but no time for Agricultural Education. There is to be a Stock Yards Board, of 7 members appointed by the Government; provision is made for paying expenses of the Board and also fees by the Government, so it is just seven more jobs.

NO one had even an expression of regret to make about the closing of the Kemptville School of Agriculture—not even the member for that constituency. The interest in Agricultural Education is not very much alive in Canada, as a matter of fact, but Ontario led with an effort to cripple it pretty completely. In England new Schools of Agriculture have been opened during the war and the Old Land will likely teach us a few lessons in production, when the war ends, that may arouse us when it is a bit late to the value of science in farming.

THE question as to how many people are engaged in farming has come to the front in the consideration of after-war problems. There are only about one quarter of the people in the United States engaged in agriculture but when we begin to look over the whole world, with its approximate population of some two billion people, it is found that about two thirds of the whole people are engaged tilling the soil or approximately one billion three hundred million humans. Many of these farms in a very primitive fashion, as in India and China for example, but their only occupation is farming, and their only possibility of earning a living is by growing their food and clothing on the land. There are parts of the Southern United States where men till their soil with a one mule team, and if their wants were not few they would have some trouble satisfying them. I have driven through Georgia and have seen men tapping the turpentine woods as a source of income, and I've seen hill billies cultivating very "unprosperous" farms in Tennessee. We have in our own country many pioneer efforts that are not making much progress on the land.

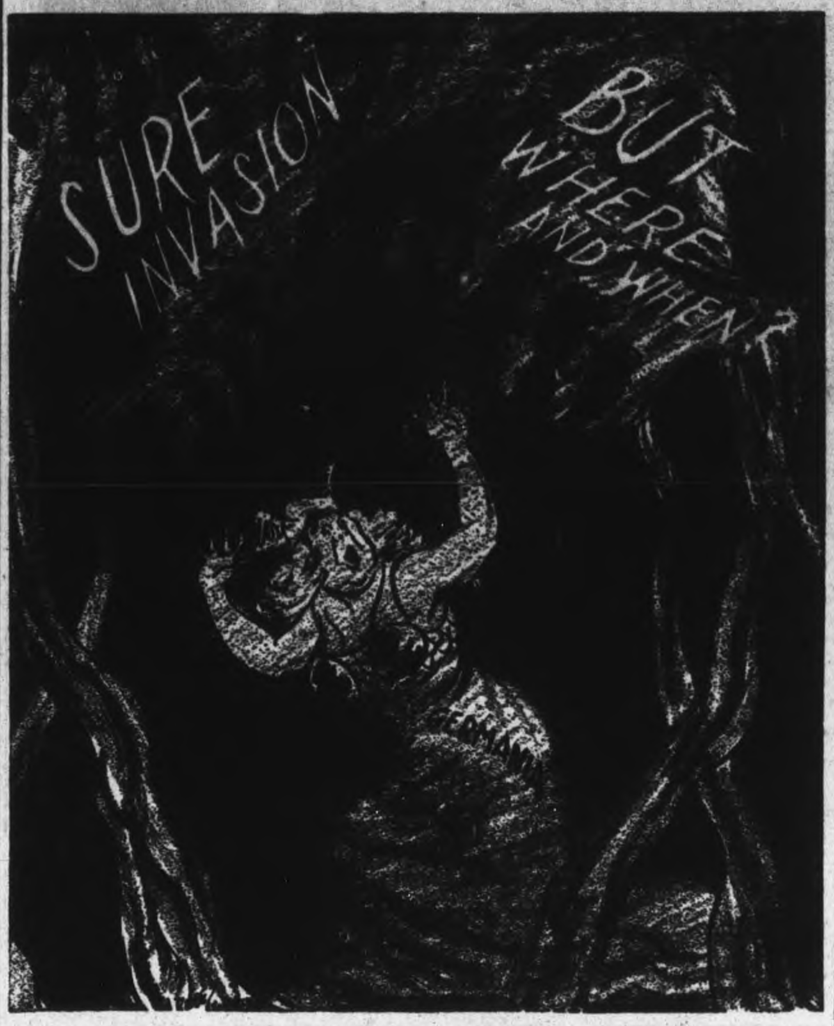
LADY IN THE DARK —By Goldberg



England's Way With Spring

THE arrival of spring in most of America is sudden.... We wake one morning to a new warmth in the air, to the sound of dripping eaves, and to a sun whose heat by noon has opened our coats and made us call excitedly to friends on the streets that spring is really here. Following a night of warm rain, dandelions glow in the new grass; orchards bloom and fade in one short week of sudden warmth; song sparrows give place to thrushes before we are aware.

This is not England's way. Her tardy spring does not appear in any such vivacious manner, has none of the swift, breath-taking qualities of that at home, although it is prodigal beyond words when it is once upon her. It begins its leisurely unfolding in late January, braving some of the worst weather this island can produce; it saves its completeness for the entire month of May when the whole land slowly spreads itself in bloom. One can, therefore, watch minutely its beginnings, its retardings, its progress step by step, for literally four months of the new year. For this reason it is in England the most rewarding of seasons, dilatory and unhurried, spacing its surprises comfortably and well....

Slowly the spring comes on its way, retreating before days of cold rain and weeks of blustering wind. But the vanguards tenaciously remain as an earnest—snowdrops, aconites, and crocuses, early blossoming plums, the frail lavender flowers of the rosemary, the first green of the hedges....

At five o'clock one mid-April morning one is suddenly awakened by the cuckoo, calling from far across the fields, invisible in his covert. And now, one says, spring has come. There is no longer any question. The cuckoo is everywhere accepted as the proof. As the days advance, he is the most ubiquitous of birds. From one place or another, always baffling the seeker, he calls from dawn till dark. Warm mid-days are his delight and drowsy afternoons. Taught by Wordsworth and other English friends of his charm, I had long counted him one of the major reasons for watching a spring in England....

But it is May which completes the long travail of the spring. There is nothing elsewhere that I know even remotely resembling this month in England. By May the spring is at its full. The wonder is that it is held so long in its completeness, that its flood tide does not diminish.—From "This England," by Mary Ellen Chase. (New York: Macmillan.)

Maybe This Explains It

Americans are exceedingly "touchly" about outsiders criticizing their political affairs, but they themselves are much addicted to criticizing the political affairs of other nations—particularly British affairs. This is especially true just now with regard to the suspension of immigration of Jews in Palestine. For instance, Senator Guy M. Gillette, Iowa Democrat, stated Sunday night that he had nothing but contempt for a nation that violates its pledged word.

It might be noted, however, that there were 4,775,000 Jews in the United States at the last census. The number is probably around 5,000,000 today. They represent an immense number of votes, and this is election year in the United States. There are so few Arabs in the United States that their number is not mentioned in the World Almanac; probably only a few carpet sellers.

As to breaking pledges, something of that kind happened in 1919 when the United States Senate repudiated President Wilson's adherence to the League of Nations after Great Britain and other countries had been led to expect U.S. ratification was only a matter of form.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Down With Dancing

One of Petain's first measures was to forbid all public dancing. But young people continued to dance, and as all public dancing halls were shut they flocked to the so-called dancing classes. Vichy, perhaps urged by the German Gestapo, which does not like to think of Frenchmen meeting one another in private, has now succeeded in shutting most of these schools.

The professors have to pass a stiff examination, at which half of them are refused. No more than fifteen couples may take lessons at the same time.

In consequence (reports a correspondent in a neutral capital) the number of people why may dance at the same time in Paris is exactly 645. Inspectors make their rounds and report whether they had any difficulty in getting in and whether the pupils were really being taught to dance. If the professor is caught teaching "swing" his license is at once taken away. Pupils may not leave the room during the lesson in order to enter a restaurant.—Manchester Guardian.

A Girl to Admire

Now and then we all meet a girl in whose presence we just sort of sit back and admire. One like that is Second Officer Myrtle Allen, a fine looking New Jersey girl just home from 18 months in England, where she ferried heavy bombers from factories—one of the original 25 American girl flyers taken to England in 1942 by the famous Jacqueline Cochran to release R.A.F. boys for combat flying.

Myrtle flew her own small 'plane before joining up, getting her air hours while working in the advertising dodge here. She loved her ferrying job in England—and she tells me that after the war she'll keep right on in some form of aviation.—New York Post Columnist.

Unconsidered Trifles

Moliere was asked why in some countries the king may assume the crown when 14 years old, but cannot marry until he is 18.

"Because it is more difficult to rule a wife than a kingdom," was the reply.

Two young men at a big function made a bet that the host and hostess were so tired of murmuring appropriate phrases that they took in very little of what was said to them. One of the young men determined to prove his point. As he reached the distinguished couple he bowed, took the extended hand, and said: "I murdered your mother this morning!"

"Very glad to meet you!" said the host, beaming the set beam. "This is my wife—"

The daring young man scarcely had time to straighten his face before he bowed over the hostess's hand.

"I murdered your father!" he said.

"Most kind!" murmured the tried woman. "Charming of you!"

American and British

In fairness then to our American guests we should remember these few but fundamental facts:

1—That they are foreigners. Only a small percentage have any British forbears.

2—That the similarity between our languages is misleading. Try out the word "homely" on any American, and you will see what I mean.

3—That they are all young in spirit as well as in body, and that the mistakes that they make are likely to spring from too quick enthusiasm and too little background.

4—That though we may be spiritually far more civilized, materially they have the advantage. They know the value of comfort; we don't.

5—That they are no more superior to us than we are to them. We throw our weight about when it comes to antiquity. We can hardly blame them if they throw their weight about when it comes to size. It is worth noticing that they very seldom do so.

6—That like all children they are very sensitive. They mistake our British reticence and reserve for the cold shoulder and positive dislike. They come from a land where everybody knows everybody, and everybody entertains everybody at sight. The contrast makes us seem unfriendly.—S. P. B. Mais in Bristol Post.

A Bible Message

Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. ....Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. (Isa. 52: 13; 53: 4, 5.)

And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven.

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night. And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their their lives unto the death.

Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. (Rev. 12: 7-12.)

Yorkshire Moving Backwards

In the minds of many English readers Yorkshire is synonymous with the Brontes and the Brontes are synonymous with bleak days and wild nights of storm on the moors. These majestic, tormented sisters were born at Thornton in the East Riding; but it was at Haworth in the West Riding that Charlotte and Emily lived later and wrote. They were themselves temperamentally so much akin to nature's sombre moods, and their lives were so tempest-swept at home and elsewhere, that it is difficult to get the right perspective in a mental view of them. Yet even in Wuthering Heights, that superb masterpiece of an imagination in travail, there are agonising happy sensations as well as agonizing bitter ones, and nature there is not always grim....

Nevertheless, the more the reader knows of the Brontes — and probably far too much has been told and conjectured of them—the more does poetic justice seem to cry out for identity between the external setting of their lives and their own inward unrest and the doom that was always at their heels.... The Bronte museum still has its visitors, mostly members of the forces from abroad, though people nearer at home are exploring their own district now that travelling is difficult and everyone has to conduct a colloquy with his conscience before taking a railway journey. Yorkshire is another of those parts of Britain in which the centuries at present seem to be moving backwards. Reference to parish registers shows that a good deal of land recently brought under the plough is again as it was generations back, and the fields at Haworth have a seventeenth-century look. — From "A Literary Journey Through Wartime Britain," by A. C. Ward.

Pacific Bases Battered Anew

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 17.—(AP). —Allied airmen who have poured more than 3,000 tons of bombs on Japanese bases along the strategic north coast of New Guinea in the past two weeks, kept up the hammering by giving Aitape its most severe pounding of the war, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

Heavy and medium bombers, accompanied by a strong force of attack planes and covered by fighters, dropped 284 tons of explosives Saturday on Aitape, midway between Hollandia and Wewak, both of which have taken a merciless beating this month.

Fuel and supply areas were ignited, the nearby village of Pro was wiped out and enemy installations on the numerous offshore islands were badly mauled.

No aerial interception was encountered and the anti-aircraft was negligible.

Heavy bombers also ranged into the Caroline Islands to hit Truk with 27 tons of explosives despite interception by night fighters, and sank a small enemy ship at Puluwat atoll, 200 miles west.

Rabaul on New Britain caught 100 tons in the morning and afternoon attacks which tore up the Vunakanau airdrome runway and caused a huge explosion in the Rataval supply area.

Meanwhile bombing of Japanese bases along the northern route to the enemy's homeland continued into its fourth successive day, with a night attack by Aleutian-based heavy bombers on Matsuwa Isand in the Kurile chain.

Army Launches Anti-Dust Drive

OTTAWA, April 17—(CP). — The "greatest anti-dust campaign ever attempted by the Canadian Army" has been launched in an attempt to reduce the spread of respiratory diseases in army camps, defence headquarters announced today.

Respiratory casualties alone treated in military hospitals in Canada have been averaging 35,000 a year, the announcement said. "The cost to the taxpayer has been in the neighborhood of $6,000,000 annually."

"The loss to the army in 1942 amounted to 500,000 man-days, enough to fight the Canadian part of the Sicilian campaign, with 200,000 man-days left over. An average of 1,000 Canadian soldiers a year have been discharged as a result of respiratory infections — too badly wrecked in health to be of any further use to the army."

Of the many new measures being employed against the dust hazard, the change in sweeping methods in army huts is considered of first importance, the announcement said. Old methods which required that each soldier sweep under and around his own bunk, have been condemned by medical officers as a major factor in the spread of dust-borne diseases. Dust-control regulations now require that all hut sweeping be done by orderlies, after the rest of the occupants have left the building.

Hereafter at regular intervals during the night, the orderly on duty will open the doors of the huts and permit a current of fresh air to blow out the "stagnant air."

Blankets, heretofore shaken inside every morning, now will be shaken out in the open air. Once a week they will be spread out on racks and aired in the sunlight. The old-fashioned "Aldershot" method of rolling bankets up tight during the daytime has been condemned as a dust trap and breeding place for air-borne germs.

Under new regulations all blankets are spread loosely across the bunks in a sort of "accordian pleat," exposing greater areas to fresh air and light. The dangers of coughing, sneezing and spitting without first covering the mouth or nose and many of the other "common crimes" against hygiene are being stressed by officers.

The announcement said the anti-dust campaign was launched after a trial campaign at Camp Borden reduced casualties with respiratory diseases from 65 to 50 per cent. It is hoped that the Dominion-wide campaign will keep between 10,000 and 12,000 soldiers out of hospital annually.

Mrs. Cliff Cadd Singles Champ In Badminton

The Peterborough Badminton club held their annual playoffs and election of officers at the Market Hall Saturday evening. The brand of badminton played was not as good as that of former years, all the games in the championship matches being won in two straight games. The consolation matches were more closely contested and some hard fought games were seen.

Mrs. Cliff Cadd won the ladies' singles in two straight games without much effort. Grant Henry again won the men's singles from George Blais. Blais extended Henry in the second game, but Henry had too much experience.

Mrs. Cliff Cadd and Ethel Brownlee took the ladies' doubles from Mrs. W. Preston and Audrey Baker. Cadd and Brownlee were playing in top form and had no trouble taking the match in two games. Bill Brown and Bob Baker took the men's doubles title away from Grant Henry and Max Rishor in two games. Rishor did not play his usual steady game and Brown's smashes were too hot to handle. Miss A. Sisson and G. Henry won the mixed doubles in two straight from Mrs. B. Copping and Max Rishor.

The consolation singles produced a hard fought game in which Cliff Cadd won. The ladies' doubles were the only matches of the evening to go three games and the men's doubles were possibly the keenest struggles of the night in which Leo Copp and Ed Johnston won.

At the annual meeting D. A. Drynan, Jack Watts, H. Shields, E. Johnston, Bob Baker, Mrs. B. Copping and Miss E. Brownlee were again elected as the executive. President D. A. Drynan stated the club was in a strong financial position and thought it possible to operate next season two nights a week. A fine lunch was served by the social conveners, Miss E. Brownlee and Mrs. B. Copping.

Lieut.-Col. C. Stuart refereed the games.

The results were:

Championship:

Ladies' singles—Mrs. Cliff Cadd defeated Miss M. Troke 11-5, 11-4.

Men's single—Grant Henry defeated George Blais 15-3, 15-7.

Ladies' doubles—Mrs. C. Cadd and Miss Ethel Brownlee defeated Mrs. W. Preston and Miss Audrey Baker 15-4, 15-5.

Men's doubles—Bill Brown and Bob Baker defeated G. Henry and Max Rishor 15-8, 15-7.

Mixed doubles—Miss A. Sisson and G. Henry defeated Mrs. B. Copping and M. Rishor, 15-4, 15-6.

Consolation

Ladies' singles—Miss Ruth Johnstone defeated Miss Helen Mathias 11-4, 11-4.

Men's singles—Cliff Cadd defeated Williard Elmsley 15-10, 15-11.

Ladies' doubles—Mrs. L. Copp and Mrs. G. Rishor defeated Miss A. Sisson and Mrs. J. Sparrow 17-14, 6-15, 15-11.

Men's doubles—L. Copp and Ed. Johnston defeated V. Donoghue and R. Charlton 15-12, 18-16.

Mixed doubles—Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown defeated Miss J. Moore and M. Baker 15-10, 15-1.

Kitchener Men Present Prizes At YMCA Saturday

Featured by the presence of the president and secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Volleyball Association and of the members of the Kitchener-Waterloo team, for years Ontario senior champions, the banquet in the Y.M.C.A. Saturday night in honor of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. volleyball team, this year's provincial senior title-holders, was a most enjoyable event.

The gathering also honored George Scott's team, this year's winner of the Lillico trophy, the Algerines, basketball house league champions, the C.G.E. cage team, winners of the City Basketball League, and Bill Lech, Peterborough winner of the Dominion junior breast stroke swim title and his coach, Gord. Minty. Charles S. Cummer was the efficient chairman of the happy affair and there was a large attendance.

El. Jones was in charge of the community singing, with Jack Marshall at the piano.

In his opening address Chairman Cummer extended a hearty welcome to the officials of the Ontario Volleyball Association and the members of the Kitchener-Waterloo team and congratulated the Peterborough team on their win.

Al Webber of Kitchener, president of the Ontario Volleyball Association, made the presentation of the Ontario senior championship shield to the Peterborough team. In doing so the president referred to the fact that the Kitchener and Peterborough teams had been opponents on many occasions and he said the former had always enjoyed playing against the Peterborough team. "We found them not only good volleyball players but fine sports" said Mr. Webber.

Claude Elliott, manager of the Peterborough team, replied to the presentations and declared that they too always enjoyed meeting the Kitchener players in the Ontario series. The members of the chappion team were introduced by Mr. Elliott as follows: Ab. Dryland, capt., Cliff Cadd, Stan. Payne, Russ Kitchen, Don. Crawford, Eric Vincent, Capt. Ken Kingston, Nels. Stanger, Steve Csumrik and Bill Swiss.

The Chester Kemp Shield

Dr. H. M. Yelland presented the Chester Kemp Memorial Trophy to the C.G.E. team, winners of the City Basketball League. The trophy, he explained, had been donated by Ross L. Dobbin, W. A. Richardson and Wm. D. Campbell in memory of an old teammate of theirs in Y.M.C.A. circles, the late Chester Kemp.

Harry Currie, captain of the C.G.E., received the shield and there were crests for the members of the winning team: Harry Currie, Joe Stewart, R. Reid, R. McCuaig, W. Keagan, Bill Jones, Don. Davis and Gord. Johnston.

The Lillico Trophy, emblematic of the Y.M.C.A. Volleyball League championship and won earlier in the day by George Scott's team, was presented to that team by Charles Lacheur who told how he had enjoyed watching the games during the past season. George Scott acknowledged the presentation, remarking that he had finally won the honors after 15 years. The winning team was as follows: George Scott, capt., Russ Kitchen, Don. Crawford, Grant Palmer, G. Foster, C. S. Cummer, A. Wilson and Walter Kidd.

Capt. Ken Kingston, of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, presented the Dominion Life Trophy to the Algerines, the House Basketball League champions.

E.R.A. Joe Stewart, now with the R.C.N.V.R., received the shield and introduced the members of his team, Al. Stewart, Vic. Griffin, Bill Jones, Ray Kidd, Don Davis, also now in the Navy, J. Thompson and George Bouch, for whom there were crests.

The 1943 Crests

Jim McLeod of Kitchener, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Volleyball Association presented championship crests to the Peterborough team for winning the intermediate honors in 1943. He explained that these had been delayed through wartime conditions making it impossible for a long time to get them made. The members of the intermediate winners of the year ago were practically the same squad that took the senior honors this year. Capt. Ken Kingston was given an extra crest to take overseas to Jim Gillespie as a memento of Peterborough volleyball.

Bill Lech, Peterborough boy who won the Dominion junior breast stroke championship, was introduced to the gathering along with his coach, Gordon Minty, and they both got a big hand, as did Doug. Loomis when his presence was officially noted from the chair.

A feature of the occasion was the presentation by Claude Elliott of a stout-looking pair of suspenders to Jim Wharry. The gift was prefaced by a long indictment of the Quaker Oats executive by Claude Elliott on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors and the officers of the volleyball league, charging him with having little or no control of his trousers during league games. The arraignment was punctuated by continual laughter that was redoubled when the accused defended himself against the charge and offered his explanation. Furthermore he carried the war into Africa by declaring that he saw no reason why he should not have been given a place on the senior volleyball squad.

It was an amusing interlude that was one of the highlights of a most enjoyable banquet.

The 48th annual Boston Marathon Wednesday has attracted the smallest entry list in a score of years with the names of only 65 gallopers sent in for the Revere Day grind of 26 miles, 385 yards, under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association.

The field includes three former winners, however, one of them being Sgt. Gerard Cote of Ste. Hyacinthe, Que., who captured the trophy in 1940 and 1943. Another two-timer is Ellison (Tarzan) Brown, the Rhode Island Indian who headed the pack home in 1936 and 1939. John Kelly, a West Acton, Mass., entrant, broke the tape back in 1935.

The Canadian doubles squash championshpi was won Saturday night at Montreal by Donald Grant and John Smith of the Rockaway Hunting Club, New York by a 3-2 score against Lieut. Ken. Chantler and Pte. Tim O'Keefe of Montreal.

Gremlins took the Western Canadian senior basketball title but the runners-up, Edmonton Engineers will now play a sudden death game against Vancouver Combines tonight for the right to meet Hayes Steel at St. Catharines for the Dominion title because the Air Force team cannot travel east.

NEW YORK— (AP)— All three horses in Jamaica's $10,000 Excelsior handicap Saturday wound up in a photo-finish which went to Alex Barth from the Millbrook stable, paying $11.30 to $2. SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Volleyball, for several years a major sport around the Y.M.C.A. really came into its own Saturday. In the first place the battle for the Lillico Trophy terminated with a red-hot final struggle between teams led by George Scott and "Hip" Hardill, with the former coming home in front. Then there was an enjoyable banquet to honor Y.M.C.A. volleybal team, Ontario senior champions and finally came a fine exhibition of volleyball between the Kitchener-Waterloo squad, for 12 years senior provincial champions, and the local team. The fight for the Lillico Trophy in the afternoon was a torrid affair until the third game when the Scott outfit finally won going away. The first game was a thriller. Scott's team opened at top speed and soon set up a lead of 13 to 2 and looked to have the thing in the bag. Then the Hardill squad rallied and when the smoke cleared away the two teams were tied. Scott eventually won by 17 to 15 but it was a close fit. Hardill put on the power in the second game and playing sound volleyball annexed a 15 to 11 win to square the match and leave everything up to the third game. However the Hardill team bogged down in the final tilt and were beaten 15 to 6 to give Scott and his comrades the victory. It was a fitting climax to a great season of volleyball.

The banquet at which honors were paid not only to the provincial senior volleyball champions but to the members of the Algerines, House Basketball League champions, and the C.G.E. cage team, City League winners and to Bill Lech, young Peterborough swimming star and his coach Gord Minty, was a most enjoyable affair. Al Webber the president and Jim McLeod the secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Volleyball Association attended the happy affair and a good time was had by all, including Jim Wharry who was on the catching end of a presentation of a pair of suspenders and had to defend himself against a 'serious' charge preferred against him by Claude Elliott. Then to complete the day's activities a big gallery was entertained to a fine display of volleyball as the Kitchener-Waterloo team battled with the Peterborough team in an exhibition match. The Petes incidentally were fortunate in the fact that the Ontario title was not at stake for after winning the first game 15 to 10, they slowed down perceptibly and the clever visitors trimmed them three games in a row 15-11, 15-7 and 15-9. The K-W team played snappily throughout and deserved their win.

Who Knows About This?

Stan McBride, weightlifting instructor at the Y.M.C.A. comes along with this request for information which we pass on to readers of this column in the hope that some old-timer may bob up with the answer. Says Mr. McBride: "Would it be asking too much of you to print an article in the Examiner inquiring as to the history of Dan McDonald, the man who had quite a reputation for his strength. In Wednesday's paper the story was, that the 1,600 lbs lifted was a piece of machinery. I have heard several versions of this famous lift but could never get anything really authentic as to whether he lifted it with his hands or with his back. One story is that he lifted it with his hands. The recognized record for the two hands dead lift today is 723 lbs. This record is held by an American who had trained to lift weights and it seems to me that even though a man was endowed with tremendous natural strength he would hardly lift twice a world's record even if did kill him. The 723 lb. lift was performed with a bar-bell of evenly balanced weight and you can readily see the added difficulty of lifting any other type of weight. If this man lifted a 600 lb. barrel of pork and carried it out of his store the weight lifting fraternity of today certainly have a long way to go. I doubt very much myself, and the chaps in my class at the "Y" also, if there is a man living who could walk 100 feet with a 600 lb, barbell of balanced weight, let alone a barrel of pork or any other such awkward object."

* * * * * *

"The article went on to say," continues the letter, "that this man juggled dumbells weighing 100 lbs. from one hand to the other overhead. This may sound like a tremendous feat to the average person but it isn't. Ab Blondin of our class and Joe McGuire, both of whom weigh under 165 lbs. can do this with ease. If anyone can enlighten us as to the correct story about the lift of 1,600 lbs. or anyone who knows how the people of that time knew that it weighed that amount, that is to say if anyone saw it weighed, we would appreciate the information. No doubt there are several citizens still living who can recall the incident and clear the matter up for curiosity's sake if nothing else. Several times, when weight lifting is mentioned as a sport in Peterborough, someone has brought up the fact that one fellow killed himself doing it. As a result this form of exercise has not benefitted by such publicity. We all know there is a right and a wrong way of doing everything and in all probability if the man in question had known the right way to lift he would not have tried such a foolhardy task. Anyone who is interested in this form of recreation is welcome to come up to the "Y" any Monday or Thursday night and watch the fellows perform. I might mention the fact that over thirty fellows out of thirty-five active lifters have joined the various services as A-1 category men."

They've Ruined It

It looks as if the Oshawa Generals are not going to be very popular with the C.A.H.A. officials or the management of the Maple Leaf Gardens. Playing before the biggest crowd of the year Saturday night the Oshawa selects massacred the Trail Smoke Eaters, Western junior champions 9 to 2 in the first game of the junior finals and simply ruined the Memorial Cup playoffs. Fandom was all prepared for a repetition of the junior final games of last season and new attendance records loomed up. The Generals have spoiled all that. By their decisive win Saturday night they have eliminated the Trail kids as a threat and the interest in the series has been effectually killed. True the youngsters from the coast will probably do better in the remaining games but the first clash has established the fact that the Generals are too big, powerful and experienced for the kids from Trail, and will probably take the honors in four straight games. The gate receipts will undoubtedly suffer for the final round looks now too much like a parade to provide much of an attraction for the fan who is looking for excitement.

Some one may ask why we stress the box office angle. Don't make us laugh. That has become the big angle as amateur sport is operated today. As Doug Vaughan said in the Windsor Star the other day: "What the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has to offer is no more amateur than the stockings the gals are wearing today are like the pre-war variety. Everything connected with the C.A.H.A. reeks of money, right down to the Memorial Cup title series. This series, which will be decided on a best-of-seven games basis, will in all probability outdraw most of the games played by the Toronto Hockey Club at the Maple Leaf Gardens during the past winter. The only reason for staging this choice hockey tidbit in Toronto is to make money—barrels of it—and the C.A.H.A. frankly admits as much. Who'll get the money? Well, the Maple Leaf Gardens will cut in. So will the two clubs—both of them hand-picked and high-priced. And last, but far from the least, the C.A.H.A. will make a fat profit."

NEW YORK, April 17.—(AP). — Another major league baseball season opens to-morrow and in place of the usual words of wisdom about who'll win the pennants, this corner offers a different prediction: If baseball doesn't have a successful season financially, you can hang the blame on the managers, club owners, baseball writers, and so on, who keep bringing up the fact that the teams are far below the usual standards....Fans already have shown that they'll turn out in greater numbers for almost any sort of a real contest, but they're liable to become discouraged if they hear repeatedly that they can only see fourth-rate baseball....After all, this year's teams will be playing one another, not the 1940 clubs.

Material Gains:

Shag Shaughnessy, International League president, who used to be quite a football player, likes to tell how he applied knowledge acquired building dugouts in France to football....During the last war, the soldiers discovered that if they left an air space between two layers of steel and dirt in a dugout roof, it would absorb the shock of a shell explosion....When he returned to football with a couple of bunged up shoulders, Shag remembered that and designed shoulder pads with a similar shock-absorbing space. They're almost universally used now ....One of the newest developments of this war, we hear, is a gunsight that automatically aims a machine gun the right distance ahead of a speeding plane....Now if that could only be adapted to duck hunting.

Twin City Team Defeats Peterboro Crew

Kitchener-Waterloo volleyballers with Steve Csumrik, filling in for one of their regulars who couldn't make the trip showed a big gallery of Peterborough fans at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday night the reason why they held the Ontario senior championship for 12 years.

Pitted against the Peterborough Y team which had dethroned them in the championship playoffs in Toronto this season and taken the provincial title away from them the K-W squad played sparkling volleyball to beat the local squad three games out of four.

Peterborough played its best game in the opening fixture winning handily by 15 to 10 but the homesters bogged down after that and Kitchener-Waterloo playing steadily and smartly took the next three games 15 to 11, 15 to 7 and 15 to 9.

The lineup:

Kitchener-Waterloo: Al Webber, Jim McLeod, M. Berlstein, G. Cressman, Ed. Klink and Steve Csumrik.

Port Arthur Ousts B.C. Lodestars

PORT ARTHUR, April 17—(CP)—Shipbuilders, a rugged, experienced collection of pucksters, today headed for Quebec City in search of the fifth Allan Cup Dominion Senior Hockey championship for Port Arthur. They will meet Quebec Aces in the best-of-seven finals opening Wednesday night.

Shipbuilders brought the longest Western Canada finals to a thrilling end Saturday night before 3,000 by scoring two goals in the final two minutes of the eighth game to eliminate New Westminster Lodestars who were short-handed at the time with Frank Warshawski serving a holding penalty.

Most of the honors of the series went to Norm Larson, formerly of Brooklyn Americans in the National League, and Stan Robertson, who with Waikko Koivisto make up Shipbuilders' power line.

Larson, with his second goal of the game, punched in the winner with only 40 seconds left in the third period after Robertson netted from a scramble to deadlock the count 4-4 at 18:11.

Bill McKenzie and Don Eaton got the others with Buster Brayshaw sinking a pair for New Westminster and Maurice Duffy and Warshawski one apiece.

Shipbuilders came from behind twice in the see-saw struggle. Previously the teams had fought to a 5-5 overtime tie, Port Arthur took second, fourth and seventh games. 6-1, 5-4, 6-2, and Lodestars the other encounters 2-1, 8-4, 6-2.

Brayshaw opened the scoring for Lodestars midway in the first period, three minutes later Eaton scooped in a high shot to tie the count.

Larson stole the puck from Walter McIntyre on a three-man breakaway to put Port Arthur ahead midway in the second frame and was followed by McKenzie's goal on a long shot from the corner. Warshawski got one marker back for Lodestars before the period ended.

Brayshaw made the count 3-3 after eight minutes in the third while shipbuilders were short-handed, with Defenceman Joe Gollat serving a tripping sentence. Five minutes later Duffy put Lodestars ahead 4-3 on a solo effort.

Reject Proposition To Absorb Section

UTICA, N.Y., April 17—(AP)—Joe Reardon, head of the Philadelphia Blue Jays farm system, has withdrawn an offer to purchase the Utica Braves of the Class A Eastern League following refusal of the Classic C Canadian-American League to release the Utica territory to the eastern loop.

Utica joined the Eastern League last year when the Can-Am League suspended play.

Reardon indicated the withdrawal would not afect the working agreement between the Blue Jays and the Braves. He said the sale offer was contingent on release of the territory.

Directors of the Can-Am loop rejected yesterday 7-1 the Utica request, the lone affirmative vote coming from Utica.

TORONTO, April 17—(CP)—Newest fad on the Pacific coast is floor hockey, which the R.C.A.F. reportedly has introduced as a toughening-up course. Any player who goes through a game or two without changing to a lovely blue-green bruised color is fit for anything. PO. Bill Brown, sports officer at the Sea Island R.C.A.F. station, predicts it will eventually displaced box lacrosse as the premier indoor summer sport in Vancouver.

The game is played with regular hockey rules with regulation nets and using sawed-off sticks and rope circles instead of pucks. With the game played on a basketball floor, the players are packed together well and get more of a chance to beat a tattoo on one another's skulls than in the ice game. They can get a better toehold with their basketball shoes, too, so all in all it's quite a rough game.

Observers say that the mauling is undoubtedly very crowd-pleasing and that boxla will have to pep up keep its hold on popular fancy.

Ken Johnson of the Owen Sound Sun-Times comes up with the good suggestion that fishermen going to their favorite pools this spring take along some servicemen to whip the shady brooks. The boys will be going overseas and won't see a wily speckled Canadian trout for quite a while. If you don't want to give away the location of your secret pool you can always blindfold your guest until you reach the spot Ken opines.

Generals Crush Trail 9-2 In First Game

TORONTO, April 17 —(CP)— It was the case of a good little team against a good big team here Saturday night as Trail Smoke Eaters were crushed 9-2 by the heavier and faster Oshawa Generals in the first game of the best-in-seven Memorial Cup Junior Hockey finals. The plucky Westerners, averaging two or three years younger and 15 pounds lighter than Oshawa, just didn't have the speed or experience to equal that of the eastern champions.

Smoke Eaters, who swept through more highly-favored teams to bring British Columbia its first Memorial Cup bid, had lots of their reputed team-play and clever passing. But on the large ice surface of Maple Leaf Gardens they were at a marked disadvantage as the Oshawa forwards raced around them to camp right on Bev Bentley's doorstep most of the game.

After the game Coach Gerry Thomson of Trail said his charges were a little stage-struck as they appeared before the near-capacity crowd of 14,643 that jammed the Gardens. Their play in the first period was ragged and ineffective, but as the game wore on their plays began clicking better and they held Generals almost on even terms part of the third period.

Bentley Busy

Bentley was the busiest man on the ice, stopping torrents of rubber and bringing roars from the crowd as he picked shots out of the air or sprawled on the ice to smother blistering shots and rebounds.

Generals opened the scoring after the first face-off, Bill Ezinicki counting at the seven-second mark. Ken Smith made it 2-0 before Jake McLeod scored Trail's first marker. With less than a minute to go Dick Butler and Lorne de Paolis drew penalties and while they were off Smith scored his second and Ted Lindsay banged one home. Bob Love scored again in the second period before the players got back on the ice.

Bill Barker, and Smith found the back of the net before De Paolis wound up the Trail scoring in the second. Floyd Curry went through on a nifty bit of stick-handling and then Love scored his second to wind it up, in the third period.

Second game is slated for the Gardens tonight, with third and fourth also here Wednesday and Saturday.

Robert Tops Big Card At The Brock

When Yvon Robert the spectacular Montreal heavyweight visits Peterborough for the first time on Tuesday night, the fans will see one of the great stars of the current era. Robert wrestles Strangler Bob Wagner in the main bout of a top-notch mat program at the Brock Arena. The man who is regarded by French-Canadians as the greatest wrestler in the world, is far from lacking in prestige in other mat centres. In Boston, New York, Baltimore and right through on the Atlantic sea-board down to Florida, Yvon Robert is a prize drawing card and constantly in demand.

Local mat followers have been asking for Robert, but it remained for an opportunity like his coming bout in Maple Leaf Gardens to provide Frank Tunney with the chance of bringing him here. But Robert will not be introduced here against any "set-up." Meeting Strangler Wagner is no pushover for any grappler. In fact Wagner himself regards the match as a perfect opportunity for him and one that will result in a solid victory for the Portlander. Wagner is brimming over with confidence and promises to be on the ground early Tuesday, ready to hand the handsome Yvon a first-class disappointment.

That bane of local fans, Tom "Snarler" Zaharias has been signed up for Tuesday's show but Tom the Terror meets none other than big Earl McCready. Nuff sed!

In the third bout that one-man riot Jan Gotch will attempt to prove his superiority over Tony Leoni of Hollywood, Cal.

Arrest Eddie Shore

TORONTO, April 17 (CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police last night said Eddie Shore, coach and manager of Buffalo Bisons, this year's American Hockey League champions, was arrested here Saturday night at a downtown service station on a charge of violating the Oil Controller's regulations. He was released on bail of $500 and will appear in court today.

Ontario Plans Program For Tourist Traffic

TORONTO, April 17—Aware of the potentialities of postwar tourist travel from an economic and cultural standpoint, the Ontario Government Saturday night outlined a broad program to further tourist traffic. Within hours after a Government-sponsored travel conference had submitted various resolutions and suggestions, Provincial Treasurer L. M. Frost declared the Government had considered its deliberations and "proposes to initiate a postwar plan for the development of the tourist trade."

"This year we have more than doubled our appropriation and we plan to increase the appropriation for tourist advertising, campaigning and development just as soon as conditions permit. In the meantime full plans are being laid to institute a wide-scale advertising campaign as soon as war requirements allow," he said.

Will Establish Bureaus

In addition, the Government plans to establish a chain of reception and information bureaus at main border points, interprovincial boundaries and such other Ontario points as the "anticipated developments of the tourist industry in postwar times may require." In co-operation with women's institutes and other Ontario organizations, including hotel and tourist associations, steps will be taken to adopt and subsequently publicize certain distinctive Ontario dishes. In co-operation with the Department of Education and Agriculture, courses will be instituted in training in all forms of hotel and tourist resort management and administration, and "steps to this end have already been taken," Mr. Frost said.

In co-operation with the College of Art, courses of industrial design as a foundation for development of Ontario handicrafts will be instituted, and a small committee will be formed to investigate handicraft possibilities. "In co-operation with the Dominion Government it is hoped that sites of historical interest throughout Ontario will be marked and information made available for the travelling public," he declared.

Mr. Frost also announced a permanent special committee will be organised under the chairmanship of D. R. Oliver, director of the Travel and Publicity Bureau. Members of the committee will be representatives from the departments of highways, game and fisheries, lands and forests, mines, health and education together with representatives of certain outside organizations. The committee will study and later report upon the advisability of "bringing all forms of tourist catering places under Government licensing, supervision and inspection," he said.

Excursions for Children

To promote fuller knowledge of Ontario and to "foster better and fuller understanding of the problems of our various sections, the Government proposes to initiate, when travel and other conditions permit, properly organized and supervised bus and rail excursions for school children. These excursions will be carried out during vacation periods," he announced.

Americans appreciated the courtesies extended to them in Canada, North Winship, United States consul-general, told the dinner meeting which concluded the conference. "Hundreds of thousands have earmarked their war savings for postwar trips to Ontario," he declared. "My belief is that in the near future the border will be as open to nationals of Canada as it was before 1939."

E. B. Jolliffe, C.C.F. Leader, declared the need for vacations has become generally recognized in recent years, and "has come when the privilege of a vacation should be open not only to the people of means but to the much larger body of workers. As a result of the growth of organized labor, millions have won the right to vacations with pay." He urged greater appreciation of winter sports possibilities, and declared "possibly we have lagged behind some of the European countries in not taking sufficient advantage of winter sports."

Said Missing G. Trumpour War Prisoner

Reported missing when his bomber failed to return from operations on February 25, Warrant Officer 2 Grenfell Trumpour, brother of Mrs. Donald Ada, George Street, is now a prisoner of war in Germany.

The young airman, 24, had lived in Peterborough and district all his life. He is the son of Rev. J. R. Trumpour and Mrs. Trumpour of Cannifton. Rev. Charge 16 Merchants In Onion Swindle

NORTH BAY, April 17—(CP)—Consumer complaints that a "black market" on onions was being conducted in Sudbury and district brought investigations by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and resulted in charges being laid against 16 merchants of Sudbury, Copper Cliff, Coniston and Creighton Mine and also against one Toronto wholesaler.

Summons were issued on instructions of Walter Little, enforcement counsel, at the North Bay Regional Office, with trial set for Wednesday, April 19, in Sudbury police court.

It was alleged that onions were being shipped into the Sudbury area without invoices and at prices which punctured ceiling prices. Retailers who purchased the onions in turn were said to be reselling above the ceiling, buying above the ceiling and failing to have records of invoices of the onion purchases.

A. Fresco, Toronto wholesaler, is charged with selling onions above the ceiling price and for failure to supply invoices covering the sale of onions.

Inquiry Begins Into Shooting Of W. J. Boulton

That if William John Boulton had not been protected by his heavy clothing when he was shot in the back in the driveway of his home at 627 George street on the night of March 24, the pellets would have penetrated his intestines and likely have caused peritonitis and death was the evidence given in police court by Dr. Robert J. Young today in the preliminary inquiry into a charge against Charles Ward, 39, of 629 George street of shooting a shotgun at Boulton with intent to murder him.

Dr. Young who had been called to the scene after the shooting said that there were still 168 bird shot pellets in Boulton's body and that he would probably have a 15 per cent disability by reason of loss of motion caused by his injury.

The witness said that the lower part of Boultno's back had been perforated and a number of pellets had entered the kidneys.

"He is making a good recovery," said Dr. Young "and there is no danger of death." The witness added that Boulton had been released from hospital several weeks ago.

T. J. Carley, K.C., defended Ward and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Hit After Few Steps

Boulton who sat in a chair in the witness box in giving his evidence told the court that he had started out for his work at the Quaker Oats that night at around 11.40 o'clock, leaving the house by the side door leading to the laneway to the south.

"I had just gone nine or ten steps to the east when I was hit and turned half way around. Then I fell to the ground," said the witness.

"What hit you?" "A shot."

"How did you know?" "I heard it. It was a very loud report."

Boulton said that he screamed after he was hit and his wife came to his rescue.

The witness said that he had been wearing an overcoat, suit coat, sweater, shirt and underwear and had a copy of part of the Star Weekly and of the Examiner folded up in his right hip pocket.

He identified perforated clothing and two perforated newspapers produced in court as the clothing he had been wearing and the papers he had in his pocket when he was hit.

"Did you see any one fire a gun that night?" asked Mr. Carley. "No I did not."

Boulton said that he did not hear any other sound after the gun had been fired.

Sound Like Backfire

Mrs. Rose Boulton, wife of the last witness corroborated his evidence. She said that just after her husband left she had heard a noise that sounded like a backfire, only much louder and almost immediately heard her husband scream. She grabbed a searchlight off the kitchen table and went to his assistance.

Mrs. Boulton said that her husband left the house at 22 minutes to 12 o'clock. At 11.30 she said she heard some one walking in the kitchen of the Ward house, immediately north, and had heard the door into the woodshed opened.

William J. Moorhead, 621 George street, said that he had been on his way home that night and had nearly reached his house when he heard a loud bang. He thought it was a backfire at first but afterward heard a man screaming. Witness told of seeing Boulton lying in the driveway south of his home. While Moorhead was there and before the doctor and police arrived he said he had seen Charles Ward come out of his front door, walk across the curb, cross George street and go south on tl east side of that street.

Helped In Search

Afterward the witness had accompanied the police in a cruiser in search of Ward but eventually they were recalled to the police station by a call over the police radio. Later the witness said he had seen Ward in the police station as he was being taken from the guard-room into a cell.

To Mr. Carley, Moorhead said that Ward was walking normally when he saw him cross the street a few minutes after the shooting.

"He was not running?" "No."

At this stage the preliminary inquiry was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

Large Class Is Confirmed

The church of the Sacred Heart was crowded Sunday afternoon for the administration of the sacrament of confirmation by Bishop J. R. Macdonald.

Illness of the late Bishop Denis O'Connor last year partly accounted for the large class of candidates, most of them children of the parish, with a numerous group of adults, including six soldiers.

In his address to the congregation, following the sacramental function, Bishop Macdonald appealed to parents to realize the fullness of their responsibility as the heads of their families. The church and the school and society generally could join in assisting the young people through their formative years, but the primary obligation and opportunity rested on the fathers and mothers.

Bishop Macdonald urged parents to be vigilant about their children's companions; to know where they were at all times and with whom. He also spoke of the need of a firm and kindly discipline in the home, and admonished the children of their duty of respect and love for their parents, and of their general place in making for greater happiness in family relations.

Loose Coupons Results In Fine

John Joseph Allen, Bethune street, who was sentenced in police court the other day to ten days for drunken driving, appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. and pleaded guilty to a charge of having loose coupons in his posession.

He was fined $30 and $1.75 costs with the alternative of fifteen days in jail to run consecutively with the other sentence. The fine was paid.

John A. Bradshaw who appeared for Allen said that the accused had bought another car and had turned in his old gasoline book. The four coupons found in his possession had been retained but there was no evidence that Allen had tried to use them.

Giving evidence Constable Gordon Trennum said that when Allen had been arrested for drunken driving the four loose coupons were found. There was no gasoline ration book in the accused's effects.

"I think the occupation of the accused should be considered when sentence is being fixed," said Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. In his evidence Constable Trennum said that Allen had described himself in a recent police court case as a brewery salesman.

Bishop Confirms 98 Candidates

One of the largest confirmation classes in the history of the Immaculate Conception Church received this sacrament from Most Rev. J. A. MacDonald, Bishop of Peterborough, in his first official visit to the church on Sunday evening. A guard of honor consisting of members of the Holy Name Society, preceded the Bishop into the crowded church.

There were 41 boys and 37 girls in the class, and ten adults were also confirmed.

Bishop MacDonald in a short address to the candidates, paid tribute to them for the splendid show of knowledge, given as they answered catchism questions from Monsignor O'Sullivan, rector of the church.

In his remarks the Bishop pointed out that parents have a great and difficult responsibility in bringing up their children today. He suggested that within the home, these were the salient points in training children, show good example, insist of salutary discipline, watch their associates, and see that a spiritual atmosphere prevails in the home.

Directing his talk to the children he said, "You will receive tonight the same Holy Spirit which gave constancy and courage down through the centuries, which has inspired millions to be faithful under trying circumstances. This sacrament will give you strength to hold fast to that gift of God that we call "faith."

Birthday Dinner Given Mayor By City Council

"I have never felt that any member of the council was trying to put something over for himself or his friends or to use his position in any way to advance scheme for the benefit of himself or friends, but I have felt that the members of the city council were from year to year genuinely interested in the welfare of their city."

This recollection by Mayor Hamilton at the birthday dinner at which he was guest of the members of the council and the heads of the various civic departments at the Kawartha Club Saturday night was an omnibus tribute to the integrity and ideals of public service of all the aldermen with whom he has been associated.

"I have observed with a deep feeling of appreciation how the members faithfully attend the meetings and undertake all the duties that are given to them to do," His Worship continued. "They accept no short cuts, and if you think something better can be done for the city you do not hesitate to go ahead with it because it is likely to involve additional work."

All Requires Additional Work

Mayor Hamilton referred especially to the council's concern about improving the collection of garbage in the difficulties of the years of war and the consequent shortage of labor. Changing from the old system to the new had to be patiently considered and approached carefully, and it all required additional work and the members have not tried to shirk it. That is only an example which comes first to me, and because of the willing spirit of the council at all times I feel that the members do not receive the credit that is due them."

Mayor Hamilton remarked that the extent of the work done by the aldermen was not as well known as it ought to be, but over quite a span of years the aldermen of Peterborough were men who sincerely tried to promote the development of their city and to safeguard the interests of the ratepayers. His Worship said he would rather turn toward the council the compliments which they extended to him.

Alderman Adam Sands was chairman of the dinner, and those who spoke were City Treasurer Morley Shaver, Alderman Jack Sullivan and James Dutton, George A. Macdonald, Utilities Commissioner, and several others.

Alderman Sullivan read a letter from George A. Macdonald of Chicago, former general manager of the Quaker Oats Company in Peterborough, extending his felicitations to Mayor Hamilton particularly in the fact that it was also Mr. Macdonald's natal day, and expressing grateful recollections of Peterborough and old friends here.

Jack Boothe, cartoonist of the Toronto Globe and Mail, entertained the company with crayon sketches of famous faces, and then applied his talent to the features of some of Peterborough's civic leaders and officials, including Acting Police Chief John Thompson, Alderman Glover and Alderman Dutton, Guy Quartermaine and City Solicitor Huycke, and others.

Chief Thompson was welcomed to the civic family circle by Mayor Hamilton who said he felt sure the citizens would give the new acting Chief Constable every help in his office. Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H. was also greeted, and Armour Butcher, the new foreman of the parks department, was introduced.

The purposes of the dinner in a secondary direction was to enable the members of the council and the heads of departments to become bettter acquainted and to feel the unity of their separate efforts in their civic employment.

Lindsay Man Arrives Home From England

LINDSAY, April 17 (ENS) — There was a happy reunion at the Booth home, 37 Sussex street N., Saturday, when Pte. Charles H. Booth, 19, arrived home from England to greet his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Booth and also his brother, Sgt. Raymond Booth, RCAF, who had arrived only a short time previous from his station.

"It is a grand feeling to have both my boys home," said Mrs. Booth Sunday, "and especially to know Charlie is not seriously wounded. I knew he was coming home on a hospital ship but did not know for what reason and today I am so happy that it seems like a dream. I only hope that all mothers will shortly have the same happiness."

Pte. Charles Booth who came from England on the Canadian Hospital ship "Lady Nelson" joined the Canadian Armoured Corps at Peterborough in November, 1942. Due to ill health he was confined to the hospital several times but did not know he was slated for Canada until four days before his ship sailed.

St. George's Day An Ideal One To Help Victims

St. George, the patron Saint of England, has ever been an inspiration to all who would espouse the cause of the weak and those in distress, and with the approach of April 23, the day on which his name and deeds are commemorated, it might be well to pause and reflect how down through the ages, his deeds of the very early centuries have ever been a beacon light shining forth towards something that was of good for the human race.

Two salient features, both of them concerned with valor of the highest order, wherein he risked life to rescue a maiden in distress from the jaws of a dragon, and then suffered martyrdom at the hands of Diocletion for his defence of the Christian faith, stand out in the legendary history of St. George, which undoubtedly accounts for the reason he is so precious to English hearts, yet strange to say, the saint was not an Englishman, nor is there anything to actually show that he ever set foot on the soil of England. His father was a Cappadocian, and the saint is generally recorded as being of that nationality.

The fame of St. George had spread to England long before the time of William the Conqueror, his name being inserted in the Anglo-Saxon calendar in the 7th century, a monastery being dedicated to this patron saint at the time of King Canute, to be followed by a collegiate at Oxford and a church at Southwark before the time of the Norman conquest.

It was however the Crusades which made the Saint a national hero.

St. George For Victory

Today, more than ever, the symbolism woven around the chivalrous character of Englands patron saint should be recalled, when free men offer their blood so freely to defend the freedom so dearly won in the past. There is the blood of coquerors in the veins of all who rally to the call of his name, for a cause that seeks to make the world secure from those who would rule and enslave all nations by force.

The Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund has from its very inception had the principles of St. George as its main objective, for its sole reason for operating is for the purpose of assisting people in distress. As such, it would at this time invite the extra co-operation of all in honor of England's patron saint, to pay tribute to the heroic stand made by the people of Britain against tyranny as oppressive as that of the dragon of by-gone days, from which there is as yet no surety of freedom in the days to come.

An attractive centrepiece of yellow snap-dragons and dyed oriental grass, in a silver basket, flanked by silver candle-sticks set with yellow tapers, was the centre of attraction at the spring tea, sponsored by the Major Bennett Chapter, I.O.D.E., Saturday afternoon in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Nurses Convene Next Year At Hamilton

LONDON, April 17—Miss Jean Masten, superintendent of nurses, Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, was unanimously elected president of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario at the closing session of the annual meeting in Hotel London, Friday afternoon.

Other members of the executive are: First vice-president, Miss M. Blanche Anderson, assistant superintendent of Ottawa Civic Hospital; second vice-president, Miss Gretta Ross, Toronto, nurse supervisor of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children; secretary-treasurer, Miss Matilda E. Fitzgerald, Toronto.

To Meet in Hamilton

The R.N.A.O. accepted the invitation to meet in Hamilton in 1945.

Miss Mildred Walker was appointed convener of the nominating committee with Miss Louise Steele and Miss Winnifred Ashplant as other committee members.

A recommendation that conferences of supervisors and general staff nurses be held from time to time has been forwarded by the general nursing section to the Canadian Nurses' Association, it was reported by Miss Stella Murray, of St. Catharines.

County Units Organized

Miss Winnifred Ashplant, reporting for the public health section, stated that a number of districts had reorganized services, that several county units had been organized and that surveys were being made in some rural districts. On increasing demand for nursing services in secondary schools was noted. Red Cross outpost work was heavy, said Miss Ashplant. There were approximately 400 nurses in industry.

For the permanent education fund, Miss Claribel McCorquodale, of Toronto, reported total capital amounting to $16,066.80. Total receipts amounted to $4,623.23 and disbursements were $2,100, leaving cash in the bank amounting to $2,523.23. Total contributions during 1943 from districts came to $502.75. It was voted to purchase a $1,000 Victory Bond.

The convener of the committee on nurse education is to be added to the board of directors and sub-executive until revision of the by-laws.

"The General staff plan, instituted because of the urgency of the need to meet emergent situations, continues," stated Miss Baker. "During the year all registries considered the adjustments in regulations governing general staff service as approved by the Canadian Nurses' Association and the board of directors of the R.N.A.O. As a result they now offer this service on a consecutive eight-hour day, six-day week at $100 per month."

Miss Baker said that a good many hospitals were using this temporary staff plan under adjusted regulations.

More Registries

The total of 16 registries functioning under the direction of the provincial plan soon would be increased, stated Miss Baker, Stratford soon will have a registry and possibly Galt and Collingwood. There are at least 15 other centres where registries could be set up.

There are 2,578 nurses under direction of registries, 231 being on the supplementary lists to assist with peak loads and emergencies. One hundred and forty-eight practical nurses work through the registries.

Through the registry policy priority was given to ill patients in their homes, said Miss Baker, General staff duty rated second, critically ill patients in hospitals falling in this category also.

The importance of the education of the student nurse was emphasized, and it was suggested that she would benefit by accepting some measure of responsibility for her well-rounded education in ward and classroom. It was pointed out that there should be variety in teaching methods; that a steadfast respect for the individual must be retained; that administrators should realize that their services contributed something to the education of the student; and that the head nurse should be given every help possible.

Contributing to this discussion were Miss Ruby McTavish, Western Hospital, Toronto; Miss Ruth Leavens, General Hospital, Toronto; Miscs Evelyn Gayfer, General Hospital, Hamilton; Miss Margaret Burgess, Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough; Mrs. K. Coutts, General Hospital, Oshawa; Miss Mary Deneau, General Hospital, Belleville; and Miss Helen McCallum, Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

Citizens Honor Major Bamsey

Regents of the Peterborough chapters of the I.O.D.E. were present; Mr. C. H. Saunders, representing the Kiwanis Club, and Capt. Loomis, representing the staff of the local Training Centre, were also there.

The musical program included solos by Mrs. R. W. Drury, Mr. R. Payne, and Mr. G. Collis. Mr. Payne led in a sing song, with Morris Duke and Mrs C. Norman at the piano. Fifty-six hostesses were on duty, and served cake and coffee during the afternoon. In the evening, Capt. V. Graham led in a sacred sing song, with Mrs. C. Norman as accompanist.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

There are few people who do not like a nice piece of cake, so today I am going to give you some recipes that I feel sure, if you try them once, your family will ask you to repeat several times after.

Apple-Sauce Cake

½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ cup currants, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup hot apple sauce, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup chopped raisins. Cream butter, add sugar and mix until well blended. Mix spices, soda and salt with the flour. Add raisins to flour mixture. Add dry ingredients and apple sauce alternately to creamed mixture. Stir until smooth. Pour into greased and flour-dusted oblong cake pan 6 inches by 10 inches. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. Turn out of pan. Cool. Serve either plain or iced.

Cross-Word Puzzle Cake

1 cup butter, 2 cups fine granulated sugar, 2-3 cup egg whites, 1½ cups water, 4 cups flour, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract, 1 teaspoon orange extract. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and cream until fluffy. Add egg whites unbeaten, small portion at a time, creaming after each portion added until fluffy. Add flavoring. Sift flour and baking powder several times. Add flour and water about one-third at a time to the above mixture creaming thoroughly after each addition. Divide batter into two equal parts, and add any color preferable to one-half of the batter. Use melted chocolate for brown. Cake colors such as red, yellow, blue or green may be used. To put cake in pans use three square pans about 8 inches by 8 inches by 1½ inches. Place six strips of batter across each pan, alternating the light and dark. Preheat oven, bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. To build cake, place layers on top of each other with frosting between strips, all running same direction. Put light strip upon dark strip or vice versa. In cutting the cake cut crosswise of strips.

Rich Cream Cake

1 cup sour cream, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon soda, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, grated rind of one lemon, ½ teaspoon salt. Beat the eggs, add the sugar and beat thoroughly. Add sour cream, lemon juice and grated rind. Mix the dry ingredients and add to the egg mixture. Stir until well mixed. Pour into a greased and flour-dusted cake pan 6 by 10 inches. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Turn out of pan. Cool. Cover top with quartered marshmallows. Put boiled frosting over marshmallows. Ice sides of cake.

Porterhouse Steak

Now that meat is free, what about a juicy porterhouse steak

Broiled or pan-broiled, a steak dinner is definitely something to set before the boys as they come home on leave.

Now for broiling! Preheat your broiler. Slash edges of fat at close intervals to prevent curling. Place steak 3 to 5 inches from source of heat. For medium done allow seven minutes for each side for a one-inch steak and proportionately more for thicker steaks. Serve with mushrooms and a leafy green vegetable on the side.

CARVING A PORTERHOUSE STEAK

NOTABLE EXCEPTION

LONDON — (CP — Of 65,000 letters containing £70,000 ($315,000) Lord Woolton received in response to an appeal for funds for the blind one contained NO money. The writer asked for a small loan.

HERE'S HOW SUPPLIES REACH BURMA—Because of the inaccessibility of some of the mountainous terrain in Burma where Allied troops are battling the Japs, the problem of supply was a major one until "flying freight cars" were pressed into service. Here one of the low-flying transports approaches a base while the crew prepares to heave out a bundle of supplies attached to a parachute. Among the foods delivered this way are eggs—not the powdered kind—and there have been no complaints about breakage, either.

Burma Censors Cause Strike On News Front

LONDON, April 17—(AP)—Five war correspondents, representing a large block of the British press in Burma, announced today they will file no more news from that theatre until censorship restrictions are relaxed.

The correspondents' protest against what they consider excessive censorship came as the British press, for the first time since Japanese forces began their invasion of India, expressed grave concern over the conduct of the Burma campaign.

In an article in the Reynolds News, a London Sunday Newspaper, Lord Winster warned the public today against forgetting "the foolish and optimistic statements which preceded the fall of Singapore and the inadequate generalship which lost us Burma."

"It is uncomfortably reminiscent of those days," he continued, "to hear Auchinleck (Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander in India) describe Tiddim as of 'no strategic importance' after we evacuated it under not very brilliant circumstances. So far the campaigns in Burma have been very disappointing and have seemed a hotchpotch of improvisations. The situation undoubtedly is disquieting."

The Japanese drive into Imphal, he said, "seems to have been underrated in Delhi when it began to develop."

"Effective Clamp"

The Observer, another Sunday paper, also criticizing censorship in the Burma-Indian theatres, said: "Here we know virtually nothing of what is going on inside India, thanks to the effective clamp exercised by the New Delhi censors. Soothing messages which bear all the marks of censorious emasculation are causing more disquiet than news from the front."

"This is all the more disturbing in the light of what happened at the Quebec conference," the newspaper went on, asserting that at the conference neither the late Maj.-Gen. Orde Charles Wingate nor Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander in Southeast Asia, "had an easy passage with proposals for a Burma offensive.

"In the end," it continued "the Wingate plan was accepted after its author threatened to resign. Wingate was given his expedition but he was limited in various ways. . . . He could do nothing without the consent and approval of others, this time Auchinleck and Stilwell (Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of United States armies) — and Auchinleck had not been convinced by the Quebec plan.

"It seems now that the daring Burma venture will fall short of its aim because of the manner in which it was hamstrung from the first."

Generally Displeased

In addition to the protest action by the five British correspondents, the tone of numerous despatches from both British and American correspondents have implied that the news corps generally is dissatisfied with the censorship setup.

Despatches have referred also to the critical attitude of at least a part of the Indian press reported to be resentful at what was termed as the sugar coating of news from Imphal.

Announcement of the British writers' action was contained in a message from Correspondent Stanford to the editor of the London Daily Mail.

"A story on which the Express (correspondent) the Telegraph and self spent five days was killed today for no apparent security reasons. This is happening constantly and conditions are impossible."

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 18

THIS DAY may be notable for a fruitful and happy culmination to work well done, with substantial rewards and approbation from those in influence or authority. This should be a concrete objective, as diligence and fidelity to the interests and responsibilities of others should be solidly lucrative, with many benefits for a future of security. Real possessions of all kinds could be safely and wisely accumulated, although not with a lavish or extravagant show or display. Make changes and travel with foresight and thrift.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of definite progress and practical constructive progress, with an idea of future safety and security. Others of influence and authority will be found ready to assist all serious and worthy efforts. Diligence, industry and fidelity to trust and responsibility should find its own rewards. There should be steady accumulation of real possessions, of every description, but with prudence and thrift and with no extravagance or prodigality. Make changes cautiously and discreetly.

A child born on this day may be serious and profound, generally dependable and worthy although fond of change and some prodigalities.

Labor Board Verdict Excludes Engineers

OTTAWA, April 17—(CP)—The National Labor Relations Board Friday ruled that persons employed in a professional capacity do not come under the Government's new labor code covering compulsory collective bargaining and arbitration.

The board at its first public hearing held earlier this week heard representations from a delegation representing 14 professional organizations who asked to be excluded from the code. The delegation said the 25,000 workers affected—including engineers, chemists, architects and surveyors—do not want to be compelled to become a party to a collective agreement negotiated by a labor union.

In its decision made public yesterday the board ruled that under the regulations persons employed in a professional capacity "shall be deemed to be employed in a confidential capacity."

Persons employed in work of a confidential nature or with authority to employ or discharge workers are excluded from the code.
